Frequency Fence & The Neural Net

By Thoth, P'taah, and unknown? by Leonette

01 May 4, 2009

My friend Leonette sent these, and my, are they excellent and I hope she has some more hiding somewhere. Really clear telepathy, and she wasn't sure about putting them out there. Well, I am sure!!!!!! Great work Leonette!!!!!!! I am placing these together, since they are related. James of www.Wingmakers.com calls all this the genetic mind, and it must be fractured, and that is what we came to assist, lets be about fracturing the thing!

The Frequency Fence with Thoth and P'taah

By Leonette

0615: 13th July, 2007

Thoth continues....

“Your thinking about the ‘frequency fence’ is what is going to bring you into liberation. Think of the frequency fence as a surround of the Mass Consciousness Programs that have kept you in check for time immemorial.

All that you perceive as your reality, the do’s and don’ts of your existence, is programmed into that mass consciousness frequency that surrounds your perception of the world.

Put another way it informs your way of thinking from the foods you should eat and why. to what you should believe and why.

To be truly liberated your frequencies have to rise above that, the more of you who do this will ‘shatter’ this frequency barrier that holds you down.

The reason it could not have been done before is because your light, your frequency range has not been sufficiently activated to expose the machinations of this mass consciousness gridlock. Any attempt to have it done before would have caused those who were not sufficiently prepared, to disintegrate mentally, physically, emotionally and even spiritually to the extent that you could become lost to the essence of who you are and for ‘shadows’ to encompass your ability to rise to the fore.

It has been the intention, as sufficient of you increase your rates of vibration, that in itself would start the shattering process of this most conscious energy program that has kept you in check.

As you return to your true consciousness in the Divine, just that very thought and comprehension of what it really means, begins the process of freeing yourself.

You may choose to look at this mass consciousness energy in a negative way.

Truly, while it imprisoned you, it could only do so with your belief and intent. It could only do so to protect you because of your belief and intent. Once you begin to change your belief and intent and by extension raise your vibrations and alter your frequencies, you begin to generate an exponential response right across the mass consciousness frequency fence.

Said in another way, your 'rising frequencies' begin to compromise this Mass consciousness fence by altering the programming that projects to you what you perceive as your reality.

The program, to use terminology that you are familiar with starts to develop 'glitches', it starts to become corrupted. Think of the scene in your popular movie 'The Matrix,' just when the program is altered, at that very moment in Neo's reality, he experiences this alteration as a 'déjà vu' moment. Just when the program is changed a window to another reality appears.

For most of you, who experience these glitches in the Frequency fence, you have had feelings of 'hmmm something is strange here' or "all is not as it should be" or "there seems to be something more to this, but what can it be?" All the proverbial A-ha moments are also indicators that the frequency fence that programs your way of thinking, has begun to break down, to disintegrate, causing you to perceive through those windows of consciousness that allow you to peer through the frequency net in just that non-second of time as you know it.

I can give you an example of how this Mass consciousness program informs your daily life and as such has programmed your consciousness accordingly.

A simple thing like the foods you eat and what it does to your body.

What is food? Broken down it is comprised of carbohydrates, fats and proteins, broken down further it is hydrogen, oxygen and carbon that are formed into acid and alkaline configurations. Broken down further it is a mass of atoms= molecules=mono-nuclei (???)...Broken down even further it is simply space= air=cosmic energy.

Now the way you have been programmed to think, is that if you eat too much fat or carbohydrates or proteins or calories or whatever is the newest diet fad combinations out there, you will gain or loose weight and your following of the particular diet fad, works initially as the 'programming' controls the mental outputs that control the physical responses. However, you soon realize that something is amiss because after a while, you cease to experience the same results as the initial attempt at your eating 'program' (yes, see how it is all tied to the programming of your thoughts)... yes your eating program or your eating regimen (see again the programming features in the words that bombard your everyday life), might have suggested.

While you may have become disgusted with your attempts that were no longer bearing positive responses as before, unknown to you is that a 'glitch' occurred and your consciousness began to question your eating regimen, your eating program. This could have been triggered by simply reading about or overhearing a discussion that questioned the particular regimen that you were following.

At just that time the Divinity within you prompted you in a particular direction, regardless of how you came to be questioning your belief about your eating patterns (programming again)..The very act of questioning what you have been conditioned to think, produces within the extension of your selves here, a 'whirl' or a better description for you would be a 'warp' in the signal from the frequency fence that informs your thinking in the holographic world.

Foods are neither good or bad for you...it is energy...composed of the same things that make up yourselves and everything you perceive with your senses including the parts of your perceived reality that you can't see, touch, or hear...it IS energy...what you attach to it will determine how your holographic expressions that are exploring this paradigm, respond to it...

If you raise your frequencies high enough, where the mass consciousness programming is unable to affect your thought processes, then you will not be subject to the patterning matrices.. that enforce the perceptions of this holographic expression.. In other words you will not be bound to the inevitability of woven holographic signals that give rise to your perceptions of your reality.

Let us stop here...

(P'taah adds)....Do not think that the mass consciousness frequency fence that informed your world did not serve a useful purpose...think of it as a developing Child...an embryo in the womb of its mother...the baby is surrounded and kept safe in an amniotic sac, which contains amniotic fluid, that cushions and protects the unborn child in its mother's body. In that state of development or under-development as the case might be, the child is protected, cushioned and fed, while it learns to develop its vitals. The amniotic sac prevents what could be considered as harmful ingredients which may be imbibed by the mother, from reaching the child...

When the child has reached the stage for life outside of the amniotic sac, a 'quickening' occurs, even before that the mother can tell when the child is 'coming of age' because she senses that the child is becoming ready to be less constrained...she herself feels it physically...she grows weary and mentally she 'wants the child out'...when the child has reached the stage of 'awareness' in the sense that it IS ready to emerge from its cocoon, the labour process begins and the birthing occurs...

What is happening in your world...very much mirrors what I have just described.

Creator has always made things simple for Mankind to understand...everything that abounds mirrors the acts of creation, you can see it in all the forms of nature that surround you...however the Ego of man seeks to complicate things for its own survival...when things are complicated, then it becomes complex and when it becomes complex it takes an 'intellect' to sort it out...and that sort of 'intellect' feeds the Ego...then the Ego continues to have its place in the grand scheme of things...but Creator made all things simple and elegant and Man as an extension of God, in his purest form without the control of the Ego can determine the grandeur of the simplicity in all walks of life.

Your world is in the 'quickenning' stage now...the labour pains are approaching unbearably now...know this then you are near to being birthed into a new paradigm. These discussions are preparing you for your roles, not necessarily for the birthing process but for the new born...the new born that has to live in the new world...

Thank you for allowing us today..."

(Me) Thank you both for providing this information.

"We ask that you allow us to provide more discussion points on a regular basis...it would do you good as you continue to develop your skills and you will start to re-member also. It would also serve your group in its endeavors of which we ARE a part...we ask that they too open up, so that they can serve in whatever capacity that they are called to...We are here in service to All of you and We are here in service to ALL THAT IS...We are open to all in your group as they seek out knowledge to help them on their paths...We will continue the dialogue with you and we are happy that you have allowed resonance with us so that we can help you on your path..

Blessings to you and the group...we will communicate again...

Adieu and signing out."

(Me) Thank You.

The Neural Net

by Leonette

17th February, 2008

- JERICHO'S VENGAS
- DREAMING TO AWAKE
- DREAMS TO LIBERATION

(Candace: the above were three titles Leonette considered for this piece, and sent it to me as the Neural Net, so that's what I used as the title. I like that the best based on the material.)

The Grid – Beliefs and thought forms surrounding the Earth.

The Matrix – Spiritual laws that have been informed by beliefs and thought forms and imbedded through out the Neural Net.

The Neural Net - An etheric manifestation of a frequency net that has breadth, depth, height and length, with Separated holding cells super-imposed on one another and also expresses a tapestry Perceptual images.

The Grid is in essence human consciousness - beliefs and thought forms of Humans - that encapsulates the Earth. The Grid gives rise to the thought patterning of those who are and who have been on the planet. It impacts the Matrix.

The Matrix is a set of spiritual laws that define the thought processes of earth and her inhabitants. It was set in place by 'the interlopers' and it prevents other sounds/light from penetrating the Grid.

The Matrix influences all aspects of life and learning on the Planet. It is likened unto the womb that surrounds the fetus and provides a 'cushion' to any other influence that might seek to penetrate.

The Matrix is also 'enamored' by the thought processes of the Planet and her inhabitants.

The thought forms and beliefs of the Earth and her inhabitants form a GRID around the outer layers of the Earth and act like a MATRIX to inform the behaviors of the indigenous Earth Population.

The Grid is held in place by the continuous re-enforced Thought patterning by the Earth and her inhabitants AND The thought patterns of the stepped down essences of light beings.

These essences operate at lower frequencies consistent with the lower dimensions closest to the 3rd Dimension.

These lower dimensions are the dimensions of Space, time, individuality and polarity. These are the dimensions that provide the lessons of duality.

The Neural Net which surrounds the Earth is the dense manifestation of the Grid. This density can only be perceived through carefully trained eyes that can peer beyond the 4th - 5th dimension. It is similar to the honeycomb of a beehive in appearance.

Thought projections support this Matrix both from 'the interlopers' and the Earth and her inhabitants.

The interloper's projections are designed to keep the Matrix in place. Earth and her inhabitants' projections are at most times NOT designed but are belief systems generated by emotional responses to the manifestations of the Matrix suggestions.

An example of an external projection into the Matrix from without that can and do trigger emotional response projections from within the Matrix is the question of SCARCITY, once projected into the Matrix, it informs the Net which triggers the emotional bodily systems of Earth inhabitants. This further generates coded messages within the Human that informs the senses with perceptions of LACK. The Human by virtue of observation of the Causal World, 'sees' 'evidence of such LACK.

Such observations can induce a state of FEAR – FEAR of not having enough. This FEAR can play itself out in a myriad of responses that range from selfishness on the part of the observer to all out war and genocide. The cauldron of thoughts that spring up from the initial fearful observation to the thought forms that emerged from the manifested acts in response to the perceived condition generated by fear, projects into the Matrix from within and further informs the mental suggestions of other Humans whether or not they were part of the initial feelings/thoughts of lack during the original observation.

Therefore it can be surmised that the maintenance of the Grid is done both on a VOLUNTARY and an INVOLUNTARY basis. VOLUNTARILY by those outside of the GRID and INVOLUNTARILY by most of those within the GRID by virtue of their responses to the suggestions by those outside of the GRID. It can also be said that it is a massive exercise in Illusion and Hypnosis and that suggestions and auto-suggestions provide a continuous LOOP to fuel the energies that make up the GRID.

THE NEURAL NET

The Neural Net is a NET...a frequency net that encapsulates the perception of the being in each 'walled-in' cubicle/space that comprise this Net. It supports a holding pattern of sorts for the occupants of that 'walled-in' cubicle/space.

Imagine a net, it consists of a space, bound by ropes or fabric, it causes separation or isolation of one cubicle/space from another. It also serves to identify differences contained within one cubicle/space from the next. That concept is similar to this Neural Net. However his neural Net has length, breadth, height and depth. It's cubicles/spaces are superimposed on one another and each cubicle/space contains elements from the infinitesimal to the grandest. The Neural Net also acts as a 3 Dimensional tapestry upon which all perceptual life is transposed.

Imagine a work of embroidery and this embroidery has the Earth, her inhabitants and every planet and solar system embroidered unto this fabric. Now give this work of embroidered Art a 3D perspective. Instead of viewing it as a flat impression, view it as having DEPTH and then you get an impression of what this Neural Net looks like.

Our very existence and everything that is known to us from a 3D perspective is embroidered unto this Neural Net.

The Neural Net 'coagulates' the thoughts and 'fixes' these thoughts into a cubicle/space within the Neural Net. It is held in place by 'projections' from outside what we call time and space.

The 'interlopers' however have masterfully manipulated the Net by utilizing a series of thought frequencies and they have emboldened the outer layers to prevent penetrations. So the Net maintains a fixed consciousness that influences the beliefs and thought patterns of those 'held captive' within.

Each cubicle/space holds a specific frequency. This enables the contents of each cubicle/space to be different from the next, as identified before. This specific cubicle/space frequency informs the perception of the consciousness that is enveloped within that cubicle, as such, the consciousness that peers out unto this superimposed embroidered tapestry of 3D LIFE is influenced in accordance with the frequency range that sustains that particular cubicle/space.

When the consciousness begins to 'vibrate' at a tone that is higher than the tones of that particular frequency of that particular cubicle/space, it causes a 'collapse' or 'erosion' of the neural fibers that surround the cubicle.

This is what causes what is referred to as 'the 100th monkey effect'. The consciousness that exist within the surrounding cubicles/spaces are impacted by the fractured fibrous walls which occupy side by side proximity to the cubicle/space which is experiencing the frequency changes. It is this erosion that facilitates the frequency shifting patterns of the neighboring consciousness and generates growth whether or not the consciousness within those cubicles/spaces were actively pursuing any such change to their frequencies.

Energy and Light
P'Taah, Thoth, Leonette

Wednesday 11th July, 2007 9:54 am.

I am at home today...I was sick during the night. I had pain to the back left side of my abdomen (kidneys??), my head hurts...my sinus is congested...seems as though I was being 'gently persuaded to stay at home today, even though such was not my intention...Helen advises that I invite THOTH, into my awareness...THOTH HAS been in my awareness for some time since around March/April this year. But I ignored it thinking that it had something to do with 'wishful make believe.' These days, invisible hands are guiding me...my consciousness. Just as I finish one aspect of learning, another falls into my lap to carry me further along...I have stopped looking outside of myself for guidance...Now I observe what comes from within and immediately around me... Let me quiet my mind now...

Let me say the two names that come into my consciousness P'Taah is one and THOTH, the other.

P'Taah tells me (mentally), that we are linked and that he will be the precursor to the information that THOTH brings to me...

Whew! I am perspiring here and my head hurts...let me give this a go...

P'Taah - Dearest Lighted being I am excruciatingly happy yes that's the word, to embrace you in this dialogue...you see it has been painfully problematic to be ignored when so much is happening and so much needs to be imparted, nevertheless we are happy that you have availed yourselfMiracles can only happen when we both are engaged in the process...this is not a 'One Man show"...this is a collective effort ...you all are in the dimension upon which change has to be effected therefore you carry the awesome responsibility to do it in what you refer to as the 'real world' we can only nudge, guide, inspire your memory, cajole your awareness for as long as we are invited to.....and a lot of this depends on your own awareness of what you came to do and your own self belief that you are all capable of so much...in spite of what you think and perceive with your earthly eyes,

I am the father of Egyptian science ...too old for many to have records of today. Suffice it to say...that we are here to enable this information to you all again, so that you can carry on with the job...after the many interruptions, one of which you know as the Atlantis debacle...I will let the other aspect of myself present the information now ...THOTH has been the creator of many of the edifices that you associate with ancient Egypt. May I remind you that what you see as ancient Egypt is very new to what existed before that time in that part of the world so understand that the wealth of information is truly staggering in your terms of understanding but you have all been prepared...and nothing happens before its timeyou needed to be at this level of light awareness to be able to grasp the essence of what is to be projected to you all now...

My love to you and ALL the beloveds who have undertaken this task...P'taah signing out...

THOTH - My Beloved....at last we have been reunited again...I am thrilled if I can use that word, although it does not do justice to describe what I feel to be able to share so much with you again...

We will talk about those other things after but let us focus on the topic at hand...
Energy and Light.

You are aware that what you see before you is a projection of energy onto light particles...it is what you call a hologram...you have been reading about that recently and you have been guided to that information so that it will open your mind to the concepts and help you understand better so that you can impart ...it also provided certain level activations consistent with the coming into such information..

Holographic expressions ...are projections which are interpreted by the human body via what you think are your 5 senses...but you too, are a holographic expression that act as a walking, talking and breathing transmission device ...I am sorry to be so cold in such a description...but in a nutshell that is what you are...where you reside is not where you think you do...you reside in the non-local parts of the creator's world ...you have a projection here for purposes of testing and learning. Very much like a probe of sorts...which allows the Grand Creator an opportunity to 'sense' what it is like to be in such a dimension.

Indeed it is the same throughout....when we say that we are ALL one...it means just that...you are many different aspects of the One...if you could wrap your mind around that, to borrow an expression from your culture...you would be able to appreciate the magnitude of this learning experience of which you are a sensitive part...sensitive in the sense that the Creator experiences through you through your senses, which you have so graciously given unto him/her.

Now, Energy in your world is made up of particles beyond what you can presently see...what you do see are reflections under certain conditions ...reflections of these particles ...they come in and out of the creative matrix... (Yes you may use those words)...the particles that come in and out of this matrix are sensitive to your thoughts and feelings...these particles are also fleeting. So that if enough intention is not generated then the particles void themselves before they can assume tangible form in your world....

This is in a nutshell the concept of creation...Therefore, the energy that abounds within and without is the 'magic' that is used to create...it is again formed of particles of Light which are invisible to the Human eye...but become visible when intent is strong and sustained...and because your world is a hologram, as the thoughts are held, they are projected from the non-local perspective into the void via the senses and take shape...but it is Light which causes the forms' reflection back to you...Everything without is within...you have heard that many times....but let me remind you again...All the components for manifestation in your hologram is already stored within you... the you in the non-local position...therefore ...

(Me) I AM LOSING FOCUS...

Thoth - OK we will stop for now and resume...

(Me) - Ok thank you THOTH...

Thoth - Blessings to you my beloved you have done extremely well...

(Me) - Thank You

End 10:27am

11th July, 2007 4:32 Pm...

(Me) I resume... this time I write in my notebook...the contents of which I will type after completing 'the dictation'...I quiet my mind here goes...

Thoth - I will re-start with conveying to you the different stages of the Human relationship to energy...

In the early days, before the Human developed technological abilities to effect change to his perception of the world, his response to his thoughts on how to change the physical characteristics of his environment, required him to employ physical and manual labour.

His next step as he thought of manipulating his environment, was to tie his physical labour with the labour of Animals to effect change in his world.

As his interface with his physical environment grew more complex and demanding, he effected change with a mix of manual and rudimentary mechanical energy.

As the Human evolved in awareness, he moved from physical to mechanical to electronic to robotic. Bear in mind this movement took hundreds of years in your time and there were many steps in between the four milestone steps outlined.

Now this is important to note...man effected change to the material universe utilizing methods which are rooted in Man's LIMITED interpretation of his environment from a 3D perspective.

During his movements in development, Man was always granted hints and visions of potentials through the posting of specific information to certain individuals who came unto the planet for precisely that reason.

It would be what you refer to as 'quantum leaps' in consciousness – those junctures in time as you know it which separated one process of manipulating the physical environment from the other as in the case of moving from mechanical to electronic usage of energies to effect change within the physical environment.

This was specifically timed in the Human's development process and even though it appeared as a normal graduation from one level to the other, upon closer inspection, one must realize that there was some influx of epic thought energy to propel the process forward.

You see the Human 'had to THINK' that he needed to do something better, faster and less arduous, to create the conditions for the influx of the 'new knowledge' to come to the fore of his consciousness. Remember the Human is a holographic extension, 'sensing' its way through the learning process of the third dimensional, physically dense learning environment.

As the Human comes into re-memembering more and more of itself and what he truly is, more and more of his true consciousness comes to the fore.

I take this opportunity now to state that where I refer to the Masculine, it is intended to mean Feminine/Masculine. It is a terrible injustice to ostracize the Feminine in the course of Human language. The Feminine has been marginalized and referred to as being weak and inept, which is totally erroneous, yet when you strip everything down to its barest essentials you will realize that the cause of ALL of the conflict on this planet is because of this interpretation of the Feminine energy...”.

Only the strong will survive” are the watchwords of those less conscious beings who are rooted in Fear and justify their advantages against those who they perceive as being weaker or lesser in some form or fashion. If you observe you will realize that it is precisely those misguided concepts that are the basis for All forms of Violence against Human Beings and the other kingdoms on the planet, by those who share those misguided concepts.

The Human language was intentionally fashioned to promote this form of segregation, but until we are ALL conversant with another way of communicating, I am forced to use the language that is consistent with your understanding. So I hope this little digression clears that up.

So it is with Creation, ever growing and expanding in awareness.

The Human has now reached on the doorstep of moving from Robotic to aerodynamic knowledge as it relates to altering the environment.

Think about it AERO DYNAMIC or AERO DYNAMISM
Break it down to its smallest components AERO = AIR, DYNAMISM = FORCE.

This concept seeks to harness the power (DYNAMISM) of the unseen air (AERO). Put another way, it is a concept of using thought force to manipulate “The invisible energy” which surrounds, permeates and sustains everything that is in this Creation.

I am now asking that you take a ‘QUALITATIVE LEAP’ IN YOUR THINKING NOW!!! Aero is of Air. Can you see air? NO, but you know it exists. It surrounds you, it flows through you, it permeates everything that you know. The densest of material that you know, at the atomic levels and tinier than that, is comprised of emptiness, which is air.

You know it can be felt as the wind, it can be sensed as an aroma or as heat or as cold, you know that it moves and can reduce to mere particles of dust, anything that stands in its way.

“AIR” is static and magnetic energy which contains Light Packets of data that is responsible for reflecting back to you, your sustained thoughts as it takes shape in your holographic world.

Air is intelligent and responds to WILL, The Will of the Creator of which you carry a Divine God Code by virtue of being an extension of Creator in the Holographic world.

What is DYNAMISM – the speed or velocity of energy, THE FORCE. You have heard of this term already in reading and in your entertainment. You combine Air with force and you have aero-dynamic energy.

Why have I gone through this much explanation? It is because the extensions of Creator are now beginning to realize that there is a need to move from robotic to aero-dynamic energy to effect quantum change. To do this, requires a LEAP in consciousness to embark on this path.

You are now preparing to effect that change by utilizing the power of the mind via thought processing, to ‘manipulate’ the energetic light data particles that surround you as AIR to produce FORM in your 3D world. Are you prepared for this? Are you excited by the prospect of what is before you? It requires a RADICAL SHIFT from WHAT YOU KNOW and HOW YOU DID THINGS BEFORE, Can you rise to the challenge? It is what You ALL came here to do, again....

A word of caution at this point, your physical bodies are adapting to enhance the thought processes that are being configured to facilitate this RADICAL SHIFT IN THINKING.

This process has, in the past, appeared to those less informed, as MAGIC. There are those who knew this Higher form of ‘Science’, for indeed, this IS highly scientific, as can be attested to by some of your quantum physicists, who are bearing this out in rudimentary research.

Some of those, who knew of this, used it against the best interests of Humankind. As those who were involved in those practices further devolved into Service to Self behaviours, this scientific knowledge was used to engender class divisions, cult worship, enslavement of the mass majority and warfare which ended in destruction.

You are being 'purged' of all the shadow elements which you acquired on your various sojourns to this density and dimension, as you grounded your energies for purposes of interacting in this time/space , in fulfillment of your Divine purposes.

In the process of 'grounding,' you 'took on' bits and pieces of those energies that had proven not to be in the best interest of the ALL. This was a natural process in the grounding experience, as you adapted to the LEARNING MISSION.

Your holographic expressions are being purged of these energies. As more Light energies fill your expressions that have been purged of these pockets of random shadow energies, you begin to open up your memory banks to re-member WHO YOU REALLY ARE.

When Light energy fills the Human expressions of Creator, a natural downloading of Light packet data takes place. This in turn activates your imbedded SOLAR cells (Yes, Solar cells) and further activates your memory codes and you start to remember, slowly at first, but as your expression is 'purged' even more and as more Light particles fill the areas which formally contained the purged energies, the sheer magnitude of the incoming Light particles, the proximity to already established Light particles in the human expression and the natural sympathetic behaviours that are expressed between these Light particles force an ignition and illumination of the Human expression, which causes a QUALITATIVE LEAP in the Human's knowingness of its oneness with CREATION...the memory comes back on-line in a much improved capacity than before.

You should rest now...you have done well in taking this information. I commend you for stopping what you were doing to take these notes...your day was well spent.

Thank you for allowing me the opportunity to connect with you. We will connect again in the near future of your time.

(Me) Thank You THOTH...

Vibration and Frequency Thoth by Leonette

0820:15thJuly2007

Lessons #3

Thoth: Let us look at the elements of VIBRATION and FREQUENCY.

They are not the same although they are used interchangeably at times. Vibration in essence, is the 'rate of spin of molecules'. For purposes of what we are learning here, it would constitute the rate of molecular spin of the particular holographic projection within the void...which you perceive as your reality.

You have read where a hologram is a collection of miniature parts that make up the whole. Each miniature carries within it a replica of the entire holographic expression. Let us see how we can bring that to your understanding of how this works dimensionally and inter-dimensionally.

Each of the miniatures that make up the entire picture of your reality comes complete with what is, what was and what could be...the miniatures together, make up your entire perspective of the experience that has been projected in this space-time continuum...or the void as some will say...

You, in the non-local dimension...the dimension from which you project your conscious expressions of yourself, employ the method of experiencing aspects of expressions simultaneously, while employing the position of 'an observer' in the non-local dimension...while I use the term observer it is more complex than that because it encompasses other attributes other than the ability to observe...but for intentions here we will use the concept of observation...

So the non-local you, project several aspects of itself into the void, utilizing the concept of holographic projections. These projections are beamed via your thought processes which you utilize, by virtue of the fact that you are a creator and by extension a multidimensional entity. The holographic extensions of yourself are beamed via thought in the form of light particles...those micro packets of encoded data particles that take the form of what ever dimensional experience you wish to observe.

You decide to have several dimensional programmes running concurrently...these programmes can be experiences that run the gamut of different times from your linear perspective to spatial time that is experienced as distance...in other words you can experience projections of yourself in the time of Atlantis and/ or many civilizations before that and after that, while at the same time you are experiencing life in the 30th century, before that and after that...while at the same time you could be a monk in Abyssinia, a gypsy in Romania, a scientist in India.. a soldier in Taiwan, a prostitute in Central America, a belabored mother in North America, a soldier in Iraq, a president in Russia, a Pleiadian galactic commander, a grand council member of the league of planets with responsibility for all sentient life forms in this particular quadrant of your solar system. You can be experiencing the grand aquatic cultures of the planet Venus, while you are an inter planetary scribe and teacher administering to a civilization that is about to become enlightened and ascend....Yes all these experiences you are having vertically and horizontally through time and space as you know it.

You are not what you think you are...keep that running in your mind at all times...to unlock the memories you have to re-program your thinking from the smallness that you have been indoctrinated to believe to the Grandness that you are, this you have to try and imagine in spite of what you may perceive as your reality...your imagination will unlock your subconscious.

You are no longer the embryo in your mother's womb...you are about to be birthed into your true consciousness....try to wrap your mind around this from now on... (I do love to use your expressions...they are quite interesting)...

Now the Creator You from the non-local dimension, projects these light packet data particles into the void using the concept of thought creation. These light data particles are beamed through portals and frequency fences that 'colour' the projections in particular ways...these portals and frequencies give these thought beams 'flavour' and according to the experience that is being sought...these frequencies can have very profound effects on these projections. It will take another essay to describe the nature of these frequencies, why they are there and what they do...what you need to remember at all times is that...just like the previous analogy of the pregnant mother and unborn baby...the amniotic sac which we will liken to these frequency fences...can keep out certain 'unwanted' Influences...but always the mother can communicate with her unborn child through her feelings, thoughts cannot be stopped by the amniotic sac...just as frequency fences cannot stop communication between the You in the non-local dimension and the expressions of yourself in the holographic world...the baby always receives soothing, comforting thoughts, sensations and words from its mother...just as you, as an expression of your true self, receives guidance, direction and love from beyond your visible range of perception.

Now in the holographic world, each micro self-contained portion of the various experiences that make up the macro experience, possesses a rate of spin that keeps it separate from the other experiences in the other micro self-contained worlds... we tell you...your experience of space does not occur more than where you are...The rate of vibration keeps you locked into that particular experience of your reality. However at certain times when the rate of spin alters ever so slightly either from you generating a change or some experience that impacts the velocity of the spin...your awareness can become in tune to another vibrationally different micro self contained portion of the hologram...So for instance...you experienced an 'altered reality'...some people do that by imbibing hallucinogenic substances or perhaps your kundalini became aroused...your vibration as a consequence alters and you begin to experience some extraordinary perceptions...If you have not been sufficiently prepared for this, it can take you to the edge of your sanity and beyond...the changing of your vibration therefore, is something that is a gradual event...this is to facilitate your growth and maintain your groundedness...

Another thing to note about your vibration, in each particular micro self contained portion of the hologram is that...a change of vibration in one particle affects the whole...across space and time as you know it... This is known as the ART of Sympathetic Resonance...We ask that you bear this in mind also as we will come back to this...

So to reinforce what has been said so far we reiterate...the rate of spin or vibration determines the reality that you will perceive in any given micro-self contained particle of the holographic expression. Each micro self-contained particle has the bearing or the seed of its existence that will play out in accordance to a particular vibration that informs the spin of the light data particles of that particular self-contained portion of the holographic expression.

Put another way...one macro holographic expression contains micro expressions or miniature pieces that contain a vibration of a perceived world that is self-contained with everything that the expression of you would experience.

These 'miniatures' are vibrationally different expressions from each other yet under certain conditions for instance when the vibration is altered, the experiencer, in one miniature, can have access to information in another miniature. Also a change in the vibration in one miniature can affect the vibrations in the other miniatures and as such affect the entire macro holographic experience.

The real you that is lodged outside of this dimension beams its thoughts through the portals and frequency ranges within the void to produce the holographic expressions that informs the parts of itself that it chooses to engage the experiences in the hologram...It projects itself in a multi-dimensional way to these holographic worlds that span time, space and dimensions for purposes of growth and experience..

Time and space occurs in the now and in one place...the rate of spin separates the experiences and produces a natural barrier from encroachment of one experience into another...unless some alteration of the spin occurs.

The ingredients or 'stuff' that make up these worlds are light data particles that coalesce in accordance with the particular thoughts that inform the creations contained within and without the entire holographic projection and by extension the experience. The different vibrations allow for each experience to be localized in one localized 'time/space' without 'bleeding' into one another...unless of course the alterations of the vibrations occur.

This in effect allows you to experience a whole range of characters, scenarios and potentials at the very same time in the very same space.

Through the art of sympathetic resonance you can affect the scenarios in both what you would term the backward and forward linear experiences of yourself
You can also affect the scenarios across the spatial elements of your myriad experiences.

So understand, as your group and other like minded humans who are expressions of Creator, raise your vibrations, you effect change up and down and straight across the entire spectrum of the holographic world as you know it...

Remember VIBRATION is the rate of spin of light particles that move in and out of the void and reflects to you what you are thinking in your mind as it relates to the experience of you in this dimension. The You in the non-local dimension used its creative thinking to bring your world into existence in the form of a holographic extension...the you in this holographic extension by virtue of the fact that you are an extension of the Creator, you are also 'imbibed' with the thought creator capability and as such the you as an expression of the creator can use your thought to change the vibration of the particular expression that you perceive as your world...

Frequency is the range of resonance and comprised of levels...

|----|----|
| 2 | 3 |
| 4 | |
| 6 | 9 |
| 8 | 12 |
| 10 | 15 |
| 12 | 18 |
| 14 | 21 |
| 16 | 24 |

(Candace: The second column above is all the numbers by 3's. The 6 got lost when I tried to align the column, and the 15 will not align. So please understand there is supposed to be a 6 between the 3 and 9.)

Let us apply frequency to your perception of the world...looking at relationships...we can tell when two people resonate with each other ...they can be at different levels but they find resonance and compatibility...so a person might be a 2 and the other one a 6...their frequencies are compatible and there will be an ease of transmissions of energetic molecules between the both parties....Now let us say in another couple the frequency is 2 for one party and the other party is a 5...2 can go into 5...twice with 1 as an odd...so you see in this relationship there is twice the compatibility but there is an odd....which produces an energy that is in dissonance with the compatibility of the two persons.....

Now as a holographic projection of yourself you may enter a relationship with another projection of yourselffor purposes of growing together or for purposes of growth full stop.... People who grow together ...belong to the same side of the frequency range...they are either 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12 etc or 3,6,9,12,15 etc....People who are in relationships for growth full stop...cross the frequency ranges...for example one may be a 2 and another a 9... an even number and an odd number relationship...this one suggests that while 2 can go into 9 at least 4 times...the distance between the level 2 and the level 9 will pose a challenge for communication along with the extra 1...which will be a quality that will be inconsistent between the two parties.....

Now you can cross the even spectrum and achieve compatibility with someone on the odd spectrum let's say ...6 from the even spectrum can achieve compatibility with a 12 in the odd spectrum...this will be a relationship that will challenge the individuals but they will be evenly matched in their responses to one another...and grow together...in other words this is a relationship that is made for growth and to grow together...if they narrow their communicative levels...

Now what does all this mean with respect to frequencies is that...the human projections ...vibrate at a particular frequency...each frequency combined with the particular vibration of the light coded particles that inform your essence here, is your unique signature...it is what is referred to as your energy stamp...that which is unique to you...that which causes your separation from others and from your source...it is when you alter your frequencies and your vibration by raising them, then you are on the way to achieving oneness with one another and with the ALL..

The number 1 which you know as THE ONE...can go into all the numbers in either frequency spectrum...the number 1...which you know as THE ONE can go into either of the numbers in the even and odd frequency ranges...It takes a number of 1's to make up any of the numbers in either range...

Take 1, take the top of 1 which is the Alpha and take the bottom of 1 which is the Omega, join them...in other words join the Alpha and the Omega you will get a "O" a circle (in geometry) or a zero (in math), in reality you get the unification of All into the ALL THAT IS. That is what you achieve when you surrender your energy stamp as you achieve oneness with the Divine which is represented as the Alpha and Omega, The beginning and the End ,The One, the Void, The 1 That is in ALL that becomes the Circle that translates into the Zero point from which ALL creation begins...

You are tiring...but before we end this discourse...the numbers 5, 7, 13, 17 are numbers which 'divine' (?) the way...we will leave that for now..

Thank you Beloved...this has challenged you but there is much to read and absorb here...We will continue another day....

(Me) - Thank you THOTH...

P'Taah...- Leonette these are principles that ALL of you are very familiar with, as a matter of fact, they are like second nature to all of you...but bringing this information through the layers of density...will be a challenge as you are attaining mastership of yourselves...just trust that all will be well and it will become easier as your codes are activated with the passage of time as you know it....rest well...

(Me) - Thank you beloved teachers...

HEEDING THE CALL

10:55 am 12th May 2009.

(Me)... My Dearest Thoth, I give you free reign so that the information can be as pure as it needs to be, so that those who receive it can be moved to their highest capacity in service to The One.

Let me settle now and be at PEACE.

Thoth: It is I, Thoth, scribe of ages, ministering unto thee. My languaging is reminiscent of times past when things were simpler and honour was a sought commodity. You know of those times. You bring that energy into THESE times when such an energy is no longer a 'by-word.' Values have lost meaning and in a world where souls are lost, simple values have taken on new meaning. It is time for man to FREE himself from the dilemma into which he has sunk.

All through the eons of time, men have sought wisdom from far and wide, in an attempt to reach that Light, which they can barely see but oh... can they recognize. Observing this Light, man looked out of himself but not within and within has all the components to effect change...change not only within himself but also to effect change outside of himself.

Now this is easier said, because while one may look within and let us say observe what is occurring, it becomes quite obvious that in looking within something else must take place. Observation is just one part of the analysis involved when looking in. Comparative analysis is another. Determination of cause and effect still another. Seeking appropriate remedial action quite another.

So you see, to "look within" is quite a clichéd term and it is a term that has been used by many, however true introspection is not quite so simple or put another way true introspection becomes simple to those who can master the universe within and when you can accomplish such a thing then you can understand the properties of creation.

Those, who are called to this service, will instinctively know of what I speak.

ON BE-ING A MASTER

You cannot Master the Way, unless you Master yourself, your own Universe.

Now I want to be careful how I use your language because the term 'Master' suggests a 'slavish' component. The polarity of your world suggests this.

From the perspective of the higher realms to be a Master means that you are in resonance with The One or you are AT-ONE. When that becomes your dominant resonance, then you are on the path to your Liberation.

I know that you have concerns with what I am about to teach. You are concerned that it may fall into the wrong hands 'just like before' (Me- receiving a prompt that suggests 'just life before' refers to the days of Atlantis) Let me set your mind at peace with this. 'Before' was allowed for purposes of testing how far or rather how deep the human personae will sink.

This time, however, the allowance for such testing is almost to the point of obliteration. Those who are NOT AT-ONE and as such are NOT resonant with A-TON CANNOT, no matter how they try, realize success with what I am about to give, so do not concern yourself further with this!!!

Before going further, let us summarize what was spoken of prior to this message.

We spoke of Light, Energy, Vibration and Frequency. We spoke of how your presence here as a sensory, holographic probe is imbued with the essence of the Divine in the form of particles of Light. We spoke of your presence here as being informed by your thoughts. The thoughts of 'you in the here' as encased particles of light and the thoughts of 'the You in the non-local dimensions' within the purer domains.

We spoke of the 'Non-Local You', who occupies the pure domains, projecting itself through frequency bands to the level of material creation. We spoke of the dropping of consciousness, the closer we got to the astral and physical realms, where the Earth and other like spheres vibrate.

We inferred that at a level within the downward spiral, 'the probes' assumed denser forms and as they became denser they became skewed to what their true essences were. We inferred that as 'the probes' became denser the thought patterns became obfuscated (bewildered) and reactionary as the 'light quotient' became less the further 'out' and lower they went. As 'these probes' reached a certain level, they 'fractured out' as they descended deeper and deeper into conscious matter.

Think of a pyramid. At the top it is like AT-ONE.. ALL ONE...United as ONE. As the pyramid moves downward, it's mass of building material increases in divisions as it expands in space. In essence it fractures and spreads out the further down it goes to BASE. However, the opposite is true as it moves upward to its APEX.

The portions of the probes who remained on the periphery of conscious matter placed a 'neural net' around their continually fracturing essences as these essences multiplied and descended further into matter.

The 'peripheral probes' having become skewed in their essences because of their 'apartness' from their origin as ONE and because their pure cosmic light had become somewhat 'dimmed' when compared to their original Source Light, became vulnerable in their confusion.

You are aware that when you join with those of similar spirit in pursuit of a particular endeavour, the bond that is created is very strong. The more noble the pursuit the stronger the bond. When you become fractured or separated you become disunited in Spirit. You therefore become vulnerable and your Spirit becomes prone to contamination one way or another.

The 'peripheral probes' in their descent into the worlds of matter, believed that they were protecting their continually fracturing essences from their 'warped' interpretations of the Cosmos. For indeed, as they saw it, if all life is fractured, then by extension it is separated from each other and in order to protect its' separated components or 'turf', then the law of survival must be implemented.

So those who remained on the periphery, by virtue of the fact that they were least fragmented than their descended aspects, were, by the very nature of their positioning in the less dense layers of the Net and by virtue of the fact that their power was more concentrated as opposed to their more fractured aspects...retained a great amount of control over the lower, heavier dimensional layers and the extremely fractured aspects contained within.

So now you understand a bit more, of how and where the concept of hierarchies originated and why the Master concept was used to suggest one of a higher status against one of a lowly status...

I needed to reinforce and clarify the differences in the 'Master' concept as enunciated and interpreted by those of the pure lighted realms and those who have separated from the purity of Light, and as such, have lost varying degrees of their light quotient.

When your dominant resonance is AT- ONE (ATON) you are on the path to being a MASTER and being a MASTER means you master the Universe within. When you master the Universe within then you master the Universe without.

This is how those of the pure lighted realms view Masterhood!

Part II

AND THE WALLS OF JERICHO CAME A-TUMBLING

Now let's move to some themes I raised with you in a previous communication. 'JERICHO'S VENGAS,' 'DREAMING TO AWAKE' and 'AWAKING TO LIBERATION'..

As 'time is nigh', I will incorporate all information relative to the above in one discourse. Although the titles provide different components to the outcome...they are all interwoven and in the interest of 'time' from your concept, I will 'weave' the information to provide textural meaning and synthesis.... This approach will inform the whole as the objective.

Jericho's Vengas is my little term that I use to convey a phenomenon of the advancing of sonic frequencies. In other words it is the manner of projecting sound, as a vibration at particular frequency levels for purposes of impacting matter. (Think about the story of how the walls of Jericho came tumbling down).

Dreaming To Awake is about imaging in your mind a Net like fabric and you know that a net is a mesh and consists of a series of spaces, each bound by material of some sort, which isolates one space from the other. You are imaging you, as an entity positioned within one of these spaces.

Awaking to Liberation is about freeing yourself from the limitations of the Matrix, using your attributes as a God-Man, (resonance of At-ONE) while vibrating sound at a particular frequency and holding an image in your mind.

SINGING THE SONGS OF THE COSMOS

When sound is vibrated at certain frequencies and advanced throughout the Neural Net, it causes fracturing or shattering and the illusions that are upheld and impatterned begin to dissipate. This dissipation begins the act of liberating you from your imposed perceptions of 'reality'.

At each level of change in the composition of density and space, there is a sound at a particular frequency that holds the dimensions of the configuration in place. You must note however, that not all sound...in fact most sounds are outside of the range of your hearing in this material world.

If you could 'hear,' you will know that the universe has sounds and tones, planets emit sounds and tones...what you perceive as empty space emits sounds and tones and each dimensional layer has its own quality of sound and tones... sound is vibration and everything vibrates at a frequency and tone unique to it.

Remember the 'probes' we spoke of earlier ...well...clearly it is obvious that they had the capacity to fracture or sub-divide themselves. The fracturing is initiated within the world of sound...That is, sound within a particular frequency band...however there are two opposites that work here in the polarity worlds sound that unite and sound that fragments and the skilful mixing or blending of the two is what creates matter (?)... Holding the image within the blending of the octaves brings the matter into being...In other words imaging (or picturing) held within sonic vibrations (frequencies) brings the dream (energetic matter) into reality (being).

However those probes as they became more and more fractured as they moved into the etheric layers of the material world could not hold the sonic vibrations necessary to keep their essences in tact.

There are a few who can fracture and not be vulnerable to contamination. One such was He who you call Yeshua, who was literally 'flesh enveloped in AT-ONE'. He is light that was changed into flesh and was changed back into Light again. (Me – I am given an image of a seed of Light within a Pod. This Pod represents the Father Figure of At-One).

There are some of you here who are of that same configuration. Of that same base seed of Light. It is to you that this information is primarily directed. It is your role to shatter the Frequency Fence. When you do such it will tear the Neural Net.

The Frequency Fence represents coalesced Thought patterns that are held in place by certain frequencies. The Neural Net is the manifestation of these coalesced thought patterns. It is etheric in appearance. To affect the Frequency Fence, the Frequency patterning has to be altered and/or shattered depending on what is hoped to achieve.

The use of sound is a method of vibration that will alter the frequency patterning. Less intense and more audible sound results in a 'rearranging of the particulates' that inform the Fence. The more intense and less audible sound causes the frequency patterning to shatter!

You know sound vibration is like colour vibration. You know colour inhabits a spectrum but you can only perceive the middle ranges and within those middle ranges only some values. It is the same with sound.

Now you may ask how do you create a sound that is less audible or inaudible. Well....I am communicating with you now, but you cannot 'hear' me, I am not audible to you through the medium of your ears. What I am doing though, is pitching 'sound vibration' to you on a particular frequency range.

You have been particularly thirsty and that is because your bodily mechanics are adapting to receive this frequency. Previously, your last attempts at receiving on this frequency caused you some physical discomfort. Now, you can tell the difference between your physical then and your physical now.

Clearly your physical module has improved where, but for the exception of the thirst, you are not experiencing discomfort that you formerly associated with the receipt of transmissions from the Higher realms.

(Candace: I would like to interject that when I am doing a longer telepathic work, I am extremely thirsty and I keep a mug of warm tea handy, but when I have finished the tea, I take a needed break to move and get another. On a long piece I may require several mugs of tea.)

Now this is a clue to what I spoke of before. Unless your 'within' is purified and you are in resonance with the At-ONE, it would matter not your chancing upon this transmission. ONLY the ones filled with INTEGRITY and encapsulated within the Energy of AT-ONE can utilize what I am imparting. Extremely fail-safe measure isn't it!!

"...Now this is directed to Jess. You are one who uses sound in harmonics. I stopped Leonette from reading your message because she is still unsure of herself and I want her to develop confidence, so I am asking that you use this as an experiment in your sound harmonics as it relates to healing. You will understand easily what I am imparting because you already have the basic knowledge of sound + harmony + healing!

In one of the previous transmissions I spoke of certain numbers on the frequency band that "DIVINE THE WAY". the numbers are 5, 7, 13, 17. Jess I want you to use these numbers to create 'octaves' at those frequencies and to compile them into a harmonious piece. It need not be a masterpiece..the emphasis is on the 'blending' of the range of octaves. Then use the harmony of these frequencies on yourself and those closest to you. Record your observations and provide feedback to your group on these observations...

This is my message to You..."

Pulsing Sonic Vibration through the Grid Tearing the Neural Net

Now we get to practice...now we get to the fun part.

It is simple really but requires dedication, commitment and belief that what you can conjure up in your mind is real!

Intend the highest frequency you can imagine. You don't know what that is but your super-consciousness does. Your intent acts as a command to your super-consciousness and all the levels of you straight down to your physical consciousness.

If it helps, intone the highest pitched 'hum' that you can muster but 'think' this 'hum' as a vibration and take it to the highest pitch that you can while intending to your spiritual consciousness that the sound be vibrated at the highest frequency. Your intent advances the thought outward and it is this thought which produces the inaudible sound at the very high frequency.

Now, picture a series of high frequency sonic waves emanating from the core of your Beingness. Picture energy waves in bands leaving the core of your body and reverberating against the walls of your personal space in the Neural Net.

Imagine these high frequency sonic waves, echoing outwards to the adjoining 'cubicles' and vibrating the 'organic' walls on the entire Neural Net. Hold the image of the world as you know it, whether it's limited to your country or whether you can expand your mind to include the universe. As you can picture it, imagine a 'mesh' super-imposed on your images and see your sonic waves vibrating throughout while intoning your 'hum' in a high-pitched frequency.

Again, if it is easier for you to image this and use an audible hum while utilizing intent to charge the atmosphere with a high pitch frequency, you may do so...your intent guides your super-consciousness. Use the intoning of your high pitched frequencies to shake down the walls that lock you into a particular vibration.

Flipping the switch with practice

Now this is not going to dismantle anything overnight. However you are being trained to 'handle your part' when the breaches of the frequency fence reaches a point of no return.

Those blasts that are coming in consist of work that is being done from a hyper-dimensional field. Your work is to be done from the inter-dimensional field. Put another way the hyper-dimensional blasts work the exterior of the Frequency Fence.

The inter-dimensional blasts or rightly the individual pulses from each of you, work the interior of the Fence or more specifically the interior 'lining' of the Fence, which is the narrowest but densest part of the Frequency Fence. This lining is the closest to your world and it is from this 'lining' that the most potent of impulses emanate. Many have come "on the ground" in recent of your times for purposes of 'pulsing' these high frequency vibrations. "They have been working the interior field particles of the Frequency Fence.

This is responsible for the 'collapsing' of your hierarchical structures that have been imposed on you. This is why you are witness to the disintegration of the societal institutions before your very eyes. The 'eating away' or erosion of the denser areas of the Frequency Fence is causing the collapse of the structural bondage of the Neural Net, upon which your perception of the world is determined.

So understand this is NOT to be taken lightly.

Some of you though, are being instructed now and prepared for when the disintegration of the 'Grid' reaches a point of 'no return'. Remember this 'Grid' supports your thought patterns and belief systems and it also informs the superimposed structures on the Neural Net.

Those who are staying will be protected by a 'Force Field' that will reduce to almost zero, your capacity to respond to your perceptions of the traumatic events around you.

Integrity, Integrity, Integrity

However there will be others who will be required to go within, centre themselves, stand in INTEGRITY and pulse these sonic waves to not only hasten the process but to facilitate the coming into being of a New World.

When the Frequency Fence reaches a critical point in the dismantling process, the pitch of the frequencies change to a 'fine-ite' (Me.. - I did not know what this meant. Checking the dictionary it appears that, one of the meanings of "Fine" is '...a place where a piece of music finishes in a repeated section, rather than at the end of the score... whereas the suffix '...-ite' suggests a scientific or chemical composition...hmmm"

That 'fine-ite' frequency...though inaudible to the human ear has a profound effect on the composition of molecular structures. As the pitch reverberates with the dismantling of the fence, any essence that is not in resonance with At-ONE will become off-balanced, dysfunctional and vulnerable to the 'rush' of incoming hyper-dimensional vibratory particles, which are encoded with the commands to 'right and balance' but you will interpret as 'chaos and destruction'.

That is why your roles as 'Pulsars' (?) become critical to the entire process of cleansing and righting of the world around you as your pulsing of these vibratory sound frequencies will ameliorate the vigorous 'cleansing' on your side of the inner lining of the Neural Net.

Now you can understand, why some will survive and others will not.

The force field that reduces your physical from responding to what is happening around you, protects those who are in resonance with At-One, from the onrush of the cleansing frequencies, once the 'fine-ite' frequency completes the dismantling process. Remember it is not audible to the human ears but it is potent in what it has to do!

You ALL are mighty Beings. Part of your Beingness is enclosed within a Blood and Flesh, physical capsules. Do not mistake these physical capsules as the TOTAL OF YOUR SUM.

You must imagine the sum total of who you are, in other words in 'Dreaming to Awake' you become aware of that which is responsible for your imprisonment within these astral and physical realms. Thus, this realization prompts your consciousness in 'awaking to its liberation'.

It is time for a rest.

Me – Thank You.

Earth is Birthing A New Opportunity to effect the Grand Design

Earth is Birthing A New Opportunity to effect the Grand Design

An Opportunity to Get It Right, Once Again.

9:00 am 24.06.09

Me My dearest Thoth ...I feel a bit guilty as I have not been in touch with you over the last few weeks...it is just that I was so busy and it seems that time is not what it use to be....but now I feel the pressure has subsided a bit and well I think we are due for a chat.

Thoth My Beloved NEVER consider that we are ever a part ...we, You and I ..and I use the experience of separation because that is what you can relate to ...You and I are a part of a sliding scale system...some times you slide closer to me sometimes you slide further from but whatever the proximity we ARE A Pat of this sliding scale. (His interpretation is different from what I know as a sliding scale). So for all intents and purposes we are never really far apart or distant from each otherI do not see it but your perception has it as such.

Me Well, cool...now I don't particularly have anything to ask...I am relaxed and comfortable in that which I know, but I give you full reign to raise with me any topics that you consider appropriate at this time.

Thoth Time is a human construct in linear terms, but I understand what you mean...Let us talk of the role of the Earth at this time. Your globe (the Earth) is a part of the galactic propulsion system. Think of it as the crankshaft in what you call your automobile...this crankshaft propels the forward movement of many densities as expressed by time and space...so understand that the Earth is not just a little orb situated at the far reaches of your galaxy...Tiny as it is, when compared to giants such as Jupiter, Venus and Saturn, and believe me there are many gigantic globes that are beyond your ability to comprehend presently, this Earth has a responsibility not only to the various kingdoms that are on and below her surface but also to an infinite array of existential energies that exist in this part of the quadrant of time and space.

Me; So what you are saying is that there are huge responsibilities for those of us on earth who have some level of consciousness in addition to the Earth's responsibilities...

Thoth All sentient life carries responsibilities....the Earth's responsibilities differ from the responsibilities of those who inhabit her body only by the fact that she has significant awareness of what her role is now...She knows that she is birthing a new paradigm, a new situation that will give rise to the heralding of a new day, which will give those who choose to stay with her infinite opportunities to be a part of that new beginning. She also knows that she is giving birth to another opportunity for the Grand Design to be effected and this has very far reaching effects throughout, within, up and down of the entire Cosmos, This is no infinitesimal project that We, all of us have embarked upon.. It is an opportunity to GET IT RIGHT once again.

Me Hmm.. I am trying to formulate questions here...explain to me how this works, break it down so that I can understand.

Thoth Leonette, believe me you know these things quite well, but coming in under radar was never easy, it required that you cloak yourself in a mantle of forgetfulness. That forgetfulness is a dark shroud that masks you...so that 'they' will not see as you 'streaked' across the Cosmic consciousness to be embedded here. It is the same for many of you, who came into these parts to aid and abet the Grand Design and Re-awakening.

 With that said, I will break it down and explain.

Hidden from your physical eyes are 2 vortices that spin clockwise and counter clockwise. Think of 2 cones of energy, the top one is north and slightly west leaning, the bottom cone is south and slightly east leaning. The tips of the cones touch and your Earth is superimposed at the 'touching tips' of these energetic cones. Where the cones touch is where the earth's core is situated. The energetic tips swivel on a magnetic 'ball joint' which is located at the earth's core.

Me I need to stop and drink some water...

Thoth (Continues).. Now these vortices are a part of an elaborate energetic system of spirals that maintain the appearance of a structure of your galaxy. Creation spirals out and there are spirals within spirals and the spiraling of energies creates vortices that build 'pressure.' These pressures create a 'Force' and the force produces a velocity that 'hold's the energetic patterning of anything be it a planet or an energy being into place.

 We are speaking of your Earth now, and how she is held in place by these 2 vortices which are a part of a network of spiraling energy bands that also provide the same support of other planetary bodies as you perceive them in your galaxy.

 Now, these vortices, if you can see them, will appear as energetic organic systems that CAN be impacted. There are ways to impact the vortices. One way, is to energetically 'spike' the surrounding firmament of the Earth, by 'pulsing electro magnetic rays into the outer layers. These rays trigger propulsion of charged ions into the layers, causing a condensation of photonic particles. These photonic particles are barred from splaying outwards by the barrier created with the trigger of the charged ions so the photonic particles charge inwards throughout the layers of the surrounding firmament of the earth.

 This action impacts the vortices. Those photonic particles flow into the energetic vortices and enhance the electrical discharges of the vortices which 'zip' through straight to the tips positioned in the 'ball joint' at where the earth's core is located.

Once this happens and depending on the strength of 'charge' the core vibrates and impacts not only the structural layers going straight up to the surface of the Earth but also the inner layers of the earth's firmament, which affect your surrounding atmosphere.

Unknown to you, at this moment, there are deep structural changes that are taking place within your earth's body. This photonic-core combustible energy that radiates from your earth's core...is affecting not only tectonic plates, but Ley lines, magnetic core grids, water courses and Earth-kind bodies be they physical, mental, emotional and morontial (this is the first time he has used references of morontial to me).

Now as these photonic energies are assimilated within the vortices, not only do they move to the tips of the vortices, they also spiral out through the wide openings of the vortices. Remember these vortices are a part of a network of spirals that contain other spiraling vortices that main the structure of the galaxy as you perceive it.

So when your firmament receives a 'spike' and ionic energy pulse through the outer layers and enter your vortices all through the top and bottom of the spiral, it affects the internals, externals and surround of the Earth, thereby affecting all life contained therein and whereupon, be it seen or unseen, it also spirals outward through the vortices and enter the network of spirals of which these vortices are a part. Thus you can see the wide range of impact that is effected through out your Cosmos.

As above, So below...As within, so without...

I believe Beloved, this enough for now...Thank you for the opportunity to remind You and all who may read this of how truly magnificent IT ALL IS and that it truly IS ALL.

Me Thank you Thoth...before we wind up, please put this into time as I know it.

Thoth. The construct of Time is linear and relative to an interpretation of a dance around Your Sun, It is truly a Human construct measured initially by day and night and then in terms of seconds minutes hours days weeks, years eras, epochs. Really designed to tie you up and it works! Break Free!

I will describe time from an energetic perspective as it relates to what you want to know. At this juncture the priority is to stabilize the process. It can go faster, it can go slower, but there is an OBJECTIVE that is PARAMOUNT in all of this that affects the speed at which this goes.

I have just described in a nutshell how widespread the effects are of what is taking place. The inter-connectivity of ALL the cosmos requires that due diligence IS factored into any objective that is arrived at. Even if the maintenance of higher conscious Earth life forms was not PARAMOUNT, the rest of the Galaxy will also have to be taken into consideration.

Tell me from your viewpoint, when birthing a baby, in your haste to be free of the labour pain, is it desirable to forcibly expel the baby and rip the mother's birth canal? Or is it desirable to bear the pain, sometimes more, sometimes less and be safely delivered to ensure survival of both Mother and Child??

Some may say, well Thoth I prefer they put me to sleep, perform a C section and bring forward the child. I will say True, but know this..it isn't easier doing it that way either and any good midwife or doctor worth their salt, will always use that option, when they are absolutely sure that the birthing process has gone as far as it could go without endangering the mother and/or the baby's lives.. Creating new life IS about learning, learning to be a creator, with all the joys and challenges that bring exponential growth and knowing. You may have pain but know also that anxiety and fear intensify that pain.

You are in a better position than many others because you KNOW what is happening. Use that knowledge as a balm to sooth the pain where you can. This experience is meant to teach and for you to learn. Use the 'linear time' as you know it wisely because the energetic time, which you DO feel suggests that the energies have progressed way past the point of no return.

Just as others have a responsibility to your well-being, so do you have a responsibility to their well-being. It is ALL connected. Be at peace with this!

Me Thank you so very much.

End 11:01 am.

Candace: Leonette forgot to title the piece and I was searching for one, and Thoth came around at my request, since it is his and her work, to give some advice. We chose thus two, or one long title. I am sitting here have a "hot flash" as the energy of this being is incredibly intense, warm and loving. He is done such once before, when he came to around in joy that I am going to carry the messages. Oh my.....I feel my own "vortices" spinning like crazy.

More Detail on the Process of the Magnetic Reversal

By Thoth and Leonette with comments by Candace

06 Sep 7, 2009

9th August 2009.

Leonette: I sense you wish to speak with me.

THOTH - I always wish to share with you, not just to speak, we are one always and my journey is also yours and vice versa. Consider me as an elder brother, guiding you along the way.

Leonette Candace wanted to know about the pole reversal/tilt...how is it going?

THOTH - The tilting of the Earth has already begun, as a matter of fact your Earth has always tilted to and fro, however, this time we can consider it as a swarm of tilts.

This, some of you experience as dizziness, vertigo with the attendant symptoms. (Candace: it tilts normally each day, as can be observed by the movement of the sun, and also seasonally.)

What happens to cause the reversals, well, the tilting is like what you refer to as...say your 'rocking chair' it goes backward and forward, yes, well that's it, your Earth going backward and forward as it seeks to get a balance on her 'new poles' (?) that have realigned with the spin of the Northern and Southern vortices. Once the tilting steadies, then the earth hangs in balance, to move to or fro is not going to allow for the 'reverse spin' so she stops after tilting and hangs in BALANCE. This will begin your time of Stasis. Hanging in this balance without moving forward or backward will produce atmospheric and environmental responses. You will refer to them as disasters, but it is part of the re-righting of the Earth's axis.

She stands in balance, steady and unmoving while that which is not in vibration with her ascending movement is released from her gravitational forces. The magnetics at the Earth's core will release and trigger propulsion that forces the involution of space and time as you know it. With such an involution the vortices will 'suck-in' or pull to one another and combust at the Earth's Centre.

This combustion will produce an 'energetic whirlwind', the force of which will propel the Earth into another direction forcing her to spin clockwise. The clockwise spinning projects the Earth's body upward in an extended spiral, aligned with a new vortex. It is this clockwise spin that will chart the Earth in an 'upward' direction to the 'first rings of the spiral that leads to the "Eternal Light'.

Leonette Thank you Thoth. I look forward to traveling with you in my dreamtime.

THOTH - Yes, we have much to explore and recall.

The above ended at 11:14, However I began to receive a graphic of the process which I attempted to reproduce in a diagram.

Candace: use this link to access the pdf file diagram. I could not find a way to place the diagram in this piece. When the file downloads, there is a little thumbtack that will produce a copy of the above work. That's how Leonette sent it all to me. I am asking Giuseppe, as I accidentally somehow got the diagram into an email, and sent to him, to see if he can add the drawing directly to this. When the file downloads, don't forget to save it to your computer if you wish to look at the drawing again.

OK, guess what, you can teach an old dog new tricks! Friend Deb sent me a jpeg of Leonette's drawing and I figured out how to upload it into this piece, after it still would not copy and paste. I remembered seeing a feature for uploading images and after some trial and error, not too much error, I got it to work!!!! So, the image is now at the bottom, and should copy to your word processor, I hope, because I was able to place it in my word doc. So, you don't have to download the pdf file below, unless you would like to do so.

The following is an explanation of the diagram, which was conveyed to my mind.

- A 'shearing' takes place at the north and south vortices.
- Because of this 'shearing' activity' there is an extreme reduction in 'protonic' energy data entering through the North and South poles via the respective vortices.
- This reduction of energy data causes the vortices to become non-functional and 'Flat'.
- The Earth stops and balances as it tethers on the 'X' column of energy already contained within its body.
- The Earth loses its 'static' as a result of the 'Flat-lining' of the North and South vortices therefore she drops 'density'.
- As she drops density, that which is not compatible loosens it's attachment to the Earth.
- This loosening of attachment will be represented as removals from the Earth's being in one sense or the other.

- This will be accompanied by a massive re-alignment of the Earth's surface.

Candace: I am adding a little commentary of ways to view this process that I was working with for teaching.

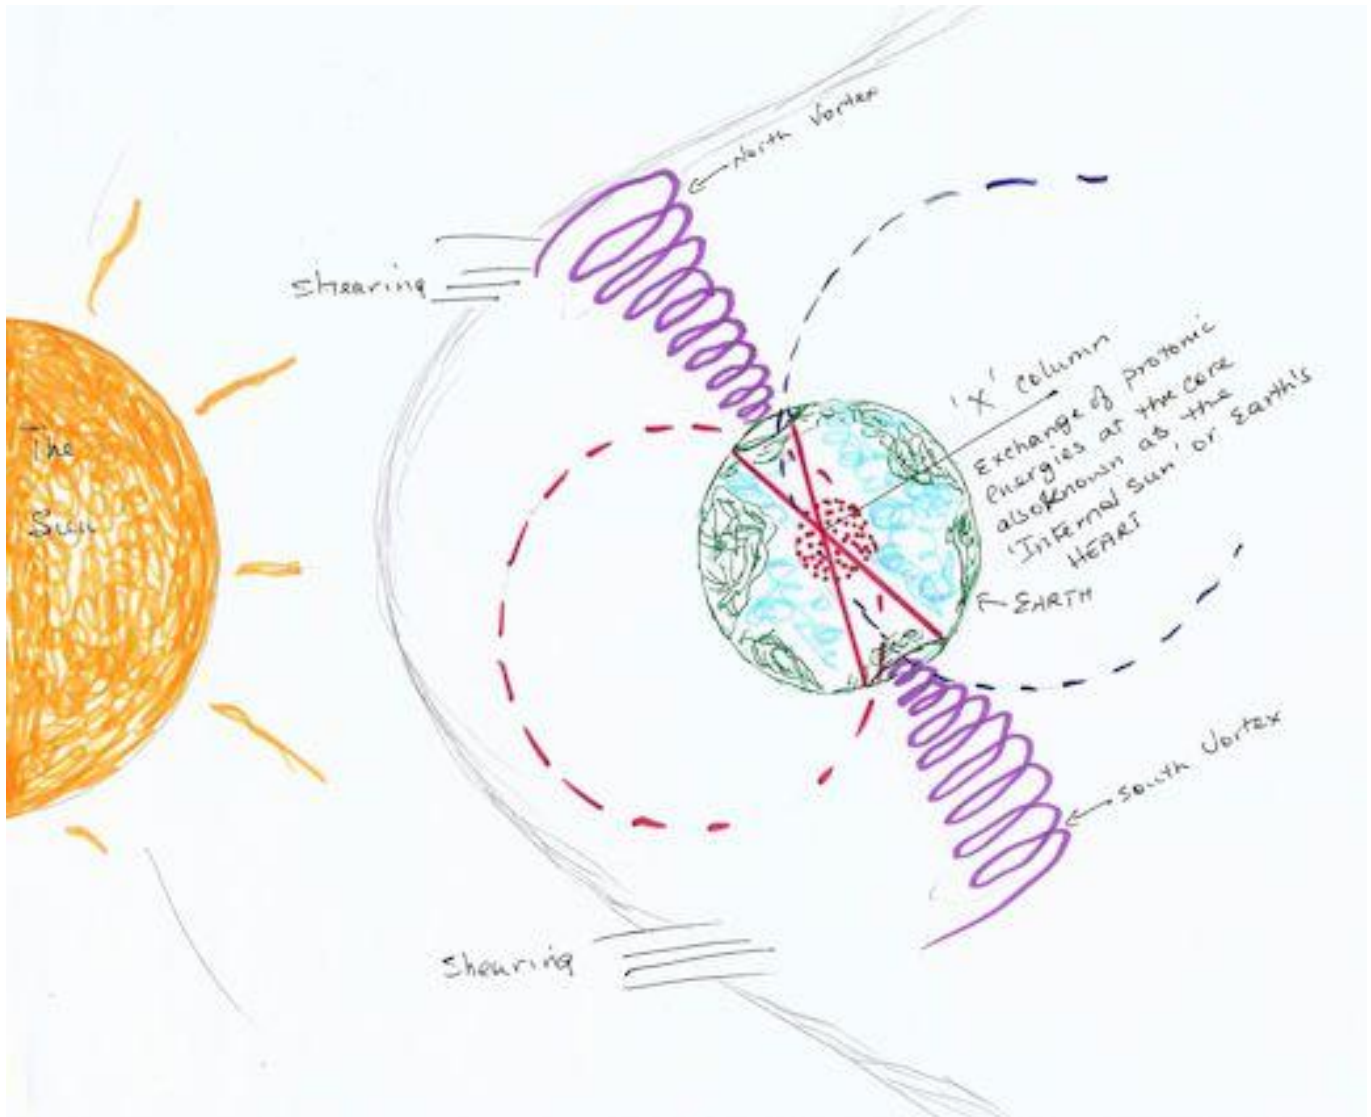

Some of you watching Real Time <http://www2.nict.go.jp/y/y223/simulation/realtime/> may have noticed there are occasional sudden "jolts" to earth, which we often discuss in the Holy Shit thread. <http://www.godlikeproductions.com/forum1/message710583/pg159> Notice the part by Thoth above, about the extreme reduction in Protonic energy, that I bolded. When the protons coming in drop too much, earth gets a "shot" of them by Starfleet, from for lack of a better word, a "proton shooter." High tech technology. This helps delay the inevitable. There is a sudden increase in protons, which the pressure image on Real Time usually turning white for only a very short time, usually under ½ hour, often only 15 minutes. I like to reference this as a shot to help lift up Mother earths "depression." Besides the decreasing sun activity and thus fewer protons, there is also many other factors bringing about the magnetic pole reversal.

Now, here is another visualization you can do. I assume all of you at some point have played with a child's "top." Now, as the top begins to loose it's spin, it wobbles. Will, earth has TWO tops, (vortexes) that are spinning in opposite directions. These are depicted in Leonette's drawing as vortexes, north and south. . Imagine the "tops" points meet in the center of earth. Both these tops are wobbling because the spinning of the energy vortexes are slowing. In part because of the greatly lessened energies coming in. But there are other factors.

Now when a top stops spinning, it just falls over. When earth's vortexes stop spinning, they will collapse upon each other. I call this "pancaking" and I have been watching this also in my mind. So I was happy to have Leonette's drawing. Now, when these collapse on each other, as Thoth says above, the energy, he uses the word, will combust, because it has involuted and bursts forth, restarting the vortexes (or tops) in the other direction, thus restarting earth's rotation in the other direction. You could also imagine compressing a spring. When you let the spring go..... it will expand again. When you greatly compress something, heat is produced, which is why Old Faithful at Yellowstone Park goes off periodically, the great compression of the water produces a lot of heat, and it "explodes."

Do you remember when CM was discussing that Jupiter must involute before becoming a sun and the involution process did not occur "on time" winter of 2008, so they had to wait another year. This was a similar process. Jupiter's two vortexes had to do the same thing essentially, except that the size of Jupiter and it's being a gas planet, the process, aided also by star fleet technology, produced a sun. Earth is not a gas giant, and thus will not burst into a sun, but this will however raise the vibration and spin on the planet.

I have covered some the oddities in my recent updating post, but I am not finished with that post yet, needs the erratic tilt and rotation data I have recently observed. I will re-date that piece when I finish it.

Vortex

Ok, Eve wrote, not sure what a top was, and I forget, some of you speak other languages, and her dictionary did not provide a word. After I described it, she knew, a KREISEL in German. Then when she used the English Germain dictionary for Kreisel, it produced Top, in English.

Here are two links with pics of Tops for those not understanding for any reason.

<http://www.amazon.com/b?ie=UTF8&node=166048011>

<http://www.topmuseum.org/5.html>

The top I had as a child and one I also had for my kids had a pump to make it spin. I see some of the current ones with pumps have a flat bottom, so they aren't doing to have the same effect. Mine had a point, so it wobbled as it slowed down. Also pushing that pump to start it, is a little like the pushing pump that will form in the center of earth, to start earth's vortexes spinning again. They have collapsed with great pressure and HEAT that re start the spinning.

A Greeting Today

Mantustia, Ancient of Days thru Leonette

Behold, I come to you bearing tidings of Goodwill. It is I, Mantustia, Ancient of Ones of Days gone by in times of yore.

Greetings in the name of the Most High.

I thank you scribe for allowing me the opportunity to pen these words that bear fortitude and love from 'that place' in your distant memory.

No one knows the hour, no one knows the day, but everyone is tied to their feelings and those feelings are bound in the energetics of time and space to which all have come to see the mechanics of great change.

The fact that great change is upon you, is an understatement of vast proportions.

You are weary and you feel forlorn, only because you are rising in your consciousness as the props that held you up, fall away. Be courageous, you know all that you need to know in this time and place to stand the tests to come.

Do you know, do you not realize that you are extensions of ourselves in your earthly realms. Do you not realize that embedded in your consciousness are the essences of US ALL who are bound to ALL THAT IS? We NEVER forsook you, even though you have forgotten us.

In the cobwebs of your 'anterior' mind, the memories of Who You are and Who We Are and the arrangements we made have become skewed, have become lost.

I am here to remind YOU ALL that WE ARE HERE through YOU ALL.

I am here to remind YOU ALL, that we are connected to one another, through ALL OF YOU.

It is time that you recall this GREAT KNOWING. It is time that you FEEL that sense of purpose, that sense of your journey to these parts.

This message is for ALL of YOU who are to awaken to this fact.

I Am MANTUSTIA and I am come to you to open your interior eyes and to rekindle the knowledge of WHO YOU ARE at this auspicious time of Great Change.

Be of strength and be of peace in this knowing..

Candace: This is one of the 3 Ancients of Days of Orvonton. This being was in attendance at the recent conclave, not personally, but by "screen." This name was very familiar to me when Leonette wrote to inquire of it. I pronounce it Man Toos Tee Ah.

Cognitive pathways need to be cleansed of rust and debris

By Thoth and Leonette

Cognitive pathways need to be cleansed of rust and debris

1:29 p.m. 8thSeptember, 2009.

Me: There is so much taking place as I view life through my earthly eyes. In my own life, so many things are happening all at once and yet I am only able to focus on one issue at a time while the themes of the other 'happenings' are running in the background. I feel that simultaneously, much is happening on so many levels, beyond my veiled eyes. Shall we chat? I sense a smile.

Thoth: It gladdens my 'heart' when I observe that you are opening up your channels of cognizance. Those channels hold so much, yet they are rusty from non-use and maybe a bit tainted from mis-use in the times that you indulged in feelings of despair and victimhood. Continue reading, observing and thinking. Play around with mental concepts. Let your imaginative body soar. When you do this, it allows for a more expansive base of cognitive knowledge to be employed when conveying information. Always remember that!

The cognitive pathways need to be cleansed of rust and debris of one sort or another, so that ancient and all consuming knowing can surface. As some of the clutter is dredged, the lines of communicating become clearer and less distorted and you yourself become less confused, less judgmental and less doubtful of this process because memories will start to arise and become crystal clear, as you advance in the dredging of murky thought patterns.

Me: Easy for you to say...

Thoth: And easy for you to do if you employ a little more discipline and belief in yourself!

Me: Hmm...I see in my mind's eyes 'sparks flying' against
A background of darkness, something like fireworks that Light up a night sky but not entirely...

Thoth: Sparks of souls leaving the physical earth...
At this time I will not tell you what that is, but remember,

The Divine resides in each as a spark and sparks flying mean that ,
That which is Divine has 'escaped' a level of captivity.
Rejoice in this knowing...

Me: I feel sad....

Thoth - That is because you have a sense, but your sense is clouded by the Cocooning of truth within the physical dimensions. Your physical Body, programmed by your perceptions is a part of the cocooning Effect. Soon the butterfly will emerge from the constriction of The cocoon.

Me: Speak to me of 'Fear'.

Thoth: There are various levels or articulation points of fear.
Separation produces the most intense form of fear.
Separation in the earthly realms produces the most anguished forms of fear. It is not true to say that 'Fear' is not experienced in the higher realms. It is likened to anxiety like a 'rush' , but it is not paralyzing because at higher realms you are aware of more 'truth' than what you know in the lower realms.
You know that you separate for a while in pursuit of educative yeoman service to the ONE which is ALL, so your 'fear' at that level is mild and tempered by the fact that you are aware that you are never really separated from your Love, your Protection, your Joy because instantly you can be AT ONE.

Thoth: As the part of you that is going to perform this yeoman service descends to the lower realms, the 'stepping down' of the vibrations is accompanied by a 'process downgrade' of your essence. The deeper the descent into form and matter, the more 'downgrades' you experience. Your 'Light' has to be masked sufficiently so that you can do your service for as long as possible, without 'detection' by the 'so-called Masters' of these earthly realms, who themselves have experienced separation from Source and who have forgotten in part who they are and from whence they came.

In their downgraded blindness therefore, anything or anyone who is not sufficiently shielded, attracts them much like 'fireflies' attract those who are peering into the darkness of night. As they have separated from Source and as such experience intense fear, they become threatened by these 'fireflies' because beautiful as they are to someone who is only comfortable in complete darkness, too many 'fireflies' will produce 'too much light' and as far as they are concerned too much light will cause them distraction and pain.
So... some 'fireflies' they capture and contain and others they 'swath' to death. That is just a simplistic metaphor to explain why the vast majority must come into these dense worlds with the spark of the Divine contained within a 'cloak'.

Of course there are exceptions to this, and these exceptions are determined by those whose responsibility it is for the development of the various species on this planet.

Some say fear is an emotion that accompanies 'the facing of the Unknown'. However the root of fear and the derivatives that flow there from such as, loneliness, arrogance, hatred, envy, abuse of self and others, greed and other deviant behaviors, all relate to the first act of separation from THE ONE. The more stepped-down the vibrations and the more removed the entity is from its Source, the more debased the entity's behavior. What sometimes saves the entity is the recognition of the Divine Light within. Sometimes the entity can recognize the Divine Light within another, but cannot feel it within them. When the Divine Light is seen in others, there is a tendency to 'hand over' power to such a person.

Appropriate behavior suggests that the one to whom such power is handed can receive the power ONLY with the intention to synergistically release it back to the person in a way that the person can recognize that the Divine Light is 'flowing to and fro' and that what the person perceives in another is also contained within them.

This is referred to as one of the greatest acts of TRUE LOVE.

However some holding light within, may themselves be just a few degrees removed from those who may be in extreme separation and as such they too are subjected to various forms of fear issues. Hence the reason, there are those who exploit such situations for power and control purposes. Exploitation, power and control are exponentially the most destructive manifestations of fear, because such tendencies give rise to the manipulation of sizeable numbers of entities and this can stifle any initiative that is taken to plant 'seeds of Light' in realms of density and form.

Me: Thank you very much, we will continue again.

Thoth: It is always a pleasure.
End it 2:31 pm.

Candace: This came unnamed, and I don't know where Leonette took this one, which computer, posted to web word processor probably, and let me tell you, talk about "the cognitive pathways" between word processors! So thus I picked that part for the title. And My cognitive pathways were more than a bit challenged from trying to get this readable, I tried every game I know and this is the best result. It WAS perfect on the preview, but it's not while up, but at least it's readable now. It came readable, it just didn't translate from my word processor to this format, and finally I got this result from using my email box.

Thanks for the lovely work Leonette, this was somehow going to go up! You and Thoth are a very nice match.

YE ARE MEN AND WOMEN OF GOD, DEAL WITH IT

By THOTH thru Leonette

YE ARE MEN AND WOMEN OF GOD DEAL WITH IT!

You have been pondering the question of Power and Authority. You have been thinking whether it is right or wrong to mete out justice as you see it. You have been asking the question whether it is always just to 'turn the other cheek'.

Let me remind you of the situation as it exists in your perceived reality. You live in a world that is surrounded by a Matrix. A Matrix that has conditioned your behaviors to conform to those 'values' if you can call them such....to conform to 'so-called values' that continue to keep you enslaved to a programming that is NOT of benefit to you.

Do not confuse your 'true value', the values that are embedded in your 'true consciousness' with the 'values' that have been programmed into your mental consciousness in this enslaved world. That programming is designed to keep you 'as is', to keep you as 'useless eaters', 'useless consumers, 'powerless fodder' to be used by those who keep you under lock and key.

Where you came from, is NOT a slave society. Where you came from, the energies that permeate such places are of Love, respect, Compassion and selflessness.

Do not therefore think that what you 'know as your truth' is likely to be bestowed on those who either Do Not remember such or who Do Not Care about such.

What exists here are slave conditions, nothing more, nothing less. Some of you may have the role of holding and reflecting those lofty energies that you have brought from your distant realms. Most do this at great price to themselves as the conditions for maintaining such radiance in this world is but an anti-thesis to such lofty values. Alternately, there are those who are here to destroy the programming of this world that keeps others in darkness of who and what they truly are!

You struggle with the concept of fighting for liberation and by extension committing 'ultimate sins'. You worry about how that entangles you in a dance with Karma. Karma has been mis-represented as an act of programming by your controllers. Verily I say to you Karma is merely the natural response akin to 'for every action there is an equal and opposite reaction'. Your karma for 'inaction' against atrocities of any kind is a continuance and heightening of such atrocities.

Think of it like this. If you have a child that is enamored with playing with 'fire', you know as a parent that you have to be very alert and sometimes very demonstrative if you have to protect that child and others from the dangers of misuse of 'fire'. Sometimes you have to let the child's fingers 'feel the heat' so that they understand that the 'fire' can be extremely painful and harmful. It's called 'tough love' and while you may recoil at what I am saying because in the worlds you come from, this is unnatural. You must remember that this world is a matrix-engendered slave society. However it is where you currently inhabit as part of your mission and as such it is your school to understand how to not only raise the vibrations amongst the people by BE-ING the aspect of WHO YOU ARE which is based upon WHERE YOU CAME FROM but also how to administrate such BE-INGNESS in tough conditions which are NOT conducive to such BE-INGNESS.

You are literally walking a tightrope here; you are on the 'straight and narrow'. You want to be GODLY but I say that your interpretation of GOD is colored by program designs of your matrix handlers.

Do you really think they want you to rise up against them??

Why do you think, from time immemorial they have efforted these machinations to keep you from knowing your true selves. Machinations that include what you believe are your definition of what GOD should be!

In order to know yourself you have to learn to stand up! You have to stand up in your BE-INGNESS. You do have Power and Authority; however you do suffer from Dimensional Amnesia.

Do you really believe that at ALL times you must 'turn the other cheek?' Do you realize that this phrase is one that has kept you from truly knowing yourself? Let me explain further.

POWER AND AUTHORITY

Power equates with STRENGTH.

Authority equates with RESPONSIBILITY.

You are here to learn how to GROW your POWER. You are here to learn how to use your POWER wisely.

How will you learn such if you continually run from situations that require you to be decisive in the use of your power and authority? How will you learn to be discerning in your use of such if you are afraid to make a mistake ...if you are afraid of your version of Karma?

To grow into the God version of yourself you must be able to handle power and authority.

How do you handle power and authority and not abuse such? It is simple. When you walk in power and authority, you also walk in HUMILITY. To do otherwise is to give rise to what you see on your planet... ABUSE, MIS-USE, DIS-RESPECT and general CONTEMPT for life.

When you share power and authority with HUMILITY, you allow yourself time and space to discern, to gather information as you try from your limited capacity to make the best decisions in the given circumstances.

If it is your intention to become like GOD or GODLIKE (no pun intended) you need to become accustomed to weighing decision making options in HUMILITY and actioning consequential responsibilities. The more you exercise these options, the more you learn about yourself; the more you learn about yourself, the stronger you grow. When you know yourself, you are on the path to knowing your true power, your true authority and from where and WHOM such attributes are derived.

Now let us say you are dealing with someone who is in denial of the 'true self'..... is ignorant of the laws of the UNIVERSE.....does not care to understand.....such and such a person poses a threat to YOU and I address YOU as THE ONE in amnesia of your abilities and therefore is unable to neutralize a threatening situation utilizing 'fully online and activated' mental abilities...yes YOU... would you allow this person to harm you whether by word or deed. Would you always walk away! Remember inaction is very much karmic and I say this repeatedly because Karma has been used as a dogma to keep you frightened, wasted and sheepish!

In other words if you say that you are a GOD-BEING in amnesia trying to find your way HOME then you have to climb your way out of sheepishness and start asserting yourself. You won't come into your true knowingness by 'OM-ing away your life" The universes were ACTIONED into BE-ING and you are children of the Universe...therefore how could you be any different.

While walking away is an action, it is one that is guaranteed to ensure that you will continually face whatever seeks to torment you...you are only guaranteed an opportunity 'to live to fight another day'.

I will tell you that those who continually choose to 'walk away' will always have nagging eventful situations cropping up with ever increasing intensity until they CHOOSE to be decisive in dealing with them . You will be forced to say ENOUGH IS ENOUGH. You will be forced to ACT in accordance with your BE-ING and you always know when you are ready to ACT in accordance with your BE-ING. How do you know?? How do you know when to STAND UP instead of walking away?? Your SOLAR PLEXUS will revolt.

You will say "I can't STOMACH this any longer."

When your SOLAR PLEXUS is activated as described, you have now entered unto the path to finding your GOD SELF. Prior to that...you are just 'gaming' the system, you are just at the stage where you are not sure of yourself and everything else and, as such, it is still too much of a bother to test your handling of Power and Authority with a view of learning to improve in applying HUMILITY and GOD CONSCIOUSNESS.

To choose to 'walk away' is your GOD GIVEN RIGHT.

To STAND UP and ACT in GOD CONSCIOUSNESS is your GOD RIGHT.

I speak to this discourse with PASSION as I have had at many times to be the 'Diplomat' of sorts. My form of "Diplomacy" is NOT what you call diplomacy on your planet. From my BE-INGNESS, I am required to make decisions taking ALL into account. At ALL times these decisions are of COMPASSION when ALL circumstances are 'weighted'.

At times decisions have to be swift and decisive to ensure that the DIVINE ACCORDS are allowed without impeditions.

Remember just because one has Power and Authority does not make one a GOD BEING. Misuse and abuse of these attributes will make one the opposite of GOD. That is why you are here to learn to use Power and Authority under these 'testing' conditions. Applied with Divine Responsibility and weighted in Divine Accords using your power and authority in your everyday lives, will help you to become the GOD BE-INGS that you are intending. Think upon that!

Thank You Thoth.

"This project was collaborative in nature. The manifestation of the spiral was an acknowledgement that the work 'on the ground' was successful.

Even though this was effected by Man, it was not without the Blessings of those who are responsible for 'the Causal Elemental Forces' that surround your world.

In other worlds the project could have terminated in failure if it was so decided. Given the situation though, it was felt that the manifestation of this 'celestial wonder' would suggest many things, which included a 'wake-up call' for mankind. It was thusly timed to effect messages to 'those who continue to betray circumstances in pursuit of personal aggrandizements.'

The apparition was also an indicator that Knowledge of these processes will NOT be entertained for purposes of warfare and by extension the willingness by 'the Forces' who oversee such to allow the manifestation of success, was a further indication that NO opportunity will be provided for Man to use the FREE WILL option to undermine the terms and conditions under which this effort was approved and enacted...." Please beloved readers pass this around plus maybe the one I where I said what I was allowed to say, on various boards you work on, because as I have said before, THIS WAS NOT A WEAPON demonstration, and this backs up that the thingy was done by man of Earth, which in this case, was the much more spiritually advanced Russians. -Candace

It is Being Done Here and Now

9:28 am January 8th 2010.

While driving to work this morning, I felt that familiar awareness that my friend wanted to talk. I was getting the impression that it was time for a message. So I asked for some time to get to the office and here I am taking dictation.

Dear Beloved, Thank you for giving me the time of day as I feel it is necessary to say a few things with regards to the here and now. I know that there is some disappointment nay anxiety as one waits with bated breath for that time...so I need to say some things to allay misguided fears that may emerge nay that will emerge.

These are the times that you have long awaited. From your vantage point you KNOW that it is so yet your wanting to expedite the situation is tugging at you in ALL directions.

In other words you want it to be DONE here and now. Beloved it is being done here and now. People are sitting up and taking notice that things are happening, things are changing. Polarities have exacerbated to the point that those who CAN SEE cannot figure out those who CAN'T...There is a sharpness in contrast now...there are few grey areas in people's perceptions...very few are sitting on the fence...They either GET IT or they DON'T.

Now into this mix you have the emergence of time zones that differ from your contemporary awareness...these time zones are affecting your weather patterns. The time zones you knew determined your seasons. Now the time zones are changing much such as the weather patterns, food crop patterns and the general patterning and blueprints for Life, as you know. What affects change to the time zones, well Beloved, it is the energetic patterning of your dedicated Sun, which is being impacted by the rotating axes (axis) of the universal frequencies.

You always thought that this was a situation that affected ONLY your Galactic neighborhood, your little 'neck of the woods' but it is NOT. Spiraling energetic formations with interlocking electrical and vortical spins are proceeding outward to the very edges of the Universal Cosmic patterning and ARE effecting such changes. Your planet is just a PART such changes. However the changes on your planet are critical to ensuring the success of the entire mission. As such what happens here develops a blueprint of sorts that can be tweaked to facilitate other types of Galactic changes whenever the need arises..

I don't want this to be too long, but I need to assure you that it HAS begun and the best way to deal with whether you think it is going too Fast or too slow, is to try and observe everything that you can. These are times of Great and accelerated learning and you have a golden opportunity to learn from your observations. Rest assured that those who are experiencing the brunt of these energetic changes at this stage., especially where there are obvious manifestations of such in the Earth and the surrounding environment are being purified in such a way that is particularly painful and discomforting... And things are going to accelerate which means, when translated using your perception that they are going to get worse. However these changes which affect everything around you, also affect the human body and consciousness, and steps have been taken and continue to be taken to prepare you and facilitate the process of your changing environment.

These moments should be used for observation, reflection and learning, because everything will speed up as issues and situations begin to 'bunch' with little time between episodes for assimilation. These episodes will be environmental, political, social, financial etc. So use these moments of accelerated learning wisely. What you take from these periods of rapid learning will help you in the times to come when you will be required to apply your experiential knowledge with wisdom..

Me - Thank you for these words.

We will speak again as necessary and/or if you feel the need to raise anything, remember I am much closer than a thought away...

Me - Thank you for the reassurance.

Be assured that it is I who is filled with gratitude. I Am Thoth

Easy does it....Steady as She goes!

Thoth and Leonette

11:20 am 22 February, 2010

Dearest Thoth ...I open up my circuits to receive...please go ahead.

Beloved...It is good that we chat again and it has been a long time since we have done this most natural of services that we can both provide to humankind.

This has been a somewhat difficult time for you as the clearing process continues in earnest. You mirror the Great Mother and as she purifies so do you and many others ...be Gracious in your knowing that this is a most natural process...the cleansing ...and purging of all that does not suit your Being and the levels where you are heading.

Let's get down to other matters...

What I am going to say is for your edification ...it will also help others as they navigate the paths of doubt and/or avarice. We have always said that the time is soon ...that the time is now and so it is...I know you don't want to hear that ...but it is as I say...now if we go any faster than we are at this point...there will be too much loss which will require double effort to make whole again....

Too fast carries the process to a place where it becomes disastrous even for those who so look forward to some modicum of salvation ...You already know what the steps are to the advancement of people on this path.

1. Earth and cosmic changes...

2. Physical, mental, emotional and spiritual changes on a personal level that will mirror earth and cosmic changes ...yes you mirror that which your corporeal body was made from....
3. All institutions of man including those which have relatively less corrupted input will also be changed...those that have been severely corrupted will be destroyed. Those that have moderate corruption will be changed and amended ...those that have the least will be reconfigured to suit the ascendant direction in which the Earth and her population are heading.
4. Facilities of commerce and trading WILL be changed and in some cases obliterated to make way for another method of providing sustenance. Candace provide some information on Cuba it will behoove you to continue to research the methods of not only surviving but living in a manner where care of citizenry and country is paramount, profound and revolves around the question of respect for the dignity of humankind. This has been largely achieved in that country despite the political machinations that have been put in place, to isolate and destroy that model of human cooperation.

In addition to what has been stated before, you are going to have political upheavals, religious controversies and embarrassing scientific exposés of the kind that will challenge your perception of what you hold as dear and sustainable. There will be revelations of clandestine activities in your medical world that have been responsible for making you ill and keeping those who profit from your continued and varied illnesses, in charge of your medical programs and the food re-engineering industry.

You will come to know all those who mis-use 'elements' in music and entertainment that have opened you up to and kept you feeding at the trough of debauchery. That have enslaved you in lifestyles of hedonism and addiction that do not serve your best interests, whether physical mental, emotional or spiritual.

You will be made aware of how your tastes and desires, your beliefs and tolerances were orchestrated by carefully staged and managed propaganda ploys which allowed for insensitivity and acceptance of issues which are inimical to your advancement as you journey to re-connect your Divine Self.

You will be shown those who profit from stoking the fires of war for the sole purpose of enhancing their financial empires and those /78 who you perceived as enemy combatants in the arenas of war are actually purchasing their war armaments from the same Suppliers. Suppliers who employ minions to portray roles that feed off the imagination and fear of the users of these weapons. Speaking of war there will be attempts time and time again to use this age-old distraction to

1. As stated before to enhance their finances

2. To reduce populations to amounts from which there is adequate choice from a pool of resources that can be manipulated accordingly. However the reduction will be in accordance with age, race, aptitude and attitude. Said another way those who are most apt to see through the masquerade are those they are hoping to remove unless they believe that they can control such persons to do their bidding...
3. To remove people who are indigenous to areas that possess natural resources such as oil, gas water precious minerals.
4. To steal from nationalities, priceless artifacts, treasures and ancient libraries while claim is laid to areas of the earth, which have been known to possess portal and gateway energies.

In their minds they believe that if war does not accomplish the above then they will employ other avenues to achieve their objectives. Other avenues such as flooding the psyche of earth's human populations with a cocktail of dangerous and addictive narcotics, while stimulating the root chakras using various forms of triggers to exploit the sexual energies of the most vulnerable. Separately drug and sexual abuse retard spiritual growth. When employed as a mix it becomes extremely addictive and damaging to the growth of the human soul of those attempting the path of ascendancy. Not only that but it provides a control mechanism for those whose aim it is to assure that freedom does not prevail.

Now, few humans know this information but the vast majority of earth citizens are completely unaware of what I speak. It is for this reason therefore that when these things are revealed that the response to such by the populations of the earth will be so overwhelming that great care must be taken to ensure that imbalances to the energetic consciousness is minimized in an effort to avoid extreme energetic lopsidedness which will cause the situation to become more challenging to rein in...

Some of what is mentioned above is intended for your viewing not all but some...and the magnitude of the some will cause consternation and that is putting it mildly.

In the midst of this...there are some attempts by some 'movers and shakers' on the world stage to attempt to forestall the inevitable...they do this because they want to have some bargaining power...but that to will be to no avail. Yet these machinations as seen through the eyes of the populace will further expose the deceit and cunning that these 'movers and shakers' are attempting to mask behind utterances that are mired in political duplicity.

You must realize that ALL responses to the stimuli of the world is registered as energetic impulses that course through the consciousness grid that envelops your world and informs your perception...therefore too much fear and anger at one time can cause a ripple effect that would disturb the fabric of your matrix that might do more harm than good...In other words this has to be managed in manageable doses to allow for assimilation, acclimatization and foundational preparation for movement to higher levels of perceiving what you call 'your reality'..

Too fast, in too short a time puts too much strain on the delicate forces of balance...when balance becomes overly skewed in one direction or another, it becomes exceptionally difficult to maneuver and achieve the desired results.

I felt this was necessary to state at this time...Know that there are many who guide this process as there are many who observe and advise and tend to and administrate to all who are enduring these pangs of labour ...we are not sipping champagne and being armchair demigods while the earth and her populations are going through these upheavals. We are committed to the successful emergence of earth into the dimensions of Light and Life and those who accompany her on this journey are equally assured of our dedication to this mission.

I AM Thoth....

MeThank you my Beloved Friend for your words of assurance.

Thoth: I will always be here in tending to the need for explanation and elaboration.

Me.....Thank you.....

Let the Sun shine in!!

Let the Sun Shine, Let the Sun shine in, Let the Sun shine in!!

11:05 23.02 2010

Thoth: You seem better today, your spirit is lifting and that is wonderful. Our link will not be so tenuous as it was yesterday.

Me: Yes I am a little better but somewhat apprehensive about today's information... I just want to do justice to it.

Thoth: My advice to you is to stop judging your ability and just BE.

Me: I'll try...

Thoth: Don't try just BE! Relax into it. I will take the complication out of Complex, so just BE!

Me : Ok...It makes no sense arguing or complaining so just go ahead, do your thing and thank you for the confidence...

Thoth: Hmm, must have the last word...I see...

(I sense a smile in all of this to-ing and fro-ing so I relax and let go or rather let's go!)

Thoth: The Sun that you know as the giver of existence is about to take on another responsibility...One that is larger than Life and one that is about to usher into your awareness the meaning of everything that ever was and everything that is to come. Your Sun for which you depend on, to know night and day, to know time as you perceive it, to provide you with nutrients to sustain you and your world is about to unleash such potent forces upon your planet as to render your perception of everything that you know distant and shallow.

Remember in a previous discourse I mentioned that your Sun was being impacted by the rotating axes (axis) of universal frequencies, well more than that your dedicated Sun is also taking on an enhanced role in the 'stepping down' of much higher frequencies as they come in from the Great Central Sun. The frequencies from the Great Central Sun are so potent that they will obliterate everything that you know in your perception of time and space. As such there is a need to filter those frequencies to an extent by having your dedicated Sun absorb those higher frequencies within 'His' body and then filter those frequencies in such a way to reduce what may be extremely harmful to the lower energies that reside at your dimensional level.

What do these frequencies do? I can hear you ask without you saying such. Well imagine if your sun with an iota of the strength of the Great Central sun can hold sway over life and death in your world, just imagine what a re-energized sun could do if it is not properly managed and coordinated.

Your world is being flooded with intense photonic energy ...the cells of all life forms are being re-calibrated.

The carbon blueprint that informed your flesh and bones is being transmuted, first to crystalline structures and then as the crystalline structures become fully on-line they become extremely receptive to photonic 'particulates' which produce an alchemical effect and change the fabrication and roles of the cellular structures.

In other words your cellular structure starts vibrating to a higher frequency!

Crystals and photons are carrier essences. In other words they can transmit and receive information of a finer nature. You will start to become more receptive to energies that are subtle. These are energies that you could not process before in the mostly carbon make up of your physicality. Understand this WILL have profound effects in how the perception of your world is processed. Already you are gradually tuning into imagery that was previously out of your range of perception.

Those that guide your well-being are allowing you to view alternative imagery in non frightening ways. One such way is within the dream state. You are also impacting your immediate environment by your thoughts and words in ways that were extremely difficult before. You think it and it is like an instruction that goes out, the universe arranges to suit. This access is tied to your spiritual development. In other words, as you 'mature' in your spiritual development your 'abilities' become more definitive and more dependable.

The wonder of it is that those, whose crystalline structural processes are accelerating and advancing, are the ones who are having more success with this perceived 'phenomena' as this crystalline acceleration and advancement is tied to the Being's own advancing spiritual awakening and growth process.

This is NOT a coincidence.

It is a fail-safe method to ensure that those whose growth processes are in line with the acceleration of the cosmic will, are the ones who are changing their core structures to receive the incoming intense photonic energies.

Now this is the method whereby the wheat is separated from the chaff.

Those who are not in line with the cosmic will cannot process the alchemical transformations, which absorb these incoming photonic energies. As such they become vulnerable to what you may perceive as 'harm' from these incoming energies.

You may think that you look the same as before...but those with trained eyes and/or those with the technology can see the glow of photonic light emanating from your bodies...The quality of the light which is emanating from your cellular structure differs in quality and quantity from what obtained before. It is Radiant and there is a goodly exchange of information within the particulates of this radiation and the Cosmos. At a finite level, these photonic particulates pulse, oscillate and spiral outward in a continued motion of what can best be described as a cosmic in-charge and ex-charge or better a cosmic in breath and out breath.

Previously, anyone with such a 'brilliant field' would have attracted certain energetic beings whose sole purpose would have been to 'destroy' such brilliance. However at this 'time' such 'negatively oriented' energetic beings are themselves in great distress and turmoil as they are being impacted by these incoming photonic energies and they lack the wherewithal to withstand the brunt of what is coming into their space, as such, in their weakening positions, they are unable to orchestrate any attacks against those who are literally 'of the light.'

This is how change is effected in your physical world. The work is done 'on-the-ground', by spirit encapsulated in physical form that is then transmuted to receive cosmic energies that altogether affect the mental processes of those who have taken on physicality for purposes of shattering the thought form matrix that informs the consciousness grid of the perceived physical reality.

Now you have seen the images that show 'strange craft' around the Sun. Your senses tell you that these craft are of extra-terrestrial origin and that they must be doing something to the Sun.

They are there in part to aid in the filtered emanations from the sun. They sort of...for want of a better word...'tweak' the intensity of the energetic solar emanations. They also assist in keeping the Sun in a state of balance....because the energy from the Great Central Sun is focused in a 'corridor of sorts' or better yet it comes in a 'laser like thrust' and absorbed by your dedicated Sun. This pure and immense energy has the potential to throw your Sun 'off-course' when it comes in. These 'craft' aid by providing stabilization and grounding fields so that the Sun maintains its equilibrium as it receives the energies from the Great Central Sun and disperses it in measured amounts to the Earth's atmosphere.

These craft also conduct...let's see.. ahhh... 'readings' yes...to ascertain the velocity of what is projected towards the earth...they allow for more intense or less intense velocity based on their assessments of the impacts that are taking place...they are also monitoring 'readings' taken from the earth's atmosphere and the sentient life contained therein which is assessed and escalated to other galactic quadrants and spiritual orders for inputs and decisions.

You are thinking what about Jupiter...well Jupiter is a 'player' in the grand scheme of things...it was felt that because of the vibrational link between the Earth and dedicated Sun that has existed for eons, that the bulk of the Earth's extreme makeover, be handled by the dedicated Sun...similar to the concept of a relationship between a parent and a child with the parent engaging in the growth process of the child in a way that only parents can.. the role that Jupiter plays is like an elder sibling to the child. A bit junior to the parent when it comes to providing a comforting but firm grip as the child navigates the challenges associated with the movement from childhood to puberty.

Jupiter will be allowed a visual impact just on the cusp of the planetary crystalline upgrade when it reaches seventy-five percent capacity in most humans who have a dedicated role in moving with the earth to dimensions of Light and Life. This is to ensure that those who are to survive will not be severely impacted or extremely discomforted by the combined incoming energies of your dedicated Sun and Jupiter-the Sun.

Once the FULL impact of the showing of the two Suns escalates then you know that other steps are going to be taken to preserve what needs to be preserved.

The crystalline upgrade is averaging 65 percent in most cases some more some less, when the average is about 75 percent then it would be relatively safe and/or less uncomfortable to expose the planetary populations to the combined experience of both Suns.

The final say in this rests with ATON who will determine the 'whether we do' or the 'whether we don't' and the 'when we will', as the case maybe. However, given the parameters that are being worked with, the above percentages and scenarios are the 'breakpoints' for visibility of Jupiter.

I have taxed you sufficiently for the day, even though you have the capacity to go much longer. I will let you rest now.

Me: Thank you Thoth. For me this is an honor and I sincerely wish to grow in my knowledge and ability so that you can have a less limited palette from which to draw your analogies.

Thoth: The knowledge and abilities are already there and with the incoming Energies the re-emergence of the memories will be greatly forthcoming. In due course, if not already, many people will be or are able to tap into this process without it seemingly exclusive to some. However until then, the honor is mine to be able to share as best I can, through you.

Me: Thank You.

The Corridors of Time

By Thoth, thru Leonette

11:39 03.03.2010 By Thoth, A Poem.

The Corridors of Time

As I Stand in the corridors of time,
Peering through ancient mists,
At moments so fleeting and sublime,
Within all eternity that exist,
A homecoming like no other,
For the many who sojourned here,
Inspired by a need to succor,
The many imprisoned in fear.

And to those who will not hear,
The whispers of faint echoes.
That waft in the heavy air,
Of pain, tears and sorrows.

And to those who will not dare,
To raise their eyes from under,

Empty nothings at which they stare,
While the world is rent asunder.

And to those who oft abuse,
Mine teachings in their mysteries,
To deceive, hurt and confuse,
And keep the weak in misery.

And to those who think they know,
And to those who plot and plan,
Of their riches they will stow,
That which they stole from Man.

To believe that they alone,
Could be above reproach,
Nor need they have to atone,
For which they have encroached.

Look Ye Man upon your folly,
Look Ye good and hard,
At that which you have easily,
Tended to disregard.

It is not for me to remind you,
The facts are all around,
For you to ponder and muse,

Upon that which you did wrong.

But now the time is up,
No longer do you have,
The whatsoever to stop,
The change that is at hand.

And now as you look about
And around you for the last,
You look to find a way out,
From misgivings of your past.

Know ye there is a penalty,
Know ye that there is a cost,
But forgiveness has the ability,
To render nothing lost.

You have a blessed sanctuary,
You have a trusting ear,
Supplicate in humility,
The time of no time is near.

The Creator is ever listening,
For the hark and cry of all,
To bestow his grace and blessings,

On those who survive the Fall.

Be not deceiving in your desire,
To grow the God Light within,
So receive the Holy Fire,
To purge you from your sins.

If you are not accepting
Of this wondrous gift of love,
Then nothingness is awaiting,
Your Be-ing becomes no more.

Take heed my fallen brethren,
Your fate is in your hands,
Soon no one to you will hearken,
When the time of no time stands.

For I stood in corridors of time,
And peered through ancient mists,
At Brethren, fleeting and sublime,
Who denied all eternity exist,
A homecoming like no other,

Wished for all who sojourned here,
But many forgot their purpose
Became prisoners of their fear.
Their brethren they sought to trample,
In order to survive,
Surely this is an example,
To ensure one's own demise.

I learned all this by standing
In the corridors of time,
Peering through ancient mists a-swirling,
At Brethren fleeting and sublime.

Christ Michael discusses Jupiter

By Christ Michael through Leonette with Commentary by Candace

15 Mar 18, 2010

Thursday March, 2010

Christ Michael - I have been trying to get your attention since last night and I know that you were aware but disbelieving of sorts.

Me More disbelieving of sorts.

Christ Michael I have asked Thoth to share his exclusive link to you (laughs)...

Me I am quite sure that you need not have asked. That is a given.

Christ Michael We are very courteous and brotherly that WE ARE.

Me And so I AM...

We are having fun ...

Christ Michael: Ok now let's begin. A series of messages will be coming out to all of you. You can use this process, in part to validate...to provide checks and balances, and to provide support to one another, for this is a most crucial time as this process ramps up and the need for many to hear these words and disseminate the information accordingly is of paramount importance.

As you are aware we are tweaking the process to 'fast track' the conditions that will take us to where we will like to be...This has to be carefully done, has to be carefully managed to ensure that the best results are attained ...This is to ensure we do not have to expend 'time' and resources in tending to damage control issues...We will already have much to effort in terms of making sure that our best laid plans are achieved relative to the sorting and placement process.

The incoming energies of your Sun are preparing the way for the emergence of Jupiter your secondary Sun...It has to be this way to provide less shock to your planet's body as well as the corporeal bodies of her inhabitants. We have been considering...quite lately whether we should allow for Jupiter to be seen, giving the potency of the dynamic duo (the Sun and Jupiter)..Such an explosive unveiling would have consequences that exacerbate the mushrooming of a situation that could lead to the very conditions that could be challenging with regards to the overall benefit of this 'project'.

Jupiter is gently moving towards the outer solar rings. The outer Solar rings are less intense in Solar particulates...so even though you are yet to see Jupiter with your eyes...you are beginning to feel the impact of it's energies...This has been happening over the last few days of your time. Some of you who are most sensitive have been feeling these energies for about a week of your time but you have mistakenly attributed that to the emissions from your main Sun.

I need not describe how inculcation of these energies into your system will impact you. Most of you already know, because you are experiencing heightened physical discomforts... Now, realize that the same is happening to the Planet's body and that she too, is experiencing these impacts and will manifest such impacts in a very physical way.

I must tell you now that there is a real possibility that your axis will wobble to several degrees more than it has in the past. We have cosmic scientists with great abilities who are monitoring this situation. It must be handled delicately....We are attempting to have everything 'dovetail' in a manner that will allow for the experience to be rewarding and enlightening to all. But I must alert you all to the fact that you will experience some elements of situational discomfort such as 'blips' and downtime in communications, electrical and radio-wave activities...

When you observe the unusual frequency of these things and or the concurrency of such, know then that Jupiter - the Sun is making its appearance. That it will be visible for all to see.

Now you may not be able to communicate with each other for a time during the 'blips'. So it will behoove you to recognize the signs and know for yourself that this IS IT.. We expect that given such a situation that you will act in accordance with the exclusive information that has been rendered unto you, with your preparation because of advanced knowledge and with your bearing as Cosmic Beings in this 'time and space' of unparalleled birthing.

Salu and Thank you for this rendering.

Thank You..

Candace: Ok, I will add some commentary. First I think it should be obvious that the corona is thicker close to the sun. It is also in rings, because the sun is round, actually maybe it is several balls in fact, because the sun is not flat. But you can see the rings if you sungaze when it's safe to do so near rise and set. The rings are OBVIOUS, after you have focused on the sun. If you have some welders goggles or a couple pairs of very dark sunglasses you can wear on top of each other, you can gaze at other times of the day if it is not uncomcomfortable. If it is , then don't. It can cause a hint of headache and if it does during these times when the sun is high, I stop it. Somedays it does , some it doesn't. I can't gaze with the protective glasses very long at all during the day, only a couple mintues.

While you gaze the sun is going to turn blue, the higher up, the bluer and for some reason, height or not, it seems to me, bluer in the west and it will have a large pink aura, which is also the corona, so you can easily see how far it extends from the sun.

Now, I put this away from working on it a bit, as I had to handle another matter. For some reason, I had an urge to check AHS, and good thing I thing I listened to the urge, because this is what was posted:

Hi Members of AH-support,

While, at home, this evening I was reading the AH-support site .TV was on with the weather forecast. The weatherman explained the huge ring around the sun at this time. I saw this ring several occasions these days with my own eyes. Its beautiful.

*My mouth fell open when he showed a picture of the Sun with a smaller sun, top left of the sun (Jupiter?). (top picture!!! , I am seaching for a download...) He explained that this was a normal natural phenomenon. This is nothing special at all. It was not explained further because (of course) most people do not need the explanation and take it for granted... Otherwise it is to complicated.
AAAHHHHHH*

But this was really a beautiful picture of our (coming) second sun...

So, the Dutch TV channels are explaining our second sun in the air as a normal natural phenomenon.

Two suns in the air are normal and just believe us that it is a normal natural phenomenon...

What is going on here???

I hope we will get a big event (An event that they can't explain anymore!)

Greetings and a lot of energy....,

Laurentius

From The Netherlands

Candace: Hopefully other counties have or will follow this lead. While this explanation seems simple, by the TV station involved, people will have a lot of fear, so initially saying it is "normal" is actually OK, as I pondered on this. When there is TV coverage of the exposures of the black ops stuff, there can be a better explanation. Also, don't forget some websites and possibly some media are going to make this into "planet X or Nibiru", so I do like this simple explanation. If you are posting on boards, do attempt to dissuade people from believing this is the "destroyer" by what ever name it is called. Actually our new sun, plus the energies of the "old sun", and other energies, do "destroy" the old negativity and pave the way for the new.

Leonette says her new pics suggest it has moved a bit more. Now a couple weeks ago, not sure how long now, when I was sungazing, the after images clearly demonstrated our new sun. Now, let me explain "after image". When you look at a light bulb, and then close your eyes, (sometimes they don't need to be closed), you see "lightbulbs". There is a medical term in English for this, but I have long forgotten it. So since these images come AFTER looking at bright lights, this is what I call them. And then the images showed Jupiter a bit closer to the sun after some days.

We had some clouds for a few days again and so I didn't look at the sun or take pictures when it came back. I think for 2 days. Then yesterday, while I didn't take any pictures, my after images mid day were extraordinary! I did view mid day with my eyes protected by heavy sunglasses and a set of surgical goggles which I wear over the sun glasses. Well, the "after images" were incredible. These always change colors as they fade, for but a brief time, I saw Jupiter and the sun both as brilliantly white. Jupiter was really really clear.

Remember back when Jupiter was moving across Lasco c3 and they suddenly replaced it with a ball again? This was actually to maintain normality for people who don't know what is coming, because they did slightly pull Jupiter back to where the corona was more dense. Of course, I didn't see it that way at the time, that just dawned on me yesterday in fact. CM had "promised" we would know if it was being held back a bit, well that was the purpose! Sometimes things are right in front of my face..... As I was busy complaining, Esu was busy explaining the intensity and the monitoring, but I didn't put 2 +2 together on that one, regards the Lasco images.

I don't mind waiting a bit more hoping that more television and print media are going to do what is RIGHT and start preparing their audiences for this awesome event.

Today while I was chatting with a friend on the cell phone, he experienced a signal loss in a very unusual location. He has learned where there are problems with moving from tower to tower as he drives and so we expect dropped calls then. Where the dropped call occurred was completely atypical. Not proof of the statements above of course by Christ Michael but illustrative never the less. There may be TV interferences, Cell Phone interferences and the like, where information is carried over satellites and thru the ionosphere. Radio would be expected to have difficulties for this reason and not dependable.

I hope we don't see problems with airplanes because of communication difficulties. Hopefully they will ground the planes. But certainly this will be some proof. Honestly people, you are not going to see Jupiter with telescopes and dark lenses just yet. The immediate corona is extremely dense and bright. Don't lose your patience over this! Some cameras show the stuff, some do not. Why I don't know. I am not a technology expert regards digital photography. Or any photography for that matter!

There are again a flurry of "new sun" video's on you tube that are NOT the new sun. I watched one a couple days ago, and all this "2nd sun" was, was a small parting in the clouds! Some people are not familiar at all because they never watch the sky. And of course, where did the "new sun" go to, after the film was made? When it comes past that corona, it isn't going to disappear for days on end! All are going to be aware.

I think I did post with Leonette's pic I put up, that Esu had been advising me of the intensity of the energies and the need to work with them and slow the process. This reminds me of a post we put out probably 2 years ago now, when the involution was not going so well, and we asked, do you want Jupiter to explode and destroy all the work, or do you want a new sun? God doesn't wave magic wands. God does use technology.....

Rest in peace! Take care, Candace

PS. I have been late getting this posted today. I was extremely discomboobulated this morning, and my guardian angel Andrea helped me get all my different bodies back in alignment. My mental body was hanging out somewhere apparently completely lost! The physical body was very uncoordinated and my typing terrible. Plus it was difficult to compose something, with the mental body ranging the universe some place!

The electron flux has been very high. I don't follow the graphs on the proton fluxes, but the energy in these and other "particles" is increasing and this affects your body and your mind. Patience is suggested! Not to worry! It's "normal."

Also, I added in a bit more commentary I had forgotten to place after posting, and there is a duplication of a comment here, my mind is still not completely focused, so ignore it. I don't feel like trying to rearrange the post and then just make it worse.

Hold the Fort, We ARE coming!

By Thoth and Leonette

Hold the Fort, We ARE coming! (sometime, someday, some place-Candace having fun! Additive)

Thoth - And I am always here so your missing me is a moot point (smiles).

Me - What's happening? You know I still need to ask.

Thoth - Nothing that you don't already know and much that you don't know.

Me - Huh??

Thoth - Riddles...I toy with you because you are so serious and impatient and yet
You DO know even though you are clouded in a mist of amnesia, every Time you come back into body.

Me - I know this is the chit-chat we go through to get into the meat of the Matter.

Thoth - Meat you say! (smiles).ahh...yes.. We do go into this so that you can Warm up to what is coming through and I see you are relaxed now so here goes.

There is a saying that you are familiar with that goes "Time is longer than twine" and so it is in the celestial realms... You see time as you know it and as we have told you before is completely different from time, as we know it. Yet there comes a time (no pun intended) when it is of little consequence to what must play out in the worlds of time and space. 'Timing', however, has a different connotation...has a meaning of relevance ...and it is that which makes an episode acceptable at best and believable at worst..

Timing makes the difference in perceptions and ...whether those perceptions will have relevance to those to whom the story is being told.

Don't become perplexed by this!

It is a simple equation; the relevance of timing helps the manifestation of occurrences to achieve greater luminosity to those who may have some challenge in accepting, that which has potential to rock their worlds.

Can I tell you how exciting this moment is!!

From our vantage point there are so many options available. Jupiter is in your sky...and at times it peeks out from behind your Sun. This, of course, is NOT the show and tell option...not yet...because there are so many variables now. Show and tell and/or announcements and/or straight into Stasis. Each option has consequences and the determination at hand is which of the consequences will provide the best opportunity to achieve the ultimate objective.

You on earth are still subjected to what your eyes can perceive and what you can read from that which informs your world, such as your varied forms of media etc...but if you look carefully behind the illusions that are projected to you. You can see that the façade is falling apart. 'They' are having extreme difficulty in trying to hold the mirage together. That mirage that keeps you believing that what you see, is what is!

Look carefully...all the institutions of Man are being held up to scrutiny and many are seriously questioning how they could have been fooled for so long.

All those institutions and their leaders are having credibility issues.

The reason for such is that as the influences of the Great Central Sun permeate every nook and cranny of your world. All the dusky and dingy areas of mold and decay are being irradiated and this irradiation is pulverizing the constraints that held you in check for so long...

So when those Cosmic Forces in the line of 'decision making' ponder these occurrences the weightiness of the various options comes into bearing...

Should we allow this now? Should we hold our hand on that one? Should we just forget everything and go straight for the ultimate?? All these decisions are being carefully evaluated against a background of not only what is occurring on Earth but also what is occurring in the Cosmos. Because this momentum is a small part of a larger continuum of events unfolding...Yes Cosmic clockwork at its best!!.. Yes I feel the thoughts running through your mind ...thoughts of the words from a Battle hymn that you know so well...and these words would be appropriate for now except with a slight alteration. 'Hold the Fort for we are coming. People of Earth be strong. Side by Side, keep pressing onward. Victory will come!'

There are many who have been called to duty and you ALL must do your part because you have that ultimate responsibility to keep your purpose and energy strong in spite of what ever you see and don't see, what ever you understand and don't understand...

So many of you are busy in your down time (during sleep)...veils of amnesia are critical now...so they stay put until it is safe to be removed...but I can tell you that you are there observing, commenting, advising and generally being a part of all the options and decisions therein. And IF you knew that you will feel utterly 'demeaned' to say the least when you bemoan that which is taking so long or is not happening when it is supposed to because You, Dear Ones, are the providers of the ground information that informs the decisions that are taken...

In your purified best...free from the inhibitions of cultured emotions and physical incapacitation...you are your God best...and behave in accordance with principled morality, scrupulous consideration, unparalleled understanding and Love...

God best does not know limitations of the kind as impatience and tiredness with the process to raise 2nd density planets into the realm of Light and Life...it is always for the highest good of All concerned, and the All is not only of the Earth Planet but extends much further outward and inward..

Have patience. This process is increasing your knowledge both in Body and out of IT..

Me - Ugggh...Thank you...

Thoth - What purpose would it serve you if you did not know how to Grow in the Godly characteristics of Patience, Understanding and Love. How to weigh decisions, taking everything and everyone into account. How to utilize all options that will bring the best possible outcome to a situation, even though you may personally prefer your workload to be less cumbersome.

Growing one's God's abilities is never easy and neither is it as simplistic as waving a magical wand, because the magical wand does not allow for the intricacies of innate knowledge to be tried and tested.

If you start thinking of yourself as growing your God self and by extension developing your Godly attributes or rather fine-tuning them, what you perceive as an exasperating 'wait' may turn into a field of 'once in a lifetime' opportunities that will be worth much weight in Gold when such acquired learning and growth have to be applied practically not only in time to come but in the here and now.. For, if you have not realized already, you ARE facing these times of transitioning.

Me - Thank you for your words of wisdom.

Thoth - It is my pleasure!

Hear ye...the time is upon you

By Thoth thru Leonette

Thoth Enters....his presence is palpable...and I take dictation as I am told.

Hear ye...the time is upon you.... lift up your eyes...lift up your voices....for they must be seen and heard above the din ...of that which is about to occur...Blessed Ones in this time and place, your hour has come to stand in your shoes and be counted..My message is brief...but know you what it means ...there is nought in time for you to ponder these words...be at the ready...and hold fast to the plan...That which was enunciated to you...in the last nights of your sleep time...the memories will come a-tumbling....as the events unfold...

Stand at guard...

SYNERGY AND ECSTASY

Me: Hello Thoth, I feel at ease and I am able to connect with you today. How goes it?

Thoth: I know that you want to know about everything that is happening around you, but this you can see for yourself, for as I said before It is Here and Now. The precision of effects has to be measured to ensure success. How it works is similar to how you effect anything of importance. You initiate action then you stop and measure the response to the action and decide if to maintain the pressure of the current action or to decrease or increase accordingly. All to ensure the finality of what you are trying to achieve is NOT compromised to the point of INVALIDITY.

Me: for the last few months I seemed unable to 'tap into your consciousness' and I felt frustrated by this inability...I felt cut off.....

Thoth: I was able to 'tap into yours' and I know that you are aware of such. your feeling of alienation was just that...your feeling...and that came about because you were clouding your space with the 'What, How and When' of your expectations and you were seeking to foist that on my awareness. This of course contaminated your field and colored your emotions which in effect prevented you from 'reading me' clearly as I tried to adjust your 'frames of reference' to help you perceive what was happening around you.

So not only did you 'feel' alienated from me but you also 'felt' alienated from everything that was and is occurring around you. I hope you realize that your perceived alienation is very much a figment of your imagination, as is your perception that everything is 'hunky-dory' in your world.

THOTH GOES ON

Your curiosity about the role that I play in all of this is prominent in your mind, Suffice it to say that as part of the Hierarchy with a focus on liberation of these realms, WE all play our varied roles in this 'mission' as you would think it to be.

Our efforts appear individuated, yet a better description would be that each focus is a small part of the Collective foci and the Collective foci is about bringing these 'out of sync' realms into the bosom of Prime Creator. Now achieving that eventuality is beyond your current ability to perceive in terms of the time-span for such an endeavor and the various steps to achieve such. However part of the initial steps to such an objective begins with the bringing of these realms into alignment with the ATON consciousness paradigm.

Therefore, as a consequence, Aton is the prime co-coordinator and evaluator of what is to be done to achieve such a feat. After all, these realms are HIS manifestations. He has divested of Himself in different forms and as such HE 'EXPERIENCES' the discordance of lesser energies gone awry within His overall consciousness. By the same token though, His consciousness has the ability to 'measure' accordance in the energetic structures that make up his consciousness template.

Hence the reason He is the ONE who guides the process as he sees fit because ultimately he experiences the energetic surges, be it of malfeasance or bliss within the essence of WHO HE IS. HE bears full responsibility, not only, for these creations of His but also for the returning of these creations to their Original blueprints that are the overall patterning of the Grand Cosmic Design emanating from Prime Creator.

The other 'aspects' of the Grand Cosmic Design" patterning, such as the essence that you refer to, as Thoth and many others are part of the support mechanism in place to assist in this undertaking. Similarly, you and many others, whether they are aware or not, are part of this same support mechanism.

We are aspects of Prime Creator, operating as Group Collectives at a higher frequency, closer to Source.

You all are splintered aspects of US, downloaded behind the 'veiled enclosure' of what you would describe as your MATRIX consciousness, as vibrationally, stepped-down versions of the many varieties that make up our whole.

In other words, we have 'pitched' or rather 'pulsed' aspects of ourselves behind the 'Veils of Forgetfulness', to further this mission of support.

As connections to you all who are positioned behind 'the veil', we provide vibrational support to you and it delights us, when we recognize that, you, in your amnesiac condition, become aware of this vibrational support.

We also orchestrate particular energetic influences at this level that filter through 'bands of energetic layers' to permeate and transform the energetic matrices of those discordant realms. We also 'pulse' those energetic influences to you and through you via your individuated energetic systems that surround your physical beingness.

When you come into awareness of this process, you take a vibrational leap forward. The support that I provide as part of the Collective Consciousness to which I belong is multi-faceted. What I convey is primarily in the domain of cosmic truth, which includes scientific and esoteric wisdom. I am also involved in the art of cosmic civilization building, from the very primary, for example in the case of basic consciousness, the activating of the awareness of the importance of co-operation and structural organizing to the more advanced cosmic systems of inter and overlapping influences, connections and assimilation processes in facilitating merged thought and group consciousness.

I am also part of the Council that deals with Cosmic Systems planning, development, restructuring and adjudication processes. My other foci, I will deal with at another time when it will be best understood.

I relay this information to try to help many to understand that this process of 'liberation' is actually the 'coming together' of many inputs from many quarters and many levels of consciousness participating in this mission.

It is NOT one solitary effort but a collection of MANY towards an ULTIMATE.

The Supervising Coordinator is Aton in whose essence all of this is transpiring. HE is in charge of the orchestra. He hummed the etude into existence, selected the rhythms and he developed the stanzas. More than that though, he conducts the orchestra and he also performs within it.

He internalizes the melodic highs and lows in a piece that is melancholy at best, when it need not be so. You all are parts of this very ATONIC expression and even though you may NOT be in TOTAL awareness of EVERYTHING, as is ATON, you are possessed of the same qualities of forbearance and determination that are some of the attributes of Creatorship, Perceived lulls in activity are just momentary pauses in the orchestrated piece so that other parts can emerge at the coordinated and appointed times.

When ALL the parts are 'tuned to perfection' and the various chords harmonize to sound the Grand Crescendo, the playing of the piece achieves a rising resonance, which elevates the particulates of your world from the mundane to the sublime.

I have tried to describe this current scenario using terms of sound and energy in the form of music. I believe it is easier for most to appreciate what is happening and how your own roles impact the WHOLE, from the vantage point of orchestrated music.

If all the parts to this orchestrated piece are in the process of tuning to perfection so that the sound that is projected is in harmony with other sounds in the creation of the Grand Crescendo, then the question that must be asked is if each and everyone is diligently 'tuning' their instruments to ensure such 'near perfection' is achieved.

I will advise that in order to achieve that 'near perfection' that attention must be paid to:

1. The Objective (The grand crescendo)
2. The enhancing of your Be-ing (tuning to perfection)
3. the elimination of that which distorts the clarity of your sound.
4. Identifying that which is NOT in your best interest and 'pulling the plug' on it.
5. Remaining focused in spite of what you see or rather what you don't see.
6. Keeping aligned to your Atonic consciousness that contains attributes of forbearance and determination, which are attributes that will get you over the 'hump' of your disappointments.

Remember, you are embodied in vessels that have been created out of Atonic consciousness and encoded in the blueprint are those attributes so they are not foreign to your level of consciousness.

Me: Thank You Thoth

Thoth: The pleasure is mine, however we will follow up on this discourse at another time.

Me: I look forward to that time and thank you!

SYNERGY AND ECTASY - THE UNITY OF EFFORT

SYNERGY AND ECTASY - THE UNITY OF EFFORT

Me Hello Thoth, we are continuing this dialogue.

Thoth Yes, are you comfortable?

Me As best as can be.

Thoth Well, let us proceed then,

Me By all means please go ahead.

Thoth

In the previous discourse, I attempted to provide to you imagery to help you to sense your roles here and in this time. I attempted to show you that in the grand scheme of things each has a role to play and each role is interconnected and valid towards the outcome that is envisaged for these worlds. Worlds that are locked in to a vise or a grip that require effort, both on the parts of those who orchestrate the event and by those who manipulate the physical domains in pursuit of those goals.

Now many of you are unable to picture 'the goals' of this Herculean effort, for you are by and large in amnesia. There are a few who have been given a 'glimpse' of this goal but even they cannot visualize the magnitude of such an event. Some receive a small part of the picture from one direction whilst others receive another part from yet a different direction. All these images are based on how 'tuned up' the receivers are. So from this statement one can realize that the more 'tuned up' one is the better one is able to comprehend the 'vision' at the end of the tunnel so to speak.

Now, to get 'tuned up' requires effort on the part of the one who wishes to be able to come into comprehension about the nature of things. Even for those who may have certain 'faculties' on line or better said those who may have some 'gifts' available, gifts such as clairaudience, clairsentience, clairvoyance etc., 'Tuning up' is an absolute requirement.

What do I mean by 'tuning up,' simple, the practice, whether consciously or subconsciously of perfecting your thinking patterns, in other words bringing your thinking patterns on line with your Atonic consciousness.

Now whether your 'gifts' are turned on or whether you are clueless where these things are concerned, matters not, this is a journey for each individual who is yearning to be aligned to supreme consciousness which manifests in these dimensions as the Atonic consciousness so named after Aton who breathed life into the worlds.

Each journey is as varied as the individuals who travel that path and no one way IS the right way, however at a certain point one comes into recognition that alignment occurs at the juncture where falsehoods based on matrix socialization patterns, begin to disintegrate. Most Humans identify this point when the various stimuli in their worlds no longer fascinate or seduce them and for many, especially those who are unaware of what is happening, this is a time of extreme upheaval that manifests as depression and self-degenerative behaviors.

When a Human decides to 'take the path' and it may be accurate to state that when the Human's consciousness has been activated to fulfill its potential in service within these realms a number of situational triggers occur. Many would attest to personal and emotional crises that forced them to come to crossroads in their lives. If the incorrect decision was made at that particular crossroad, then more challenges followed until the Human chose the paths more conducive to arriving at their intended destinations.

Some may think that these personal and emotional crises are crude and uncaring machinations of an unjust God. I assure you that God has nothing to do with that! The best way to describe such is to point out that built into the 'blueprint back-pack' of each individual on the journey here, are a series of 'check and balance' switches that become activated under circumstances when energy fields become 'out of sync' with the individual's energetic blueprint..

When those 'check and balance' switches are activated., the individual's energetic blueprint starts to realign the energetic components surrounding the Human Body, as such, the characteristics of energetic patterning start to align differently.

As you know the energy that you radiate outwardly from your fields of cognizance, configures the energies of situations that surround your perceived reality. However once the characteristics of the energetic patterns start to re align in a differing pattern based on the 'check and balance' activations, then you will experience changes in the situations that surround you in your Life experiences, because the energetic patterns are different from the patterns that sustained those experiential perceptions before..

So you may find that you can no longer tolerate certain situations that before posed no significant problem, or you may start having health problems or worsened health issues. Or that the institutional supports that nurtured and sustained you, begin to fall away or deteriorate. Such institutional supports include your career, your religion, your family and your educational systems.

Now these 'bad things' happen because the activated 'check and balance' systems which are built into your energetic blueprints, (and let me remind you for you have forgotten, THESE CHECK AND BALANCE SYSTEMS WERE INSTALLED WITH YOUR FULL APPROVAL), have this essential responsibility of 'stripping' your Essence of contamination as you sojourn here.

If you review your own lives, each and every one of you who read this, you would recognize that your perspectives started changing exponentially, once seemingly insurmountable challenges were placed on your paths. You would have been forced to cling to any modicum of assistance to help you to deal with any given traumatic situation. This process allowed you to forego that which was not helpful and forced you to pursue other avenues for assistance, avenues you would have never considered if your blueprints had not realigned because of the energetic activations.

You would have continued using this methodology of trial, selection and elimination as you continued to deal with the issues that were placed before you. You would have also discovered that what might have worked for a particular situation at a particular time, was no longer applicable if a similar situation challenged you again.

You would have found that whatever your religion taught you, what your family values might be, how your professional life may have shaped your outlook, what your education system supplanted in your mind, how your society socialized you, how your politics controlled you, how your desires jailed you, all these things and more you would have found created challenges in your life for you to explore the truths and untruths of the nature of life as you know it.

I have said all these things to give you an example of how the process of 'tuning up' works. This 'tuning up' process is a built in mechanism as stated before and is a part of your 'back pack' that accompanies your energetic blue prints to these realms...You are largely unaware of this as it should be, because your responses to what your 'back pack' has in store for you, is what determines whether your 'tune up' will facilitate your alignment to your 'Atonic Consciousness.'

You may think, well I can condition my response to fast track my alignment. Well that may be your theory but in actuality it does not work quite that way... the conditions that present themselves in these realms continually prod you to experience your 'base' selves. Your 'base' self is tied to your emotional self but acts instinctively and at times, remote from your emotional self.

Your 'base' self is self-explanatory. It is the self that is least pretentious but it is the self that most Humans mask. The 'base' self is what forms a repository for Atonic consciousness. Once the 'base' self acclimatizes to the conditions under which the 'tune-ups' are warranted, then everything else is as you would say 'icing on the cake'. Put another way if your 'base' self, the least pretentious of all the selves, is conditioned by the consciousness of Aton, then the foundation is laid for the honing of the process towards alignment with the Supreme consciousness, which Aton represents in these realms.

The reactions to the activations of the 'energetic blue print back-packs', are 'hard-wired' into your 'base' selves. It is not lodged in the Ego self, however the Ego self: the self that masks, can and oftentimes determine the responses and if the 'base' self is not on the road to alignment with the Atonic consciousness, then Ego directed responses to the 'back-pack' activations can be looped into acts of degradation which make alignment more elusive.

The 'emotional' self, while connected to the 'base' self and also connected to the Higher Self, tends to be conditioned by the Ego Self and also by conditioning brought about by societal value systems. So, for example, let's say that an appropriate Atonic response to a situation might be to 'Not turn the other cheek and to stand in one's shoes and stand against a particular situation. " if the 'emotional self' is conditioned by religious fervor that says to 'turn the other cheek,' the 'base' self, might be inclined to recoil and become retrograde in its ability to respond appropriately.

Similarly, if the Ego Self influenced the 'emotional' self, the 'base' self may respond in a manner that will bring nothing of consequence to any of the parties involved in that particular situation.

One can only understand the merits and demerits of any approach by application and diligent learning from the outcomes.

The 'base' self is where the upgrades are done and that sets the tone for the willingness of the various energetic selves to merge in consciousness as attempts are made to align to the God consciousness.

Now you may ask how do I get my 'base' self to respond in the appropriate manner, well all things considered...the 'base' self is where you practice and test a number of responses to varied reactions until you find the one which leaves you in a state of balance. Although as you progress in the refining of your responses you will become aware that what may have left you in a state of balance at one time, may not do so at a later time. This is because your changing awareness elevates your consciousness and this in turn changes or rather resets your perceptive fields. You spiral in growth in these realms and you would be constantly challenged to hone your ability to maintain your centre so that you will effect the best judgment, at any given time, in any situation that confronts you!

Be not afraid of this!

This forever-changing paradigm of what you consider truth will be just that in these realms because of the nature of the forces that operate here. By engaging the process of learning what is appropriate and supportive of your alignment, automatically jump-starts your alignment process and once you have resolve and determination you will KNOW, when you are in alignment and when you are not.

Now I tie all of this back to what I mentioned in the previous discourse. Remember when I indicated that you all are 'pulsed' aspects of ourselves, 'pitched' behind the 'Veils of Forgetfulness' to further the mission of support to reclaim these 'out of sync' realms? To use an analogy let us say, you were the owner of a small fish aquarium in your home. One day you noticed that something appeared to be wrong in the fish tank. Maybe a couple of the fishes died, maybe the water appeared somewhat cloudy and you figured that something was wrong with the supply of oxygen within the tank.

At this point, you don't want to empty the aquarium completely because you figure that you can adjust the problem but you will need to remove the dead fishes and after you will need to locate the source of the problem. So you gingerly put your glove protected hand in the water, while you try to recover the oxygen hose at the bottom of the tank and at the same time not disturb the decorative stones and other elements in the aquarium.

Wearing gloves makes the task somewhat cumbersome because you don't have the feel of your fingertips and you are hampered by the need to be careful with the fishes and other elements within the aquarium. Your hand being in an awkward position becomes uncomfortable and cramped. Your fingers appear to want to do its own thing to relieve the discomfort but you know that to do so will make matters worse and force you to have to empty the aquarium completely which you are trying to avoid.

Well, I use this little story above to describe the relationship between You within the 'Veils of forgetfulness' and US above and beyond ' the Veils of Forgetfulness'.

You as our hands in the Fish Aquarium and we as You standing looking down at the aquarium with our hands in the water of the aquarium. We are trying our best to save the aquarium and the contents but because the tank is so small we can only place our hands within the aquarium in this uncomfortable position, to force our entire arm in will cause the aquarium to shatter and everything to be ruined so we are using our hands to try and fix the problem. Due to the nature of the situation though our hands are hurting due to discomfort and cramps, wearing gloves in water takes the discomfort to another level and soon enough some of the water gets into the gloves...

This causes the fingers to cramp even more and a decision has to be taken whether to take the hand out of the water and empty the aquarium or to stay the course.

For the time though, you decide to stay the course because you feel confident that you can fix the problem but the fingers are unresponsive because they are uncomfortable and cramped plus the gloves are proving counter-productive but it's necessary to wear them to prevent the fish from nipping at your hands. You are thinking that you need to let your fingers know how crucial they are to saving this entire aquarium, so you try to communicate with the muscles in your arms to relax.... And so starts the process of communicating with your fingers...

If you can understand the roles that are being played by this little story, then you are well on your way to understanding you roles here and how you need to align with your God consciousness to facilitate that which you came here to accomplish.

Me: Whew...this has been long.

Thoth: Yes and I know that you are tired but we cleared your desk to facilitate this. (Sensing a smile) This is important!

Me: Well I figured that much...

Thoth: It is important because while we appear to have some 'time', every available opportunity will be utilized to 'pull many up,' to have them raise their vibrations, to stretch their minds, to plant the seeds, so that it becomes easier the next time around when they encounter elements of what we are discussing, whether in word or in actual form.
Me Thank you for the opportunity to assist in this regard.

Thoth: Thank you for availing of yourself in this mighty effort.

Sorry, but I WILL continue to whine.

By Leonette and Candace

20 Aug 3, 2010

Candace: Well, the end portion of the piece I did with CM last night struck a few cords. There is a thread going on the forum about this topic of the whining. Leo posted this, and it's worthy of being here too, so I asked her permission. I will comment some more at the end. http://abundanthope.net/pages/Candace_6/The-Current-Plans.shtml

Re: Candace Aug 2, 2010 - The Current Plans by Christ Michael Aton

Definition : Whine (n) 1. A long, high pitched complaining cry....

My Beloved Christ Michael.

Sorry, but I WILL continue to whine.

I will continue to live my Life as I have been doing for it is impossible to stop.

I will continue to pay my bills as I always have, I will continue to fight the system where I can and I will continue to strive to help others to understand it so they too can muster the courage to stand up!

I will continue to do ALL those things and much more for I have never stopped, never lagged even at great peril, sacrifice and ostracism to myself and those close to me, for the truth is, I know no other way....

However, I will Not stop WHINING.

A long pitched complaining cry reverberates horizontally and vertically ...It can be irritating.. and when I whine some take notice, be it on the vertical or horizontal axis.

You see I AM embodied as a HUMAN. One way the species attracts attention is to CRY. The act of crying touches the innermost aspects of any Being that professes to have a SOUL. Can anyone with a heart resist the high pitched cry of a BABY ? Surely not!.

The HUMAN species cries.. it is a part of what is termed being normal. Therefore, since I am embodied as a HUMAN then I reserve the right to Whine in times of great distress.. and hope that God and my fellow man hear!. For they may be inclined to believe all is just fine if no one whines!

While I tip my hat to those noble ones amongst us who are beyond the call to whine, I do not for one instant believe that we, the whiners, are less passionate in our duty to cause in fulfilling our Holy mandates. Some of us were fulfilling our mandates LONG before we knew there was this Holy Being called Christ Michael or Aton. We have been in the trenches doing what we do best, because we have been hard-wired in a particular way when we entered these physical realms. We didn't just come in with this year's torrential rains.

So if we whine occasionally, so what?? The fact that I whine should be comforting for it suggests that I haven't surrendered, that I haven't succumbed, because the system can numb/ dumb you down so you feel nothing, nada, zilch or make you feel that everything is all candy floss and sugar pies...Just look around, the evidence is there to see.

Leave me, while I continually roll up my proverbial sleeves and dirty my hands to get the job done on Earth and if I whine now and then, I expect you to understand and take my whining into consideration when contemplating the total picture, because when I whine it is because I feel the pain and suffering of everything around me that is beyond my present Human capacity to fix.

It is a Human call for Help, just as a baby's cry is an infant's call for sustenance and/or succour. when the baby no longer has the strength to cry, know it is at death's door!

New Definition of Whine 1. a Cry that is sent forth from a portion of the Divine embodied as a Human, acting in limited consciousness.

From your Beloved Leonette.

Candace: Ok, many of you know what is meant by the whining CM referred to. But there is good and holy reasons to whine, such as described by Leonette above. I do a LOT of it myself, and this type of whining is of the soul.

some of you whining are wanting out of here, but you will need to change your contract for that. We did come to serve this thru.

There is a special kind of "whine" that I call a "primal scream." It is of soul. Now, when I was majoring in psychology at one time in college, the term primal scream was used and in therapy, it was supposed to be encouraged but psychology then and now, I assume still, does NOT include the SOUL. And thus people during group stuff never understood it.

It isn't necessary a loud scream, but it's a big call for help that WILL be heard. I did such back in 1998, and that story is described in The Miracle That is Me, in the left menu. I had quite an experience that day as the result of my "prayer" as I call it, where I informed God with a lot of emotion that I was sick of this shit.

there is bitching and whining, and there is HOLY bitching and Whining, and it's important to know the difference. What Leonette describes above, is the holy variety.

PS CM can whine too and so does Esu. CM was referring in the piece to people who are whining without want to take some action, whining about wanting OUT of here without desiring to finish what they came to do. Whining because they don't want to take some action on their own to right their lives. There is a lack of holiness in some of the whining going on. If you are going to whine, make it Holy. Make every minute of every day, a Holy event.

The planet will still herself and hang in balance.

Leonette did this just this evening with Thoth. September 12, 2010

Me : Thoth is here and he wishes to speak...I settle now...

Thoth:-

Hello Beloved, it has been quite some time since we have put something out...but you and I have been engaged otherwise in soul growth and preparation...These are times that call for the best that Humans can bring to bear on a situation ...It taxes the best of those who are part of this mission and it is in the taxing that much is learnt and passed on ...all in preparation for when the 'boots hit the ground' so to speak.

I challenge all who may find this period as being ever so testing...to realise that it is all being done with the intention that those 'who' are to survive do so..and when I say 'who' please do not think in terms of only Human Beings, for there are other species of Life that have equal right to be here and to be a part of the journey of Gaia's mission to the her ultimate destiny.

Let us be mindful of the great forces that are at work to bring this period of great precipitation to this milestone...many forces are outside of your human realm of thought and indeed knowledge and always it is done with the utmost intention of ensuring that survivability of the adherents are primary to the cause.

I will now be a bit technical in terms of what is to come. I advised you some time ago that things have become somewhat heightened...and there will be evidence of such.

You have seen raging waters, shaking lands, unbalanced atmospheric conditions. You have witnessed record heat waves and fires... record cold snaps and bi-polar energetic disturbances as manifested in the form of high temperatures, followed by low temperatures without transitionary time frames.

You are witnessing the planet's crust, not only shifting but also heating up and 'doming' ...you are seeing ruptures and the oozing of gases and molten sub- strata secretions... and I am not speaking of volcanic activity, which too is happening.

I am not even speaking about the disaster that is in the Gulf of Mexico. That will take another essay.

What I am identifying is that the planet has an intense 'fever' and she is 'cold sweating' in one moment and 'burning up' in a next.

This can definitely be considered an intensification of the 'detoxification' process.

What is happening is that everything is in a state of 'flux' and it has become near impossible to pinpoint with accuracy or predict with certainty...what your seasonal conditions would be in the coming days and weeks.

Now this primarily has to do with the Planet and her readying herself to make that 'jump' to the other level. The rules that govern her seasonal 'behaviours' have gone out the window 'so to speak'....She is preparing to 'march to a different beat' and in the process of doing that...what would be constituted 'business as usual' with respect to her physical and environmental conditions are changing. They are becoming discordant...and this is so because the planet is changing lanes, changing her groove and in so doing patterns that operated in the planetary system dynamic are now 'out of sync'.

The same is happening to physical bodies and physical environments that inhabit the planetary body...everything is in chaos and flying 'helter-skelter' much like when a train has run off course its tracks. You know that life can be lost when a train becomes derailed and until that train is put on properly railed again, there is much topsy-turvy action that will take place...Your planet is very much in this situation now!...It is being prepared to assume new tracks but in the mean time...the current planetary tracks no longer serve the purpose that they once did...the tracks have become deformed and the planet is heaving to and fro in a most precarious manner.

It will go like this until it stops...This is the moment that we are all awaiting. The moment when she 'stills' herself and 'hangs' in balance. It is in that interlude that we figuratively 'hold our breaths' for it will be in that moment that the 'hush' that you long for will be achieved.

You are thinking of the Gulf of Mexico situation and yes that can impact the timing of what I am speaking...but in essence, if the issues in the Gulf of Mexico , accelerate events, the process will still be the same... the planet will 'still herself and hang in balance.'

The stillness of her Being allows for removals of that which is least compatible with her very essence which assumes prominence in the period of her stillness.

Candace: Leonette has posted some other work related to the stillness, which occurs if I remember correctly when she goes into the magnetic Reversal. New readers may want to look at Leonette's other work with Thoth in this section, there is a very long piece with lovely diagrams in it. I can feel this coming on personally, and some of this "sluggishness" that is going on, is related to the slowing and seeking of the stillness she needs. Also they have brought Jupiter out into the corona again off and on, and always, the planet goes into wanting that pole reversal really bad. It is still desired to have this during stasis. This will bring on too many changes and CM still wishes to have some announcements and for people to "get it", as to what is going on.

Thoth: It is the same with a Human Being...when you meditate...when you reach that moment of 'stillness' it is when your true essence becomes paramount and when that happens you 'feel' focused and balanced because your physicalness becomes imbued by your true essence. When your true essence permeates your very self and your environment, then, that which is not compatible with you has to fall away...it is part of the law of dynamics...The planet assumes her true essence in the period of the 'stillness' and it is for this very reason that her very essence will both attract and repel in accordance with one of the sub-sets of the law of dynamics which is the law of attraction.

We will end this session now...so that you will internalize the process and validate your experiences as they relate to some of this information which has been on passed... Remember you are very much part of this journey...co-creational in intent you are...and at this juncture it will be instructive to observe and mentally take notes of everything that your perception allows.

Be at peace and ever ready! I AM Thoth.

Me: Thank you Thoth.

Freedom and Responsibility

Freedom and Responsibility - From Thoth thru Leonette

You are about to come into your freedom, your liberation from the eons of that which kept you in bondage. Know that with freedom comes great responsibility. A Responsibility that will require you to have extreme wisdom along with extreme humility. These are qualities that will have to be honed. These are qualities that will be honed when you face that which is about to descend upon you.

For the 'snapping' of the chains of bondage, releases the fetters that not only kept you in control but also aligned you to a framework that customized your thinking and your behaviours around that which you considered the norms of your world...norms which you diligently 'obeyed.' You manoeuvred within this framework of norms which was designed to give support to your reality as you believed it to be.

This is now about to change.

You keep thinking that these changes have to do with changes a la Terra...but more than that these changes have to do with changes to and within You and your psyche and that alone will pose more challenges to you, because that which supported your perceptions of your world is about to be removed from below your very feet.

It will be instructive to you, if you have not been mentally prepared to think upon this...other than that what you are about to face WILL by necessity re-engineer or rather re-format that thinking and in so doing force you to face a different reality than what you have become accustomed to .. It is in the acclimatisation to this new reality that you are about to hone your lessons on responsibility..

Responsibility carries with it a "Godly" charge of energy, that has, in the reality that is about to end, been used in a manner that was considered less than Godly.

Those who were entrusted with such a Godly charge used it in a fashion that meted out force and dominion over others. As responsibility is an intense energy, it is a Godly charge...the force of such usage and the intent behind the usage have wrought calamity upon the planet and her inhabitants by those who mishandled and abused this Godly charge - this Godly Energy of responsibility...

All that is about to change.

This message is for those who are now going to be entrusted with this Godly charge of Responsibility...The apple cart is about to be turned upside down. While it was felt that there was sufficient time to hone the newcomers in the art of responsibility, certain mitigating circumstances have now pre-empted or caused the 'fast-tracking of the lessons necessary to allow those being entrusted with this God charge to 'care-take' this energy in their hands and use it with the utmost diligence as expected of those utilizing their God sense or better described, their God 'essence.'

The 'hastening' of events however, minimizes the necessary time to affect the timing of preparation of the very few who are now being entrusted with such responsibility. Said differently, Not many have had sufficient 'on the ground' preparation for the discharging of such responsibility within the context just mentioned. .

Therefore I am here to advise you that your learning will be experienced in these times of renewal, for to handle the changes which are to descend upon you will require your discharging of responsibilities within the context of leadership, wisdom, understanding and humility.

You will not get it right at first...but circumstances facing you will force you to get it right not too long after...Your first response will be 'instinctive' and that can go in any direction based upon your experience and exposure to trauma and the like. For this reason I say that you may not get it right the first time. However your initial exposure will temper you somewhat and the rapid succession of events will put your mind on 'auto-pilot'.

When the mind is in that state...the God essence will emerge unencumbered...for the mind, being in a somewhat temporary 'unthinking' phase, allows for the God essence to emerge unchallenged by a 'questioning' mind.

That, for all intents and purposes, gives free rein to the God essence and from the God essence will flow the God charge which will now imbue your Human essence including the 'auto-piloted' mind.

When this happens the mind, which was on ' auto-pilot', comes ' on line' with the God Essence and in that sense you will now be of God mind and now expected to discharge the God Charge as is expected of One with God and of God.

Do not be afraid of this. DO not go into fear of this awesome authority that is about to be thrust upon you. Do not feel that it will be too much to bear while simultaneously dealing with indescribable situations....That is the best way to learn in any event. 'Hands-on' experience or experiential knowledge is significantly superior to abstract theory and knowledge gleaned under hypothetical or differing circumstances.

What you are about to face is monumental and will be a milestone of significant proportions. It is not beyond any of you to handle this for you have been well chosen.

What will determine your success is your ability to face your fear and forge ahead. What will determine your success is your knowing that there are many around you (even if you don't see them) and asking for help. What will determine your success is your knowing that you are equipped to handle this, even if you don't remember such or even if your programming tells you that you are a loser or that you are too weak or that you are not smart enough...

That is just the programming that has been put there to keep you unknowing of who and what you truly are. A programming that most of you sub-consciously and consciously bought into and accepted, in order to preserve your human life while awaiting your 'mission'.

Do not over analyse to the extent of mental paralysis...

Continue as you would, continue as you should but keep your 'ears to the ground and your eyes to the skies.'

And remember this 'lead up time' to events constitutes part of your physical preparation, your mental training and your spiritual downloading..

I am Thoth

take these last moments to say your goodbyes

By Thoth and Leonette

23 Oct 17, 2010

Thoth Have you said your 'good byes' as yet? The time is nigh you know!

Me I don't want to engage that 'whatever you're going with wherever' I am not in the mood to handle those feelings of sadness.

Thoth You have a one track mind...I did not mean anything like what you are thinking!(I sense this is said with a slight chuckle!) I am suggesting that you look back upon your life and recognize the moments in your time, those moments that brought you to where you are in your here and now. Those moments which were factored into the blueprint of your journeys here. Teachings that have expressed themselves in a manner to have you touch your soul and activate your consciousness buttons or keys to your remembrances. Those periods of your time which were, in your interpretation of things, the most arduous of experiences to encounter within the framework of your not knowing who you are and why you are here.

Me Those are not times I wish to recall. They are gone and that's that!

Thoth You think they are gone, but the fragments of their essences are still lodged within the molecular framework of your consciousness. Certain 'triggers' of a particular calibration can still activate those fragments and bring on instances of expressions that will appear similar to experiences that you have had before. You should say your goodbyes before it's too late. In this case 'too late' would be experienced as a longing, a pining, a grieving..for it would be in those moments to come that you will realise the value of those challenging moments which, for all intents and purposes, were your toughest teachers, the unforgiving 'taskmasters' whose only reason for existence was to ensure that you achieve your purpose in coming into your own.

Your own as expressed in 'the who you are and why you are here' riddle. The riddle is coming into resolution very soon. It is for that reason I am advising that you say your goodbyes and give your thanks to the teachers who were tough taskmasters, manifested as difficult situations. Always remember that ALL is composed of energy..Situations are nothing more than energy formed and shaped into physical representation of circumstances. These circumstances take energetic shape in the form of coordinated efforts of people, places, things and scenarios, magnetized by your responses to the triggers in your activation blueprint mapped within your incarnated journey to these realms.

So take time to give your fondest regards, to say thanks and to bid adieu, for truly the next stage of your journey is upon you!

Me Thank you for your counsel. I truly hope that we are at the stage that you have described.

Thoth It would not be long now. From where I am it already IS. That is why I can say to you to say your goodbyes. By so doing, you make your peace with that which maybe unfinished and lingering within your consciousness. That which you did not have time to bring to completion. The course of action, having been activated within your blueprint of learning, is programmed to play out to the finish. The Cosmic Grand Action, as sanctioned by Source has superseded this!

As such, you of Divine Heritage should take steps to bring to a halt the programming sequence of the activated energies. The simplest way is to perform a 'blessing' to that which has served you as teachings. To do this will effectively 'uninstall' the program. By 'uninstalling' that program you create space for the installation of a new program to serve you in this new phase. This new program is a much better version and is in sync with the tasks that lie ahead. This reference to information technology jargon is simply to help you to understand in a somewhat mechanical way, the process of change.

Your bringing closure to this stage of your journey here and at this time, in the manner in which I have advised, will free you in the moments of 'your future' for it is then you will realize that those moments of angst were indeed your moments towards liberation.

So take these last moments to say your goodbyes with reverence and respect

Me Thank you for your words of inspiration on a topic I would NOT have thought about.

Thoth Thank you for being here to share of yourself and your journey!

Time needs no apologies only useful learning...

by Thoth Thru Leonette

This energy of space that is defined in terms of moments is what you call time. This is identified by the whirling of your planet around your Sun. This 'time' is only a mechanism of space that has the attributes of 'slowing down' the momentum of 'NOW' so that those in Training to be Creators can measure the process of a case study in miniature scenarios so that the studying of whatever issues you need to understand, can be explored from an in-depth and interactive perspective.

From your density, measuring a process and understanding the mechanism of such a process cannot be done in a 'NOW' or instantaneous scenario...

From your density, 'in a Flash' scenarios are not appropriate if the intent is to witness or observe such processes with a view to learning from same...provided that such instances are the reasons for one's journeys at these levels.

In order to ensure that the elements that 'corrupted' these realms are understood and addressed appropriately then the instantaneousness of events has to be slowed to excruciatingly slow 'roll out' scenarios, so that those with a vested interest in understanding 'how things work and 'why things are the way they are' and 'how can such things be prevented from occurring' can study, learn and apply the best solutions to ensure that the highest good for all concerned is realised..

Surely, a magic wand can be waved and all can be righted...but this will be at great expense to those who have a duty and responsibility to learn from what is taking place.

Perhaps the question must be asked...Should all the millennia of trials and learning be cast aside to satisfy the urgings of those who are specifically here in this 'slowed down' pace of measured happenings.

Surely the intensity of such scenarios can be reduced so that the 'observers' can be less impacted, however that will only prolong the overall process. Is this what you wish? That the 'examination' time can be stretched out so that you will not feel your pain, frustration and angst so deeply? Is it that you cannot stand the intensity of everything that is occurring within and around you?

You cannot have one without the other. This is as much an act of redemption. For you are being redeemed of all that may have weighted your Spirit in your travail in these realms. You are being freed of the 'murkiness' that has dimmed the Light of your Souls. The act of 'purging' or 'de-toxin' one's system is never a pleasant experience but it must be done to lighten up one's 'innards'.

And yes everything around you and within you have intensified and as spirits cloaked in part by organic by-products of this realm...you will naturally 'feel' these intensities because there is a symbiotic relationship between the organism that you 'wear' and through which you perceive everything and the very dynamics that inform the energetic relationships that govern your world in these realms.

I say this to remind you that 'God' takes no pleasure in what you deem as pain and suffering and in that way God is no different from You. However God and those of God have a vested interest in ensuring that such pain and suffering serves a purpose of ensuring that the conditions that give rise to such, is exposed, highlighted, studied, learnt from and solutions explored to ensure that such conditions serve the students in 'Creator School', so that they will not be inclined to bring about a repeat of such conditions ever again.

You ALL have absolutely 'no idea' who you are...and at this time 'that is good'...Learn your lessons well...I have advised before, that you take this time to observe everything that is happening because you don't get a chance to repeat studies, at least, in the realms to which you aspire and if you don't learn well...you don't get to go there until you DO learn. These are simple Cosmic Laws.

The paradox of this situation... is that time has sped up but life has slowed down...Events have slowed and slowed and slowed...Because it is critical that you PAY ATTENTION and learn and when you do...you will understand and in that understanding you will RISE in your consciousness and come into the greater knowing of who and what you are and why you are here at this time.

In this regard 'a word to the wise is sufficient.'

My Blessings to ALL of You.

I AM Thoth.

Beads of perspiration and by the sweat of thy brow we effect much change

By Thoth thru Leonette

Dec 25, 2010 - 7:59:47 AM

Leonette was going to take some more on this, but she was injured and still out of sorts right now.

Sometime about 6:00 am 15th December 2010

Beads of perspiration and by the sweat of thy brow we effect much change

It is time beloved. Awake from your sleep. Prepare yourself for the window to change has been thrown wide open. I know you don't believe. I know you want proof. Sudden it shall be. In the midst of your yuletide preparations.

I know not the hour...but surely you can tell even if your conscious mind refuses to believe that the time has come... (no one knows the hour until all is done and organized and they can hit the "button."-C)

In parable I speak for I can only convey what your mind can accept for the whirling of the worlds has begun. It has been set in motion. Think of the spin dry motion of your appliance called a clothes dryer. It tumbles with heat, it blows with air, it refreshes with steam. All of which to make clean, sanitized and wrinkle-free. Tumultuous it must be, but effective nevertheless as the 'reset' button has been pushed.

Candace: amongst the evidence is all the extreme weather changes. Add also the obvious "new and fresh" faces appearing on many TV news channels now. We have shown the New Obama who remains under protection and out of site. But he was there in public shortly before thanksgiving, when giving an award to a service man. I have a contact that is ground based that had me turn to CNN to see him.

And the Barbara Walters interview on thanksgiving Day was also him and his new Michelle.(and the real love between these two, was palpable!!! I think I was seeing some good friends or soul mates filling those bodies. You CAN find hints if you open ears and eyes. And speaking of that, please sent me notes thru the contact form, or my email address if you have it, if you notice any larger number of troops coming home. I am getting some confirmations starting since yesterday. I won't publish them though at this time. I need to be sure they are not routine. WATCH.

The various replacements of star fleet lookalikes are all over the globe, not just in the US of A, so study these ones in your media and governments in particular. They may be seen at times.
