Please take a look!

(I started this thread when it looked like the 2nd cme was arriving after that series of x and m flares that had CME;s with them. It was not impressive, the 2nd one. I have decided to keep this thread for my regular notes about what is happening since, and Have renamed it appropriately.

Love is the highest motivation which man may utilize in his universe ascent. Love is the desire to do good to others-Urantia Book Moral acts are those human performances which are characterized by the highest intelligence, directed by selective discrimination in the choice of superior ends as well as in the selection of moral means to attain these ends. the AE index graphs are showing the energy coming right on in just barely at the edge.

Many do not know what those graphs are. They are from satellites much closer to earth than the ACE satellite, In fact they are inside the magnetosphere, so they pick what has come in from the breach.

CME's are NOT flares at all. The m' and x's already arrived within minutes of them happening. Some flares have cme's with them, some do not and the cme may be tiny, or large, hasn't much to do with the strength of the flare. CME's are not classed as A,B,C,M, or X at all. They are a different animal.

There are many CME's that are not from flares at all and flares that do not have cme's.

I assume yesterday's CME arrival was related to the first M flare that had a CME with it. But I truly do not know for sure.

Today's could be the CME from the X flare and not amount to much! Depends on the amount of material spewed and whether it's a direct shot at us or not, as to the CME.

So far there is a single bump today. We shall have to wait and see if there will be more or if this is simply a glancing blow.

I don't know, chapped lips are dehydration generally and certainly being out in the sun increases that but I have no personal experience of this problem increasing during solar storms. I have never thought about it, so I don't know!

I'm always fascinated by the sun's activity!

Last night I was experiencing bouts of slight imbalance/dizziness.

Lasted for about a couple of hours. I also get the ear pressure feeling--in my left ear--like many others.

I don't know if it's related, but I do believe it a possibility for certain individuals to have an extra sensitivity to this type of thing.

Thanks again,

many now do, the realignment of the "junk" dna makes it possible. Years ago during our last MAX (and the one before that) I had no idea some of what I was feeling and could NOT explain to doctors was indeed the solar activity. I did not figure that out until we had these satellites up there providing information and I noticed that when the bz was down, and the wind high etc, that these symptoms matched. It was enlightening to say the least, because I no long view these things as illness, but rather than my body detects them. And this is an interesting blessing much of the time.

A lot more people could feel this stuff if they knew how to relax their bodies and quiet their minds. It becomes more perceptible then.

Just for fun, heres a few more images of craft around the sun today. Esu (Jesus) told me yesterday they are working on sunspot #1289, and one pic I posted yesterday showed a small flare (with no apparent CME from it.)

[\[link to stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov\]](#) big puppy and two smaller ones.

[\[link to stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov\]](#)

[\[link to stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov\]](#)

Stereo Behind sunspot 1289 on right as is the center of the sun. And you can see a whopper sunspot yet to come around about in the middle, I have no idea if this one will close up before it becomes earth facing or not.

[\[link to stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov\]](#) big puppy in view on this one too, about the same time frame as first images above. and a couple smaller ones.

[\[link to stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov\]](#) several in this one.

Ok at the later times I am only now and then seeing one in the images. do enlarge them, I selected 1024 size and on your computer you may get a plus sign to enlarge them to that.

For those more new to all sorts of stuff, this is HOW the Fathers work gets done. HIS SON'S (including each of you) do the work. These are speciality craft. BIG PUPPY is owned by the superuniverse management and is NOT from other planets similar to earth. Its from "heaven." Why is this important? Because beloveds, it is the Will of the Father that you become LIKE him, Knowing all things.

And as part of your eternal life, and knowing all things, you will FLY at some point on a Big Puppy helping or watching work being done on Suns and more. You might even become a commander of a BIG PUPPY. Big Puppies, can be several times the size of earth.

Eternity is a long long time and there are unlimited experiences to be obtained in your experiences to come.

well, while I was on stereo, I didnt look at cor 2. SOHO shows 2 cmes today (by today I mean UTC time.)

So I checked stereo. The first CME is only on ahead, but to the left (possibly earth directed, as left is center of sun from our view).

The second cme is on both Ahead and behind, so this may be earth directed. Since we don't know where these satellites are in their halo orbits, it is not possible to say for sure they are earth directed. I am not sure which sun spot they originated from, from, OK I am coming back to finish this, I need to take some notes, some times are not matching, maybe there is more than 2.

OK just two. The first CME somewhere around 3 utc on stereo, is on both of them. this cme on SOHO Lasco 2 and 3 was ending at the point they are being shown today on SOHO. First images are around 5 utc, so its ending in them.

the 2nd CME is on SOHO, lasco c2 about 10 UTC, and then c3 about 10:30. It is only on stereo ahead, but not on Behind, so who knows, but likely not earth directed.

well the weekend was not as impressive as nasa tried to hint at.

However, check this on Haarp I just discovered, which occurs customarily with a solar storm. the wind did go up a bit over the last hours, perhaps that coronal hole, but the protons sure don't hint at a significant coronal hole coming in either, I would expect them to go to at least 10 or so. So, are we in the coronal hole or other cause of increased speeds, or does this indicate something else with the magnetosphere.

No point except that it is similar to those times and there is just such a large amount of the "red". I find this interesting and choose to study it and anyone with more insight on these than me is welcome to make additions. I have no idea truly if these larger changes mean anything for earth or not, but I think it's important for people who are interested.

Since the time before the Japan quake, I look at the haarp induction magnetometer differently, wondering if the 2.5 H frequency will appear again as some sort of warning about the potential of a great quake again. I have thought of checking the dates of other 8+ quakes to see if this has occurred before. I think it worthy of some study. Haarp, being located in Alaska, might perhaps pick up changes in some sort of close area? Man in these changing times needs to study what is there on the internet that is available at least to the public. That's the advantage of the internet.

I don't know if the Haarps located other areas in the world would show something of interest near their locations and so far I don't know if the other dozen sites check ionosphere stuff, or just heat the ionosphere for weather usage.

Thanks for your answer NIP. I also remember this same charts just days before Japan earthquake and wondered if there is a relation between that intense red coloration and earthquakes.

I do not know if that is sun related or HAARP related. Seems the sun is getting pretty active lately and sending us more and more energy waves.

Anyway, hope this process find the majority of us well and in peace.

Ok ACE satellite is down, so what's a person to do to get any idea of what is going on. Well sometimes I check SOHO, they have wind and protons, but no luck tonight, but they often fill it in later when they have SOHO data again. SOHO data and images are not constant. [\[link to umtof.umd.edu\]](http://umtof.umd.edu) So maybe later an idea can be had.

AE index looks like its running, and given the last image of the magnetic field, I suggest the roach is rolled up into a ball. (roach because it some times looks like one, that was a silly term I made up when I first started watching it! somebody on the holy shit magnetosphere thread used to call my roach a sand flea.

Now if the AE index isn't running on NICT, you can get the graph here: [\[link to umtof.umd.edu\]](http://link.to.umtof.umd.edu)
And surprise!!!! We probably have a storm going on. the AE line is about 1200 uT. This means something is coming right on in, meaning a negative bz right now in all likelihood.

It remains interesting on haarp magnetometer. [\[link to 137.229.36.30\]](http://link.to.137.229.36.30) look at the activity since 0 UTC when ACE quit. so my guess something as arrive but I don't know if its the coronal hole or another cme

They have been mentioned before on the internet someplace and scientists have no idea why they come from a source inside our solar system. Just reporting if anyone is interested. Energy always comes into me suddenly. It's obvious.

as to my comments above, while ACE and thus NICT was down, there was something coming in, it's obvious here on the magnetometer and electron flux. Protons coming in confuse the instruments for the electron flux, depressing it. I have no idea why ace wasn't recording for 4 well today its not the same pic as the day I started the thread.

the magnetic field is around the earth. the "strings " in that image have no purpose as to the color, they used to be white, but folks fear the poles reversed and all sorts of stuff then they overlap. In general when the bx is negative, it means energy is coming in, and the red and blue strings will widen out into "angel" wings as I name them. When the magnetosphere is tightly closed, they wrap around the earth in a ball and they can be anywhere in between. In general they are "tighter" and overlap when the bz is going up and spread when its going down.

The Pressure image is computer based on data primarily from the proton counts and the solar wind speed. Wind speed is just what it means, the solar particles are coming in at various speeds. People get all excited when the color is white, which they see as "hot". Its just a degree of how much is coming in. when the stuff coming in is almost nil, the image fades to blue. IF we are hit with a "blast" the image mage be depressed, assuming a bell shape. You just have to watch and study it over time.

The Ionospheric convection simply shows the spread of the energies into earth's ionosphere, by color also. red means a lot of the solar energy has come thru the magnetosphere and into the ionosphere. This happens with low bz, which means the ionosphere has been "breached" and stuff is coming right on it.

As to the graphs on the right in white under the pressure image, they show the average every 5 minutes or so of the number of particles (mostly protons) coming in to the ace satellite and the wind speed. the ace Satellite is about 1 million miles from earth and orbits the sun with earth. It was put that far out to detect solar energies coming which helps those that are interested mostly in radio and the like, energies which use the ionosphere for transmission. This satellite provides data up to 20 minutes before it hits the ionosphere.

the next two boxes show the bZ and the BY. I don't pay much attention to the BY. the planetary magnetic field use math graphing on x y and z axis, thus terminology.

In the 4 large boxes below the stuff above, this is data from geostationary orbit. These are often weather satellites etc and are around 50,000 miles above earth or so, orbiting I think the equator, I have to recheck that sometime. But they measure energies much closer than the ACE satellite, and INSIDE the magnetosphere. So they are useful in seeing what came in. there is temp, the storms usually are higher in temperature, and the particles/protons on the left side.

The AE indexes also are detecting energy that got past the magnetic shield, there are quite a few satellites that pick this up, it took me some effort to get details on that once, but these 4 graphs "widen" as the energies they measure built up into the magnetosphere and I have forgotten if they pick up ionospheric data or data between the ionosphere and the magnetosphere. When the lines in these are tightly close to the y axis of the graph, you can be pretty sure the Magnetic field image at the top left is all balled up.

I have given links in my posts above to various sites for other data, including the ace satellite.

If NICT is down, an interesting site (as long as ACE is running) is BATS R US. (I write it this way, easy to remember, like toys r us.) [link to ccmc.gsfc.nasa.gov]

I don't really know. I was not following any of this during the last solar cycle but I did discover I began a few years ago to read at spaceweather and then ACE that my body has been picking up this stuff for 20 years or so looking back. I have had periods where I was terribly sensitive to being in the sun and the like but had no idea why.

we have just been thru a very long min, and obviously with the x flares, sun spots and the like the activity is picking up again, but since I can't compare it to older data I really don't know if this is more or not.

I know I have been sensitive to this stuff dating back at least to sometime soon after I moved into my current home which was in 1984. I did look up the more recent years of solar max in the last couple of sun cycles and I did feel there was a correlation between the max's and my body from memories.

A lot of correlation with my body dates easily to 1992 when we entered the photon belt too.

Many people are picking up these various changes, and quakes and the like as the bodies are changing here as junk dna reconnects and people do become most sensitive to what is around them. The DNA here generally, in the human form, was downgraded so much that humans don't have considerably less sensitivity to the soup they float in than the animals. That is changing with the cycles were are in now.

Not a bad article pretty good for what is released for public reading. Space does not have the density throughout it. the density here IS changing at the end of this great cycle, here and all the other areas of this sector of space that are in, or going to be in, or leaving this particular beam of energy coming from the center of the Milky Way. we have been in this, still in the edges of it, since Oct 2006. this is not the photon belt although we are in it too.

the vibration is increasing and the density changing and that would affect the speed of light, making it faster. I have hit on some ideas, your post caused me to open up a link to my knowledge packet, called my monad, and I need to digest it a bit more, I can do some more clarification. I already forgot a bit of what I wanted to say, biggy headache coming on again. Possibly due to the 30 minutes gamma ray blast that may be the cause of the satellite issue with Dish.

I want to draw me a couple pics, of images i see in my head but don't have an earth english vocabulary for. (which is one reason this world has to adopt and further develop ONE language, so communications can be consistant.)

We are not necessarily moving closer to the sun. That would not much affect the speed of light anyway, it would just arrive sooner, but the speed of light I know is affected further out in the solar system from the sun. Density is not exactly the same of local space as it comes nearer the borders of the heliosphere. Our year has shortened.

This solar system is being moved closed to our real central sun, Alcyone, though, by intend as part of building up this sector of Neadon, into at least 4d consciousness and lighter density. Everyone tells about how Nibiru is here, it's not, but we are never going to confront it again, partly because we are being moved, it's being moved, and if it stays at the low vibration it is, this solar system will be invisible to Nibiru eventually, we won't be on their radar.

I think if I spend a bit of time on notes and thinking, I can come up with something I can put into what english I know.

with respect NIP... how do you know a quickening in the earths orbit would not affect the speed of light?

Quoting: sway

We are not discussing a quickening of earths orbit here as to the question on light speed from the sun. The time stuff posted in one of the articles is not so either. time is not speeding up by much, as your clocks are changing by 6 hours a day either. mine change by a few minutes every few months, as compared to internet time on the computer. They are always a few minutes slow.

the quickening is the vibration, much more than the orbit at this time. the orbit will quicken more gradually over a long period and it is shorter than before.

earth's orbit doesn't have anything to do with the amount of time light from the sun takes to arrive. except of course if we are closer the light shows up sooner.

The change is because of the quickening of the whole solar system, the density and vibration of space within our whole solar system is changing. the quickening I assume affects slightly the energy and speed of photons on the surface too though.

As to light speed, science claims its the speed of photon particle movement and that is not so, unless science has changed their description. It is the transfer of energy over the wave length associated with light. Not the movement of actual photon particles. it is the frequency of the wave changing, maybe oscillation is a better word.

At some point after the long stasis and as earth is all transferred over to english, we are going to introduce more accurate words, and begin the changeover to the language of Nebadon, which add great clarity to understanding, emotions, and the like on this planet, a consistency. Language is not well developed here yet.

NIP.

I have been wanting to ask you a question for quite some time and hope this is an ok thread to do so.

Do I recall a post once in which you stated you have MS?

Just wondering as I have MS and have had some very unusual experiences lately that seem to coincide with solar activity.

Today is a really bad day - I feel like my head weighs a ton and it is hard to even stay erect.

However, there have been days with activity related to the sun in which I have felt energized...better than I have felt in a long time.

I am not on a disease modifying drug at this time. I had to stop the monthly infusions (my choice of drug at the time) because it sent my immune system into non-existence and I kept getting sick everything from pneumonia to Mono. I was doing really good despite this fact and then right before the VA earthquake hit and then these big solar flares, I started experiencing intense dizziness and nausea. However, I can relate these symptoms to EQ and solar activity most of the time. It never completely wanes and is always present in some way. My ability to focus is way off and vision is out of wack too.

Even if I am wrong about recalling a post from you stating you have MS, I was wondering if you could give me a rundown on your thoughts about the current EQ and solar activity and how it affects a person physically. I am a firm believer in the fact that what is transpiring is working on our dna and feel it will cause all of us to have some bad days regardless if one has disease issues or not.

Do you have any take on this dna re-arrangement for people with disease? I have an intense feeling that I should just hang on and things will begin to improve at some point in time soon. However, the human side of me is getting concerned about my physical symptoms. I really feel a battle going on between my physical and spiritual thoughts.

at this point, hang on. the MS yes, and I got it from the swine flu vaccine in 1976. it carried 3 viruses on purpose, a polio like one that caused MS, and ones that caused RA and Lupus. I lost my cousin to the lupus, he took the vaccine too.

I have had the virus killed by technology from my sky doc, AA Raphael. my various illness over the years destroyed my pituitary gland and I have undergone stem cell transplants to rebuild it and have been off corticosteroids for at least 3 years now I think, can't remember. I still need a bit if I am under weather or do too much now and then. and sky doc gives me a bit extra when arthritis which is inflammatory flares of a special type. I am far from well yet. but able to do this at the computer on my time schedule. I would not be here at all without the help I got.

My thyroid responded first, i was off thyroid quickly but the adrenals depressed for such a long time were another story, and I had stem cell transplants to them too.

I never took any of the MS treatments, other that ACTH which helped me recover the flares rapidly but also had its own toll later. I was afraid of modern medicine by that point. MY being a nurse and watching cancer treatment caused me to become very wary.

I spent a lot of time in wheelchairs and on crutches, and my list of ailments for those that bash my disability here is long and not only the MS. I have severe spinal stenosis and other arthritic conditions, also which is aided where can be by sky doc. but cannot be cured he can only lesson the serious deposits. I am reporting this because of other folks attacks about my being on disability. to you ones who might read this here, I lived for Years in braces and have had about 2 dozen surgeries of various types, many to release compressed nerves from the stenosis, and other place., I have undergone two sets of spinal fusions as part of that. Cervical fusion of 3 vertebrae and lumbar fusion, plus other decompressive surgery there. I am not a lazy whatsoever. I underwent also 2 dozen epidurals for the cervical and lumbar stenosis.

Now, i have been thru the dna remodeling and have 24 strands, despite all the other stuff I have. Being sensitive thusly is also confused with the other stuff I have! there are times I wish I was less sensitive in fact because of the physical issues, but it serves me still and lets me help others with same. So I don't complain, I go to bed for a bit when it gets intense if need be. I do now know that some of my stuff I could not explain to anyone, was related to being in solar max twice along with my MS. I learned that just 3 or 4 years ago I guess when I began to follow the solar stuff online. and hugely when I started to follow NICT january 2009, and I could see the images and feel at the SAME TIME! very enlightening in fact.

I personally think it a good idea to not depress your immune system too much, but thats an issue for you and your docs. Its not really an immune depressive disease, the scientists are wrong and this is a great reason to kill off more sick people from their vaccines. It is active polio related virus, at least in many cases.

Did YOU take the swine flu vaccine around 1976? Or any other vaccines as an adult? stay away from the pneumonia vaccine they offer us old folks and disabled folks, it is causing all the diabetes and yes, I got that too and its not fixable. I took the dam thing, twice in fact, when it came out and 10 years later. At that time I was not aware of vaccine games.

It would be likely the dizziness and nausea is related to solar, and also earth movements. I paid some attention to sun locations in august, which I posted in ELq's thread and momma is wobbling a lot and that will often produce nausea and vertigo. I have had some increase, but I asked sky doc to do something with my ears late summer 2009, because the vertigo had become incapacitating at times from the severe wobbling that year, after Jupiter ignition. the ascension and solar/planetary stuff continues to be a bit disabling for me with my other issues.

I have had some focus problems with eyes off and on for a couple weeks and I assume this is related to what is going on. I don't have an reason to believe it has other causes and it's also ragweed season which produces some eye allergy stuff for me.

have you checked your sutures on your head? they may also be spreading because many folks, are growing a 3rd brain lobe, the pyschic lobe. I have huge spreads in my sutures on my head. I have been pushing this for 2 years now. Many people have headaches and tender and itching heads from this. Some of you are getting your baby soft spots back. Look for them. It's normal as are the discomforts. this stuff is for real. I am a nurse and I do know what sutures feel like and I have felt some other spreading heads in addition to my own.

There is possibly going to be some more symptoms for all of you, I was going to post there was a cme 24 hours ago that is probably a very direct hit halo. It did NOT show on soho images, I back tracked using the search, but it sure did on Stereo ahead cor 2. there were not images available for behind cor 2 but it was obvious on HI 1 behind earlier today. this is a good sized CME and I don't know when it should hit. I was told about it by CM this morning when I was walking home from my coffee with friends. at first there were not stereo cor images up and only the bubble on hi 1 behind. later I confirmed it when they did put up the ahead images, but never did post the behind ones on cor 2 there is another going on now showing clearly on cor 2 ahead and fuzzy on behind. and I will have to check it tomorrow. time for bed. there are no new lasco images to compare yet. when the CME's are on Stereo and NOTHING on lasco, that i a straight hit at us from the center of the sun. stuff coming closer to the edge will usually show on lasco, as do ones on the sides and back.

they are located between all your cranial bones. they should be all sealed up if not spreading, but you might feel little ridges where they are. If they are spreading it will be obvious. all of mine are but the big spread started for me on the top of my head between the parietal bones. my spread between those two is a full inch. (coronal suture) I have a long 3 inch spread on the back of my crown area of the lambdoidal and coronal sutures that is also at least an inch wide, an the lambdoidal sutures themselves are about 2/3 inch wide. I have lots of other small spreads.

NIP.

I have been wanting to ask you a question for quite some time and hope this is an ok thread to do so.

Do I recall a post once in which you stated you have MS?

Just wondering as I have MS and have had some very unusual experiences lately that seem to coincide with solar activity.

Today is a really bad day - I feel like my head weighs a ton and it is hard to even stay erect.

However, there have been days with activity related to the sun in which I have felt energized...better than I have felt in a long time.

I am not on a disease modifying drug at this time. I had to stop the monthly infusions (my choice of drug at the time) because it sent my immune system into non-existence and I kept getting sick everything from pneumonia to Mono. I was doing really good despite this fact and then right before the VA earthquake hit and then these big solar flares, I started experiencing intense dizziness and nausea. However, I can relate these symptoms to EQ and solar activity most of the time. It never completely wanes and is always present in some way. My ability to focus is way off and vision is out of wack too.

Even if I am wrong about recalling a post from you stating you have MS, I was wondering if you could give me a rundown on your thoughts about the current EQ and solar activity and how it affects a person physically. I am a firm believer in the fact that what is transpiring is working on our dna and feel it will cause all of us to have some bad days regardless if one has disease issues or not.

Do you have any take on this dna re-arrangement for people with disease? I have an intense feeling that I should just hang on and things will begin to improve at some point in time soon. However, the human side of me is getting concerned about my physical symptoms. I really feel a battle going on between my physical and spiritual thoughts.

at this point, hang on. the MS yes, and I got it from the swine flu vaccine in 1976. it carried 3 viruses on purpose, a polio like one that caused MS, and ones that caused RA and Lupus. I lost my cousin to the lupus, he took the vaccine too.

I have had the virus killed by technology from my sky doc, AA Raphael. my various illness over the years destroyed my pituitary gland and I have undergone stem cell transplants to rebuild it and have been off corticosteroids for at least 3 years now I think, can't remember. I still need a bit if I am under weather or do too much now and then. and sky doc gives me a bit extra when arthritis which is inflammatory flares of a special type. I am far from well yet. but able to do this at the computer on my time schedule. I would not be here at all without the help I got.

My thyroid responded first, i was off thyroid quickly but the adrenals depressed for such a long time were another story, and I had stem cell transplants to them too.

I never took any of the MS treatments, other that ACTH which helped me recover the flares rapidly but also had its own toll later. I was afraid of modern medicine by that point. MY being a nurse and watching cancer treatment caused me to become very wary.

I spent a lot of time in wheelchairs and on crutches, and my list of ailments for those that bash my disability here is long and not only the MS. I have severe spinal stenosis and other arthritic conditions, also which is aided where can be by sky doc. but cannot be cured he can only lesson the serious deposits. I am reporting this because of other folks attacks about my being on disability. to you ones who might read this here, I lived for Years in braces and have had about 2 dozen surgeries of various types, many to release compressed nerves from the stenosis, and other place., I have undergone two sets of spinal fusions as part of that. Cervical fusion of 3 vertebrae and lumbar fusion, plus other decompressive surgery there. I am not a lazy whatsoever. I underwent also 2 dozen epidurals for the cervical and lumbar stenosis.

Now, i have been thru the dna remodeling and have 24 strands, despite all the other stuff I have. Being sensitive thusly is also confused with the other stuff I have! there are times I wish I was less sensitive in fact because of the physical issues, but it serves me still and lets me help others with same. So I don't complain, I go to bed for a bit when it gets intense if need be. I do now know that some of my stuff I could not explain to anyone, was related to being in solar max twice along with my MS. NIP....I had to laugh. Raphael was a dear friend of mine at one time a few years back. Thanks for bringing that back to mind for me. You don't know how fitting that is right now.

Stil waiting for your PM...meanwhile, I did not have a flu shot, specifically did not have an H1N1. I was fortunate to have a neuro that said no way. Specifically I had Mono at that time too...and he did not want me compromising my immune system in anyway. Neither did I and I have a mind of my own so wouldn't have done so. I am 50 so how absurd to have gotten Mono at my age. I was receiving monthly infusions with Tysabri at that time for the MS.

You said " My thyroid responded first, i was off thyroid quickly but the adrenals depressed for such a long time were another story"

Similar thing here. My thyroid issues just started to go away, but I know I am still having issues with depressed adrenals.

Thanks for the help.

Oracle, did you take the swine flu vaccine back in 1976 or do you remember. I took my kids but I can't remember if they took it back then and I have worried when either on them has strange stuff. Did anybody else here take that and now have health issues or know somebody that did, as to ms, ra, or lupus?

Hey NIP, I'm still waiting to hear from you also!

The solar flares and CME's affect me also, all of the different symptoms. I am an earth sensitive. I have peripheral neuropathies and MS symptoms, my legs just give out. My disabling injuries were caused by cumulative chemical injuries living in Louisiana with all of the crop dusting and oil industry and a sick building doing my downfall, all medically tested and documented.

I also had all of the vaccines in the 60's, probably the contaminated ones. A lot of my friends and other chemically injured folks I know also had the childhood vaccines. A lot also have the degenerating peripheral neuropathies and MS symptoms. I had the added vaccines for living overseas in Singapore in the early 70's. I will never forget how ill and painful those vaccines were, thyphus, thyphoid, diphtheria and cholera. I could not lift my arms and hurt for over a week.

The flares and geomagnetic storms affect me the most. I can hear and feel them when I lie down to sleep, so damn loud! I feel every earth wobble, 24/7.....the only relief from it is when riding in the car! Have to be extra careful to allow for the earth wobble so as not to fall. Lots of pressure and ear pitch changes too!

No to 1976 swine flu vaccine...thank goodness. But I did live in very close proximity to Three Mile Island. You can guess what my family history of thyroid issues are about. However, mysteriously last year, my thyroid just bounced up to normal range.

My sister also did not take the 1976 Swine flu vaccine but has all the signs and symptoms of Lupus, including the issue with pleurosy (sp?) multiple times and other related symptoms, however her tests always comes back negative. I attribute it all to Three Mile Island.

Ozark, you are not alone. Since the Virginia quake, I don't feel like I've had a day without having some sort of physical sensation from earth changes and movements. Even though I don't tolerate them well, I feel somewhat blessed that I have a built in warning system.

It's strange sometimes but I try to go with it as best I can.

My dad died 4 years ago. Occasionally he comes back to see me..mostly to tell me important things that he feels I need to know.

Three months ago he kept popping in and telling me about the Luray, VA area. I thought he was directing me an area that had caves for times when some think that is needed, so I decided to take a trip there. I was there the Friday - Sunday prior to the VA earthquake.

I went to Luray caverns and had the most awesome experience. Seems what he wanted to let me know what not to go to that place of fear if the solar issues actually happen. His message in the end was to get my fear under control and just go with whatever is happening, rather than listening to the people who are preparing to retreat to caves. The biggest part of his message was that the upcoming events were not to be feared and instead welcomed. It was far more complicated than that, but this is the idea of what I learned from my trip. It was all wrapped around the fear that can be experienced due to my sensitivities to these changes and the fear that can come with knowing what was coming.

My ex husband was in the army and I also underwent a lot of unneeded vaccines , including the ones you have mentioned, which is interesting, because it was when we were living in San Antonio at BAMC that I began to not feel well. I never thought about that. but things worsened a lot after the 1976 swine flu vaccine. as to your wobbling, have they tested you for Meniere's? I had terrible balance issues and would not carry my grandbaby who was living in my home when she was born. I really flunked the menieres tests badly. this was maybe 1998 when I had the studies. steroid use from all my stuff probably caused my cataracts, they came on suddenly, and I had both eyes done 6 weeks apart, also I think in 1998, could have been 1999. I can't remember. Was during the time of all the long acting steroids injected in my epidural spaces for the stenosis.

I also had seizures and my arms would give out suddenly too, another reason I did not carry the baby around.

well Oracle, I know you are waiting, I am about 3 pages behind in my email. Mostly I am tired of mail right now, some nasty stuff came and I cut it off for a bit. I like working here more, because my work gets read more than answers in mail. before I had a website and depended on patrick bellringer and others to post the material, the mail was overwhelming and I finally learned on repetitive questions to save samples and cut and paste, which shorted the time some, instead of writing it over and over.

I have had some people become very "needy" and wanting me to be a spiritual guru, and so have cut back for that reason. I have the same 24 hours as anyone else in a day. So I have backed from that. I have someone on my team who collects some of my work here and makes pdf files out it so people can follow that and get some questions answers or think about what is said anyway. Maybe tomorrow or so if your lucky I will dig thru it all.

No concern from me. I really just wanted a little rundown on your understanding of the dna changes that are taking place for those that can accept it and any ideas you have about helping oneself to allow the changes.

You have already given me alot to think about, especially the ability to have Raphael help with that work. I think I needed a jump start to get my brain thinking in the right direction.

I used to work with Raphael with other people, one in particular, so you just mentioning his name triggered a lot of understanding and recollection.

Yes, I can make that request, but I really appreciate that you would have done so for me.

I think the point was for you to give me that nudge and reminder....mission accomplished and I thank you very much.

I think I am so very tired and was looking for some sort of confirmation that the DNA changes would make all the physical ailments magically go away. I have so little time to focus on the the work that goes with these energies and have a hard time being clear that things are transpiring in my life just the way the need to.

Everything is changing very quickly, sometimes it's hard to keep up with it all.

Again, thank you for posting these things. I appreciate your input/posts.

well my dna hooking up didn't seem to do much for the arthritis, ms etc and confused the situation, as way back then I didn't know yet very consciously about the process going on. It was my guide and soul mate Tom (who is not incarnate with me this life) in fact who started coming around a lot and giving me an education about it. He sent me to the book store to check some reading and he was the one who coined my term "ascension syndrome", not me.

NIP.

Thanks for the PM.

Yes, I can make that request, but I really appreciate that you would have done so for me.

I think the point was for you to give me that nudge and reminder....mission accomplished and I thank you very much.

I think I am so very tired and was looking for some sort of confirmation that the DNA changes would make all the physical ailments magically go away. I have so little time to focus on the the work that goes with these energies and have a hard time being clear that things are transpiring in my life just the way the need to.

Everything is changing very quickly, sometimes it's hard to keep up with it all.

Again, thank you for posting these things. I appreciate your input/posts.

Peace and Light to you.

well my dna hooking up didn't seem to do much for the arthritis, ms etc and confused the situation, as way back then I didn't know yet very consciously about the process going on. It was my guide and soul mate Tom (who is not incarnate with me this life) in fact who started coming around a lot and giving me an education about it. He sent me to the book store to check some reading and he was the one who coined my term "ascension syndrome", not me.

Quoting: Nobody in Particular

Yes it hasn't done much for me either in the physical way, yet there have been a few days when I have felt energized in an odd way. Something I don't experience often so it is very easy to pinpoint when it happens.

I actually had symptoms of MS way back to my early 20's but they were minor, except for the major bladder issues that always plagued me since then. MS really reared it's ugly head on me during a time in which I was doing a lot of healing and teaching. I think that spiritual energy enters the chakras and comes through the nervous system in order to come into your consciousness. I believe I was very zealous about channeling and did not concern myself with protection.

It's my thought anyway. I think the MS was there long before I started my spiritual journey...just that the practices I did NOT use were hard on my physical body and hence MS was able to come out in full force.

 Regardless, we are still superwomen!

Peace

well back on topic, solar stuff, I made this post in elq thread, because I mentioned above I think, about a CME not mentioned by nasa early the 14th utc.

Anyway more images are now available and this is the copy of the post I just made.

well the unreported cme that should be a direct hit from the center of the sun should arrive soon now. this one early the 14th utc, actually would have started late the 15th utc. not the one mentioned by space weather, that was the later one that day. [link to stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov] this one did not show on soho at all, but was on behind [link to stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov] beautiful bubble /lightbulb cme some call them.

editing this post and placing this link from the 14th. [link to stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov] hi1 behind has a rare bubble type cme on IT but not until about 9 utc. I was to go look at the soho images for the 14th.

OK the light bulb cme at the beginning of sept 14, did show barely on soho, the HALO look. here is one sample [link to sohowww.nascom.nasa.gov]

There is NOTHING on SOHO OR stereo cor 2 a or b, that matches this lightbulb cme ejection around 9 utc on the 14th, On stereo HI 1 B linked above. how strange. I have never seen anything, and as the time progresses it surely looks like a cme, but I have no idea on why it doesn't show on the others, except that is isn't in the range of the other equipment.

if some of you have not seen this link [link to www.swpc.noaa.gov] its a good one to get the current data during solar storms. click on the dials to get the data. this is a moderate CME according to Candace's learning over time, but the AE index seems a bit intense based on the bz's with this. While the storm itself as to protons and wind is "average' the AE seems a bit "elevated."

well this current CME in progress has 3 bumps on the AE index all about 4 hours apart. And the haarp TEC graph is unusual. I don't know the meaning of each color there, have never found the instructions to interpret, so I only go on the patterns I watch. this is one very different pattern but I don't know if it means anything at all. [link to maestro.haarp.alaska.edu]

The effects on the haarp magnetometer is pretty intense too. Lots of stuff coming in to churn the ionospheric soup. [link to 137.229.36.30] and of course here, from the goes satillites which are closer to earth is the evidence of breech also. [link to www.n3kl.org] I find it amazing this is KP 6 storm, something is changing. We have had far bigger storms with much smaller KP's, usually more like 4 and maybe 5.

Some of you may be picking this up via how you feel today.

hmmm not seeing this on usgs. do you have an australian link? I had one once.

It is NOT Rude of me to ask that on this very confused world, that it's citizens stop to think about what they carry around as "truth" that is indeed BLING. It is the time of the blind leading the blind and the internet makes that easy for everyone to get on their soapbox. This is not a bad time, but you must take responsibility for what YOU create, and be careful not to pass on the BLING as "truth." INSPECT everything, thus you can consciously grow your MIND/SOUL.

To Consciously GROW yourself, to have desire for knowledge, is of GOD. It is what makes you in fact, a SON of God. You are to develop your GOD MIND. THAT IS YOUR PURPOSE for YOUR LIFE ETERNAL. ALWAYS the continual Development of FIERY INTELLIGENCE, centered in heart. There is no other way to God KNOWING in fact.

BTW India has got a nice 6.8 plus a smaller quake on Iris atm, what has been interesting for me is the timing of the Vanuatu Quakes recently and also the ones that hit off Japan, in non linear terms, are these the one quake manifesting as obviously movement occurs? To me it seems, that they start at a depth and concentricly move upward thru the earths crust.

Also the pulses coming in from the Suns atm, it was mentioned that electrums are graded as unprogrammable or are usually "junk" if you like, how do photons and electrums counter act each other? It is in my understanding that the photon is a programmed light quantum and the electron is merely a free radical if you will. Does this mean that the photons will either clear or gobble electrons similar to how the golden nebula as talked about by Sananda Germain is gobbling up electrons in the greater local universe, is this the function of photons through the field? Sounds a bit scattered I know but hopefully you can help make some sense of this and have a lovely day Nobody in Particular!

Thanks for posting these missing quakes Nobody in Particular, I was up late last night as I usually do watching monitoring programs, interesting bunch of sunspots on spaceweather yesterday, looking at the current realtime data on the field, I have seen the field in this position before and have a feeling that when it is like it is now, we get some jolts deep in the earth, its 2:16pm, and I have just gotten up, its warm again here in the Southern region of Australia, birds a chirpping and my cats seem nice and stable today.

Being a recent addition to this state, I have gotten to know the locals, and apparently we get eqs here is Tasmania all the time, roughly two weeks ago, I was having a smoke on the back porch and felt a decent tremor through my feet, being a sensitive as well I can feel these quakes sometime when I'm on my game so to speak, the vibrations over the last week were quite strong, whom I have grown to after CME that arrived, I do get instructed to lay down alot by guides so to process the infromation from these events as well as to centre myself.....Mother Eartrh is an incredible being whom I have quite an affection for, I am not into doom and gllom, but am absolutely fascinated by Eqs, Volcanoes and the like, its something you do experience everyday above the mundane, which I must clean my house !

Ok right now we are sort of running slow in the magnetosphere/ionosphere activity. however the electrons are NOT decreasing. In fact these are changes, as is the proton energies. For over a week now, could be two weeks I don't know, these graphs have lots of INCREASE on them and this is change.

[\[link to www.swpc.noaa.gov\]](http://www.swpc.noaa.gov) this has to do with proton activity and it is often BLACK. this large "circle" of blue is not the norm. And today, despite any apparent increase in solar energy arriving, has a lighter blue center than before.

[\[link to iono.jpl.nasa.gov\]](http://iono.jpl.nasa.gov) now today and yesterday the red area is a bit less, but the areas yellow green and light blue are hugely expanding. There is usually more energy in this during a solar storm, but it quickly dies back. Its not doing that.

[\[link to www.gdgps.net\]](http://www.gdgps.net) ;and here's the famous white SPOT its NOT a "hole". The software simply can't express the energies that are beyond the highest color on this. Been a lot more of this lately too, as per that white hole thread that was running and probably still is.

[link to www2.nict.go.jp] now these images change out, it may not work but look at the bell shaped depression of the pressure image. Heres another. [link to www2.nict.go.jp]

If the above links are out of date, find the best one what is closest to this green spike on the density graph under the pressure images. [link to www2.nict.go.jp]

Something strong enough arrived to do that! there is also a density spike at geostationary orbit too, around 8:30 UTC or so.

And here's proof it isn't just a glitch. Plenty of white from the proton count. [link to www2.nict.go.jp]

There are often quakes after these.

Just got out of bed and had a look at Nict, there is a density spike that shoots up out of what it seems to me relatively stable density, then it drops of, as of late I have been noticing pulses through the field, which indeed raises the vibration, including raising myself out of old thought patterns, it is interesting to note about the polar shift of this age, according to the masters, the one we were actively engaged in didnt pose well for the mass consciousness of the planet, in fact we back step back then, around the fall of Atlantis when the race from Mars in a projected time flux entered this world via the vortexes and ended building machinery that pulled open dimensional reality. There has been much work done on reversing the polarity of those vortexes which most of humanity would forget, that makes this current activity all the more exciting and incredible, as past problems will finally be able to be fixed.

On spaceweather, they are reporting via a cool movie that a CME is heading for Mercury within the next day or so, and Earth is to be glanced by another that was generated in the previous weeks, I am not too sure on the accuracy of this information, however they are saying that 22nd of Sept is when it is to arrive. Today there is also 40 per cent chance of M flares as well as Nasa reptring sunspots 1305, 1295, 1296 " Crackling" with C flares.

Also in news local, Monday was a glorious day with not much cloud activity here. At around 10pm the winds suddenly pick up quite dramatically and we had a spawned thunderstorm much to my delight. Certain friends have been reporting the possibilty of storms manifesting suddenly during this time due to the nature of the ionosphere which is going to be quite interesting.

Well enough from me for now.....catch you all soon!

Well the sun is seriously off, or rather earths rotation. Set was at least 10 minutes early and reported also by a friend in the carib. He reported early rise, I was up but we had black clouds east. I did not get an exact time for solar noon, because I didn't hear the alarm, was out doing yard work, but the place where I check is running very ahead of where it should be when I came in. I watched this alot in the past I know its off as to my solar noon set up. casting way too much shadow too soon.

I will try to get rise tomorrow, so I can see if we are at equinox yet. we were no where close a few day ago.

Morning lol,

Had a big sleep in today as there alot of processing going on of the information, which is streaming in now!

As I usually have my cup of tea and morning cig on the back doorstep I get my morning sun meditation done.

I noticed this morning that theres alot of white to ultraviolet light peaking in around the sun.

I love days like these with the sun being like this as I get to channel it into the dna centers and clear my foggy head after being asleep.

Yesterday I felt a bit off balance, dizzy in some respects and things did seem to be out of whack a bit. I have been getting visuals of the correcting of the rotation or orbit either of the suns or an axis movement of some sort.

In these visuals I see the sun rolling back toward the northeast, just a few degrees over north and it does seem to pull at the energy centres quite a bit. During times like these I am directed to lie down and usually surface in the late afternoon or at night. At this time things seem to usuually settle down a bit, although of late the menatl chatter doesnt seem to die down until after 11pm!

Sorry to hear about those chemtrails, and I certainly hope your sore throat clears up quickly, raw garlic helps alot!

According to Nasa tommorrow we will be glanced by a CME that has been bouncing around the local areas of Earth, so it should be interesting to see what happens next.

All my very best!

I am curious about this X xray flare. there is a CME which is showing on stereo. the SOHO images are not updated yet.

AHEAD: [\[link to stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov\]](http://stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov)

[\[link to stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov\]](http://stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov)

this is either a huge halo type CME, or there are two of them.

BEhind: [\[link to stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov\]](http://stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov)

My guess is this is not earth directed, but we still have to wait and see if the CME is actually from the X flare site or not. And if whether it's from a sunspot or a massive filament. there was a huge filament on the front of the sun a day or so ago. I haven't rechecked.

OK yesterday [\[link to sohowww.nascom.nasa.gov\]](http://sohowww.nascom.nasa.gov) actually 24 hours ago. you can a filament.

This is the eve look, a few hours after now. [\[link to lasp.colorado.edu\]](http://lasp.colorado.edu) but I think that bright spot is just the new sunspot coming around and not the source of the X x ray flare.

OK space weather is covering that and has an image of the flare (not cme) coming out of the new sunspot coming around on the east limb. and in my post after this one, with the craft on stereo B you can see that it is a well developed sun spot.

nothing much for us I don't think. Even the x ray X flare is coming of the eastern edge so I don't know if that affect any quakes or not. the biggy hot spot at the time was over Africa on this: [link to www.swpc.noaa.gov] the middle was right over africa and bright red with the absorption at 35. I surely perceived it though as the energy spread thru the ionosphere. it was dark here when I got up at 4 am unable to sleep. I was somewhat energized, plus skin was "burning." got some housework done etc. I have had days of dragging, but it was better yesterday. I was not online watching this stuff at the height of the last max, but I do now know that I have felt large M and X flares for many years now, which I could never associate before I was watching stuff like this.

Hello everyone,

Indeed intersting week ahead of us.

I crawled into bed late lat night and tossed and truned for ages, just could seem to rest. Was very agitated as I now realise that when major acivity like this happens it stirs up old feelings etc.

The CME that is glancing earth is more directed to the western side of earth if you can imagine viewing earth head on from such a location in space, lol, must have been a trip on board last night!

I have a feeling we'll get many minor earthquakes, this seems to be in my "visual" this morning.

We had a nice rainstorm over night and some strong winds.....but it is nice and sunny today here.

I wnoder which ship is the "big puppy"?

I know the PLedians have been in contact with me for some time now.

Semjase is getting really excited about seeing me again, as when I was a child I had major visions and dreamtime experiences with the Federation, so much so to include the embedded memory that the ships will come at night.

Heading out to do some everyday shopping things and I have to get my lawns done, so I am going to soak up as much of the rays as possible, I was just out on the back porch waking up and my upper energy centres are spinning quite fast as I can see the energy now in my Auric field clearing after many years of the dark viel of illusion being all around us.

Hope all have a wonderful day filled with joy nd excitement as many things are about to manifest for us and with us!

Kind Regards,

Horusinsun

PRESTO FROM SIDC - RWC BELGIUM Fri Sep 23 2011, 1205 UT

Catania 82 (NOAA AR 1302) is the most active region on the solar disk. This region was the source of the X flare yesterday and has continued to produce C-flares, the largest one being a C9.6 flare peaking at 00:33 UT. Also Catania 72 (NOAA AR 1295) remains very active with numerous C-flares yesterday and today. At 01:59 UT today it produced an M1.6 flare. No clear CME was associated to any of these events. However, the CME that accompanied the X flare yesterday was a large scale event. PROBA2/SWAP difference images show a global EUV wave. STEREO A and B chronographs imaged a clear halo CME. SOHO/LASCO suffers from a data gap, but also suggest a halo CME. Speed estimates based on COR2 data lead to a CME speed between 620 (based on STEREO A) and 900 km/s (based on STEREO B). We expect the earth may receive a glancing blow from this CME, probably in the morning of september 25. As a result of this event, the GOES proton flux also started to rise, but the measurements stayed just below the ~10MeV threshold. We can expect more C- and possibly M-flares from regions Catania 72 (NOAA AR 1295, turning over the west limb) and Catania 82 (NOAA AR 1302).

Geomagnetic conditions are currently quiet. If the glancing blow of the CME of yesterday reaches the Earth on September 25th, unsettled to active conditions are possible.

[\[link to stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov\]](http://link.to/stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov) from yesterday which I posted earlier in this thread. the area to the lower left would be why it may glance us. I figured maybe there had possibly been two CME's about the same time, but its just a huge halo I guess.

Well, thankyou Spaceweather for the bs CME, I am a bit red faced and embarressed today becuase pf it lol!

Another bueatiful day here, with Azzure blue skies and a gentle warmth from brother sun. A few annoying grinders being used by the neighbours, but hey what are you gonna do!

Interesting piccie of Big Puppy, also intereswting were the ships over Russia, I was picking up a few things on the eithers for the last few months about talks with Russian parliament, but this could just be my own prejections!

So what is the function exactly of Big Puppy? are these the transport ships or some kind of universal tow truck so to speak or some kind of arcitectural ship that works on the firmament?

Just about to have a look at field for the last day that yggims on youtube outs together!

As I type I just had a look and it seems there hasnt been must activity on his page for awhile. I used to look at this all the time but do to recent relocations my day to day life has been through some upheavals lol.

Theres alot of speculation going on as to when this satelite will come down, otherwise to me there is not much news worth watching on MSM, which I bouycot like the plague it is!

All seems poised now for a big surprise! Eq activity is showing some quakes just below the surface of the earths crust at a stable magnitude, seems like a calm before the storm so to speak.

Spacweather is talking about solar flares again due to a recent addition to the earth facing side of the sun with sunspot areas as big as the earth coming into view. X flares have been given a 20 per cent probabity and M clas are at a 70 per cent.

Should be an interesting week though as this progress rapidly as a few messages coming in now poit to the likelihood of this occourring.

Not much else to report, hope you all are well NIP I certainly hope the throat is better.

Off for a shower and then some yoga followed by a 7pm meditation timeslot.

Kind Regards,

well on checking the solar data after getting up we had another x flare, about x.2 maybe about 10 utc. And a tall M in progress right now. Otherwise its quiet. very quiet. NICK has been down for some time now, but nothing of interest on ACE. Or anywhere else.

also we are NOT at equinox at all. I checked this morning was up early enough, sunrise a couple minutes late but I had to find a place where I could get a clear shadow to determine and the sun caste a shadow that clearly said, and this was after it had been up nearly 15 minutes (thus moved south some already), and the shadow cast was clearly proving the sun is still NORTH of due east. so we have not reached equinox yet.

Ok the M looks to be about an M 8 the craft around the sun are not tranports, they have technology on them to manipulate the sun. We don't have a firmament yet, we will and I supposed some could be involved in the rebuilding of that too though. I haven't asked exactly what big buppy does or if there are more than one of those up there.

As to our moving solar system, I assume their is one or more crafts assigned to the brown dwarf, I could ask I guess. I don't know if craft are involved with moving it, or their is some sort of other energy applied or used.

well there was a massive halo CME maybe associated with the X flare but it seems a little late. there is a tiny CME before this big one. NASA on space weather mentions only a fague cloud at this point with the X flare, so I am going that this first one is the X flare, and this huge one stand alone not related to the X flare. Well have to wait on all the data though because there aren't current SOHO images yet, probably not until tomorrow or later today. I will do a search later and see, because what's on the search is not always what they show to the public.

Cool, thanks NIP for the explanation on the craft lol, I was wondering last night wether big puppy was the Phoenix, but then I rememeber reading the phoenix journal number 30 and that the phoenix was positioned near the Pleides, however this could have changed?

Just went to spaceweather and they are saying a possibility of a glancing CME hitting earth on 26th plus 7 hours, and yes I just saw it there with my own two eyes!

the Phoenix moves where they want it to go. it was over denver down low, I mean looking like venus does, size wise, brighter even, for 10 months in 2005. CM put on a light show one night for the neighbor kids.

The Phoenix is a very small command craft, about 900 meters in diameter. (about 1/2 mile). So that should give you an idea how down close he was.

He has told me at least one, one time he was parked out by saturn, in one piece we did, and I don't remember where saturn was to us at that time. I have finally had a couple better days.

Here in Tasmania I might finally get to see some dancing lights of the Aurora variety.

New message from Federation on Youtube, Andromadeans and alot of the other councils are talking about the increasing every vibrations and the practice of detachment from the illusion of chaos.

I have been seeing the shuttle craft in my vision time and know we are closer than ever at ending the stranglehold of the dark cabals from this thirteen millenia or so of out and out bastardry against CM and us all!

I am sending much love to CM and Jmanuel at this time congratulating him and his great team, meaning you guys at AHS.

Ever an avid reader, and much support from me to you all at this time.

Also on spaceweather there was a recording of the sun activty from Mexico on the 24th. Interesting noise coming in, lets hope it takes out the TV so there is no more nausiating TV broadcasts from the deceivers. I have resigned myself not to watching TV until you know what happens!

Keep up the great work, I have been trawling GLP for others threads done by yourself, and few posters are quite intelligent whilst I see you copped abuse from sheer ignorance of those with the insults. If I had internet back then I would have come to your assistance, with my ethereal sword of truth, however I was staying at a halfway home, trying to get trough to the Christians who were running the place, manhy seeds planted, as thanks to them for looking after me I painted the star that used to be in the LHC of the AHS, I am not that well apainter as I would have gladly painted one of Jmanuel there, how fascinating the image from the Akashic Records of the good man and Joseph. I can certainly attest the the authenticity of it.

Oh well, Yoga and then bed me thinks. Soon I will be able to speak with you in person, maybe a stiff drink or just a cosmic cappucino.

Thoughts like this keep me going, looking forward to that American charm.

Talk to you soon, and Love to all beings as they awake to thr good times that are manifesting.

we continue to have quite a few M flares. there was yet another cme off the sun possibly earth directed near the end of UTC yesterday, 23 utc or so, I remember. Haven't checked stereo and soho yet today.

I am going to really work on this habit I have of posting and looking at all those solar and elenin et all threads. Everyone is so full of BLING and prefers LIES to truth. I am so outta of them. This is the result of the internet, and so anybody can post anything, which is GOOD but it's supposed to challenge people to THINK and they just change quickly from following one lie to another and don't both to even check and learn along the way. Something is wrong with the 4d process on this planet. It's not supposed to be this bad. People are not searching for real truth and knowing. they are just blindly doing the sheeple thing. It has gotten dramatically worse here over the summer, and since the elenin story. I GIVE UP on those ones. They care not for reason, only for jumping on band wagons. Enough is enough. I am going to do some fall cleaning on my house for a few days, which will be actually better use of my time.

I am not leaving, I just have to stop the headaches of posting in threads of that sort. This is what GLP and other forums look like now. and where is my favorite one for this? In my list of smilies, hmm.

As far as I know its not different, the sun has moved heavily out of the min, but I know I have felt more sun stuff in the past than now. Nothing affects anybody, until the call is made for ministasis, other than of course the normal earth changes going on and they are slow this week, because our magnetosphere has been quiet. I mostly am doing this thread just to watch and post my own commentary for anyone interested. I didn't have a computer online during the last solar max, well I did, but I wasn't watching it all.

I was coming here to post this link to BATS R US which will be useful for those who miss NICT. I almost forgot about it. It images a bit differently but still very effective when a storm comes in. right now its quiet too. The pressure image is on the right and the color is showing the current level of protons coming in. We are apparently getting another glancing blow right now.

As for the ramoant disinfor, bring on Ministasis which will be meditated on every moment now, the much needed truth and change from our firends in fleet is SURELY needed.

I understand how you feel NIP, when you know something so much and you try to communicate it and it seems to fall on deaf ears, lets pray the miracle opens up our eyes and hearts to what is true and needed at this time. I mean I was absolutely gobsmacked that another 9/11 came around with not as much as a fart from the truth movement in America, no you NIP, one new youtube camera angle change and nothing more on that dark day. I advise folks to reach Holy War Inc, which was released before 9/11 as a book, which details the CIA involvement in running terror campaigns and backing to those toy soldiers they later used as scapegoats.....wool needs to be shorn and sadly the infested dag ends of America need an immediate inspection and healing if we are to move forward.

Tasmania is still apart of Colonial Australia the false state and it sickens me to go down Yorj street or some other British named street here, where the buildings are soulless monsters in the eyes of a decaying city, beautiful nature in the other regions of this state, but the memory in the earth of violence, oppression and killing, really does drown the senses.

Good Night!

shit, I wrote a whole teaching post and something went with the glp server I guess, and the page just disappeared and now my post is gone. well. anyway, we have either a cme or a shock wave going on. I don't feel like reconstructing this yet, I am feeling this storm really intensely. Woke up very much with truck ran over me syndrome . Any way, Nict is back up. Protons got to 30+, bz fairly deep during that time. about -16.

Horusinsun, images never copy and paste to glp. thankyou for your answer about Tasmania and what is seen there. We have tons of soulless cities and buildings in this country and despite what they teach in school, we are still a British Colony.

I do not like what I am seeing recently on BATS R US. [link to ccmc.gsfc.nasa.gov] huge change in the IMF lines in them. This is not the norm.

exactly nothing interesting in Denver, Obama here to do his speeches then they say he goes to silicon valley next.

3rd deep negative bz with this storm. It's a CME not a shock wave, the wind speed says so. Goes magnetometer has just had a very negative spike to -100 Tunits. Not sure what that means.

seems time wise to match the current bz drop out. This one is really affecting the ionosphere, did I post the polar cap was wide open awhile ago on BATS R US? Then it suddenly closed as the bz shot positive.

Angel wings are now spreading again, with the bz drop out, my it is swinging alot today! -20 to +20 at the drop of a pin it seems.

IMPACT: A coronal mass ejection (CME) hit Earth's magnetic field at approximately 12:15 UT on Sept. 26th. The impact caused significant ground currents in Norway. Also, the Goddard Space Weather Lab reports a "strong compression of Earth's magnetosphere. Simulations indicate that solar wind plasma [has penetrated] close to geosynchronous orbit starting at 13:00UT." Geosynchronous satellites could therefore be directly exposed to solar wind plasma and magnetic fields. Stay tuned for updates.

STRONG SOLAR ACTIVITY: Having already unleashed two X-flares since Sept. 22nd, sunspot AR1302 appears ready for more. The active region has a complex "beta-gamma-delta" magnetic field that harbors energy for strong M- and X-class eruptions. Flares from AR1302 will become increasingly geoeffective as the sunspot turns toward Earth in the days ahead.

On Sunday, Sept. 25th, Dutch astrophotographer Emil Kraaikamp took a magnificent picture of the active region, which is so big only half of it fits on the screen. Click to view the entire sunspot: [\[link to spaceweather.com\]](#)

[\[link to www.gdgps.net\]](http://www.gdgps.net) two white spots!

[\[link to ccmc.gsfc.nasa.gov\]](http://ccmc.gsfc.nasa.gov) BATS R US has for now 19 utc time frame the largest polar cap boundary I have seen. (means its a really big "hole" of energy coming in both poles.

[\[link to 137.229.36.30\]](http://137.229.36.30) too. at this time, more than - 500 19+ utc

And look at the AE index here, where the graph adjusts to what is going on, so you can see the peak how much the it is over the 1500 top on NIct. maybe 1800. [\[link to wdc.kugi.kyoto-u.ac.jp\]](http://wdc.kugi.kyoto-u.ac.jp)
You can always go there when nict is down.

I will get the figures when up for the bz, is appearing about -30 right now.

oh my [\[link to iono.jpl.nasa.gov\]](http://iono.jpl.nasa.gov)

[\[link to www.swpc.noaa.gov\]](http://www.swpc.noaa.gov) polar absorption seems a bit more too.

wind speak is now 649, and if this keeps up some more of the CME's if they are coming may show a bit earlier than anticipated by nasa. pressure rising again. 6.2 (which is why its white on NICT pressure image) two M flares today [\[link to www.n3kl.org\]](http://www.n3kl.org) electron flux just proves we have a storm, it is always depressed because of the intrument confusion during these. Goes magnetometer is nice and nutty.

OH MY, KP is 8. I have not seen that that I recall during my years of watching, but we were approaching min when I started watching this stuff and we had a long min.

[\[link to www.swpc.noaa.gov\]](http://www.swpc.noaa.gov) I suggest the ACE data stream was down briefly because something crapped on the satellite. Protons back up to 10 ish, which is WHY plus the wind that the pressure image is white in nict.

Yes NIP and good folks of this thread, this week will be a big one, more stuff coming from the field, just had a look and the pressure is up again! Looks like the kinda energy needed for Gaia to make her moves so to speak.

Velocity has gone right up as well and then tapered down. Nasa reporting geomag storms and Aurora activity to move down into USA a bit more, planetary K index is at a 24 k= 8 index, reports of lights in New York and down into USA a bit more than usual which would be great if I were there to take some piccies.

Yes British Colonialism vs Khazzar regions, oh hang on, that means the same thing doesnt it?! lol!

With the party about to start I am offering to join the chef in the kitchen so to speak, I would like to offer my favourite dish of Dansih pastries to the cosmin suffle! Danish for those who now, are better made by taking ones time so the layers of pastry unfold perfectly to give max flavour and texture. Then theres the filling, apple and blueberrie served with cream yummmo!

The underlying tone of the Dansih analogy is about things that manifest over time and when they are not rushed leads to greater statisfaction, similar to building ones house hey NIP?

Anyways little on the EQ front, my sister and I are avid storm watchers and I would lkike to see avery good one at the close of this age. Unlike hurricane Hilary which will not make landfall of the Californain/Mexican coast!

Not much more to report here, however a final comment on energy rising out of the earth. A dear friend of mine visited my home town in Ireland, Ennistymon County Claire and was racked by visions of ghosts and wars and the like. As another sensitive, the memory of earth and things that happended in certain areas can be felt and even viewed if you are attuned to see that way.

Here in Tasmania there was countless slaughters of indigenous tribes as well as the natural habitat. Lets know that after stasis the earth shall no longer be haunted by these atrocities. I'd very much dislike travelling to the mideast atm although the wind does carry a fowl memory at times of things that have happenned in distant pastures.

PS Last night I finally had a decent nights sleep where my dreams were not filled full of nightmares, I can feel a change coming and it has been forming since I was a child.....the visions I had then I am now starting to understand and if you would like to view these I have embedded my writing with this one particular one.....

Kind Belssing to you all, and keep your eyes on the horizons for out weary space buddies!

Hey guys, nice night tonight, found an interesting link that shows a realtime mag field display for 26th of sept. quite a awesome sight to behold, especially when the field dissappeared for a short amount of time.

[\[link to www.youtube.com\]](http://www.youtube.com)

Tonight quite quiet here but storms of the geo mag variety continue, eqs seem quiet and news of friends in danger has put me in a really shit mood, so I wont be as bubbly.

For those ones who have dark intentions, simply fuck off and enjoy your prison sentences will you, after all you were offerred enough is enough.

Have fun in your cells and literally shit yourself with the universal court proceedings.

Sorry guys if this is not of the mindset we are needed to be in, but after all we have seen, witnessed and lived through down to the treatment of close family friends as well as you dear ones, I am at my wits end with compassion for these ones.

I mean given a peaceful solution and then attack another country in Lybia? Continue force feeding the asleep masses with your drivel? The shit stinks to high heaven, the earth was never meant for this kind of abuse, and I am sure and will stay until she is the jewel she was intended to be!

Asking blessings from CM please, mini stasis if you will my dear man!! That way I can at least hold a face to face conversation with NIP whom I have been worried about for years and is constantly in my thoughts as these dark CUNTS would even do this to a dear Marayan friend.....

Now ifeel a little better, once you get to know me, I dont tolerate abuse in any form, and am working hard to manifest a world that is FREE from these ills.

I wonder if those heavy transport ships had to be hosed out after some of the dark ones were escorted away?

Sorry NIP if this is not of Urantian consciousness which you have struded for in all your dealings and for who I have great respect and reverence.

I am off to meditate and hopefully when I awake, a nice of Pleadian woman mught be there to pick me up or maybe I'll egt to see dear Eduard Mier and we can build some really cool Pledian buildings as I was thought to, or maybe we'll have a huge showing of ships and maybe it will be accepted by the masses that there is no threat from outer space except from those delsuional thoughts planted in our brains by Hollywood?!

No Greys here folks, they are in quarantine and have signed a treaty not to return, No Reptilians either, they are not allowed near earth ever again at this rate, No Annunaki, they were deleted from Life for fucking up everything down to our genetics which I believe rooted a lot of illness here on earth, God is not a slave driver and not to be feared, but these bird-headed creeps that were accepted as Gods for who knows why were more than domineering in their dealings here.....God is not pie in the sky folks, but he certainly likes pie lol, maybe come to the table folks and SMMMMEEEELLLLL what Aton has been cooking.....

Anyways I guess I just had to let that out.....and Oh me on a Solar Thread, shit... oh well I did provide a link and maybe some long needed backup to an old teacher of mine.....God bless NIP proud of you and the crew.....

And to all a goodnight as I go to bed,

Brendan, formerly of Melbourne via the universe, with a very sore neck from stress and god knows what hit me a couple of years ago which wasn't friendly.....

Nite!

[link to sohowww.nascom.nasa.gov] WOW First seen about 12:48 UTC, barely and then by 13:25 its well developed.

Ok, off to check this out elsewhere, stereo is interesting too right now, or near the end of the UTC day anyway. What beautiful "art" by the sun. brb

Ok, I didn't see the one above on Stereo Ahead. There is also a large section of missing images today, so perhaps later when they are available. But here's one that started a few hours ago. Which seems not on SOHO at this time anyway.

[link to stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov] first seen about 1900 UTC. I don't see any on Stereo B because there are no more images for the day. So hard to tell with just one image if its' earth directed.

[link to stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov] Ok this is stereo B, showing the CME from SOHO above. So the CME on SOHO around 12 utc. So NOT earth directed. I need to check now to see if there was a x ray flare. Probably not. there was am M x ray flare before 9 UTC. lets wait and see what spaceweather will place about it.

spaceweather says we have minor ones coming. I don't remember, since I forgot to keep a journal here as to when the last time anything happened. I would have to go back and look. That is one reason i was going to keep this thread going was as a journal. Seems like we had a couple a few days ago, but without going back, I am not sure. I could do that tomorrow I am up right now got awakened by an alarm which should have not gone off, so I am just seeing if there was some reason I was awakened. We did get a "gamma ray" storm, and my ears are going like crazy even many hours later.

Well folks, more energy coming in from the sun now as just Checked Realtime and much heat is pouring in, density is up and down as well as Bz and By meters.....could be an interesting night, convection is changing as well, things are warming up a bit in the mid latitudes.

I was out in the sun today, and with the wethaer forecast at 16c it was a hell of a lot hotter than that. Felt some bursts coming in from the sun, now it seems that the polar regions are under some increased pressures, a bloke on youtube was saying that he thinks we could have the polar reversal soon.....it would be interesting to see this.

Sleeping heeps but not waking rested atm, periods of tiredness as well as total and utter restlessness followed by dullness....it is quite a ride this time with the shifting of the polar charges, which I think is the easiest way to explain it. I remember reading that the field will change its electromagnetic polarity or charge....it is going to be interesting to see what this looks like.

Indeed there has been some changes in the sky, The sky seems a bit brighter at night as these new energies flood in. I have also noticed that there is sunlight in the sky long after sundown, this perhaps due to the location I'm in being in Tasmania, but the mind does wonder.

Saturn and Mercury are doing an alignment atm, atronomy and astology seem to be in marriage and I was reading that there are some major ones coming with the sun, Venus and Earth in November which I wonder if that is what Michael is alluding to with the coming alignments he discussed earlier.

Oh well, can I also ask you guys if you have been experiencing any memory loss atm? I have struggling with this myself, remembering verbatim things I have read or written to a certain degree but yhis wears off after a time.

Looks like alot of grounding ahead of us tonight, lets put it to good use and welcome brother sun as he rises through earth mother, and forgive me for any typos.....lol.

One final note regarding the moon tonight, we had a massive ringed halo around the moon tonight, strong clear and vibrant, I felt a little on edge but I was told once that this could be a precursor for quakes which have been a bit quite lately.

Well I'll sign off for now, if anyone would like to chat with me or share their knowledge with me it would be welcomed, gets a bit lonely being the only one around the house who loves this kinda stuff.....

Kind Regarda,

Brendan via the BIG CHEESEY universe of Neadon.

[link to stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov] New CME on ahead about 19UTC in this image but probably about 18 Utc. Missing images is why.

[link to stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov] Behind, and a missing images here too, but it appears it may have also occurred here. the images on both near the end of today are similar.

[link to sohowww.nascom.nasa.gov] On Soho but only the end, period of missing images also. Understand they are not always "hiding" something, as the satellites are NOT in constant contact with ground receiving stations, and so images must be downloaded when the satellite IS in contact and added.

there were no X ray flares during the time of this one, so its not associated with a flare. Will have to wait to see other images to get an idea if it will maybe glance earth or not. Its so LOW.

we have had an increase in quake numbers with the last few small cme's that have arrived. Per usual some are left out each day, but I will only collect them if I see a LOT of them or I am in the mood.

Hey Guys,

Well its raining here and I can certainly feel Gaias sadness.

A few quakes one on the eastern coast of Us on the ridgepoint there, only 5 or 6 on the richter scale, one over six in South America and few around the ring of fire. My attention was drawn today to California, knowing how tenuous the situation there is, I almost expect to wake and see it gone.

Things have definitely slowed down quite significantly, I was hoping the recent sun activity would stimulate Gaia to move, but she is bogged down again.

Poor Girl needs this so much, this change that is in effect that is, and we must talk with her in prayer that once she has moved through this she will no longer be sad or depressed, but once again restored to her true beauty and radiance and the ones here on earth will respect her and give reverence to her like she hasn't felt in quite some time.

We walk hand in hand with her, and I am ever grateful for her gifts she has bestowed upon us, like the rain today brought me and my flatmate together so we could be inside and on good terms, plus the water for the plants and the way that rain cleanses the soul of us all. I also like it at night to sleep with the rain falling, everyone is off the roads and inside where they are safe and you can really feel at one with her during these times.

Just a few kicks Gaia and it is done, rebirth of the phoenix! The ones that go will be taken care of, those who stay will live closer to you than in any other civilisation before. Finally you will receive the attention and affection you so greatly crave!

Field is taking in some new energy as we speak, density is up and the convection is snaking its way into the mid latitudes again! It looks less than when I checked it at this time roughly last night, maybe the small CME effects taking place?

Will keep an eye out though over the next hour or so before bedtime!

Take care all, and NIP I hope your legs get better, if it is bruising then Arnica cream helps alot to reduce the swelling and aids in rapid healing. I discovered this years ago from my Mum when I was struck by a car whilst riding my bike. I was on crutches for around three days, and I attribute the rapid healing due to this wonderful ointment.

Kind Regards,

Brendan, on Earth today lol but still awaiting my Pleadien buddies!

Density spiked at 12.1 protons per cm³..... as of 1:19 am 7/10/2011!

K index is in strom mode and the upper lats are quite active!

Sunspot 1313 is crackling with C class flares.....

well I came home from an event, and find out a CME has arrived. I have a date above tonight, so I can't watch it, will check it in the morning.

Hey guys, thought this is interesting...

06-OCT-2011 23:53:00 58.11 -32.31 4.8 9.9 REYKJANES RIDGE
06-OCT-2011 00:39:33 57.88 -32.56 5.6 10.2 REYKJANES RIDGE
06-OCT-2011 00:03:04 57.95 -32.33 5.0 10.0 REYKJANES RIDGE
05-OCT-2011 23:52:20 57.87 -32.55 5.4 10.0 REYKJANES RIDGE
05-OCT-2011 23:02:12 57.99 -32.58 4.8 10.0 REYKJANES RIDGE

Looking at the depth obviously somethings on the rise, could it be the floor and changes in ocean depth due to stresses from the shifting polar regions? Could there be a volcano in this area? Could the tectonics be grinding and this area under alot of pressure, I remember Esu talking about the Azores Volcanic crater that could go, is this anywhere near this location?

Hi NIP, enjoy your date, you deserve some down time! I wonder if it is with a spunky bearded fella?!

Anyways be sure to have fun, interesting now about CME's. we must be in the quickening now of events.....

Density has just jumped in the field again....and then is tapering off it was around 18-20 protons per cm³ and now is back at 12.....

Spaceweather is reporting relatively quiet conditions over the next 24hrs, a Solar stream on the 9th to come as well as six earth facing sunspot which they believe will have minimal earth directed flares.....

Two tropical storms off the west coast of USA down near the Cali/Mexican border and Hurricane Phillipe in the Atlantic all look like they will not see landfall at all but will wear themselves out.....

Anyways enough for now, but I'll be watching as I like to do, overcast hear in Tasmania with a few nice dark blue cloud fronts about, maybe we'll see lightening which would be nice.

Night Brendan.

Please take a look!

(I started this thread when it looked like the 2nd cme was arriving after that series of x and m flares that had CME;s with them. It was not impressive, the 2nd one. I have decided to keep this thread for my regular notes about what is happening since, and Have renamed it appropriately.

great thread, OP!! keep it up!!! 5* and pin suggest.

well the CME was small. what is interesting me I forgot to mention last night. is the a line of small quakes was removed from the California quake map yesterday. [link to earthquake.usgs.gov]

there were 4 small quakes in a near perfect line west of the Elsinore fault line, starting east of Santa anna, and running south. they were a bit more west than the quake that is left east of escondido. the line they formed caught my attention, and was wondering if there is a unknown fault line about 1/3 INCH (visually in the map) west of the Elsinore Fault. I don't know why the geologists removed them. they happened with a couple hours or so.

thankyou, doesn't need pinning at this point, since pinned stuff is current stuff and this is just here for my use and anybody else that wants to share in it. This way I have some notes as things move along. I really intended to get all CMEs noted etc when they happened that might be earth directed just so I could look back.

I am noticing the asia side of the pacific rim starting to act up, which means keep watching the quakes moving around it, a pattern I have noticed over the years. They are moving up towards the japan area bunch today and we can probably expect some increase down the coastal us, mexico and south america the next few days. I tend once a day or so to check the quakes on usgs vs EMSC section for geologists to see how many are not being reported on USGS . there is for example a 5.7 near the marianas at 9:05 utc not mentioned. I only make collections of unposted ones as it is time consuming, when I feel like doing that and it's more than usual. One day for example I found 6 red (6+) quakes not posted.

Well another interesting day, sunshine, rain and a nice break from the norm by going out for dinner.

Man I have some serious cabin fever atm!

Anyways, many discussions seem to be going on about California atm.

I keep getting updates from Fleet at certain times as to the likelihood of this.

I out forward a motion that it could be a good time for stasis, seesings that things are quiet with the changes atm and that it could give us every oppourtunity for announcements and the other fun stiff to go ahead, but tonight I have a feeling that the earth changes may accellerate!

As for not reprting these events from the folks at USGS really saddens me, as I would love to be a siesmologist, I think I hae more integrity than those who work there, for withholding information and such.

There was one reported a little while ago on the CAli/Nevada border of the 4 mag and I think it was 12km in depth, however and I am glad you posted NIP the other quakes.

Knowing how brittle the undersea cave structure is there, any event should be treated with respect and concern for what COULD unfold there. NIP these thoughts just wont seem to leave me alone about this area, and I mentioned it in the past as to what I was receiving, trying harder than ever to clear my channels to connect with those in the know as energy centres do become quite clogged in the current environment, I am told that round the clock monitoring by fleet is taking place and that evacs can be underway if in need.

As well as eqs, one of the recently reported hurrivance, may change its course and I could stand corrected of my recent post regarding them not making landfall.

One seems to be turning north east which if course stays on this direction it could make landfall lower down in Claifornia. I wonder if kinetic forces could force movemet there as it is much spoken of the tenuous nature of that area in particular.

The mag field seems quiet now and density is lower than before so not much else to report!

Goodnight to you all and hope all is well.

Kind Regards,

Brendan nia the universe.....

[\[link to www2.nict.go.jp\]](http://www2.nict.go.jp) we got a little jolt of something that came in with a punch and left just as quick. these links change over time, if the above does not work around 22+ utc look for others in the list. depressed the pressure image pretty good, and a bit green spike of protons. Ace is missing data just before 22 utc. [\[link to www.swpc.noaa.gov\]](http://www.swpc.noaa.gov) sometimes there is a significant quake after these, sometimes not.

fairly quiet quake day, did find one in Saudi Arabia not included on USGS. 12:17 UTC 27.44 N 39.20 E 33 km mb 4.9 WESTERN SAUDI ARABIA

Just for history sake, when I first started watch usgs sometime before I became public in 2005, the total quakes for the week averaged around 125. Most of the time now, between 180 on the low end to 300 or more on the high end, and of course that doesn't include the ones they ignore. You can get the total here easily for each week, [link to earthquake.usgs.gov]

Alaska's use to also be about 125 and now also ranges similarly to the world total.

also, california nevada, there are two maps. This is the common one on usgs and it reports quakes 1+ on up. [link to earthquake.usgs.gov]

This is the other, which reports the really micro quakes under 1 also. [link to www.data.scec.org]
Now today look at the count difference between the usgs above. Today with these micro quakes it says 680, while usgs 1+ is 344. There is a difference of about 344 I think. Years ago, the difference average around 125. Most of the time now its almost double and often considerably more than double the count. Sometimes you can see clusters of these that will say perhaps a bigger one is on the way. But the importance to me is the difference in the numbers, which has steadily increased as to the really little ones. I am assured by Soltec, starfleets geophysical guy, that this is not good news.

well I had a small urge to check Stereo green images. Biggy puppy is there. [link to stereo.gsfc.nasa.gov] and on other images for behind there are some small craft. Not posting a list tonight, there are not many. Just playing and trying to stay awake until 9, tired tonight.

[\[link to www2.nict.go.jp\]](http://www2.nict.go.jp) this shows a fleet shoot of protons inside the magnetosphere. the solar energy was very small and none coming in, as shown on the AE index yesterday. here is all of todays so far, and you can see the little peak in it from the shoot. [\[link to www2.nict.go.jp\]](http://www2.nict.go.jp) also I think maybe the tiny coronal hole is arriving. I have been out most of the day, not please to come home to this "Iran" being the worlds worst terrorists game being played on TV.
