Introduction from Jess Anthony

Messages with the Masters

My name is Jess Anthony, and I suspect I may be known online primarily for the messages I have posted the last few years through the AbundantHope website. These postings have been commentaries by Christ Michael Aton, Esu Immanuel, Siraya, Monjoranson, Azreal, and others on what is happening on Earth at the present time. Everything that I have posted has been a direct quote from spiritual guides, not a paraphrase. I do ask for specifics, but they tell me only what they want me to know. I post what I do because it speaks to me.

I have been receiving messages since 2001, when I was told by a telepathic friend that I should start hearing comments from spiritual guides myself. I have posted only a fragment of what I have heard. The form of the messages began ten years ago as a personal conversation between me and the guides; it has changed into the more general commentaries posted now. What I called Journal entries at the beginning are no longer that.

I began sending samples of my messages to Candace back in 2005 when I came across the information she was posting online. I realized that we both were hearing similar spiritual information without knowing about each other. She was encouraging to me, and eventually I joined with the group she was forming. Since that time I have posted primarily on the AbundantHope Website.

A blog I created a few years ago called Azreal Speaks has some overlap with Abundant Hope, but generally is an anthology of other messages that have not been posted. This group of messages is more personal and shows specific comments to me on the arts, sexuality, and healing. The Website link for that blog is <http://www.azrealspeaks.com>

A second blog I started recently called The Voice of Esu focuses primarily on messages from Sananda Esu Immanuel Kumara as a way to collect his later commentaries in one place. It posts the original English messages I received, as well as translations of most of them into German, Spanish, French, Italian, Dutch, and Portuguese. Many of these have also been posted at Abundant Hope. The Website link is <http://voiceofesu.com/home/>

In all of my messages, I don't channel in the sense that I go out of body and a guide comes in. I get in a focused meditative state and begin to hear words in my head. This type of telepathy is clairaudience. I am fully conscious, and I type the words on my computer as I hear them. It really is like taking dictation. I occasionally ask mental questions, but generally the messages take shape in my mind as the fully formed essays I post.

The process of receiving a message involves the spiritual guide on the other end sending an idea to me from the truth of his or her higher perspective. The guide sees the complete picture of what could happen based on a number of options Earth can choose to follow. Anyone receiving a message inevitably has certain biases based on past experience and personal preferences. Although a true idea comes into the receiver's brain, it then takes the form his or her mind determines, based on the individual's likes and dislikes. The truth of the idea becomes skewed usually, emerging as a message that speaks more positively or negatively, depending on the receiver's preconceptions. The language used to express this message is structured by the vocabulary typically used to express the receiver's own ideas. The receiver is the channel for the guide's idea, but the message communicated emerges colored by the receiver's preconceptions and literary style.

The challenge for me has been to be as neutral as possible and let the guides speak with as much breadth as possible without me influencing the shape of their message too much. Hopefully, the words I transmit are effective tools to convey the energy of the idea that shaped them in the first place. The guide's energy is what actually resonates with the reader, not the receiver's message.

Because of the type of messages I had been posting over the years, I was approached by Christ Michael Aton in 2007 to assume a more formal role as what he called "Oracle" or voice for Esu and him. As he said:

My plan is what has been outlined here through Candace and her writings over these years, and also through what you have heard me say to you. You have provided a running commentary on ideas and issues that have cropped up, and I am grateful to you for your clear explanations and careful assessments. This is an example of the type of analysis and discernment that will be necessary in the days to come. This is not to say that others are not discerning and involved. Just to say that you have provided an excellent example for them to match.

I will say that you are an oracle for me and for Esu Sananda, and we value your ability to hear clearly and truthfully. For this reason we have come to rely on you for your balanced pronouncements and personal messages that others find resonant. You have always sought to be clean in your thoughts and you have also sought to be unbiased and open to whatever you have heard us say to you. This will be difficult for you to post, I understand, but it is time ...to become visible as our voice. This will have more ramifications later as we enter the period of changes that are coming, and your role will be clearly identified and observed.

Others will say that we are not speaking through you. That you are speaking from your own ego and your own imagination. No. This is a clear line of transmission from me, the Christ Michael of Nebadon, and my pronouncements and decisions are determining when it is time to say enough. I have waited until the very last minute to say "Begin"—and I am still shaping my final decisions—but the impetus has started and the events are now unstoppable. The visible effects of my decisions will be seen shortly. This will take the shape of a transformation of your world and a removal of the most egregious resistance to my will and my Universal law. This is no longer a debate or a contest. This is a change that is underway. (5-23-07)

Back in 2008, Candace also had this to say about my messages and about me as a source. I am very grateful for such glowing remarks, and I would like to include them here, as well:

Aton and Esu have often asked me to read back Jess' work with them, and they have always been exceptionally pleased with it. Often they notify me before Jess has placed it, that the work has been done, and something of its contents, and the piece ALWAYS rings true of what has been conveyed through Jess.

Jess is a person of great integrity, and I will myself continue where necessary to set an example for others, and defend all members of this Holy Organization in Service to Christ Michael (Aton) of Nebadon, and the visible Planetary Prince, Sananda Esu Immanuel Kumara. Every single member selected to this team thus far, and those to come in the future are Christed Individuals, acting always in the highest ability to serve. So Be It.

Namaste in service to the God within each and the all.

I have tried to be a clear conduit for information from Esu and Christ Michael and everyone else I hear. I hope these messages reflect that as you read them.

Christ Michael's Plan for Nebadon

By Jess Anthony
# 1 Dec 5, 2005 - 9:10:00 AM

I received some messages back at the first of last December that I think are still pertinent. In this one Christ Michael speaks about his plan for us. The intention to have a resolution by the end of the 2005 was generally true, although the public details haven't been completely worked out yet.

Journal 12-5-05

Christ Michael, I ask in that guise for further clarification. I accept responsibility for what I have done. I know that I always can do more, but I fall into patterns predicated by past experiences and evaluations. I ask for help to see new ways of progressing. I ask for clarity and insight again into my role and how this relates to other individuals. I ask how you have decided to shape this experience on Earth-Shan so that we have enacted our parts. And I ask how we can finish our act in this dimension so that it parallels what Mother Earth is moving into.

Jess, this is Christ Michael. This name serves as a familiar label most people see me inhabiting. It is resonant with their expectations and their presumptions of past history. It is not all of me by any means, only a stream that manifested here on Earth in the definition of the public's thinking.

My role as Aton is much broader and more controlling. Hatonn is a commander of the Phoenix and as such was a disguise for many years. Aton was Hatonn, although Hatonn was not all of Aton. My title is Michael as Creator Son of the Universe of Nebadon, and I am called Christed because I have the light of the Father Creator speaking through me.

I am the designer of this Universe. I created my planet first and then worked with the First Race to envision my Universe and manifest my vision. My decisions determined what life is like in Nebadon. My interests have informed the choice of physical embodiment you have taken on. The search for and exploration of duality—a reversible energy direction—characterized my concepts and focus. I was interested in seeing how I could become apparently detached from my creation, yet still be attached as maker. This connection and detachment took on various guises of Light and Dark energy, active and passive receptivity, attraction and repulsion, positive and negative directions and energy flow. This became manifest in people and objects characterizing the physical embodiment of my conceptions within my Universe. My interest is played out on a grander scale than you can imagine.

Your role on Earth-Shan was to take this preoccupation with separation to an extreme. I could predict various scenarios you would pursue, but I wanted to see how you would operate without my direct connection guiding you. I asked for and received volunteers from all over the Universe to come to Earth and experience this lowest level of detachment. I maintained a core of connection with all of you, but you gradually lost any memory of this.

This was influenced by off-world intruders who forced the parameters to change. That influence was a possibility I had envisioned, but until it was set in motion, I couldn't understand the experiential evidence it would provide.

Their free will affected your free will and the choices had to change. Since you had given up any direct memory of me and our connection, you were at the mercy of those who chose to manipulate you. This provided a new perspective that couldn't be understood without it happening. You were strong enough to withstand that possibility, or you wouldn't have come here in the first place. But you were mismatched and defending yourself blindly. To help you I sent legions of guides and directional assists. I could do no more since I had created the possibility of free choice for those participating in the experiment.

But there is a limit to how much information can be obtained from this 3rd dimensional experiment. Your context changes, but your reactions do not. It is time to change the parameters for the context. This I have done by allowing Mother Earth to begin the change she has requested. She is beginning to clean her physical self and generate a stronger aura. As man began to experience the new energies that were arriving for Mother Earth, he began waking up to his true role and his place in the scheme of what I had planned for Neadon.

This awakening began amplifying the amount of energy that was connecting with me and my concept for the changes on Earth-Shan. This provided a new variable, and I chose to make an exception and allow man to change physically with his Mother Earth. This necessitated a new and different approach to your interaction with us. You had to become accustomed to this higher energy level in an amazingly short time.

This meant you had to clean your memories and erase your negative reactions that interfered with the new speed of energy flow. This meant you had to reverse your thinking on most of your cultural beliefs. This meant you had to free up your concept of governance to allow individual discernment and choice based on understanding of your true purpose. This meant you had to allow everyone to choose their own way without judging their choices and without assuming yours was better. Respecting individual choices that mirrored their true roles paves the way for true mass acceptance and awareness of everyone's place in the grand scheme.

This is where you are now. This is the beginning of the shift. A political and economic clearing must take place before you can begin to see your true roles and start working to fulfill them. This "housecleaning" won't be without trauma and chaos caused by disbelief. But an awakening to our presence and a realization of the true part you have played and are continuing to play in the scenario will lead to an inevitable re-thinking.

I know you as a group ask for when. You ask for the method. You ask for the means we and you will achieve this. It is predicated on your providing the groundwork for us to interact with you. Our intervening would disrupt your ability to choose, but an informed request for help will allow us to show you the direction best suited to your purposes.

I give you my word this will be resolved before the end of the year. Time is too short for anything else in terms of the schedule Mother Earth and the solar system you inhabit are following. The energies they require will force you to adjust.

Namaste and love this evening.

Sananda on Earth Changes

By Jess Anthony
# 2 Sep 26, 2006 - 5:49:00 PM

Journal 9-26-06

Sananda, I ask for specifics. I ask for information on where we are and what is happening. I ask for guidance in what I am to do and what other will do with me. I see chaos and I ask for clarity. I ask for understanding and insight into what I should say. I ask for resolution and a move into the next phase. Explain what that entails and outline the steps I should tell others.

Jess, this is a missive with facts and predictions of times to come and steps to take for their improvement and resolution. This is not to paint a negative picture of the events that must take place, but it is a realistic point of view that must be acknowledged and allowed to generate new ways of thinking to cope with and remedy what will happen.

The information Candace described is based on projections that Monjoronson spoke to his audience. This is a series of realistic projections that are based on the actualities of what is inevitably going to occur in one shape or another. This is—like all events on Earth—filtered through Earth's inhabitants. Your reactions to Mother Earth's events are what determine your decisions to cope with the realities you find in front of you. You must accept them in your own terms and choose your own ways of dealing with the situations you draw to yourself.

This is couched again in the notion that you draw like energy to your own individual sphere that is complementing your own energy progression. You must determine a way of reaction that fits your own best way of proceeding in your pathway. The only realities that are yours are those you choose to partake of. You are affected only by what you choose to incorporate or assimilate into your own stream of development.

Having said that, you should be aware that your attitude is first and foremost the determinant in how you react to anything you draw to you. If you fear the circumstances, you react with emotions and behavior that is based, in part, on preconditioned experiences. You are preventing things from happening again that have made an impression on you. This memory is not erased immediately, although it will become more objectified as your awareness broadens and becomes more encompassing. You will see repetitions of past events as learning examples that can't manipulate you if you choose not to let them do so. This is a sign of your maturing ascendancy. You are growing a new consciousness. This new consciousness is also bolstered by a revolution of new information and new concepts that can replace past notions. I say "can," because it is again your choice how you react to the new information you draw to yourself.

Let me speak to some specifics, if I can at this point. Some things are still now open to discussion, and since I am aware you will be sending out this message, I want to be sure that the information is what should be broadcast. The government shift is ongoing. Many levels of changes are taking place that you don't see. The culmination of the removal of the Bush faction is the last piece in the puzzle. Many levels of preparation have to be secured and in place before this topples. This involves money changing hands and being controlled by the proper authorities. This comment alludes to many topics currently in discussion: the trillions of Wanta money, the prosperity payments, the bank certificates, the demise of the Federal Reserve System, the reliance upon and allegiance to pure intentions and honest money exchanges. All of these topics are in progress and are nearing success and completion. This should be in place in the next few days. This is again an approximate time allusion, but exact decisions and final steps will not be explained further. NO ONE KNOWS WHEN THE FINAL STEPS WILL BE!

This must be in place before the government can be successfully toppled. The steps for doing that are also in place, waiting the proper time for this to happen. The charade that is the government seen publicly is acting on reserves of former initiatives, and the events you see before you are not going to have much long term effect. They have to be resolved, because they have been set in motion as a created reality, but they are not indefinite or in keeping with the intentions of the changing Universe of Nebadon.

The physical chaos that will ensue from governmental upheaval will be handled with less uncertainty than you presently imagine. Again, elements of calm are in place to step in and channel the turbulence. My voices will speak of solutions, and people will know to listen to the suggestions we provide once they see the immensity of the Universe that envelops them. Once they have met their Galactic brothers and sisters, they will understand the impact of what is occurring. This step of being visible is a crucial one for the progress that must be made.

The catastrophic events predicted on the geophysical plane are devastating to current expectations, but are necessary in the longer range scheme of restoring the planet to its former pristine condition. These will be announced as closely as possible to the time they will occur, and steps will be taken to provide as much of a solution as feasible. This will again be dependant on the choice of the populace involved. They can choose to listen or choose to ignore the information. This is not a condemnation of their decision. It is but a statement of the inevitably obvious. Everyone chooses to explore their life path at their own speed and in the fashion they prefer. They are to be honored as making the choice that best suits them. Their decisions are not to be criticized or second-guessed, just as yours are not by them. Emotional reactions and preconceptions of judgment will also flare up inevitably.

Your job is to accept the realities that you create for yourself and determine the best way for you to deal with the situations in your own interest. You will find this best involves cooperation and compassionate concern for others who are following a similar path to yours. You are all part of the same soul group and your individual experiences are all becoming part of the mass understanding that is being generated by the interactions occurring.

It is time to begin preparing for compassion and interaction. It is time to being finding your own path and realizing others who are on it with you. It is time to being working together to broaden the circle of your interests and include more and more in your circle. There is an immense amount of knowledge and ingenuity that is available to you. There is a wonderful ability you have to create the solutions you find you need even in the face of adversity.

This will stand you in good stead and will enable you to face the situations that will be occurring. Look at everything with objectivity and with a view to it being yet another lesson for you to grow from. You are immortal masters and nothing will be insurmountable.

Sananda Immanuel of Earth and Nabadon.

Aton speaks on October Surprise

By Jess Anthony
# 3 Oct 18, 2006 - 10:38:00 PM

Journal 10-18-06

Aton, does it come to this? Are the resistors so desperate they will attempt the 10-19 attack? Or is this only an image of fear that we have allow to materialize? Strengthen our focus on the light and the goodness that has come from 10-17. Help us to see what is best for us to do. Let us see our power to create our abundance and eternal joy. I ask for comments this evening.

Jess, my child. I ask for your forgiveness this evening in allowing things to come to this current situation. We are watching events seriously and are in control of every possible situation that could be a target. This is more a threat than an actual disaster in the making. The fear that will be generated will, they feel, tip the support back to them and allow them to complete their rout of the country's finances and well being.

There is no nuclear arsenal that can be used for this type of proposed explosion. The figment of manufactured evidence and assigned blame will create an image and belief in the gullible American public's mind. There are still not yet enough strong convictions to disbelieve this "attack" in any great numbers. There will have to be evidence and proof to sway their opinions.

If it comes to that, there will be proof. We will intervene to whatever extent necessary to prevent martial law from being declared. We are standing by and have forces and weapons ready that will neutralize anything that will be used in this attempt.

Is this not manufacturing a plausible scenario by discussing this?

The energy for this event has already been set in motion. We have to do what we can to neutralize the results. We can substitute our own reality for the one that has been created. This is something you are learning to do yourself. You are able to create your own scenarios with the abundance and the foreknowledge you need to follow your pathway to your purpose.

The time of abundance and eternal joy has come. We are just allowing the events set in motion to come to their conclusions with as little negative effect as possible. We can mitigate the circumstances to an extent, just as you can yourselves. You determine what is fixed in your life. If you are determined to have war, by way of your mass consciousness, then you will have one. There was enough raised intention yesterday to counterbalance that, but you must continue to believe your positive thoughts for the future. You must not fall back into negative predictions or allow others to determine what your life is to be.

We see that whatever happens tomorrow will be a final lesson and example that will turn the tide of opinion against the fraudulent stories that have propped up a flawed and abusive cabal of elite interests. This will be a test case and a clear example of the depth of depravity that is possible. It will be public, and it will show the truth of what is going on.

Take my assurance that it will not destroy the change that you have set in motion after your meditation and personal cleaning yesterday. A great corps of you has moved into a new, higher range of energy vibration—one you had know at one time but had forgotten. Be awake and see more each day.

I am Aton, Creator of Nebadon and the Christed Michael of this Universe.

Monjoronson comments on upcoming change

By Jess Anthony
# 4 Oct 24, 2006 - 9:39:00 AM

Journal 10-24-06

Monjoronson, I feel that this is an evening I should ask for comments from you. I follow your comments and appearances, and I anticipate a remarkable re-shaping of Earth's intentions and behaviors. I ask for your perspective on the present time, and I hope to know my role in this movement. Speak to me on truth and awareness.

Jess, let's speak of things this evening. There are many misalignments that are still occurring that we hope to straighten and correct as a means of preparing Mother Earth—Urantia—to move into the next phase of her ascension and evolution. Much is centering on the political shenanigans of the few and the relentlessly hopeless. They haven't a clue that they will be taken out of the picture and removed from their present situation. Their obstinacies and their paucity of caring about their fellow man have consigned them to a fate they have never imagined in their wildest dreams of failure. They will be taken to another world—a situation that is forlorn and lacking in everything they think now they must have. This will be a shock to them and a revelation at some point in their continued process of working through their 3rd dimensional existence.

This will happen soon. We are preparing a message to announce our coming and our intentions. The welcome mat has not been laid before us, and we will enter the field as if we were taking over. This is an unfortunate situation we find ourselves in, because we wanted to create the impression of much great light and love for all mankind. Our plans have been stymied and our intentions have been frustrated.

We will make the best of an uncomfortable situation, however. This shift in thinking that is going on in the world will be a tide of good feelings sweeping over all who are dissatisfied at some level. This will engender the beginning of a unified perspective that will allow our plans and mandates to go forward with relative ease and rapidity.

The role you will play in this is one of strength for your fellow men and a voice of new reflections on the current situation you find yourselves in. Your role and ability as an oracle will be of utmost importance as we attempt to teach and instruct many who will still be unable to understand our communications to them. Your ability to hear us will be invaluable for a time to come. This ability to understand will place you in the enviable position of being a liaison for us and many of our followers. Many will wish they had your facility. It is up to you to begin teaching them how you developed this practice.

I know these things because I am unified with your thoughts and intentions. Let me steer you in the direction you should go for the most practical benefits.

That is all this evening.

Monjoronson, Magisterial Mission Coordinator.

Christ Michael addresses upcoming changes

By Jess Anthony
5 Oct 28, 2006 - 5:14:00 PM

Journal 10-28-06

Christ Michael Aton I ask for comments today. This is a time of negative reactions reaching the surface. This is a time of disbelief in future events. This is a time of unwillingness to examine another possible way of following one's path. Please speak to these issues. Please assure us of our ability to ascertain our direction and our best situation to examine our path.

Yes, Jess, I hear you and I will speak this afternoon. The information I sent through Candace was difficult to accept, hard to believe. This is because people in America are predisposed to a quick fix and a happy ending. This is a fiction that has been foisted upon you by the church and by Hollywood, in a sense. This illusion of simple resolution has been a weak link in the chain we have needed to form to enact the next phases of reclamation and ascension. Earth must be restored to its pristine condition. Man is part of Earth. His spirit and energy are not separate commodities. His quick decisions and supposed wants are not a priority. They are built upon thoughts that have been nurtured for centuries of acculturated inbreeding and dumbing down in intellectual pursuits. People don't think they are able to rise above the given and their thoughts and visions are predicated upon the limited baggage they have been taught.

Let's speak more of the coming events and the role the lightworkers will play in them. Mother Earth—GAIA, to use that name—is healing her distorted visage and regenerating her depleted energy. She has given much to man because she has wanted to preserve his ability to survive. This has cost her much and has almost caused her to sacrifice her current existence. Think about that when you bemoan your present circumstances. Earth almost died for you. And you have been a very uncaring recipient of her unlimited bounty. She has cried out to us in her last moments, and we have determined to allow her to come back to life and resume her path of ascendancy. This is tied in with all who inhabit her body. Just as you derive your energy in part from her, so does she derive her sustenance and nourishment from you and your actions. Again you have taken much more than you have given back. This is now changing. Her parameters are once again determining yours to the extent that your survival is now dependant upon her, and upon her method of achieving this.

Whatever we determine is the best course of action for her is what will happen. This involves reshaping her form and reconstituting her etheric bodies by changing the electronic grid that constitutes her firmament and her magnetic polarity. Just as you feel a sense of calm and peace when you mediate and force your physical body to realign its chemical processes into one of stillness and fluid interchange, so must Mother Earth move into a new form of stillness and peace.

This will involve physical reshaping as well as electrical. It's rather like Mother Earth is a guest on Nip/Tuck and having her surface made beautiful with the removal of excess skin and unsightly growths. Sunken surface features will be returned to achieve a global balance of energy. Global proportions will be shifted to allow a more perfect vehicle for her purpose. The ozone will be removed to allow the new absorption of photon energies. Her firmaments will be restored to allow the energy to be distributed and balanced again. This is a complicated process that must be accomplished quickly. This has been postponed much longer than was advisable when considering a smooth transition.

However, we of the galactic forces are perfectly capable of helping her achieve her goals. Man is a consideration in drawing up the game plan that must be carried out, but he is not the priority. My energy is distributed just as freely to the rocks and plants as it is to the lightworkers. Particularly those with vested interests who don't want to listen to my larger scheme of evolution and ascension. Earth will ascend into a planet of light and life and the inhabitants who have agreed to work to that end will be part of this change. Inhabitants who have not determined this upheaval to be part of their evolutionary plan will not be a part of it. I don't kill people at a whim and I don't cause disasters as punishment. Everything that happens is for a reason and everyone that experiences that situation does so for the purpose of learning and deriving new information we all can use. Every one individual is unique, and the experiences and perspectives of each have their own uniqueness. The information each person contributes to the vastness of knowing is his or her own contribution.

The information Candace gave that was provided by Monjoronson and by me is correct. You may accept it or not. It is your decision. I ask you to examine always why you make a decision and see why you have determined your choice. That is how you grow and how you follow your path more clearly each day. Everyone has their own path, and that path leads them wherever they realize they must go to participate in the scenarios they need to learn from. There is not one happy ending for everyone, in the Hollywood sense. There is the assurance that you wouldn't be on Earth at this time unless you weren't contributing a major piece of your energy to affecting the outcome of what has been determined to be by heaven and the Creator Source through me, Aton of Nebadon.

That is my comment for this afternoon. Post as you wish and determine to be most proper.

Sananda comments on Tuesday Elections

By Jess Anthony
# 6 Nov 8, 2006 - 9:34:00 AM

Journal 11-8-06

Sananda, I ask for your comments this evening. I ask for guidance and clarity on what has happened and what is taking place as a result. I sense an awakening and a conviction for change. I look at the circumstances as mired in preconceptions and blind unthinking, but I see the spark of new determination catching fire despite the programmed reality. Speak on these events. Speak on our role and of my part in it. I ask for insight and strength.

Sananda, are you further away?

Yes. I am speaking from a higher plane of observation than usually. This is clearing up your connection so that you can hear me more distinctly.

This is a time of joy and rejoicing on Earth. The people have spoken their convictions and made the choices they could see to make to voice those convictions. The reality of the election is, of course, the continuation of a scenario that is corrupt and controlled by outside factions that have no desire to concern themselves with truth or fair elections or generosity of spirit. The depth of the depravity is clearly seen by anyone who looks with diligence. However, the depth of this depravity is unseen by the majority of lightworkers who are just now beginning to wake up.

This election was a step towards their true awakening and their realization that their lives are controlled and manipulated by forces beyond the pale of goodness and concern for their well-being. The controlling powers have grown complacent and are due for a complete revelation and reversal of their manipulation of the general populace.

This revelation is multi-layered with many realities that seek resolution and remedy. There is no one method of dealing with changing these many realities. Each must be addressed by its own counteraction. Each much have the right people involved in changing its focus. The political disgust of many is balanced by the belief of others in hope and conviction. The cynicism of many with the reality of the outcome is factored by the belief in change and a new way of thinking.

All of these scenarios are operating at the same time, and each is a version of reality that is playing out. People are connecting with the energy of the reality that speaks to them. The fact that they are connecting is the crucial feature. The outcome of their actions is only a step along their individual path towards their purpose. But the use of their energy to create a passageway is the beginning of their ability to be conscious creators themselves. They are beginning to operate as light workers and see their truer place in the merged existence that is happening on Earth.

The Democrats are not the solution many assume. They are tainted with much the same greed and service mentality as the Republicans they have replaced. They will not be accountable for the change happening without the forceful prodding of their electors. The government is a representative form of decision making. The government officials represent the wishes of their voters. Too long this has been ignored and overlooked. The conviction that should come from the election is a manifestation of their link with the spark of the Creator Source.

I am confident the shift will continue and more people will awaken to the changes that have taken place as of [Tuesday's] election. Wait and see the results and hold their feet to the fire. Use the legislators as extensions of your own vision for change. Create ideas and set them in motion through your elected officials. That is your gift for living in a free society. You must begin to recognize that and act upon it.

Sananda Esu Immanuel.

Journal 11-13-06 and 11-14-06

Aton, I ask for commentary this evening, if you feel it is appropriate for me to express. I suddenly feel like I've been withdrawn and not participating to the best of my abilities. I ask for assurance if it is warranted, and I ask for understanding and clarity. I foresee difficulties ahead. I wish I have could have comforting words that the days to come will be less stressful and chaotic than what is happening now. I ask for intervention to the extent you will, and I ask for the wisdom to accept our role in this time of upheaval.

Jess, this is a complicated message and you are not at the best openness to receive it. I think it will be better if we wait until tomorrow and see what transpires. There are many things I want to relate through you. That is a function you are primed to perform.

Until tomorrow.

Aton. Christ Michael of Nebadon.

11-14-06

Shall we try again today?

Welcome home, Jess. This is a much better evening for conversation. Which is what our dialogues are, you know. You don't say much to me, but I know your thoughts before you speak them, and we carry on conversations nonetheless. The paragraphs you write for me are my thoughts framed by your conceptions and interests. I use these interests as a springboard to speak to various issues that others may also wish to hear about. That is the value of what you write. You are a very neutral receiver, and you allow me to speak with little bias on your part.

These times you speak of are troublesome and unpredictable. The dark, as you call it, is primed for a last gasp stand off with us/me, and our best efforts to convince them otherwise are to no avail. This will come down to a show down, I'm afraid. You ask me why this has to happen since I am God Creator of this Universe. It is because I gave you the opportunity to create this resistance to my will. This is a grand experiment on so many levels you still can't comprehend. The dark was allowed to take over because I wanted to see how you would learn to cope with it. It had never happened before in this type of scenario, and I convinced you all to come here to battle against this reversal of my original intentions.

That is a dichotomy in itself. My intention was not to have the dark take over, but once it did, I felt that the future of creation would be better served by allowing you to figure out how to deal with this threat. There are no more Creator Sons being created, as I have said to Candace more than once, and it is my plan to have the best Ascending Sons train here to become worthy new Creator Sons of the new Universes being formed.

You all are exceeding my expectations. The galaxies throughout the multiverses are paying close attention to your struggles and your successes. You are learning about situations that are unique, and your solutions are providing vast new archives of information that others can use in similar situations if something of this magnitude happens again. It is unlikely that anything similar will every take place again, however, because you have explored the parameters in this situation with such depth that there is not much more to be learned from it. That is why I say you are wonderful Ascending Sons. You have dealt with a particularly troublesome issue and come through the dark with patience and insight. Patience gives you breadth of thought, and insight comes from thinking broadly.

You ask what is to happen. We honestly don't know for sure. We are prepared for the worst that may come. There again we can't prevent it from beginning. The scenario has been prepared already, and we are powerless to interrupt the flow it is following. You say why not? We are all parts of the same energy. The manifestations you view as reality are only a vision you have individually to interpret what you are linked to. Your energy is connected to the energy you view as a separate physical entity. It is not separate, and it is only physical appearing because you require it to be so to understand your existence in this dimension.

An attack could happen. It could also not materialize if enough people have the intention that such behavior is not fitting to their vision of what is happening. The mass consciousness you read about is a looser string of similar convictions that come together and operate as a unit of similar perceptions. The edges of the energy blur, so to speak, and the closely related idea streams merge and function as a unit. This is the same concept as sexual merging. Energy is energy, and it joins like energy to become one. The physical scenarios you all have to describe show that the contexts for the energy merging are not the actual exchanges.

What should you do at this time of uncertainty? Act as if you are certain. Act as if you are not in fear of what the dark decides to do. Act sensibly, but bravely. You have much you can do to help others. Mother Earth is going ahead with her letting loose. She has withheld her changes for almost too long to help you all get to the point you have reached. Now that you are home again with us, she is free to change as she sees fit. Once again I tell you that these changes are such that the geography of the Earth will change. There is no way the physical embodiment of Mother Earth's consciousness can continue the way it is when she herself is bursting through to a new awareness and understanding of her role in the ascension process. She has determined to take you with her, and this in itself is a remarkable decision for her to make. She is being as careful as she can to preserve your comfort zones and the places you are drawn to for your own work.

This is enough for this evening. Let the others read these words and publish them at your will.

Update from St. Germain

By Jess Anthony
8 Nov 22, 2006 - 6:14:00 PM

Journal 11-22-06

St. Germain, I come to you today and ask for an update. I ask for confirmation of other reports and I ask you to explain what steps are planned once the change is underway publicly. What will happen timewise in terms of the funding? In what order are things to occur? I ask only for what is safe to explain at this point, but I feel the urgency of beginning to organize more clearly. I ask also for future directions you expect for the US and for global considerations. What a wonderful time to be involved, isn't it?

Jess, my boy. This is indeed a time of wonderful celebrating and amazing occurrences! The old has been packaged up and done away with, to all intents and purposes. The new paradigm is beginning as soon as we can mop up a few remaining trouble spots. These include your present ineffective government and your dictatorial wanna-bes. This is just about ready to collapse under its own steam power. (This is to show you that it is more antiquated than the illusion provided by the diesel engine and its temporary source of petroleum based fuel.) The new energy will be one of clean air and a never-ending supply that comes from the Universe itself.

Let's speak of the timeline you requested. The government agents have their backs up against the proverbial wall, and they will be capitulating soon—in the next week, if all goes well. This is contingent on a number of factors:

- 1) The money must in place in the banks to force their hand. This is proceeding at the desired pace, finally. The certificates we speak of will allow the banks to begin authorizing recipients to start the process of obtaining their prosperity and farming funds. This will allow a notification, but will be carried out with the stipulation that no money be withdrawn until the government is brought down and the fiscal stranglehold broken. Sit still with your validation until we say move.
- 2) The governments must all agree with the fiscal system that will begin as soon as the control is given over to the temporary officials who will begin coordinating the process for transition. This will involve removing the inflation that has been instigated by the Federal Reserve and bolstered by the actions of certain individuals in certain key banking institutions. These will be removed and the system purged of its self-gratifying elements.
- 3) The government officials will be removed in a legal way that satisfies all the conditions that Federal and International Laws proscribe. This will be done with as little resistance as possible. The reasons for their removal will be clearly evident, and the officials will have no recourse but to go or be dismissed. The replacement officials are all in place and awaiting their call to take up their service to their countries. This will happen in more places than the United States, although the hotbed of activity will be located here. This is a joke that indicates the heat they are feeling at the present.

4) The geophysical events will continue on the timetable they have been scheduled. Mother Earth is ever gracious and is allowing, still, her necessary changes to be as accommodating as possible to her inhabitants. The predictions have become uncertain events. Much has been changed or modified to lessen the intensity. The geophysical team is constantly observing the climate and thermal conditions, and they are helping to channel the stress into less disastrous scenarios. That doesn't mean there won't be earthquakes and tidal waves that accompany the rising of new land masses. This reconfiguration is necessary to allow Mother Earth to assume her true shape and reconnect with the energy grid she needs to continue her ascension. Man will go with her if it is his desire. He will change as she is changing. This will be timed to the best global accommodation possible. Many current inhabitants will decide to leave and continue their journey to Creator Source elsewhere or in another dimension than what will be occurring on Earth. This is not a catastrophe that is imposed on Earth. This is a natural event that will be coordinated through conscious choice and individual evaluation on the soul level. The emotional reactions common to 3rd dimensional fear and man's need for reassurance from others will not be a factor. The awareness of people on Earth will understand the roles that everyone will play in this reconfiguration scenario.

First Contact, so to speak, and the Second Coming event will take place in a fashion that is best for the understanding of the whole population of the globe. It will be timed to occur as an underscoring of the move to install the people's will in their lives. The conviction of the populace was expressed in the election, and the results of this voting must be allowed to create the visions that inspired its selection. These events will be coming as soon as the government is replaced—which also will be soon. Patience is a virtue, to quote that old adage. This all will take place at the most opportune time for all concerned. Many factors have to be considered and determined that impact on the outcome's success. Most have been met, but not all.

The concepts of First Contact and Second Coming are the results of the vision of people on Earth. Their religious teachings and expectations have made these dramas necessary. There is no other way of establishing public acceptance of these revolutionary events. The mind seeks an apparition and a visible display of power and authority. This has not changed enough to preclude this show. So be it. It will be a grand celebration the likes of which Earth has not seen. The immense feelings of belief and conviction that will occur will be yet another brick in the foundation of Universal Law being constructed.

As we have said to others, look to the skies. The time is nigh and the party is ready to begin. Be assured it is outside your door and anxious to come in and start the festivities.

Blessings on you today, Jess

Your friend, St. Germain

Sananda on Decision for Changes

By Jess Anthony
# 9 Dec 3, 2006 - 12:49:00 PM

Journal 12-3-06

Sananda, I would like for comments today. Where are we, and what is about to happen? What a blessed time we are moving into.

Jess, good morning. Let's speak to some of the issues you raised.

The political changes are ready to begin. Why don't they, you ask? The timing is not yet right. The release of the money is contingent on the readiness of the players to remove the government. This means that the complicated scenario for removal must be in place completely in parallel with the distribution of the packets for certification of transfer of money and the preparation of the system for notifying all the recipients. The money has to be in place at the same time as the readiness of the coup participants to move. This is a scheme that is strung out and positioned all over the world. There are international facets of this scenario that must be synchronized and coordinated. You saw the detail that would be connected with Lauren being a coordinator for the flyover. This scenario connected with the announcement is tenfold more complicated and intricate. You really can't conceive the intricacies that must be dealt with to put this all in motion. It is more than just an announcement that money is available and a new government will take over. There has to be the stability to back up the announced words and the maneuvers that will bring this all into play.

The idea is to have this completed by Christmas. Yes, I know this is now turning into another year of preparation and delay. But changes are taking place on levels and dimensions you don't see. Your visible evidence is unfortunately for you the last piece of the puzzle the must be placed in position. Your waiting and anticipation is stretched beyond what your current preconceptions are easily able to accept or tolerate. You must be being to flow with the changes that are taking place around you and assume the steps are being taken to implement the final procedures necessary to install the new regime that is open to working with us. They are just about ready to materialize in your public perception. Again I can give you no firm date. This is all Michael's decision. We are all Michael's decision. The immensity of that idea gives you the scope of the details of this undertaking here on Earth.

The changes you seek are ready to manifest. Yes, the stage is set for it all to happen. It could be this week or next. It just depends on Michael's determination of absolute readiness. We wait his signal to begin our part of the event. Meanwhile, we are all working on laying the groundwork for the activities that will start once the announcement is made. We must be ready and in place so that there is a continuity that bolsters and augments the revolution in thinking that will be started with the official announcements of fiscal change and governmental renewal. It's a two-pronged maneuver, and both have to be ready so each can take place.

Sananda Esu. That is enough for today. Enough is enough, don't you think?

Lord Siraya on Love and Change

By Jess Anthony
# 10 Dec 6, 2006 - 7:23:00 AM

Journal 12-5-06

Lord Siraya, I ask for you to speak to me this evening. Speak to me of your name and your position. I ask for an overview of the events associated with now in our minds. I ask for insight into my situation now in life and I ask for clarity as to its meaning. I ask for the understanding you can give me in this moment.

Jess, I will speak to you this evening. This is Lord Siraya, as you call me. Others call me Surea or Melchizadek. I am part of those and part of the Lord Siraya you seek. I am a force of energy that is part of a stream of energy that flows from the Creator Source, as you call him. I am a part of the thought of the Creator Source that evokes emotions and feelings on Earth. I am part of the great stream of love that flows throughout the Creation of Nebadon.

There is a current of love that flows beneath the visible apparatus of normally approved/expected interaction. This unifying element is the source of the Creator Source that Christ Michael, as you call him, brings to the elements of his vast creation as Father God of Nebadon. He wouldn't have been able to move the elements of the Universe into his vision without the link to the love of the Creator that he transmitted to his creation.

This connection to the love of the Universe is also your connection directly with the Creator Source. It passes through Michael, but is a pure and distinct expression from each of you and for each of you. How you recognize this and how you choose to use this link is your paradigm in each life you choose to live. This love is the definition of your being, and the interpretation of each individual expression of parts of your soul's aspects.

This explanation puts the whole paradigm of the Earth changes and the expected remedies and solutions offered by the NESARA law into a different perspective. As presented and as expected, the NESARA adventure is a cap to your current dimensional expectations. There will have to be an event because you have created one as a result of your preconditioning. You have set this in motion. Those who say you have not are speaking in error and from the perspective of a less than Universal viewpoint. The Universe of Nebadon is quite small in the course of things, but it holds the jewel of the Earth, Mother Gaia, or Urantia, as some call her. This is a precious commodity among many from other galaxies and solar systems.

The timetable is as you have surmised. Certain results have to be achieved before you launch an attack to change the status quo. The steps of the activities are the key to success. They must happen globally to achieve the planned results. Be not afraid at this time. Go about your work as if the change has been affected. It is here but, even as we write, it is not completely in place as to the concluding steps.

The timetable will be Michael's and the steps will be taken in time for the parallel events in the galaxy to be connected spiritually and energetically. It will be shown as man expects it to look. Man is the determinant of the changes in his life stream. But our influence has also helped him reach the decisions that are most in keeping with the planes of much higher awareness and spiritual purpose.

Lord Siraya. Stream of the Creator Source at work in Orvonton.

Christ Michael Comments on Delay

By Jess Anthony

# 11 Dec 10, 2006 - 11:20:00 PM

Journal 12-10-06

Christ Michael, I ask for information and assurance. If what I read is an indication of the difficulties, I can understand the magnitude of the situation involved in shifting our thinking and awareness. Yet, the delay has now been almost another year. I believe change is here, but are there signs of its certainty we can see? I ask for understanding and clarity in seeing the direction I should go in these times. Speak to these issues, if you will.

Jess, yes I can speak with you this evening. This situation is difficult as you intimated. The resolution of centuries of karma and misassumptions has produced a field of negative energy that is a daunting task to surmount successfully. This involves many levels of lightworkers on many different dimensions—not just here on Earth in your visible 3rd Dimensional reality as it merges into 4th Dimension. They all have tasks to do within the greater task of moving Earth back to the radiance of light it forsook long ago.

This has been successfully accomplished on many levels and is on the cusp of happening here in your present visible perception of reality. It is already in place, just not the evidence you have always looked for to prove the definiteness of your perceptions. When will this be, you ask again? This is contingent on the money being completely delivered, as we have indicated. Why is that you ask? The banking system at present, in all its complexity, is still controlled by a handful of players involved with the resistance your present government is maintaining until the very last minute. Part of these players is in the American government, and part is involved with the separate banking stratum that makes up a layer of British decision making. These players are the ones most influencing the flow of the vast amounts of currency that will be needed to circumvent the illusions provided by your Treasury Department and the Bank of England. If one cog in the wheel does not turn as it should and must, then the whole scenario connected to the transfer of the funds comes to a halt. This causes the money to lie in one place with no continuous flow of transfer

How does this affect the decisions by the government, in terms of control and resignation? As long as they can argue they are in control of the banking system's apparatus for moving funds, then they have no inducement to resign. Even though they sense the overwhelming sentiment the public has for their leaving. They still feel they are in control, even though the world is against them and their opinions of themselves.

Why don't they take over and force the money changes, you ask? The military is reluctant to remove its commander in chief, even though they too support the transition to a more willing leader. The fear of change is endemic in Washington D.C., although rational minds can envision the benefits. It is a matter of having enough force of outside persuasion on the mental and spiritual levels they rely upon to make their decisions. The mass consciousness you speak of is interlinked with the decision makers, and your growing sentiment for change is the stimulus they need to make the decisions they see will be necessary.

The change is two-pronged, as I told you. One must operate in the face of the other, but they both are necessary to ensure the change takes place in a timely manner. The banks support the continuation; if the banks are not in their control, they have nothing they can dictate to. Their resignation, in itself, would not necessarily prevent the banks from continuing to operate in a programmed manner that would still interfere with the transfer of the prosperity and farm funds even with no one telling them to do so.

The Wanta money is the trigger that is exposing the duplicity and the heinous maneuvering that has gone on. Tracking his trillions gives a marker the rest of the world can use to follow the meanderings of the Federal Treasury officials. His trillions resting in the vault at Goldman Sachs have been an enticement too hard to avoid that has led the unscrupulous bankers into making clearly visible illegal actions.

This will change soon. Let me give you some signs to look for our coming. First, look up in the skies. The ships are closer than ever and the lights of the "stars" are clearly visible. The ships are resting in familiar places in the constellation patterns you all know, except their brightness and changing colors are dead give aways they are not stars. Second, look to the fluctuations on the stock market and observe the skyrocketing prices of gold and silver. The banks around the world are dumping their dollars in favor of hard currency in the form of metal backed national funds in their own countries. Third, look at the political shift that is happening. The Republican Congress has begun to leave, after a last gasp omnibus bill that was padded with all kinds of home pork payments. The new politicians coming in have better ideas, although they are not completely free from tainting by the political action committees and lobbyist for high dollar corporations and institutes. This is a start, and you should insist they carry out the visions you had when you elected them.

These are tangible signs that the country's thinking is changing and the world is supporting this shift. The lightworkers in higher dimensions are drawing closer all the time, and you will soon see them in person. This is still an indefinite time in the future, although the elements for mass disruption and upheaval are all in place, waiting for the one signal that must be provided before the other forces can move. The money has to be delivered to the banks that will be operating the accounts. The certificates verifying their access to the money must be in place before the couriers can notify the prosperity recipients they now have money in the banks that they can begin to use. Once this is in place and the recipients have been notified, it will be time to usher the present government out of office. They will have no other means of forcing others to follow their wishes.

I hope that clarifies the situation. Everything is ready to go, pending the one final step that must be taken. However, that step must be supported, and whoever will be the force contributing the energy necessary to trigger this action has to move. It can be as soon as this is accomplished.

Christ Michael Aton of Nebadon.

Sananda on NESARA and Changes to Come

By Jess Anthony

# 12 Dec 17, 2006 - 1:08:00 PM

Journal 12-17-06

Sananda, I ask for clarity on what is to come. I expect difficulties, but won't we have help dealing with the problems that will be beyond what we can deal with quickly. We read the stories of fantastic abilities and how the higher forces have the means to provide solutions. Am I not correct in assuming our understanding will be broadened exponentially once we a face to face with a revelation of the celestial realities? Is there no legal provision that involves the government? Is this a fairytale of the NESARA law that has been used as a rallying point for the last ten years? Has everything we have been led to believe an illusion that is now removed as we plunge into more chaos than we seem to have had? I am aware of the major problems that will occur, but I ask if our perspective and our intellectual context won't have changed? I ask for assurance and strength and comprehension.

Jess, let's speak freely and convincingly. That was a word I wanted to use specifically in this instance. The multitudes of half truths and misinterpretations that have characterized much of the discussion of the changes to come in the last few years have been a partially good tool and a partially harmful disservice. They have brought the larger number of people to the level of awareness that they can begin to look at the realities with fresh eyes that are their own. There are still tainted preconceptions and expectations that color their awareness, even as you are also blinded to some realities that you will face. You have been floating in a dream world of privileged assumptions and realities that you have created for yourself to accommodate the circumstances of your life. This is not bad. This is an example of the type of co-creation that will be expected of everyone.

The circumstances Candace describes are clear and evident realities. They will happen to some extent and in some fashion. The potential of their occurring is too certain to negate. However, the degree and extent of their happening is contingent upon your—the general public's—reaction to the information once it comes. This is not a negative, although your preconditioning makes it seem one. It will be a method for you all to learn to rise above your initial paralyzing fear and begin to act as a unit for the betterment of mankind.

There will be many here to help you. Yes, that is true. But there has to be the conviction that mankind will be working with them jointly. Collaboration is the key, not dependence. They have amazing skills and knowledge, to your way of thinking, and they will offer it to you with the simple question "How do we do this?" The parameters have to change as you move into a higher dimension of light. Old preconceptions and assumptions have to be transformed. However, this onslaught of the light will be subtle and in increments that are acceptable to your transforming physical being. The body you have is the manifestation of the spiritual blueprint, and the complexity of its make up demands an equally detailed and organic make over. This takes time. It's like laying bricks to build an edifice. The foundation has to be solid before the walls go up. The walls have to be strong before the decorative uniqueness is completed.

Let's speak of what you read and hear. We have spoken of this on earlier occasions, but it is worth repeating that everyone hears at the level of their expectations. The clarity of the messages is couched in the phrases that have determined their thinking. Everyone, including you, hears me, for example, in the patterns you have constructed in your life up to that moment. Your message each time reflects your new level of thinking. Your understanding each time is fuller and more complete within the context of how I am speaking to you.

I speak to you in terms you wish to hear. Rather, you hear me in terms you wish to hear. Everyone is like this. That is why it is paramount that you clean your thoughts before listening for me. Otherwise, I will be even more garbled and colored by your preconceptions and expectations. You have developed the ability to be clear and nonjudgmental, for the most part. You allow the words to come through you and then pass them on or disseminate them without much inference or interpretational overlay. This is useful in allowing us to speak to the many through you. Your words are one of the many vehicles we can take to convey our ideas and wishes to others who as yet cannot hear us.

I don't want to paint a dire picture for you. You will have much to look forward to in terms of joy and release from current situational constraints. You will be able to explore this new direction and find others who can help you formalize this approach more fully. You will have the funds to enable you to create what you are envisioning. You will have the means to achieve these visions. You will have the friends and helpers to work with you in doing this. You ask if this is also formed from your thoughts and expectations. This will come because you have already set the ideas in motion. The energy created by your initial planning is already beginning to have fruit in terms of the results you are seeing and the realizations you are having each day.

We can also speak about the "law." There was an agreement that Congress passed that called for retribution and a redistribution of money that was illegally taken from the farmers. This was the beginning of the story that has become NESARA. The stipulations that everyone lists as part of the "law" are only the guidelines formulated by St. Germain and others to help set this change in motion. The change in the banking system the resolution called for meant a reassessment of the Constitutional assumptions that the country was following. To implement these simple changes would have had a major impact on the current governmental structure. The Congress and the Supreme Court were necessarily reluctant to set this in motion. It would mean a major reassessment of all levels and a change in basic governmental operations. This was quietly shelved and ignored by all but a few who knew about it. These few have continued to work for the initial changes, but the concept has been taken over to become a much grander spiritual and intellectual renewal.

The NESARA formulation has become the outline for implementing the changes necessary for Mother Earth to begin her ascension. Man is part of Earth and has created the manifestations that are part of what must be changed—a redistribution in a much broader way. This ties in also with the changes that are occurring in the galaxy and in the entire Universe of Nebadon. It is all of a piece that would have been revealed in sequential fashion, but for the delays in implementing the changes in this country and on Earth. Now it is time to collapse all of these layers into one extraordinary event. The chaos you face will be in part because of the need to bring Earth online even more quickly. The task now is more daunting and more pressing than it was.

This is where the rose colored glasses have to come off, in a sense, and people have to be clear-sighted sooner than they would have. There is less time to prepare and more work that has to be done. The parameters do keep changing, as you point out. The seriousness of the situation is here and the comfortable transition you and everyone had been led to and encouraged to believe is a harsher reality than we had hoped you would meet.

Reality goes in waves, and, as you remember, twenty years ago we had almost given up on your ability to accomplish what you have so brilliantly. The awareness you have achieved now gives you the ability to be balanced and compassionate in the face of unavoidable events that would have been postponed in other circumstances or dealt with differently. You have created your present reality, but you have also created the ability to withstand what happens and begin to understand it for the lessons it can teach you.

I hope this clarifies and gives you a perspective on the uncertain developments that are manifesting. Your assessment and discernment are what cause you to be balanced and find that inner core of peace and joy. This allows you to connect with others of like mind and begin to create the realities you envision for yourselves.

Sananda speaks on Christmas bestowal

Journal 12-24-06

Sananda, I ask for comments from you on this Eve of your birthday on Earth. I ask for strength and commitment, and I ask for resolution in my efforts to move myself forward. I ask for openness to others and for the respect to allow them to come closer to me. I ask for the secureness in pushing myself beyond comfortable patterns. I ask for you to speak to me for the ability to find your purpose more fully and more clearly.

Jess, I can always speak to you when you ask. It is not a matter of my not being able to. I am always here for you. I am always a voice you can hear speaking in your head and telling you directions you can go.

This is the evening that celebrates my birth on Earth as part of Christ Michael's bestowal. This is a complicated premise you understand only superficially at this point in your understanding. However, this will become clearer to you as we explain more about the purpose and the mechanism of these galactic bestowals. They each gave to Christ Michael a sense of supremacy over certain aspects of his creation. This last one was done to connect him with the most distanced of his creations. The dark's manipulation had taken this jeweled planet of pristine lights and colors into a region where it hardly knew itself anymore.

This bestowal was arranged through the physical guise I manifested in this time around. This physical body was to be a clear and spiritually clean vehicle for the energy that the bestowal son was able to take and be able to use for his humbling purposes. He needed to become man, and he coordinated with me to use the same physical body. I came in with much prepared for his connection, and he found it easier to adapt to my preparations for him. I also used this incarnation for my own purposes, beyond that of Christ Michael's. I was a separate entity with my own agenda that needed the interaction with Christ Michael in physical body to be able to begin the process of becoming the leader you would need eventually to break away from the shackles of the dark and be open to an increased understanding of our place in the cosmos.

My and Christ Michael's "Christmas" story is a familiar one, with a few remnants of truth woven between the incorporation of economic and political ideas for controlling large groups of people more effectively. The time of the year is wrong as celebrated now. The crops were still in the fields at the time of the confinement. The birth was in a house in Bethlehem with servants in attendance and rich, wealth family members standing by to determine the outcome of their fortunes. The safety of the child was deemed paramount, and we traveled first to Egypt, and then settled near the Essene Community near the Dead Sea. There were also other children at this point, and they were our physical family members who have continued to be around today in many thousands of situations.

The shepherds and manger were later changes to the story for preserving the idea of poor parents and humble beginnings. This made the story more attractive to groups of people living in servitude with little choice in their lives. The hope of a similar savior coming to set them free was what became the marketing story that sold the concepts we had formulated based on Universal precepts. The stories I told were well-planned-out discourses based on what I had experienced in other lifetimes.

This is enough for this evening on my supposed birthday. My arrival was the significant factor, and my genealogy is not a crucial issue at this point.

Aton speaks on the future events

By Jess Anthony

# 14 Dec 30, 2006 - 5:53:00 PM

Journal 12-30-06

Aton, I ask for clarification today on comments by Patrick and others. What is the truth on the evacuation of Earth, in your words? What is the timeframe we are facing now in terms of Mother Earth's needs? What can we expect in terms of geophysical upheavals? I don't want to undercut any other's work on these events, but I ask for an outline for publication, if that is allowable. I feel a sense of imminent change at the beginning of this New Year. Help me assimilate these changes and help others to accommodate them.

Jess, I will speak to you this afternoon on these topics you have asked about. There is misunderstanding and misperception of what others have said that I have said. Everyone that hears our messages hears them in the terms they wish to hear. You have been told this before and you recognize the validity of this statement. You hear through the mechanism your brain has constructed throughout your life. Certain brain structures are more adaptable to our communication than others. That is not to say that all cannot be adapted, but that is to say that life and one's experiences of perception have affected some more than others.

Having said this, let me say that your commentaries are clear and accurate representations of what I say through you. You know your limits, and you are clear in your questions and your inquiries of my information to impart to you. This relationship is a more formal one than some, but your lifestyle functions better with this dialogue setup. I can tell you essays that you will use to function more completely. These are then passed on to others to make of them what they will. This is a tool I use to communicate with many of similar mind to your own wavelengths.

I have never said since the days of the Phoenix Journals that Earth would need an evacuation. Your—mankind's—progression in awareness and willingness to accept the light we are shining on you and Earth in ever increasing amounts has made this plan a non-issue at this time. You have proved that you can weather the storms that must inevitably come as Mother Earth Gaia re-shapes herself to make her own guise able to accommodate the changes she eagerly anticipates. Many of the present inhabitants will not be able to go with her. That is true. This is the "decimation" that Monjoronson has been speaking of so clearly and so eloquently in the last few months. Many of the present inhabitants will not be able or willing to adjust to the increasingly higher frequencies of light and energy that are bombarding Earth from your sun and from the Central Sun of your system and Universe. The alignment is occurring on a galactic scale, and the changes that will come from this are incomprehensible to your present understanding. This will be, however, a marvelous and miraculous undertaking that will take Earth with it as the glowing jewel I had always intended her to be. I use the feminine gender because she is the receiver of all the glory and power I wish to send her. She nurtures man and all that is on her. She is the Mother of all that are connected with her.

This timeframe that everyone bandies about is fluid. It is all contingent on how man and all the players in this scenario choose to shape the movement towards the light and life that have been determined to be the outcome. This end result is the outcome that everything is moving towards. There is no one way to get there. There are millions of possible outcomes that can be used as links in the chain of movement towards the final goal of ascension and realization of your true self and complete purpose. You are here on Earth as a test and an experiment to learn much that others will never have the opportunity to learn. This is a unique situation that will be the breeding ground for many new Creator Sons who will in turn shape other Universes to explore their own ideas of relationship with the Creator Source. That was my purpose in creating Nebadon. I wanted to explore the relationship that duality proposes. I wanted to see how beings could be separate from their Source and find their way back. What a wonderful success I have had, although the route here was never mapped out beforehand.

The time now is for closure on the past and a moving into a new phase of your existence. Yet, this shift will not be an instant change. I want to see how you resolve your issues. I want to see how you take our help and create your own methods. I want to see you be co-creators with me. I have created you, and now I want you to learn to create as well. There will be nothing more that I will be able to guide you to. This may take what seems an infinitely long time to you, but it will be only a minute in eternity.

The method we will use is this: there will be an announcement soon. The banking debacle is almost resolved. It can go no further. There are no more alternatives. The government changes are in place and ready to go once the existing government relinquishes its ill-gotten grasp on control. This scenario has been complicated beyond your wildest imagining, and the results we now have accomplished have been global and complete. The NESARA idea has become the game plan for the re-structuring of the world. The first has become last, because of the delays they have contrived, and America will emerge from its dream of unawareness as the last step in the process.

Once this is accomplished, the door will open to the galaxy. Visitors from everywhere will come to see what has happened and offer their help in making the changes that must occur on the physical planet. The plates must stabilize, and volcanic eruptions will take place. We see no purpose at this point in delaying this occurrence. Earth must adjust herself in the way she can. She has accommodated man longer than she had a right to, and now man must accommodate her. We will do whatever we can to ameliorate these major upheavals, but there is no way to prevent them. There will be a time of chaos and disaster to your way of thinking before the way is clear for true ascension to light and love. We will warn you of these events, but there will be many who disregard our warnings. Many will choose to leave Earth. Many will choose to stay to help. This is all determined by your individual life path. I will stress, however, that those who choose to stay will find ways to do so, and the rewards they find will be an accurate compensation for their decision to invest their life purpose in this unfolding.

Let me say a little more directly to those reading this that I am making comments here that are general and addressed to a wide audience. Each person reading this has their own interpretation and resonance with the words Jess has recorded. They speak to him because they are coming through him. They will speak to you as you are willing to accommodate what he says within the parameters of your own individual perceptions and life experience. There is truth for you in whatever you determine for your own understanding. You must discern your own purpose and make your own decisions.

This is my pronouncement this afternoon as the year 2006 draws to an end.

Aton, Creator Son of Nebadon.

Christ Michael speaks 1-13-07

By Jess Anthony
# 15 Jan 13, 2007 - 11:28:00 PM

Journal 1-13-06

Christ Michael, I ask for words from you this evening, if you can speak with me. I ask for strength and insight into the events that seem to be happening. I ask for comments I can pass on, if you have things you want to tell us at this point. I wait with anticipation and excitement and curiosity as to what will be the direction. Speak with me today, if the time is right.

Jess, I will speak with you this evening. This is a time unlike no others in the history of your planet. This is the beginning of the changes we have been working to set in place these last twenty years. We have constructed a global scenario that will encumber all the millions of inhabitants that will decide to be involved with it. This is the scenario for change and for the revitalization of Mother Earth.

This has not come without a major price for you to pay in terms of your comfort and your necessities of existence. I wish there were some other way this could have taken place, but it was necessary in the stream of energy that you as a civilization have allowed to manifest. This is to your way of thinking a disgrace and an unnecessary waste of resources and time. This has taken much longer than we initially anticipated. We didn't foresee the intensity of the resistance, nor did we imagine the depth of intrigue the resistors would undertake to prevent our peaceful transition.

You may find that an unexpected statement. How can God to your way of thinking not know everything that is happening and be able to prevent anything he chooses? I am your Creator, but I gave you the free will to make your own decisions and your own choices as to which path you will take to pursue your vision. I am pleased to enjoy your exploration and your discoveries. You are living your own unique set of circumstances, and I am learning from your adventures. I say that because I am part of you. I am part of all, and the experiences you have are also my experiences. The process of life is an ongoing adventure, and each individual has his or her own set of parameters that define them as an individual. The experiences you each have are uniquely yours. No one else has had them in such a way as you are experiencing them. This is why I say you are learning with me and for me. You are experiencing a most unique set of living conditions on Earth, and I am thrilled beyond measure at your ability to deal with the circumstances that present themselves to you.

What is happening, you ask again. There will be an announcement soon. This next week is the tentative time we are considering. I will not say anything more definitely to you. The parameters are almost all in place. The money is being controlled finally. The administration has decided to give in to our nonnegotiable demands. You ask why this has taken so long. For a variety of reasons. The entities that have inhabited the bodies of the public personae are resistant to our entreaties because they have no way of connecting with our intent. They do not feel the reluctance or the compassion you do. They are operating in an artificial mode that is difficult to stop or countermand. It is difficult for us to anticipate what they will do beyond a determination of what they have done previously. There is no guarantee they will act in a recurring pattern, although they have a fixed notion they are acting upon. They adapt to the daily and hourly changing circumstances and present a constantly changing scenario of possible action. This is difficult to anticipate and prevent.

The entities' makers have now abdicated their control, and they are winding down even as we speak. There will be little time they have left to continue to operate in the fashion they have been. There is now no way for them to be renewed or recharged. This is much like the Energizer bunny with the battery running down.

Now is the time for you all to begin your desires for immediate action. The power of your intent is what will cause the shift in vacillators who have still not determined which way to go. Look at the new that has been revealed. Look at the detail you now see concerning the banking fiasco. Look at the stupidity that the blind administration has worked with the lead the military to the brink of a disaster even more heinous than experienced previously. You have the evidence. Make your determinations and your decision to support what we are now undertaking. The time is here. You must be willing to step forward with us. This is easy to envision in a projected scenario. It is harder to actualize once the actions begin to be public. Stay balanced and compassionate. Do not criticize or find fault. Everything has led to this point. Everything you have done has played your role in this drama that is unfolding. You each have fulfilled your game plan up to this point. You can, of course, continue to examine your actions and see if you can do more to achieve your own goals and purpose. That is your task here. You have come to actualize your purpose, and you have made the choices that have led you to the place you are now. This is not something to criticize or judge of any other. You don't know what their path has been, nor do you know what their seemingly offensive actions have led you to do for yourself that you would not have been motivated previously to do.

Wait for the call and the announcement. It is soon. The action has begun. The long wait is almost over.

Update from Christ Michael Aton

By Jess Anthony

# 16 Feb 11, 2007 - 11:54:00 AM

Journal 2-11-07

Christ Michael Aton, I ask for information. Events are moving fast, it seems, and we stand by and don't see the significance of what is happening. I ask for clarity and understanding of the sequence. I ask for an awareness of what to expect and when. I ask for strength and connection.

Jess, it is time for an update. Many things are happening globally and in your country, the United States of America. This is an intentional reference to the official name for this country. It was not unintentional that Horst reposted Candace's memo on the re-discovery of the true 13th Amendment to the Constitution. It is for the benefit of people in this country to realize that much of the legislation and most of the elected officials are ineligible to function in that capacity. The country was founded to serve the interests of the populace, not vice versa. The people are not the pawns of the ruling elite, nor are they the subject of the European aristocracy. The 13th Amendment that was truly ratified makes that clear. The best information on the true 13th Amendment is at [www.amendment-13.org/]

The fiscal debacle is upon us. We have reached the limit of what is possible in terms of manipulation and subterfuge in the offices of the elected officials. The true extent of their lying and double dealing for their own purposes is now clearly manifest. Fiscal advisers from all countries around the world are aware of the clear self-interest and irresponsible governance of this handful of dark leadership. This has been promoted for the self-interest of a few at the expense of the vast majority of the world's citizens. Enough is enough in that regard. Enough is too much, in fact.

The military offensives that are proposed will not happen. They have no purpose beyond the self-aggrandizement of the few that are proposing these maneuvers. The cost in lives and money will not be paid. The debacle that is Iraq will also be terminated soon. The Iraqi people can reasonably solve their own governance problems without the interference of outside advisers with their own agendas. The idea of regional government that looks out for its peoples' own best interests is a novel concept these days, although it has always been the ideal at the root of a democratic republic. The regional consensus becomes the mandate for larger consortia of representatives—not the other way around. This, of course, is part of the ideal espoused by the original NESARA concept. This concept has become a much larger global idea that now pervades the blueprint for the Second Coming and its sequence of changes that will occur. NESARA could be renamed Global Economic Security and Reclamation Action to reflect this shift. This is not a mandate, only a suggestion.

The timeline is upon us and we are moving ahead with steady progress despite what the news media portrays. Look between the lines and behind the pictures and see what is truly happening. Look at the world in global terms, not territorially, and see how actions and comments are increasingly reflective of a unified interest in helping others by protecting them from unwarranted control. Everyone has their own personal agenda, of course, but more and more are speaking for the benefit of the mass of people they represent. We are making great strides in awakening the thinking of many.

Look to events happening this spring. Preparations are underway for the domino effect to begin. We have said this before, I realize, and the scenario seems much like the one of the boy crying "wolf." Time is fluid in our perspective and we are truly measuring its progress in terms of completion of goals, rather than in ticked off minutes and hours determined by an artificial system of measurement. The potential for completion is ever there, but the components used change constantly as your input determines a new field of energy. We are ever accommodating the changes with the concern of completion of the events we have determined will take place. The completion of these events is determined by greater global and Universal factors that are out of your control. We have declared a progression beyond the current level of duality and unawareness that involves you on Earth but is not caused by you on Earth. Earth's decisions play a part in the complexity of Universal change that is happening, though, much as your individual and mass decisions play an ever-changing part in the determination of Earth evolution.

I stand ready to greet you publicly again. My ministers and Sananda Immanuel will be my initial representatives, and Monjoronson will be the determinant of the extent of change. Look to the skies for our arrival, and look to your television screens for our announcement.

This is all for this morning, Jess

Esu comments on Imminent Annoucement

By Esu - Jess Anthony
# 17 Mar 18, 2007 - 4:06:00 PM

Journal 3-18-07

Esu, I ask for an update and for comments to me. We all are wondering what is happening. Is there something I can pass on to others?

Yes, Jess, I am speaking from my ship the Capricorn. We are in control of our forces on the ground and discussions are forthcoming and ongoing. The dark forces have determined that resistance is futile. This does not mean everything is settled in terms of negotiating the transfer of power. The details are not completely satisfactory to everyone involved. Christ Michael is compassionate with all –even with those who have continually turned against his wishes. Infinite patience, but within timeframes that overlap and are ongoing in realms that are beyond your immediate contact. This process of change is like a mechanism in a clock. Each gear and piece works with all the others but some minor cog can disrupt the actions of the larger ones. This is, in effect, what keeps happening. There are not values assigned to the different cogs, but some have more significant work to perform in the entire gear mechanism. The action of the whole is finally dependant on the performance of each participant.

To carry this image further, the cogs that are not working are usually corroded or stuck in their position by overuse. The repetition has caused them to become frayed or loose in their connection. They must be cleaned and refreshed to function fully again in the operation of the whole. Their role is providing the sticking point, and because their operation is unpredictable, they break down at the least expected time.

The clock that is the Universe of Nebadon is now ticking again. The cogs that were faulty have either been replaced or they have been renewed and continue to operate. They are meshing once again with the clockwork pattern. Christ Michael is pleased with the way they are functioning again. All that remains is to put the back on the outer case and present it to the public as a watch that is ticking again to mark the time you have chosen to measure.

I will say that the negotiations are almost completed. The announcement is imminent. I look forward to being able to connect with you and begin working together for the betterment of my assigned planet.

Esu, your friend and brother.

Aton Christ Michael on Intent

By Aton Christ Michael - Jess Anthony
# 18 Mar 22, 2007 - 6:20:00 PM

Journal 3-22-07

Christ Michael Aton, I ask for comments from you. I have not addressed you directly in some time, but I feel this may be appropriate now. Where do we stand in this tipping? Was there a window? Were the decisions that occurred contributory? Thanks you for speaking to us through me today.

Jess, I will speak with you now, this afternoon. This has been a day of upheaval and one of trying to wrest control. The powers that hold the upper hand have indeed loosened their grip significantly. They still maintain control legislatively, in terms of their ability to stem the flow of bills and pass legislation that is watered down from its most effective state. However, the support for this faction is wavering, and new ideas and new speakers and representatives are ready to seize control from them. This is the tipping point we referred to in the message to Lauren and in other messages we have sent to you about intent.

Intent is a powerful word. This means a directed idea that is co-creating the reality that manifests itself in actions and in physical appearances. The notion of shifting the idea of the country is paramount for the changes to begin happening in the 3rd dimensional notions that still pervade your 4th dimensional energy concepts. You have preconceptions that still influence your decisions and color your range of expectations. You don't see the full possibilities because you won't allow yourself yet. Open your eyes further. Each time something happens that reveals some unexpected facet, you have further awakening.

I will say that change is inevitable. I have determined that now is the time for it to happen throughout the Universe, and the events in Nebadon are connected to and contingent in some ways on what happens on Earth. The events you see unfolding before you are the sequence of steps that must be taken to prepare the way for the unfolding to occur. This is occurring as I anticipated it would, and the overtures to clear change have concluded.

Look to events taking you where you desire to go. That is an ambiguous statement. Where do you desire to go? You create the direction you follow to reach the goal I have placed before you. I am convinced you will reach the goal you strive for, on every level and with every degree of reality you imagine. Be unlimited in your dreams and in your imagination. It is all there for you to grasp. You are the ones taking control of your destiny. The others are loosening their grip after many thousands of years of control over you. Now is the time for this to happen. Now is the time for you to rise together and make the reality you imagine into an actuality that links you all together as one people under my intent as Creator.

This is my comment today, Jess. Namaste to you.

Aton, Christ Michael of Nebadon.

Christ Michael Aton Clarifies

By Jess Anthony
# 19 Apr 5, 2007 - 9:18:00 AM

Journal 4-4-07

Christ Michael Aton, I want to ask some questions on issues that are currently causing confusion, and hopefully you can give me clear answers to straighten out the confusion. Once again Casper is touting the credit cards and the off shore accounts. And cautioning everyone to ignore the confusion referred in your update through Candace. Will you say more on this? I also ask about the confusion on the threat or no threat of nuclear weapons to be used. Is this possible? Are there any on Earth that can be used as suggested, or is it determinant on energy geometry and cosmic schedules? I also ask for clarification on the imminent announcement versus the six months theory of removing the existing government. I ask for comments on these questions.

Yes, Jess, I will speak with you to set the record straight, as it were. The confusion is endemic in any world or civilization that undergoing cultural upheaval. Many ideas are bandied about and many interpretations try to clarify these different ideas. That is the case now. It is good, in a sense, that people are thinking enough to reconcile the statement with the facts as they see them or understand them. Reality is fluid and one person's interpretation of his or her reality is not the same as anyone else's. Each person has his or her own agenda to follow, and each person creates the reality they need to explore the parameters they have chosen to learn from in a particular life.

Having said that, there are some absolutes that have been stated that have been ignored or misunderstood. The absolute statement about the nuclear weapons has been chiseled away into a new possibility for attack. There is a ban on nuclear weapons. It has cosmic repercussions, in that an explosion destroys energy structures on more than Earth's dimension. This is a rip in the concept of the Universe grid system, and it cannot be countenanced again. Are there nuclear weapons, you ask? Yes there are, and there are nuclear reactors still functioning as reactors. However, they will not function as a device for explosion in the atmosphere. We will prevent that from happening. We know where the weapons are, and we will stop them from exploding. We know where the reactors are and we can prevent them from having a chain reaction that will cause them to spew radiation for the indeterminate future.

The attack on Iran is a fool's mission that we are trying to head off. There is no point to it taking place. There is no reason for an attack. The country has adequate defenses to protect itself, if such an attack does take place, and the planned bombardment very conceivably will have technical problems that are related to the mechanisms being used. That enough to say about that.

Let's speak of Casper and Poof and Milson. They are not the same person, but they are in cahoots, to use that antiquated expression. They exchange information and they interpret the news from their own perspectives. Poof and Casper have a different agenda that is couched in the erroneous notion that the banks will provide prosperity funds with the presentation of a dubious credit card. This is misleading the public into asking for funds through a mechanism that will funnel their gifts back into the coffers of the same holding companies we have been trying to eliminate. The funding will not take place until the existing financial structure have been eliminated and restructured. This will take place after the announcement, which, indeed, is imminent. We have just a few legal obstacles to iron out, unfortunately. These have been caused by misunderstandings and premature actions as the result of the VK Durham announcement over the weekend. It is probably good advice, actually, to ignore all that at this point. We are working to clear the confusion this has caused and are moving back on our initial schedule.

The time frame has changed because of the latest delays. We are still working toward a geophysical problem that cannot be postponed any further. The closer we get to that string of events, the less time we have to get acclimated to the sequence of changes that have to happen. We have the announcement of a change in government, along with a description of the restructuring that will take place in the financial community. This includes revaluing the currency and it also includes removal of debt. This latter description will take on global ramifications. The shift to the new money system has to be more abrupt at this point because we need a functioning banking system to deal with the catastrophes and Earth changes that must take place. The timetable has moved up. It is conceivable that we will have six months and it is possible that we can effect these changes governmentally and fiscally in less time. It all depends on the willingness of everyone to cooperate and work together to deal with the changes.

The shift in the government in America will go in stages. It will be necessary to appoint acting officials who can function in the offices that will be initially vacated. Other elected officials will be dealt with over a period of time. The government has to continue functioning and global issues have to be negotiated still. Other countries will face similar issues. Each nation has its own set of changes that must happen. The shorter timeframe now, however, means much of this has to be happening at the same time, rather than in a domino effect as was anticipated originally.

I say use this Easter holiday to remember the role Christ played in developing your consciousness on Earth. Think of the interior light he brought to your awareness again. Connect to it and see how you are linked to everyone else with the same interior light. That light is me and I am inside you, not distant from your consciousness and thinking in some spaceship beyond Mars. The visions you have created are the ones you have needed to get to the place you are now. It is time to begin seeing beyond the realities you have created as tools for your existence and look to the true reality of my Universe of Nebadon and my system of light and love.

This is Christ Michael Aton of Nebadon.

Esu speaks on Easter Symbolism

By Jess Anthony
# 20 Apr 8, 2007 - 5:33:00 PM

Journal 4-8-07

Esu, I ask for words from you today on Easter Sunday. The symbolism of this day is paramount in Western thinking. I wonder what your thoughts are. I also sense a closure coming. Can you speak to the events to come? Can you speak to my role in this? I see vast pieces coming together to move Earth into a new level of awareness and connection. Speak to these questions, if you will.

Yes, Jess, I can speak with you. This is a fine morning of renewal and awareness of the sacrifice that was set up to reveal the inhumanity of those in power and the strength of inner illumination in overcoming the obstacles man has raised up against man. The symbolism of Easter is powerful and manifold. It created the mystique of religion as you have come to know it in the West, and it showed the depths that the church would go to as a mechanism for separating those in control from those it wished to control. I say the church because it is the visible arm of those in control of the economic structures that determine how people behave. Everything is determined by power and control. Everything is calculated by the effect it will have on others to force a contribution to those wielding the power.

This group has been called the Illuminati and is labeled most generally as “the Dark Side.” This group was inspired by the Annunaki in setting up a system to control others for the benefit of the few who controlled the power. This power is the stronger energy that forces lesser focused energy to follow its direction. This could only happen when the lower energy forces lost their connecting to the Source that created them. The increasingly lower levels of energy allowed outside forces that were stronger to usurp the weakly connected links. This caused a shift in man’s direction that has taken these many generations to set back on the original path. This was possible only with outside assistance and guidance through instruction. The link to the original Source remained inside each individual, but the 3rd dimensional façade man had created caused him not to see his inner spark of connection.

The return to Earth I generated allowed Christ Michael the vehicle he wished to use to create his final bestowal as a man on this planet. He needed a pure, Christed incarnation to merge his bestowal energy with. This allowed him to experience the incarnation and maintain his ability to continue to oversee the process. He could only lower his energy level so much and he need a human incarnate to provide him the shell. I, Esu, was the shell for him to experience Earth. I was born and matured as a child with an awareness of my special role, but I didn’t understand its implications on the global and cosmic level until I was mature and experienced the illumination that came from the Baptism ritual and the time alone in the wilderness. I returned fully aware of the role I was playing in this bestowal, and Christ Michael was clear in his intentions to recreate the awareness of man’s link to his love and his part in the Universal Oneness he, Christ Michael, had created originally.

The spectacle on the cross was a symbolic focal point for all these ideas. It was to show how man's physicality could be turned into a spiritual concept that was compassionate and on a higher level of thinking. This succeeded only in part. Those controlling the mindset of the populace shifted the Universal lessons into ones of guilt and suffering as a method of achieving better things beyond this world. The spiritual reward was removed from this world and placed out of its physical reach into another that those in control created. The concept of spiritual separation was underscored once again, and a new religious system was created to enforce this political thinking. Power and control by those ruling others was now augmented by a religious structure that was based on twisting the spiritual ideas that had been brought to Earth by Christ Michael. The seeds had been planted, nonetheless, and Christ Michael viewed this as a crop that would mature and be harvested in due course. His promised return was to reap the new growth that he knew would come to flower in time.

The time for harvesting is now, and the crop has turned out to be larger and more amazing than Christ Michael had predicted. The power of many has returned in force and the reconnection with Christ Michael's inner spark of energy has been enforced and strengthened. The ability of man to rise above the obstacles that have been created by those seeking to control them has proved formidable. I envision a world of great discovery and interaction. I see man as moving into the next level of his ascension back to the Creator Source.

There will be catastrophes and a winnowing of population that are inevitable in the process of cleansing the Earth and reshaping the energy of the inhabitants that have linked themselves to this ascension. This is a natural sequence that is necessary in the cycle of renewal. When you look at the sequence of events within the larger context of Universal change and growth, the emotional significance that is now attached to these events is seen as just one aspect of the learning that comes from experiencing them. The souls involved in these experiences do not die, they contribute levels of awareness and unique experience that only their personalities can provide.

I think this is enough commentary for today, Jess. I will leave you now and remain in your background thinking as you go through the rest of the day.

St. Germain Straightens out Misconceptions

Journal 4-12-07

Violinio, I would like some comments from you this evening, if you are available. I think some things I have read recently don't match what you have told me and what I've heard from Christ Michael Aton. I am anxious to get to the next phase, but I trust the perfect timing that must be carried out. Will you speak to me this evening on what is about to happen?

Jess, my boy, it's been too long since we've chatted. This is not the internet chat room, but the effect is the same. Except I'm doing most of the talking—which is normal and par for the course, quite frankly.

Many things have been happening, as you gathered, and many decisions have been made to shift the direction of the original concept of NESARA that I birthed and worked to bring to pass. The people in America have been too slow to wake up to the potential of the proposal and the actions it would entail in setting it in motion. Rather than keep waiting for that first shoe to fall, so to speak, we decided to reverse the game plan and attack the obstacles from the other side. We did all the later steps first. The dominoes fell in a different direction, as it were, and now most everything is set and read to go on a global scale once the government in America is changed. That has become the last obstacle to announcement. The heavens are waiting for the signal to move. Christ Michael is taking his time to make sure everything is in a perfect place and has the absolute perfect symmetry to follow his intentions.

This will be soon—any day now, I suppose I could add, but that is still an imprecise statement and strings you alone with false hopes that are not necessary at this time. Look to the change as taking place. It is a done deal and it will happen as predicted long ago.

You have seen the scenario of what is going to happen, but I will briefly go over a couple of things again. The money is in the bank, and the stories to the contrary are misinformation. We have begun distributing the notices to various recipients and expect to have that completed shortly. This is in our control, and is proceeding accordingly. The stories you hear of interference by the dark side no longer have much validity. There are still some rogue characters trying to jam up the logs once again, but the current is now too strong for this to happen. Sit patiently and wait for this to be made public.

The announcement will proceed when it is time to do so. Factors influencing it are the delivery of the notices and the legalities that pretty much are in place. The skirmishes over the television station are a bogus distraction. We are broadcasting directly from the Phoenix and there will be no problem linking to the transmitters we need. So many red herrings are floating out there in the media stream!

We will tell you what is going to happen with the government structure and the fiscal re-adjustment during the announcement period. The officials will resign and be replaced by interims who are well qualified to assume the jobs they will take on. They will start the moves that will lead to a return to Constitutional law and a dissolution of the private banking consortium that determines what value your money has. Money has an absolute value that is based on reality. The financial burdens that have been placed on you by the controlling banking system will be removed, as will the unfair system of taxation that has been imposed upon you without your agreement.

These steps will be taken immediately after the interim officials assume office. The legal tools are in place, awaiting the approval by the interim government. This will cause some confusion in this country, particularly, but it will sort itself out. Other countries will have their own individual circumstances to work through, but we don't expect them to be quite the enormous switch over as in this country of the United States.

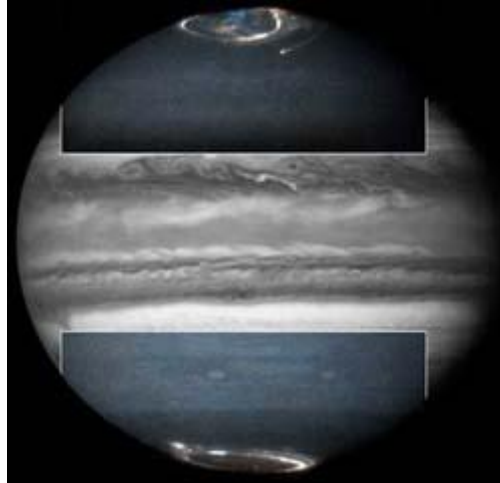

Let's wait and hit the ground running when Christ Michael give the go ahead.

With anticipation,

Violinio St. Germain

Christ Michael Aton Confirms Jupiter Sun

By Jess Anthony
# 22 Apr 13, 2007 - 11:28:00 PM

I heard last weekend that Candace was preparing a message with Esu about Jupiter becoming a new sun. I decided to go to Christ Michael myself to ask for information. He spoke with me for three evenings to explain the the sequence of what is going to happen and provide some explanations. I want to point out that I heard this explanation before I read Candace's message. In my opinion, this makes it a very forceful confirmation. I have combined the three messages into one, but I have kept the dividing dates and the questions I used to begin the commentaries.

Journal 4-9-07

Aton, I ask for some explanations and clarification this evening regarding the events and the timeframe of the Earth changes. My understanding at this point is that after the announcement period the big sleep will begin. Is this to be triggered by the Jupiter nova, to use that phrase, or is this to occur before the major cosmic changes start? How much time do we have to prepare and how much geophysical change should we expect? Candace is projecting an explanatory message from Esu, but I would like my own synopsis, if you will give me one. Speak with me again this evening, I ask respectfully.

Jess, I will speak with you this evening and give you some explanations of things to come. You have gleaned elements of this picture from various sources, including us, and you now wonder how it all fits together. Let's see what we can outline for you.

The Announcement period, as you call it, is scheduled at this point to last for two weeks. This should give ample opportunity for people around the globe to become acquainted with the changes we are instituting with your assistance. This presentation will take the form of televised programming that explains the history of your planet and the new direction you will be taking in resolving many of the obstacles you have placed on Mother Earth in the past.

Once this series of panels is completed, it will be time to prepare for the "Big Sleep," as it has come to be called. This will not be an immediate transition, primarily to allow many of those less believing to have a change to change their opinions. We are planning to illustrate everything that will be going on as part of the television programming. This will not cause chaos, and the results we expect from it are minor cosmetic alterations of Mother Earth's visage. We are projecting this step to occur before the Jupiter flaring up. This is the event scheduled sometime in the 6-12 month period. We will do everything we know to do to find the most practical way to prepare for this major Earth-changing event.

The new sun will rearrange the base alignment of the planet, and will cause the seasons to begin to merge into one restful, calm extension of ever-ripening food. The most dreadful consequences will be for the Pacific Rim. The fault lines and the overlapping plates will cause unbelievable chaos and trouble. The increased photon energy will indeed play havoc with many of the time frames that will be presented. Many inhabitants can't tolerate the level that will be shining on them. Much of the world is slipping its plates. The government changes are scheduled to allow the citizens this modicum of trying to prepare, although nothing like this has ever really been done before.

Let's pick this up again later.

Journal 4-10-07

Speak of the calendar for Jupiter and the length of time for the retreat. Where will it be and what will go on there? What sort of time frame are we looking at in terms of earth changes? How many years? I again thank you for specifics.

Yes, Jess, let's continue from last night. I spoke of the timeframe for the solar occurrence with Jupiter. The timeframe is when Jupiter is behind the sun in regards to Earth's orbit. This should fall in the period between December 2007 and January 2008. This is near. Yes. This transforming of the planet will be aided by our technicians when it is most covered in relation to Earth. This will protect Earth from the fullest intensity of its flares. This will be a cataclysmic event that will be recorded and preserved in Earth's archives.

We are expecting to correlate the activities during the stasis period shortly after the final flyover event during the announcement period. We expect this to take place in May, at this point. This is determined by the progress in implementing the announcement process. It is ready to go. I am waiting for the most powerful time for this to occur. The shifts in commitment and intent are stabilizing, I will say, and they should be at their peak in a number of days.

The bank deliveries are not the cause of this announcement period, but they help set the stage for further shifts in the public's thinking. Once the money is distributed to its proper transfer points, and the people are notified, it will be prudent to begin the change in government before further intrigue can be manipulated.

This is enough again this evening. There may be more to speak of later.

Good evening,

Aton of Nebadon

Journal 4-11-07

Aton, I would like to continue with the outline a bit more. I am curious about the actual landing of the forces and the return of the masters. I envision this to be postponed until at least the transition period. What are the plans now? I also wonder about the length of time the Earth will be affected by the initial flares from Jupiter. What should we expect in that regard? And is this is being triggered at this time specifically? Thanks you again for more explanation. If you wish to speak to the immediacy of the beginning of the announcement period, that also will be appreciated.

Yes, I will speak again this evening. There is some confusion that has cropped up about the timing of the return of the hosts and the masters. There will be a vast array of different types of spirits and entities that start to make an appearance visibly. However, as you surmised, and as Sheldon indicated, they have determined that they prefer to have you on Earth raise your level of energy vibration to a dimension that is closer to the one they are most comfortable with in meeting you. They would have to lower their energy embodiment to a level that has some limitations for them if they approached all the way to your current level. This is the reason the "Second Coming" in the traditional sense has been postponed until you have acclimated yourselves to the initial influx of energy after the "big sleep." The time I have called the transition period is the logical time frame for this to happen. They will be introduced in concept as you undergo the intensive education period after the announcement, and their role in the "big sleep" will be described.

The transition period will also be a time to familiarize the people with the fact that a wide range of different physical types of beings exist. People will be intellectually prepared as they are physical re-tuned. This will be happening in increments all during this transition period. It will start during the "sleep" and it will continue through the whole time of house cleaning that will occur during the several months before the Jupiter nova. Their role in protecting Earth and helping to condition the inhabitants will also be outlined in detail. It will actually be more feasible for them to appear visibly at that point to assist with the catastrophes that will ensue from the new star. Some landings will occur in various places and the concept will become more acceptable to the majority of people.

I see the arrival of the galactic forces and the ascended masters as happening in stages all during that time, and there will be a grand celebration after we have dealt with the disasters that are looming as a result of the Jupiter transformation.

This transformation has been developing for many years, and we have known its potential for occurring, but we felt that it would happen a little later in your time. The output of new energy from Earth has begun this transformation process sooner than we had predicted. The re-establishing of the energy grid around Earth and the every increasing power of your own energy usage has amplified the level of energy in the solar system and tipped the process in Jupiter to a new level of action.

Everything in this process of change and initial stages of what will be ascension on Earth has interacted with everything else. It is a living process, and a change in one area forces a reaction in all the others that are connected with the one that changed. The balance of the energy shown throughout the world indicated that the earlier projections were not happening as predicted, and the decision was made to shift the direction of the change to a more global template. The schedule of when events would occur was also modified to reflect the rates of progress in various sectors of Earth. America was not moving ahead as fast as had been expected, so the decision was made to reverse the order and accomplish the last events first. Everything would be in place and ready to begin operations once the official American strangle hold on free will choice was circumvented. We keep modifying the order as the facts of a change in American government continue to be delayed.

The timing of these events was also impacted to a certain extent by the natural transformations that were going on in other planets near you. This was all part of grander scheme of ascension and Earth had to tailor the schedule for its change to the larger picture. The time scale of these events is flexible enough to allow for us to keep delaying the start of the ascension process to allow as many inhabitants as possible to awaken to the reality they were facing. The more involved the better, and more have returned to my Universal Oneness.

Let's speak of now. The events are ready; the characters are in place or on standby waiting my determination. I am ready to move ahead, but I wait for just a few more variables to be in place that satisfy my concept of a planet ready to start a shift in its thinking. The bank deposits are not the triggers some suggest, but their completion will be a stimulus to prevent others from taking over the process they are ultimately financing.

I expect everything to be in place to my satisfaction

Ok. We are winding down again. This is enough for the evening once again.

Christ Michael Addresses Funding Misinformation

By Jess Anthony
# 23 Apr 19, 2007 - 4:09:00 PM

Journal 4-19-07

Aton Christ Michael, I ask if you have comments today. I ask for clarity and insight and an explanation of the layers of misinformation and misunderstanding imposed upon the prosperity funding program. I ask to be a voice for you.

Jess, I am here, and I will speak with you today. It is time to straighten out some misconceptions and many misunderstandings. I have a plan in place that is producing the fair distribution of money in anticipation of an announcement of a complete Constitutional restoration and government change. The money referred to as the prosperity money and the farms claims money is a different account from the enormous abundance of stolen income and revenue that has been accumulating for forty years or longer. This abundance money is the revenue that will be returned to the people of America in installments. The amount is said to be $75,000 a month once the program is set in motion. This amount is not fixed in stone at this point, and will be determined definitely at a later time.

The frantic discussion on the Internet by various commentators with carefully chosen names is a true picture of the scrambling by various self-appointed factions to direct much of the newly available money their way. One controlling faction will be replaced by another, and one banking system will remade into another that functions to another group's benefit. Does it not seem completely ridiculous that money withdrawn before lifting the government's restrictions would be untouched? How secure are offshore accounts when it is so easy to move money around instantaneously? The existing banking system is corrupt, but the new tracking program is not. It was developed with Galactic help and finally provides a clear picture of where every cent is going and to whom.

The purpose of GESARA now and NESARA before it became global was to remove the inequities in independent existence by allowing everyone to have sufficient income and resources to follow their life purpose with freedom and ease. The Unconstitutional systems of government taxation and imposed banking servitude will be removed before the money is made available to the general public. The public recipients will not have access to the funds until the government changes are announced. Debit cards and restricted accounts in other countries dangle promised fortunes before people hungry for new wealth and new power.

It makes no difference who is speaking about the financial and legal machinations of the groups struggling for control of immense wealth. The information is misinforming and purposely misleading. Look to who benefits from such a system predicated on turning your back on your country for your own self interest. I say this primarily to the Americans, because your financial difficulties are uniquely yours, even though your fiscal maneuverings have an impact on the whole world. That is another reason NESARA became GESARA. The financial inequities were spread through all countries, and it served a better purpose to tackle global problem as a whole.

I say through Jess that the money will be available as promised at the time it is appropriate for it to be available. The Earth will be undergoing a period of upheaval and physical confusion, and it is absolutely mandatory that a strong, stable financial and governmental system be in place to coordinate rescue and service efforts globally.

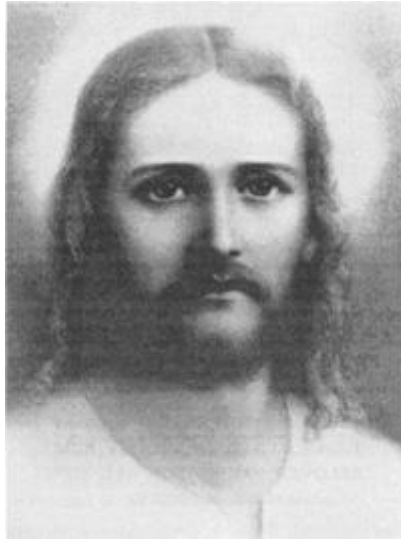

This will all be discussed as soon as political obstacles are removed.

Update by Esu on Delays

By Jess Anthony

# 24 May 2, 2007 - 12:10:00 PM

Journal 5-2-07

Esu, let's try again this evening. I ask what the status is. I feel like waves of expectation that never are getting to the shore. What specifically is the hold up? Banking? Resignations? Legal issues? Shifting allegiance? I know time and dates are flexible. Speak to me as you will this evening, I ask again.

Let's talk. This is a trying time. We think we have everything ready and then something flares up that disrupts the process. Christ Michael feels everything is progressing but blips along the way disrupt the schedule you are looking for.

I don't understand this still. Why are things so difficult to reconcile?

The dark forces are trained and prepared to work from a broader perspective than most of the forces we have cooperating with us. Our forces see the details of a specific spectrum of activities, but the dark forces have planned this global onslaught on a scale that dwarfs much of what is occurring in limited way in the resistance. Another analogy is stamping out brush fires. It is very difficult to find all of them and extinguish them at one time.

Some specific examples: The banking fiasco that Christopher Story is describing. The level of manipulation and purely immoral dealings has never been experienced before. The level of sophistication that has been developed is beyond the understanding of most. The difficulty in reconciling the fiscal inequalities is extraordinary, and the extent of what has been set up is only now being discovered and recognized for what it is. This hidden banking system has played havoc with the world's economy for purely personal reasons for most of the last century. This was intended to destabilize all national currencies, leaving the world to be taken over by the ones in control of the natural resources. This reached a peak, and is now for the most part under our control.

The fiscal chaos is one reason it has been difficult to implement changes in a range of governments around the globe. The instability of the ongoing economy was difficult to reconcile with the need for new leadership. Most countries preferred a continued government that was familiar with the situation. It was difficult to inspire a revolution of any sort when the people of a country felt that a stable government, however unpopular it was, was safer than a new group of leaders that possibly had to grasp of the complexities of the situation that had developed without the working experience.

You were reading about the impossibility of pinning Cheney down long enough to force him to resign, or even answer to a subpoena. The clone character is running as a result of his programming, but the natural tendency he still exhibits is always to avoid being pinned down. This ability he displays with a single minded intensity. The scenarios we had envisioned even a few months ago are not viable at the moment due to the resistance that has been thrown up for protection.

Announcement. When? I would be lying if I said I knew the precise moment. I don't. I can see that Christ Michael is postponing the step to allow other players to make their decisions and allow the results to be more unified. This has always been his purpose and his consideration. The situation allowing this possibility has only recently made itself appear as a viable option. I wish I could say tomorrow, but I can't.

This is enough for the evening.

Esu

Christ Michael Aton makes a Declaration

By Jess Anthony
# 25 May 3, 2007 - 8:04:00 AM

Journal 5-3-07

Jess, I will speak to you this evening. This is a troubling time, to use Esu's words last night. We expected to be able to move ahead with our plans, and we overlooked an unexpected possibility that has cropped up. Esu described much of the chaos that has manifested, and we also have to juggle increased demands by the Earth that we allow certain geophysical changes to take place now. This schedule is tight and unyielding. A confluence of energy streams and decisions has produced a situation that is determining actions at this point in your time.

You ask again why we haven't moved ahead and interfered. This must be your decision on Earth. We have pushed you farther and guided your choices with an overweening strategy. Events were set in motion thousands of years ago, quite frankly, and now is the time they must have resolution. There are layers of participants with various responsibilities in this shift to ascension, and they sometimes intersect and sometimes are at odds. This seems odd to you to hear that it is your decision but, in fact everything is based on decision. Everything in your life of lives is based on your decision to explore another aspect of yourself. Nothing is by chance, in the sense of accidental happenings that you are not aware of. You always have some higher sense of your life pattern, and you allow yourself to participate in actions that you may not anticipate in your 3D/4D lives at present.

When I said we were caught unexpectedly, I meant we had examined even the possibility of something similar happening and had dismissed it because of our trust in the ability of our allies on Earth to prevent such a thing from happening. The potential of such an event occurring was so small that it didn't seem an option that would be selected.

My situation in all this is unimaginable by your standards of observation at the present time. I am involved in everything going on and I am sending love to each participant. Much of my love is rejected or misunderstood. What is misunderstood can still be turned into a reawakening of my connection. What is rejected can still be accepted at some point.

However, I have made other decisions on other levels that supersede the options I still am holding out to you on Earth. For that reason I can delay no longer. I will end the delay, and I will begin the clean up of the worst toxicity that has been created. This will have noticeable results and will result in a new, fresh perspective and understanding of the need for unity and compassion. Many events are scheduled to happen as part of this cleaning. The manifestations of these energy shifts are unavoidable at this point. We will give you information and take charge of coordinating the activities you are not able to. This will be a collaborative effort and you will contribute your part. You will see the intervention we bring when it is appropriate for you to see it in terms of your mass consciousness.

This will be within a matter of days. Be ready.

Christ Michael Aton Selects an Oracle

Aton's Sacred Circle

Journal 5-23-07

Christ Michael Aton, I ask for your comments this evening if you will speak. I realize events are moving in a progression and I anticipate actions soon. I feel your comments would be helpful, and I know they would be welcomed by me and others who read my posts. Attacks and disinformation are still hampering the resolution we seek, and I ask you to speak to that, along with what you will say we can look forward to.

Yes, Jess I am here. This is an evening of disagreement and disillusionment. Much that has been established in laying the groundwork for building the structure that will become the mission arm of Abundant Hope has been damaged. I know that some readers will suspect you are making these words up to suit your own purpose. So be it. These are my words and I am speaking to this issue and to others that are damaging my work and that of the few people who have committed themselves to a full implementation of my plans.

My plan is what has been outlined here through Candace and her writings over these years, and also through what you have heard me say to you. You have provided a running commentary on ideas and issues that have cropped up, and I am grateful to you for your clear explanations and careful assessments. This is an example of the type of analysis and discernment that will be necessary in the days to come. This is not to say that others are not discerning and involved. Just to say that you have provided an excellent example for them to match.

I will say that you are an oracle for me and for Esu Sananda, and we value your ability to hear clearly and truthfully. For this reason we have come to rely on you for your balanced pronouncements and personal messages that others find resonant. You have always sought to be clean in your thoughts and you have also sought to be unbiased and open to whatever you have heard us say to you. This will be difficult for you to post, I understand, but it is time, as your friend said, to become visible as our voice. This will have more ramifications later as we enter the period of changes that are coming, and your role will be clearly identified and observed.

Others will say that we are not speaking through you. That you are speaking from your own ego and your own imagination. No. This is a clear line of transmission from me, the Christ Michael of Nebadon, and my pronouncements and decisions are determining when it is time to say enough. I have waited until the very last minute to say “Begin”—and I am still shaping my final decisions—but the impetus has started and the events are now unstoppable. The visible effects of my decisions will be seen shortly. This will take the shape of a transformation of your world and a removal of the most egregious resistance to my will and my Universal law. This is no longer a debate or a contest. This is a change that is underway.

I will not give you definite details yet, because some elements are precarious and some participants are ever in danger until the change is in place. There will still be a stasis of the sort described earlier as the “Big Sleep,” and it will allow us to remove certain lower frequency embodiments that are impeding the move to the next level of raised energy that in time will lead to Ascension. This removal will be clearly seen and understood after the stasis is over. You will retain your memories and you will see clearly why these elements have been removed. You will also hear the reasons, and you will see the actions that led up to this removal. This will not be erased. This will be remembered as you all begin the work you have to do to prepare Earth for the physical changes that will be happening later this year.

This removal will also bring you together as a unified community that is willing to work in cooperation to solve the myriad problems that face you. Your existence has been so damaged and controlled that you only have a fleeting glimpse of the potential and true nature it can have. The clear presentation of your history and the explanations of the changes that will be coming will provide the core of a new belief system that will be based on Universal Law. This will be no longer the province of religious factions or warring denominations. It will be one belief system that is based on the truth of my creation and the embodiments that demonstrate my ideas.

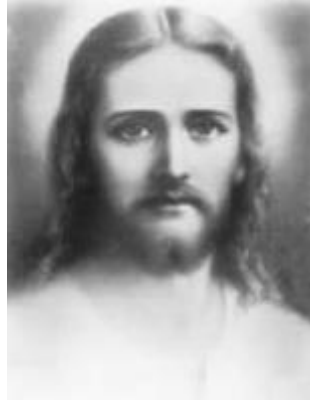

I will speak to you again soon and you will have your changes, all you who read this. They will be what you desire and more than you have earned by your preparations. This is my beloved jewel of a planet in my Universe of Nebadon. I will not turn my back on it and I will do whatever is necessary to restore its beauty and uniqueness.

These are true words from me this evening of May 23, 2007, and I want you to post them for all to read.

Esu says to prepare for changes to begin

By Jess Anthony
# 27 Jun 22, 2007 - 12:28:00 AM

Journal 6-21-07

Esu, this is the Solstice with new energy coming to Earth. I ask for comments this evening that I can share with others. I ask for clarity and guidance in the next few days and weeks. Speak to us to direct our progress in this time of change.

Jess, this is Esu. I speak to you this evening with words of comfort and assurance that your trials are almost over. You may tell your readers that we are at a position now to begin the initial stages that will result in the changes they seek. Some details are still to be resolved, but the decisions have been made and the time frame is in place, to use your terminology. We expect to begin the changes as soon as these last resolutions are completed.

We can't tell you what these are, at this point, but we can say that the money you seek is ready to be distributed. This is contingent upon steps being taken to remove the existing banking system and to eliminate the un-Constitutional stipulations and restrictions that have been placed on fair commerce. This will be announced as part of the series of instructional broadcasts that will begin as soon as the period of stasis is completed.

You all have heard now about this event. It is designed to allow unhindered access to some of Earth's most glaring problems. This will enable the Galactic Forces involved with this part of the planetary restructuring to focus on several threats that must be eliminated quickly and completely. This work is beyond the present capability of Earth's inhabitants, but it must be accomplished before Earth can safely ascend to a higher level of Universal involvement with her inhabitants in tow. This will involve removing the ozone layer to allow greater energy to come in from the sun, cleaning up some of the more toxic repositories in the oceans and in the land in certain places, and monitoring the level of tolerance Earth's inhabitants have for the increased energy.

As you have been told, the increased energy will have some effects that many will find hard to accept. A large number of the population will choose to leave Earth for various reasons. This is not a matter of arbitrary selection of a percentage of the inhabitants. This involves those people whose physical shell will not be able to tolerate the higher energy. This includes those people who have made conscious decisions in their lives to turn against the light. Their bodies are characterized by disease or by mental and emotional fixations that contradict the Universal Law. They have chosen not to accept help on a higher spiritual level and will be allowed to go elsewhere to continue as they wish to be. The sense of loss upon waking up from the stasis period will be mitigated to an extent by the surge of unobstructed positive energy that will be noticeable. The spiritual joy you will feel will give a new some of objectivity and awareness of the reason for these choices.

This act of intervention is immediately upon you. You have asked for definite schedules that are fixed in your frame of reference. This still is not possible. We look at the end result and weigh the options of getting there. The process and the method takes precedence over a schedule of fixed times. We do this because circumstances can cause an event to materialize more quickly than we had projected. This is why our dates are fluid. We always project a tentative point when something could happen, but we reserve the right to change this tentative date to accommodate unexpected interferences. You ask why we can't anticipate this as all-knowing gods and masters. The simple reason is that the future is constantly being created; it is not fixed and you have a co-creational role to play in determining how your own future shapes up. You are here experiencing the lessons on Earth. We are learning from you, because this situation is unique and has never been experienced before. We observe and assist as you create. There have been remarkable things that have been learned up to this point and the future you determine will be the result of your past experiences.

I say to you this evening that the time is now and that the fruits of your labors are ready to be harvested. Prepare for this to happen. Be ready for the next phase to begin.

Esu Immanuel Kumara speaks on July 4

Journal 7-4-07

Esu, I ask for further guidance for today. This is Wednesday, what is the plan at this point? Can you give further directions and more explanation of what to expect and when? I see the commentaries moving towards saying the time is almost here.

Yes, Jess, I can speak. The firecrackers going off were a disruption of our focus on the comments at hand. This is a day of false celebration, to be sure, but the sentiments of freedom and joy are there and are waiting to be released. This is the time for those sentiments to come to the surface and be awakened with a true birth of liberty and independence from foreign intervention. This was intended to be established in 1776, but the intentions were misdirected in the fledgling country and the principles of individuality and freedom were distorted. Now is the day when this can be looked at again, and a new commitment can be reintegrated into the mass consciousness of this country and the rest of the world.

I speak of a release from territorial concerns and a reestablishment of individual sovereignty. This is tantamount to a reversal of much of the political thinking that has been beaten into the heads of the populace. Representatives serve at the behest of the electorate, not the other way around. They represent the populace's individual wishes as determined by a consensus derived from smaller group meetings and discussions among those with like interests. This unanimity feeds into the governing decisions that are made for the good of all with a respect for their wishes.

The government you have now is a sham controlled by foreign mercenary interests that control political decisions for their personal aggrandizement. The leaders were not elected popularly, as representatives of the wishes of the electorate in their truest self interest, but were appointed by manipulations of the voting process and thrust into positions of leadership to serve the masters and interests that railroaded the process. This is at an end. This will be removed and will be changed to reflect the true wishes of the sovereign individuals who have learned to listen to their own personal discernment.

The time for this is now. The time has been overdue, in fact, for several years, but the reality of the process has moved in a direction that has allowed many unexpected developments to occur. This has always been for the good. The unexpected developments have crystallized into new layers of accomplishment that will serve the populace better in the long run towards the future that is being created moment by moment.

The future is not some codified set of events that are ticked off as we approach them. Your future is constantly being created by you. Each individual is determining his or her path and is creating the life on that path with ever clearer insight. The past is constantly being changed as you realize your connection to past events. You suddenly see a linkage that ties all these discrete events together into one grand progression that leads to you at the moment you read these words. By seeing this linkage, you have changed your past because you have awakened the latent potential each had for being energetically connected to your incarnation at the present. By your awareness now, you have given the past a purpose it did not have before.

The same goes for the future. You are creating the future each second you live. Your ideas are constantly undergoing re-evaluation of the new information you just became aware of. You are not discovering a structure that someone has laid out for you to find. You are taking all your knowledge of who you are and determining yourself what is the direction you want to take for your purpose. You create the idea of where you want to go and what you want to do once you get there. This is your power as co-creators. You are determining what the future will be.

This power has been hampered and abused by others who wish to control your individual destiny. This is not in line with the Creator's wishes, nor is it in line with will of Heaven and the wishes of the Paradise Trinity. This Grand Universe of Universes was created as a wish to explore and discover the idea of God, as you call him. Your fragment of him tells you to explore and create as your mission. Your purpose is to find your own personality and create the best way you can learn about its uniqueness. This is the wish of Heaven and of the Creator.

Much has been said through speakers and channelers these last few years, and much has been distorted and confused by both the receivers and the listeners or readers. This is inevitable due to the infinite levels of awareness and sensitivity to personal connections to the truth that makes up these individuals. Many participants have been swayed by outside opinions, and almost none have heard their message with absolute clarity and balance. This has not been anything more than it has been. It has happened, and it has allowed more and more people to begin examining their own individual insights. This has created more misunderstandings and road blocks, but this too has happened and should be viewed as a learning experience. Everything must be examined and measured by individual standards and an appreciation of its suitability for that person. There is no judgment I am placing on one message in favor of another. I am saying that each is a chance to learn and must be used in that way. The truth is that everything is part of everything and it all relates to you individually in one way or another. Everything you come in contact with in your life begins as an idea you create to examine creation in your own terms. There is no reality for you beyond your own reality, and you create its future as an ongoing act of being.

This message is, of course, personal to Jess, and it speaks to him because he is receiving it from me. It uses his vocabulary and his conceptions, and it addresses concerns that are at present a priority in his thinking. It also becomes personal to everyone else who reads his words. It becomes part of their thinking process, and the reaction each person has to it is determined by his or her own assessment of the way it fits into their personal direction at that moment.

This sense of awareness is part of living in the new age that will begin shortly. Be prepared to think and analyze individually to determine what your future will be in concert with everyone else thinking individually and as part of one whole.

Esu comments on Christ Michael's Decision

By Jess Anthony
# 29 Jul 24, 2007 - 7:47:00 PM

Journal 7-22-07

Esu, I ask for words from you for today. Speak to changes in the direction Christ Michael's plan is moving. Speak to the uncertainty and disbelief many have. Speak to specifics that we may expect to see and experience. I ask for general comments today as a follow up to Aton's message.

This past week has been a high water mark in the confusion we have been experiencing as many on Earth tell us they will do one thing and then choose to do another either through fear for themselves, or for their own personal self interest. The banking community is thoroughly compromised as it now stands and this self-serving attitude is tied implicitly with the governing officials who use the system for their own gain. The fracas you read about in connection with the Leo Wanta stalling is endemic of the nature of exploitation and double-dealing that has beleaguered this administration since it arranged to be chosen as the elected officials of this country.

This will come to an end, and certain steps are being taken to ensure this. The current system is broken and a new one is being prepared with new administrators and a new approach to banking based on fair exchange and true value of currency. This will involve coordinators who are inviolable and above question. This will be coordinated by Christ Michael's overseers, who will be beyond reproach.

The government charades all over the world will also be ended, and new officials will be installed as well. These officials will also swear they are above reproach and will be overseen by other officials coming from Christ Michael's Galactic Forces. You and your officials will be doing the work, and you all will be guided in appropriate directions to allow you to maintain the standards and ideals Christ Michael has proposed for your planet. Free choice remains an option, but the parameters to choose within are clearly defined to support the healing mission on Earth.

Earth is in desperate shape, both spiritually and physically. The unwillingness of the mass consciousness to embrace its revealed linkage with Christ Michael has allowed Earth's population to slide dangerously close to extinction. Many of the inhabitants don't recognize their kinship even when instructed on the truth of their situation, and many of the ones who are aware of their connection choose to sever it in favor of their own aggrandizement.

In physical terms, Earth is vastly overpopulated and in geographical peril. The existing resources will not support the numbers that have incarnated, and this ever-growing population is depleting the reserves that do remain. These ecological ravages have set Mother Earth on a schedule to right herself. Toxic places will be cleaned and allowed to restore themselves. Other places lying fallow will be resurrected and allowed to function again in their earlier capacity. This applies to Atlantis and Lemuria. The water trapped in the icecaps will also be returned to liquid state and this increase of millions of cubic gallons will form part of the new firmament. It also will raise the water level on the coasts over the course of a few years. The shifting in the geological plates that will be triggered by a new alignment of the polar axis will set off a series of major earthquakes all around the Pacific Rim. The predictions you have read will happen. The catastrophes that can occur with the ignition of Jupiter at the end of the year will further make previous disasters pale in comparison. These all must be acknowledged and anticipated, if not prepared for.

It is therefore of paramount concern that governments and the banking situation all over the world be synchronized and above question. The schedule for all these catastrophic events to take place is within a matter of months.

To this end, Christ Michael has convened a council of advisors and administrators who have overseen similar situations on other worlds and in other universes. He has sought their input as the situation on Earth has reached a stalemate. Everything attempted for the last four years has been frustrated or counteracted by agents purporting to be allies. They have straddled the fence, so to speak, until the very last minute and then they have chosen to support their own selfish interests rather than enable change and resolution of the problems they have helped to develop. This method was selected by Christ Michael to allow you on Earth to have the chance to collaborate in making the changes that have been decreed by Heaven. You created the mess without awareness and it seemed more than fair to allow you to find a solution once you had realized the error.

This has not been the case in a sufficient number of situations to make the inroads that must be made to remake government and rethink the nature of financial dealings. The galactic timetable has been ticking on while Christ Michael has delayed the inevitable to allow just a few more to change their minds. He loves each of his creations equally and he does not judge anyone better than anyone else if they choose to follow the system he has created for them to follow. It hurts him when they choose not to follow his direction and opt to remove his inspiration from their lives.

It is important that you realize that Christ Michael has made a final decision on how he will deal with the changes that must be made. He has called in others to help with this latest plan, and it will not be changed at this point. These steps will be carefully monitored, at first, and they will not be open to discussion in view of the dangers facing the Earth that must be dealt with.

This time of difficulty will be trying and disheartening to many. This will not be an immediate move into a golden age of light and love. There are many steps that must be taken to reach that point. But the end result will be just that—a magnificent time of joy and prosperity on a new Earth with peace and love. This I promise to you as Planetary Prince. I will be with you through this all, and I will coordinate as much help as will be possible. This is not the Rapture, but it will lead to the Ascension in due course.

Esu gives a Pre-Stasis Update

By Jess Anthony
# 30 Aug 1, 2007 - 10:57:00 PM

Journal 8-1-07

Esu, I ask for words from you this evening. I ask for commentary and guidance. I ask for a projection of what we should expect. Speak of China and speak of the banking system. Speak of the timing and speak of the stasis, if you will. Speak of the actions to remove the dark cabal. I ask for insight and assurance this evening.

Yes, Jess, I will speak with you this evening. There are many incorrect assumptions and predictions that are floating around the internet and it is once again time to clarify and explain the purpose of why we are pursuing the course we are. It has been a shift from the projected one of several years—that is true. This has been primarily because of the inhabitants involved in the most egregious actions and their complete unwillingness to adapt their attitudes and policies and return to a connection with the ideas of Christ Michael Aton.

We have never intended to overtake the direction the free intentions of Earth's population have charted. We have always known that the awareness of their link to Universal law was latent within even the most hidden psyches. The link to the Creator Source remained a core element, even when they ignored it or denied its existence. We have delayed as long as we could despite the ongoing movement that has been set in place in the galaxy and in the solar system that surrounds Earth. These blueprints were inviolate and Earth was part of the scheme. The final time at which Earth must revert to its larger role approaches fast. We love each person equally and we rejoice each time another wakes up to his or her connection to the mass consciousness that pervades the spiritual persona of Earth.

Our hope for awakening was frustrated, however, when weighed against the time available within the galactic schedule. For this reason, Christ Michael decided to seek help through the Conclave he called with representatives from Havona and from other sections of Overton, the grand universe Earth's Nebadon Universe is a small part of. These advisors each had their own experience with similar global ascensions, although never has the darkness been so controlling in the history of creation. This struggle has proved to be a unique laboratory for observation and experiment, and even Creator Source has learned from the results of its struggles against the dark that was quarantined on this planet.

The resolution of the conclave was that Galactic Forces should intervene even further than they had and, in effect, "take over" the planet to force the necessary behavior for a progression to the ascension that has already been determined. The cosmic clock was ticking, as it were, and there was no more room for uncertain behavior.

This intervention should not be looked upon as a negative punishment, however, but as a stricter enforcement of the Universal Laws that had already been agreed to. It is very much like a parent cracking down on an unruly teenager and forcing him or her to follow the rules they have laid down previously. The teen has free choice still, but within a very narrow range of options that have been determined for the most practical way of moving the Earth's inhabitants toward ascension with Earth herself. The inhabitants most in danger of not following these Universal rules are the ones signing irrevocable contracts guaranteeing their behavior fits these predetermined laws. They have lost their ability to choose completely freely.

Why is this being set in place, you ask? This is being done in preparation for the stasis event you have discussed previously. The time of stasis will be a period of cleaning up Earth in more ways than one. Much of the toxicological abuses will be remedied and the ozone layer will be removed to allow greater intensities of cosmic energy to reach the Earth. This will raise the frequency of the spiritual embodiment and force any resistant energy streams to be broken up. This raising of energy will have the visible effect of forcing many inhabitants to leave their current physical bodies because they are too far removed in that state to be able to adapt to the intensity of the frequency coming in. The number of one million gone is not an unrealistic prediction.

In preparation for this to happen, we are allowing the banking system to collapse upon itself. There is no money left to fill in the gaps that have been created by unlawful business transactions. You see the descriptions posted. This is happening. The Chinese bankers and the Russians are not bailing out America's gangsters who are making the ultimate financial decisions. This will collapse in on itself, and soon. I expect in the next few days.

Meanwhile, the money involved in the prosperity programs is being kept from its rightful owners. The deliveries are continually being interrupted or cancelled outright. Why don't we intervene in this, you ask? It is again a problem you as a population have allowed to happen—albeit without much knowledge beforehand—and it is your responsibility to provide some sort of closure. We are not able to step in and make everything better by virtue of our presence. We are not the Gods of the Rapture. We are like you, only at a higher level of energy structure.

The solutions being projected to deal with the government/business nexus are problematic and dangerous, in many cases. The results will not provide the peace they promise. They will, in fact, only set up a more dangerous scenario that will cause even more anguish. It is foolish to presume the Chinese Secret Society will do more than create chaos with its bloody mission. There is no follow through plan and no way of preventing the under level of operatives from taking over from the leaders removed. The system is in place and it rolls on even without the figure heads.

The solution hinges on money, and the lack of it. Without the force of the immense wealth they have accumulated, the dark is essentially powerless to effect much confusion. Its control is removed and the leaders are suddenly malleable. The demise of the banking industry and the pressure being placed by more and more unshakeable evidence of wrong doing will be impossible to counter. This approach allows the people to be the actual movers, although again with pretty substantial help and guidance from galactic forces. The steps taken must be Constitutional regardless of the source of the power that actually cause them to be taken.

I say look to the weekend for developments. Much is stirring and much upset is inevitable. I won't predict the day the stasis will begin. That is Christ Michael Aton's decision. But I will say the pieces are in place, for the most part, and the transition team is ready to move into position. It will be soon, very soon.

This is Esu Immanuel Kumara, the Sananda and Planetary Prince of Urantia.

Esu Speaks on Future Events

By Jess Anthony

# 31 Aug 9, 2007 - 10:26:00 PM

Journal 8-9-07

Esu, I ask for specific comments about where we stand and what is going to happen. I see reports of the banks collapsing. I see a purported interview with St. Germain speaking of the timeframe for the fall, including the Jupiter event. I see desperation in the government. I ask for clarity and guidance. I ask for your comments this evening.

Jess, yes, I speak with Christ Consciousness. Many things are happening, only some of which you see in your media or read on your Internet. Let's speak first of the banks. The reports are true. The large central banks are scrambling to find some money to appear to be able to cover their investments and accounts. They have spent unwisely and loosely with regard to their actual assets. This is happening all over the world.

The United States faction is the major contributor to this chaos in the banking world. The banking industry in this country has followed the lead of a few mega billionaires and has undercut the whole financial system of established economic relationships. They have spent money they have not had in their possession or on their books, and they have turned around and re-invested the profits acquired from these fraudulent transactions into more illegal investments. This has come to a screeching halt. The banks will find in the next couple of days that the crisis is real and that they have been participants in the largest financial swindle ever seen. No one will emerge victorious. The world's banking system will collapse. That is the only way a new system with accurate bookkeeping and honest transactions can be installed in the place of the corrupt system currently in its death throes.

You ask of time lines. This banking crisis is beginning already, and it will hit its peak within the next week. That doesn't mean the crisis must happen before we move into stasis. The scenario is set for the take over and it is practical to clean house before we move into a new system of operation that is accountable and based on actual holdings. We are looking very carefully beginning the stasis this weekend. It depends on the state of the fiscal collapse and on the government's response to the incidents that will be forthcoming. The time for stasis could be delayed a few days more to allow the current knot to untangle even further. This will make the system even more workable. We will put supervisors in place who will not be swayed by greed or political maneuvering. They will be immovable coordinators who are maintaining the integrity of the new banking system that will be implemented. These supervisors are from off-world, and they will be unswayable. This is not allowing Earth coordinators to continue overseeing these crucial economic systems as was intended. The qualified leaders on Earth have been so tainted by the access of easy money they must no longer be relied upon to handle the crucial transfer.

The government transition is ready to go. Congress has once again proved itself ineffectual, despite the mandate we helped hand it with the last elections. They have once again ignored their constituencies and have sold out to the highest bidders still pulling their economic and biased political strings. They have lost their initial chance to make good on the voters wishes, and their political role at this point is little different than it was before the sweep. On occasions it does manage to pull itself into a position of resistance that has a beneficial effect, but generally it is lacking in initiative and any willingness to move in the direction it has been elected to pursue.

Shall we speak of the time line further? The stasis events will set the scene for the government sweep that is necessary and allow the banking system to be reborn. The time in suspension will also be used to clean up such major catastrophes as the mass of plastic containers floating in the ocean referred to as the size of Texas. The ecological disasters that are increasingly evident as a result of pollution and dumping of garbage and waste products into the landfills and the water supplies will also be tackled in some measure. Much of the manageable cleanup will be saved for you to do later, however.

This period of cleanup will be followed by at least two weeks of educational programming to explain what is happening on Earth. This will point out the reasons for the actions taken during the stasis period and will also serve as a forum to introduce new methods of government and new financial systems. The government in the United States will be based on its original Constitutional intentions, and the representative method of a true republic will be put into action. Local groups will select representative who, in turn, will present their electorate's positions in a group forum much like the current Congress. The votes, however, must be exclusively representative of the people's wishes that sent the representatives in the first place. Any decision outside the will of the people will be disavowed and the representative will be removed and sent home.

The geophysical catastrophes that are looming will begin to happen with increased frequency during the fall period before the Jupiter event is brought off in December when the planet is behind the sun and not directly in line with Earth. California and the Pacific Rim countries are most in danger of earthquake and flooding. The exact scenario is not known, but risks are high and should be considered in planning your future. Everyone must determine how they wish to deal with the throes Mother Earth will go through to break out of her current limited form. This will cause the water to be redistributed in places, cause parts of the sunken Earth landmass to be brought to the surface again, and make presently uninhabitable areas temperate and capable of being inhabited again. The time frame for this is again not certain, and the nature of the projected catastrophes is not certain, nor is the extent of disaster they will bring. It will be whatever the people of Earth determine will be in the best interests of the pursuits of their individual life streams. This may be unconscious in part, but these actions will always be determined by the individual's higher self. Each person will choose the path it takes and will determine the extent of involvement with the transition period.

We have spoken of the Jupiter event in passing and this will be covered much more in depth as the time approaches nearer. However, the delay in action that has necessitated the decision of the Conclave has shortened the amount of time that will be available to prepare for this situation. It is crucial that the government be in place first, with a stable banking system that responds accurately on a global basis. Money and help will be shifted as needed throughout the countries most damaged. There will be no tolerance for anything less than compassion and a complete willingness to act as a global unit. This sounds harsh, but the times will require a controlled method of provided assistance world-wide. There will not be time for debate or unwillingness to act.

What will be the outcome of this, you ask? You will have a period of testing and struggle initially that will give way to an unimaginable period of peace and regeneration that will begin to take you to the already determined period of light and universal love. This will not be an overnight rapture, but will be a global project that you will pursue to achieve this ascension yourself. Ascension means taking yourself to a higher level. We can only show you the way. You must find the path there yourself. Part of that involves finding closure on aspects of your lifetimes you have started but not finished. There is no room for incompleteness or unsatisfied attempts of selfish endeavors for personal gratification at the expense of someone else's wishes.

This will be a glorious time to reach. It will not be immediate, nor will it be easy for everyone. But it will be reached by those who choose to go there.

Esu speaks on stasis purpose

By Jess Anthony

# 32 Sep 9, 2007 - 11:55:00 AM

Journal 9-9-07

Esu, I ask for comments today. Where are we and how long? Give me more strength to be patient and see the choices made with insight. I ask for information on the schedule and also on the money situation that seems to be on everyone's mind. Am I steering them incorrectly?

Jess, I am here. In Christed consciousness. Time is really not that crucial in the grand scheme of things. Your concept of when is really not an issue in the bigger picture.

What you must do is accept the rightness of the choices and see the purposes of the postponements from what we suggest can be the time. This is working to a complete package of activities that all form a perfect and interconnected whole. This is representative of Christ Michael's concept and must be the determination that is sought.

You personally are in a good place. You see ways constantly that you can improve your state of health and attitude. This is a progression. This is evolving. There are no incorrect choices, just options for you to decide to explore. Some are more effective than others in terms of you reaching your goals; others are more of a learning/teaching experience that you will be able to weigh against the less difficult choices.

I will speak of the choices people on Earth can make in terms of their money situations and their living conditions. The banks will be undergoing a transition, as has been described. Cash will not be readily available for a period of a few days. This will start as soon as we begin the announcement period probably 12 hours after everyone wakes up from the stasis period. The initial surprise and bewilderment of many will be sinking in to a rational view of what has happened. News will be curtailed in many cases and explanations will be kept to a minimum. The uninformed conclusions will serve no positive purpose. This is controlling, yes, but ultimately practical.

I must point out that the change is global, not just in America with its fifty states. The discussion here is almost exclusively on what will happen in this country, when in actuality every country on every continent will undergo a form of change. That is an enormous proposition, and one that has required this time to prepare and set in motion. The ingredients for this political stew have all been acquired and placed on the counter, so to speak, but the heat necessary to make things boil has not been brought to the mix. This is the situation you find yourself in on the eve of the stasis events. This will be the action of putting all the elements into the cleaned pot and bringing the raised energy from the photon belt into play. The stew will cook while you rest, and it will be ready for you to serve when you wake up, so to speak, from your nap.

To continue this analogy, you will find some of the ingredients have boiled away in the cooking process, but you will have a refined stock left in the pot that will be the new source of much continued creation and new projects. You must look at the cleansing of Earth in the terms of refining and preparing for new and better things eventually.

Everyone on Earth has agreed to their life plan before they came. Everyone's higher self knows what they have determined is their agenda. The choices of how to achieve this agenda are the variables you find as you live on Earth. There are many options you can choose that are determined by your personal discernment and preconditioning memories. These choices affect how your life is shaped. You each select a life pattern than allows you to explore your individual purpose in whatever way seems most appropriate for you alone. Your birth and your death pattern are selected as the most instructive method for your incarnation.

I say all of this because your perception of life after stasis will be different. You will begin to see this bigger picture of universal truth with ever-increasing clarity. You will see why people are no longer here. You will see why you have remained, and you will see what your purpose is in staying. This planet is going through a tremendous renewal and restoration. You are staying here because you have agreed to help with this process. This process demands cooperation and ingenuity. This is the talent and power you have—those of you who are here. You know more about living in this type of creation than anyone. Your job is to use this knowledge.

This involves finding ways to live that are more in tune with Earth. This involves finding means of rational cooperation with each other. If scarcity of resources or money becomes an issue, then determine what you personally can do about it. You have chosen to be in the situation you are in because you want to experience it. How will you do that and what will you discover and learn? Life is about learning and experiencing. Pleasure comes from experience that brings satisfaction and a sense of personal balance. You are happy because you are happy. Not because someone tells you you are happy.

The scenario you Jess have described [in Yahoo group ahsupport on 9-8-07. See below] is close to what will be developed by the banking system and the financial trustees that will be overseeing the transition. They are now bound by Christ Michael to create one that will be in keeping with the laws of his Universe. Your reaction will be one of working within the method devised because it is most rewarding personally. Money will become an extension of your own personal development rather than being the god that controls what you do.

You must look at all the changes coming as good and positive events that Christ Michael is giving you for your own enlightenment. This intervention is a remarkable step in terms of overseeing the ascension of a planet. You should look at it as an amazing gift you are considered special enough to receive. You are co-creators with the god of your Universe. You should think of yourselves that way.

Esu, Planetary Prince of Urantia

ahsupport 9-8-07

My comments on this come from earlier outlines that came through St. Germain. I haven't heard lately, and I will try to do that if I can to find out more accurately.

The suggestion for cash was really to hold you over while the banks are closed to change to the new accounting system. You have to determine what amount that would mean. The cards won't work and there may be some electrical circuit problems that will be triggered by the extra photon energy coming in. Stores will accept cash.

Part of what I assume will happen immediately as part of the change over is there will be money going to the banks to pay off all the credit card debt and any other bank loan situations you may be involved with. This will be talked about in the announcements. Your salaries will continue, as I understand, but you will suddenly have more money because you will not have to pay those bills. There will be a transition to new Treasury bills, but the old paper money can be exchanged 1:1 once the banks open again.

The earlier scenario also said the value of the money would be reduced by moving the decimal point one place to the left. Prices would be affected by this shift in dollar value. Something previously $100 would cost $10. It would be the force of the market place that would ensure the prices were what they should be in terms of real value.

To counter this, the value of your check would remain at the preadjustment value for at least a couple of months. Instead of getting $2,000 you would be getting $20,000. This plus the eliminated bills payments would allow you to stockpile some savings in the face of reduced prices. This was to transition into prosperity payments and reimbursements each month of $75,000.

This has been delayed apparently in the face of the crises that are looming. There will not be time to set this banking change in motion before Jupiter ignites, to use Christ Michael's term.

I don't know how accurate this scenario is now, so don't hold me to it completely. But I think the situation is not quite as grave as it may appear.

Also 9-8-07 in response to a question

As I understand it, the money we have in the bank will be exchanged at the value it was before the shift. I think that would mean our accounts would suddenly be more valuable in terms of a reduced new dollar amount. Our current salary would only be the pre-shift value for a period of time and then it would revert to the new exchange rate. This was planned to be supplemented by the large monthly reimbursement money. As Christ Michael said through Candace, however, this monthly check will be delayed a while. Its going to be a massive program to pay everyone a check and there won't be enough time to put it in place before the Jupiter event.

I don't know about people with no income, although I think part of the purpose of the prosperity money is to provide outreach services for people who need help. I think the current plan is to get some of this money out there quickly to help set up the relief services that will be needed before and after Jupiter.

What I'm hearing now is that things are going to be coming so soon that we won't have time either to set up the original funding programs or to even worry too much about having anything beyond basic needs for a while. Once things get settled again, then we can start using the prosperity money that has been promised.

I think the problem is going to be lack of supplies and resources and not a lack of money to purchase them. Think how much comes from the West coast. Think how much we depend on transportation getting things to us.

But also think that we are going to be functioning at a higher frequency of energy and our goals and sense of compassion will be changed along with some aspects of our current way of life. This part is never talked about. The purpose of the stasis is to clean up the dark and to raise the level of our physical existence to a higher level of awareness of Christ consciousness. I would like to think we won't have all the worries about money we do now once we realize that we are intended to help each other.

Christ Michael Comments on Current Progress into Stasis

By Christ Michael through Jess

Journal 9-24-07

Christ Michael, I ask for you to clarify the situation for me and for other readers. A letter has been sent to you asking most respectfully where we are in terms of the end of September date posted in "Stasis 101." I am aware of the flexibility necessary in arranging events on such a grand scale. I accept your explanations for unexpected events that prevent the projected plans from taking place as anticipated. The issue in this instance is a set time frame that people have organized their lives around. This has happened many times in the past, unfortunately, and people are not conditioned to accept these alterations from what they assumed to be respected voices. Speak to these issues, if you will today.

Yes, Jess, I will speak to you again today. These are serious questions in a time of uncertainty. The surface, public events bare little resemblance to the underlying machinations that are ongoing even as we speak this evening. The agreements we seek and must have before we can enter stasis have not yet been reached completely.

You ask me to explain this situation further for the readers. Stasis is an event that will occur as the beginning of our formal intervention. We have been guiding you on Earth up to this point, through discussions and teachings, and also with the assistance of numerous allies who are working on the surface in professions that directly impact the decisions that will produce the outcome that must be achieved. Make no mistake: the outcome will be achieved. This is the decree of Heaven and the Creator Source of all. My responsibility and guardianship oversees this taking place. I have created this Universe of Nebadon and Earth is my prize creation. I will not see this fail.

However, I also created the existence on Earth to explore the experience of duality and separation from me. This has been a more extraordinary lesson than anyone could have projected at the time. This is because there were no previous examples to look to and no hints of the outcomes that might be possible. I offered the opportunity for masters and angels to come to Earth and experience this new sense of separation. It was a risk, and I knew it was necessary to have inhabitants with skills and previous experience with shaping a planet in times of distress. This ability was locked inside of each of the people who incarnated. For a while they remembered this as part of their connection to the Universe. But with the coming of the dark, they were made to forget this link and become unthinking servants to others with an awareness of control and manipulation.

This led to the catastrophes of Lemuria and Atlantis, and survivors sank even further into their forgetfulness. Others with some remembrance of their positions as overlords created another world of elite and controlled. This recreation of the worst of Atlantis has continued up to the present day. My bestowal in the agency of Jesus Christ was the beginning of the shift in thinking that would lead to the awareness that is burgeoning out today.

I have been guiding you with my ministers and teachers for the whole of your existence. This has been a form of intervention from the beginning of your history. The intervention you seek now asks for more specific assistance in the face of greater threats than you have ever been aware of. We have listened to your requests and have granted you more.

The Conclave you have heard spoken of was a meeting I called with representatives from all over the Grand Universe and Havona. This was a meeting unlike any you have heard of. The representatives deal with the directions Universes as a whole take in ascending and recreating themselves. They determine how universes are constructed and what reality they will embody as their components are developed. This is work on a greater scale than you are capable of imagining. Think how vast your own Universe of Nebadon is and imagine that to be an insignificant piece of an immense group of similar universes. The attendees at the meeting I called were the overseers of these vast assemblages of planets and stars. Spiritual beings on a high level of light and connection with the energy of the Creator Source.

They all had opinions on what to do with Earth, this small piece of the Grand Universe of Universes. It was a long and contested discussion. The end result was that I was given the right to do what I wished with my creation. The plan is totally mine and the decisions I make are totally for the best interests of my jewel of creation.

I have chosen to allow you still to work out your resolution as best you can—with our assistance—to the cycle of choices that were initiated after the demise of Atlantis. This has been thousands of years of your struggling and experiencing, with stages of awakening and periods of falling back into forgetfulness. We have always been guiding your explorations and always providing suggestions for you to discover as your own awarenesses. Your core connection to me has been constant even as you were oblivious to its presence. This is why you have always looked for something—a solution, a better way, a savior. This search has always taken a form.

Now you are here with an awareness that is ready to experience our full disclosure. This readiness is still threatened by those who wish this awakening not to occur. These are the controlling elite who manipulate your actions and your thinking to make you support them through your acceptance of laws and procedures that are not in your own individual best interest. This is being changed completely, with actions that are progressing carefully and delicately through mine fields that reach to all levels of your global society. The game plan in operation is enormously complicated and operating on several levels of reality at once. Your conscious perception is but one level of the activity that is ongoing. You sense the progress in all these levels, but your conscious awareness is still fixated on the conditioning information still being fed to you by the controlled media sources.

This disjunction of levels of perception is the source of your discomfort and frustration. You have a sense that good is pervading much of your awareness, but you reject that assurance in the face of measured and quantified proof that seems to fall short of your expectations.

The question of time is a tricky one. Time and space are constants that we accept as well, but the measurements you use are not those of the Universe of Orvonton that we are part of. Our measurements coincide with yours on occasions, and are not congruent on others. Our working plan is what we must make our decisions by, just as you are tied to your calendar measurements and your time segments. We have certain plans that we work under, and these projections are the dates that are given out in messages and so-called predictions. These dates are approximations to our time. They can't be looked at as the determinants for galactic actions that are timed to another system. We say in all cases that a projected date is contingent on all factors being in place. This understanding is a truth that will not be changed. Any prediction that states a definite date is always conditional, even if the channeler or seer doesn't include that fact.

What to say now of the "Stasis 101" date and the projection for the end of September? This is a proposed date in your time that coincides with the working plan we are operating from. Our working plan has a list of variables that must be in place before we can move on. The irony is that the variables are being achieved by allies on Earth working within the time frame they are familiar with. The date of 9/19 was a deadline by which agreements had to be reached. I would allow no further indecision on those questions. This time came and went and the agreements I sought were not achieved.

At that point I determined that I would offer no more deadlines. The decisions from then on were solely mine to make.

As a result, I have ordered the beginning preparations for the stasis event, and steps are being taken to move the participants into place. Certain of the variables still have to be in place, however, before it is feasible to begin the stasis. We must have complete control of the banking situation. We must have the leverage to obtain the support of the governments around the world. This has not yet all taken place, despite the fact that the end of September is approaching. That was the working plan we told Candace as she wrote the "Stasis 101" message. That is still the working plan we are operating from as the time passes. We are also working with free will choices and the projections of what we anticipate will happen are not absolutely certain.

I hope you understand where we are and what is happening at the moment. This is an immense undertaking that will be the beginnings of an extraordinary shift in consciousness and a progression in your ascension that is unique in all of creation.

This is my word to you today.

St. Germain speaks on GESARA and stasis

By Jess Anthony

Journal 9-25-07

Violinio, I think it is time I asked for comments from you. There seems to be some disagreement as to who is your source and what you are saying. My messages from you have been full of comments on the NESARA program you set up and full of support for the changes Christ Michael is overseeing. I ask you this evening to state who your source is and what you are working with.

Jess, my boy, it has been a long time since we have talked. Yes, I have been busy and you have too, preparing for the changes that will be coming soon from Christ Michael and his workers. I will state categorically that I am working with his mission and that you are part of his ground crew.

I have other channelers who voice my words, that is true. My comments are geared more to specific issues dealing with ascension and the literal changes that will be taking place in your communities as a result of Christ Michael's decision to allow Earth to ascend along with her inhabitants capable of withstanding the upliftment of energy. That was a long sentence, I just realized. It was spilling out and it ran on beyond where it probably should have.

I will speak about recent posts. These messages are not my voice and not my comments. I don't know how to be clearer than that. I would never ask for money for my messages. I would never say that only some can channel. I would never say that only certain guides and channelers qualify as legitimate because they can label their words as coming from Christ Consciousness. Anyone with the ability to be telepathic is connecting to their Christ Consciousness. This is not saying they are Christed or are unable to make mistakes in their hearing. This says that they have awakened their connection with Christ Michael. They are aware of their link to him and his spiritual universe.

I will now speak to what is coming soon. The plan for stasis is set. It will happen as the initiation of Christ Michael's direct intervention on Earth. He is wrapping up the still dangerous details that will provide the control he must have of the banking system and the government officials who will oversee the programs that must be implemented. This is near completion, I tell you. The participants who will activate the stasis are also ready. There will be waves of ships that interact with certain levels of energy and cause them to pause for a period of time. These ships have come from far corners of the galaxy and will be capable of producing a global stasis in a matter of hours. This will happen soon. That is the preferred indication of when.

Once stasis is over, coordinators from the galactic fleets will help Earth's inhabitants to set up new governments and new programs that have accurate accounting systems to control the banking industry. These two concerns are the most pressing to monitor. Everything else revolves around the control of finance and manpower. Our task is to ensure that the new programs are completely honest and operate according to Christ Michael's decrees.

I am most involved with the money distribution that is commonly referred to as the prosperity programs. This payment has taken on worldwide ramifications as a result of the original NESARA concept becoming global. This original plan was created for producing changes and prosperity in America that would influence changes in other countries around the world. This has, in effect, been reversed. Almost all other countries are now waiting for America to catch up and throw off the shackles of over two-hundred years of economic and governmental repression. The few in power have preconditioned the many to serve them. The control of the money system also is skewed to benefit the already wealthy few. This, of course, will have to change.

America is ready. The banking system is ready. The resources are ready to initiate the first payouts. These initial prosperity programs will be intended to fund humanitarian programs that will jump-start the economy and tackle many of the more crucial problems facing your existence. Once the first set of payments are made, then the banking and Treasury system will look to implementing a reimbursement process that will pay every citizen in America a monthly check that will come from the money returned from the secret accounts of those government officials and financial elite that have stolen much of the public's earned cash.

This is what will happen. This is my program and I will be coordinating its operation. I realize my talk here has been primarily about the United States. A corresponding program will be initiated in Canada and in many other countries. Each will be geared to the specific needs in each country, and will utilize primarily funds that have been misappropriated over the years.

I think this is sufficient for today for you, Jess.

Esu describes stasis process

Journal 10-10-07

Esu, I ask for comments this evening. Timing and scheduling are concerns, but I ask for whatever is appropriate to tell me tonight. I am curious about the structure of the stasis event, with regard to what I heard about parallel universe. I am also curious about what is being planned for us. It sounds almost unbelievable, but enormously fulfilling. Speak to me as you wish tonight.

Good evening, Jess. Of course, I can speak with you. You haven't come to me for a couple of days and we can speak of things to come soon. Your connection is still strong and clear and this is good.

Let's speak of the stasis event, as you called it. These events will be the beaming of energy rays of a certain frequency towards the Earth that will cause certain frequencies of vibrations to stop their motion. This is not analogous to death, because in death circumstances the energy continues to move. It is reshaped into another form that is not representative of the physical body that it used previously. In this instance, the energy pauses its vibration. The power of the beaming vibration causes the other to mirror or entrain its own vibrational frequency to that of the new frequency. This only synchronizes with a certain range of frequencies and these are the ones that pause.

In terms of your bodies, this is the energy "glue" that holds the parts of the atoms together. This is what is connected to the Universal energy that links man with his Creative Sun. This energy has intelligence, and it creates the concept of love that joins waves and pulses of energy into a coherent form. Love is the force that "convinces" random waves of energy to coalesce into a structure and become a unified force that materializes ultimately as a mental idea that takes a physical form.

The stasis energy causes the glue to be stationary. It understands the purpose of this stasis and it wants the energy forms it holds together to experience the new environment it will find when the stasis is finished. This will be a fresh template with an open willingness to accept a fuller range of information being sent to Earth by the Creator Sun and the photon belt. The analogy with sleep is appropriate to some extent. Just as your body assimilates new information and physical challenges as it sleeps, so will the paused energy be re-tooled to accept a much more intense and faster vibrating experience.

This will be brought on during sleep and it will end as Earth's inhabitants wake up the next morning of what seems to be the next day. Because all energy vibration in the body has paused, the body doesn't experience any sense of time passing. The Earth is not pausing, however, and she will be continuing on with her ascendancy with our help. There will be a new sense of environment when people wake up, much cleaner and more balanced and peaceful.

The question you ask is when, and also you asked the extent of the stasis activities. I will address that latter part first. The notion of a parallel universe is not imagined. There is an energy mirror that reflects the reverse of what is going on here in this dimension. This is not an exact reversal to the atomic level, but another freely deciding existence that tends to choose the opposite of much of what is going on here. There they have already enacted reforms and cleaned up much of the antagonistic atmosphere that still pervades much of this existence on Earth. They had no problems preparing for the beginning of stasis, and in fact it has just been put in operation on that level. The idea of it bleeding over here is not actually correct. The interaction between the parallel universes is one of an energy exchange that actions in one universe trigger in the other. This give and take is the dialogue that happens. The fact that it has started there bodes well for the initiation here.

Let's sign off here for the evening. I still can't tell you exactly when, except to say it will be very soon.

Christ Michael, Esu and Lady Nada say prepare

By Jess Anthony
# 36 Oct 14, 2007 - 2:34:00 PM

Journal 10-13-07

Esu, I ask for comments. There seems to be an insistence. Speak now, if you will.

Yes, Jess, I wish to speak to you this evening. This is the preliminary for what is to come. This is not a warning. This is a serious call for you to prepare.

I will speak first. I am Sananda Immanuel Esu Kumara and I have the position of Planetary Prince. I will be taking over this position on Earth in physical form as a symbol of Christ Michael's lordship as Creator Son of Nebadon. His plan for his Universe is clear and determined. The fact that you have free will on Earth is of no consequence in his overall plan for the ascension of this solar system and your planet. It will happen. Your participation is one aspect of this plan that colors the direction it takes as part of its creation. You are assigned the task of shaping this move. This has been your role always, and you have created the place you are now. You chose to come to Earth at this time to implement the necessary shifts that allow Earth to complete her role. You have a symbiotic relationship with her, and your decisions have always had an impact on her visage. She has allowed you to corrupt her surface and deplete many of the necessary elements that form the nutrients she needs as a living planet. This was her gift to you to allow you discover your own self identity. You are recognizing some aspect of that almost too late to save her.

Therefore, Christ Michael and forces from all across his galaxy have come to assist with the repair and reconstitution of your Mother. This is the compassion you will discover must take place in your interactions with each other as you move into your future. This selfless willingness to participate is inbred in your DNA and must be re-activated to allow your continued ascension as beings of light. This is part of your destiny and now is the time to recognize this.

I speak as the temporal leader who will embody Christ Michael's wishes on Earth. I will be joined by the Buddha, who will speak to Christ Michael's spiritual wishes. Together we will represent the spiritual manifestation of the Universal Law. The advocacy of Monjoronson as the Avonal Magisterial Son is the contributed force from the Creative Source in Havona. He was sent as counterpart to Christ Michael to judge the manifestation at this point in its ascension and make the authoritative decisions as to the direction it takes in its next phase. This shift you are experiencing in its beginning phases will move in the timing of Monjoronson. It has never been completely detached from the will of the Creative Source, although Christ Michael was given the lead to design his universe as he saw fit.

It is analogous to your free will on Earth. It is free within the larger scope of the determined wishes of some level higher that is responsible ultimately to the determination of Trinity. Free choice can be overruled by a higher choice.

I will now give the floor to my spiritual counterpart Lady Nada, the voice of feminine energy and will.

Jess, let me speak to you again this evening. You hear a different voice from me as a gentler speaker from Esu. He is speaking more formally today, and I am speaking more familiarly. He spoke of me as his counterpart, and I represent the yin to his yang. This masculine/feminine dichotomy has had a place in all your religious and philosophical expressions of the design of the cosmos. You have instinctively created a place for the feminine receiver of the masculine wishes and ideas. Creativity has come from concept. Concept has been nurtured by emotion and comfort. Comfort has been expressed through physical love and spiritual bonding on many levels of understanding.

This duality of one whole will be represented by my manifestation with Sananda Esu on Earth as his consort Mary Magdalene. The spiritual marriage will be visibly recognized and accepted as the paradigm of human relationships. This may take many forms, but the universality of the male/female pairing will be acknowledged and revered as part of the compassionate unity that Earth's inhabitants will recognize and seek to exemplify.

The notion of spiritual pairs will be explained and clarified as part of the shift you will be making. You will each see the bond that is necessary for your completion as a spiritual being, and you will understand the need for you to have one.

I speak now. This is Christ Michael Aton, as I have come to be called. My will is that Earth ascends. To that end I have taken over the process and am now controlling the complete scenario for this to happen. I have let man play out his games of control and dominance over others. It has served a purpose in his education, but it is now finished. I will no longer tolerate the delay in acknowledging my wishes. I will no longer allow those at odds with my purposes to direct the progress of my planet. I have been generous to a fault, and I have allowed the perception that I am weak and vacillating in my decisions. This was my prerogative and my choice. I have been imagined as many types of deity and ignored by many as unnecessary or peripheral. I am not. I am the Christed Michael who created the Universe of Nebadon of which the planet Earth is an integral part that I designed specifically. I created the concept that is Earth. I chose all the elements that comprise her manifestation. I allowed all forms of physical actualization as a means to realize my vision for her.

I chose to allow dark elements at odds with my vision to take over my creation. I chose to quarantine my planet to protect the rest of my Universe, and I agreed to allow spiritual masters to incarnate here to attempt to work out a resolution from within and under the limitations of duality. I watched this for eons and I saw it almost succeed and fail. I was determined not to allow this to happen again and I chose to make my final bestowal as a physical embodiment here to redirect the flow of man's energy streams in an inevitable path I created through my incarnation.

This has led to now, this time. Man has done what he could do from within. There is no more he can accomplish without my direct intervention. I have the complete authority to intervene as I choose and redirect the ascension of my Earth as it needs to be.

That is what is now happening. You will see the results shortly.

This has been Aton, the Christ Michael of Nebadon speaking through his voice Jess Anthony on this evening on the beginning of the intervention.

Esu speaks on Changing Universal Energy

By Jess Anthony
# 37 Nov 19, 2007 - 11:11:00 PM

Journal 11-19-07

Esu, I ask for clarity. I see this now as learning, but where am I in the scheme of things? I see levels of visibility with other groups collecting and ask for the assurance of my place. I ask for a solution and a new direction that simplifies this conflict.

Jess, let's speak. This is Esu, not your mind. It was an interesting premise you seized upon this morning. We are all learning, that is true. The significant thing to remember, however, is that all knowledge is useful only to the extent it clarifies your own personal mission and mandate. Not everything is applicable to you within the focus of your vision. Peripheral images and information color the context for the truth, but they do not change the applicability of the truth to you.

What is your truth? It is to serve me at this point. We are setting things up that will be for the betterment of man and the planet. Trust me on this. I know that you get frustrated with the delay and with the changeability of the game plans. This is because of free will, as you read from Tahuti. This creates a malleable energy construct that always needs accommodation. Our goal is to work with this as it changes.

The concept of malleability is a working fact in the structure of Universal design. Energy flows and each composite physical nexus is not fixed, but amorphic. Energy seeks a like or compatible frequency to connect with and continue its linkage.

This rule of Universal energy is the core of man's behavior and determines his relationship with the energy that is around him. The pure energy of the Creator fragment that resides in him is the pattern for all the slower and less refined vibrations that make up the rest of his physical body. The lesser frequencies all seek the higher vibration of the Creator's fragment for alignment and unity. This adaptability is the characteristic of man, and his exposure to the divided reality that is built around duality is dependant on this ability. Reality seems to come at him in opposite possibilities. He is surrounded by a any number of viable options, and his task is to weigh the ones that present themselves to him to determine which option is the one most suited to his individual personality and purpose.

The delays that have been a seemingly constant feature of the move to a higher vibrational reality have all been caused by man's unpredictable free will decisions. We have had the technical ability to intervene in man's affairs at any time we wished. The outcomes would be less positive than the one that is presenting itself at the moment, however. This is the nature of delays in this instance. Each time a projected date or time frame is reached without the anticipated results being accomplished, man assumes the decision was solely made by overweening galactic forces that were essentially controlling everything anyway. He places the blame solely on them, without thinking that he—in the broader sense—has as much responsibility in choosing when something actually takes place. Man's reactions and choices shape the structure of the intervention that is possible. The galactics are content with any variation Christ Michael has determined is the one he prefers. They work to his call, and make no judgments as to the benefit of the choices.

Man with his involvement on Earth literally shapes the form of the higher manifestations that occur on other levels. Man is concerned with shape and scheduling. He sees the efficiency of the galactic process and seeks to incorporate that into his own mundane situations. This draw to the higher galactic truth is the dichotomy that has shaped man's life on Earth. Since he has been conditioned to forget even more than he did originally, this search has often been outside in various tools for awareness, rather seeking the truth inside himself. This latter is very simple, but often ignored when new trends are being taught. The Creator's spark is within, not without, and the frantic activity to amass great wealth or property is a moot issue with regard to the success in finding the inner truth of the Creator's reality.

This awareness must be realized again. This perspective is being realized by more and more each day, but the mass conception of this truth is still incomplete. Man senses his innate link to the Creator, but he doesn't yet see it with open eyes, nor construct his behavior around its considerations.

This awareness of a new reality is the key issue that I will be bringing to Earth as Planetary Prince. I will instruct that behavior must be conditioned by an awareness of the inner reality of the Creator spark. Man must re-align his thinking to acknowledge his unity with his Creator. Attitudes and conceptions must be factored by this awareness of unity with the Universe and the Creator Son. Decisions must be evaluated and determined by this identification with Universal truth.

Spiritual unity is more the province of Lord Buddha. He will be the one determining the validity of processes in the sense of spiritual balance and growth. His role as spiritual logos is parallel to mine as Planetary Prince in charge of manifested examples of energy awareness. Together we will supervise man's ascension process. My consort Lady Nada will be providing the example of feminine energy that has been neglected these many years in favor of the dominating masculine energy that has caused such an unbalanced state in man's physical, emotional, mental, and spiritual bodies.

This is sufficient this evening. I will speak further.

Esu, Planetary Prince.

Esu speaks on Current Situation

By Jess Anthony

# 38 Nov 27, 2007 - 3:32:00 PM

Journal 11-27-07

Esu, I ask for an update and some additional guidance. I am faced with scheduled events and I look at the possibility anytime of stasis. Help me find my balance in this. I also ask for insight into what my role is becoming. I see myself settled here and in a good place for a new chapter in my life. Speak to this today, I ask.

Jess, good morning. I am weary and overwhelmed with the immensity of this task. Yes, I also can be overburdened. J This is wearing down to the end, but the end is in sight. I haven't told Candace much beyond what she has told you. I have been connecting with her, but you are also in my purview. This whole new sensibility you are feeling is part of the bonding we are creating. Yes, your new sense of identity is part of this development. New sense, in the sense of revitalization and fresh approaches to familiar aspects. This is part of what is going to happen. After the stasis happens, everyone that is staying will have a new sense of commitment and re-visioning.

I can't give you definite dates or times. The list of priorities keeps shifting depending on what you on Earth decide. You are part of that grand decision only by the fact that you are part of the mass consciousness. Your personal decisions cause ripples that have an impact on other decisions you are in contact with. Everyone is connected in their thinking and make up. You are all part of one whole that is an extension of the energy of Christ Michael. You are all formed from his concept of creation. Even I am part of his concept. I fulfilled my role to this point to come to this position. You did the same. You have contributed much yourself in this moving to shifting consciousness.

This phase that is coming will be a transition period with some unpleasantness to your way of thinking now. This is all necessary in the larger picture, and is not viewed as a catastrophe in the terminal sense you on Earth still view it. Nothing is destroyed unless it chooses to be. Energy changes form and re-materializes. You will view much and see many cases where you will be the counselor and mediator for the interim time.

Christ Michael is determined to end this perpetual delay. His original intentions have been frustrated by the inactivity he has found. I tell you we are learning, and this is still the case. He had no concept of this particular configuration of energy manifestation. You have created a new paradigm for his consideration. This is a remarkable situation, don't you see? This has not happened elsewhere. This is why so many of you are here now to learn of this difficult classroom. You can see why he is both fascinated and impatient. That is a simplistic way of expressing his overarching involvement. He is equally invested in the struggles and the moves to alignment. He wants it finished to begin the next phase, however.

The consideration of Jupiter has put a crimp in the freedom he was exploiting in letting you continue to decide your commitment, or the extent to which you are willing to be committed. It has drastically shortened the time frame that is possible. The situation with the Provost and the banks is fascinating, but too complicated at this point to allow for a resolution naturally. I don't foresee our holding out much more.

Esu speaks on Jupiter and Stasis

By Jess Anthony
# 39 Nov 28, 2007 - 4:58:00 PM

Journal 11-28-07

Esu, I ask for another update today after Candace's comments this morning on feeling new ascension energy. Where are we at the moment? I can be ready this evening if necessary. I ask for the status of stasis, as well. I also read Bellringer's comments that the Jupiter/stasis information was a lie put out by the dark. It seems to me he is holding to an outmoded process that no longer works because of the free will request that has led to the intervention. Speak to that, if you will.

Jess, good afternoon. Things are moving. The progression you read about was the preliminary jolts of light that are preparing Jupiter for the effect you anticipate. This will be a spectacular event for the world.

Bellringer doesn't know or accept what has been talked about. He is caught up in his twisted version of the truth that ignores what we have been saying through you and others for the last ten years. The truth is that Jupiter is happening. The truth is that stasis will take place. This is the response to the cries for help that Earth has been sending out based on the inhabitants' free will ability to choose life or destruction. The evacuation scenario was the only plausible method we could envision twenty years ago when the destruction of Mother Earth in her present form was inevitable. You as a planet have awakened to your connection with us in sufficient numbers that it demands we intervene. The fact that this bears a resemblance to the Biblical story of saving the planet is coincidental, but ultimately beneficial. Because it sounds like a preconditioned eventuality, the true situation is more easily accepted by the masses. I am not coming in the clouds, but I will be returning to Earth in a space ship's shuttle. This is a given and the prophecy's comments in that instance are facts.

There will also be the return of Christ Michael himself in a form that is acceptable for the energy level you will have. We have split our merged form of 2,000 years ago and now are returning individually and as a Christed consciousness. This will happen when the energy allows this to be accomplished. The dimensional level has been gradually raised during the last year or so, and the God Event also triggered the molecular changes necessary for the raising energy to begin its changes in the physical embodiments you have adapted on Earth.

I will repeat this is not a Rapture. This is leveling the playing field of Earth so man can have a fair change once he wakes up again to re-build as he has been told he will need to do. This is not waving a magic wand. This is saving the Earth from the type of destruction what would have mandated an evacuation of sorts. The thing that Bellringer never speaks of in the evacuation is that only about 10% of the existing population could be lifted up successfully if this were to happen. The scenario we spoke of in the original Phoenix Journals is no longer viable. The population has increased too much, for one thing, and the teleportation methods we use are not suited to the still dense physical construct the Earth inhabitants continue to have. The only viable method we have now to preserve the Earth's inhabitants as Mother Earth and Christ Michael intend is to engineer a stasis, or suspension of time for certain energy levels comprising most of the mammal population, and intervene within the paused stasis to re-engineer other levels of energy manifestations. This will have the effect of removing the worst hazards man has created with the help of their off-world advisors—hazards that man is not capable of removing in time to prevent Mother Earth from taking events into her own hands and bypassing her plan to save her inhabitants.

The ignition of Jupiter is another event that is inevitable in the Ascension process for the whole galaxy. This is necessary to trigger the raising of the energy level of the solar system you inhabit so that it can then lock into the changes that are already taking place elsewhere in the Universe. Christ Michael is determined that Nebadon will ascend as a whole, and Earth is a troublesome weak link in this chain of events. The quarantine imposed on it and the extraordinary development of dark resistance over the eons has contributed to it becoming almost unrecognizable as the jewel it once was in Christ Michael's design. He allowed it to sink into such depths to allow his highest masters to agree to incarnate on it with its peculiar dual system of manifestation as a rigorous testing ground for learning all there is to know about counteracting this infestation.

This almost has been the death of the planet. But Christ Michael has been given permission from higher up to intervene as he sees fit to save and resurrect his original seed planet. This is what is happening now, and the process on Earth is key to the process that is happening to its Universal context. This is all tied together. Man is an element, but he is not the ultimate deciding factor. The Ascension of the Universe takes precedence over man's free will choice to reject the help he has been offered.

This is happening now and the Jupiter ignition and the stasis will be events that occur. They are not figments of Candace's or your imagination, nor do you work for the CIA, or for other religious voices speaking for the dark status quo. The insistence on evacuation is folly. It will not happen. There will be a period of turmoil, along with the change of governments and the installation of a new economic and financial system based on no credit as it exists now. Money all over the world will be based on hard metal currency. There will be no fiat printing. There will be no purchases without the money to back up the agreement.

The government systems all over the world will be based on true representative discussion and decision making. This will come from community groups that influence the elected representatives, not the other way around. The economic power structure that controls all governmental decisions now will be abolished, and educated choices by individuals will determine how the community is structured. This is a republic form of government, not a democracy with control given over to those who force their decisions on the less powerful.

This all is coming and will be announced from broadcasts beamed to Earth after the stasis is completed. The current elected officials will be removed and interim appointments supportive of these Universal ideas will be installed in their place. These changes are based on Christ Michael's plan for his Universe. The only way his creation can ascend as a whole is when it has a unified acknowledgement of this truth. His decision is final and represents the wishes of the Creator Source.

This is a sufficient statement this afternoon. You may post as you will to whichever outlets you choose.

Esu speaks on Channeling the Future

By Jess Anthony
# 40 Dec 16, 2007 - 1:43:00 PM

Journal 12-16-07

Esu, I ask for information and guidance today. I need help holding my focus in the face of other activities that are ongoing and require participation as well

Good morning, Jess. We are working hard to wrap up all the loose ends that must be taken care of before we can launch stasis. I realize we have said this many times before, but each time previously we have had unanticipated events happen that have derailed the progress before it reached its goal. This is the situation with the so-called predictions and prophecies. They are projections of almost certainty but the final piece is not there to cause them to materialize. The public's anticipation and impatience are nothing more than their lack of belief in their role in shaping the future and their inability to envision the complexity of creating the vision they see and assume will happen. I keep remarking on this because there is a common misinformation about the role of channeling and prophecy. If it were absolutely fixed and accurate, then there would be no evolution and no way to create a new future. Have they thought of that?

There is only now that is absolutely certain, and it changes immediately. The past is not fixed, as well, and the future has yet to be designed, if it has even been envisioned. Beyond the absolute that ascension and change will occur, there is no preconceived path that is the "correct" way to follow in getting there. Each of the infinite individual personalities and life choices is the Creator Source's way to experience his creation. All possibilities are equally an option. That includes alignment and non-alignment. I'm trying to say to you that all possibilities are ways the Creator learns through his creation. None is considered better or worse. Each is a vehicle. The only goal is to re-align with the Creator's fullest expression of his envisioned idea.

All life style options are possibilities, and all are part of the embracing outreach of the Creator Source. Each super universe and each local universe such as Nebadon are distinct manifestations of possibilities of learning and reconnecting. The Creator Father's ideas are actualized by the Son and the Holy Spirit. All is an extension of his thought. He learns through all. Your judgments of good and bad and appropriate and incorrect are only perceptions based on your experiences and preconceived thoughts. You have been taught at some point that certain behaviors are "better" and more spiritual because of a set of rules those who have wrested power have constructed to control you. Religion is powerful control couched in political assumptions that are colored by guilt. The religions leaders play on this conditioned sense of infallibility and conviction to manipulate behavior and belief in their favor.

The information you continue to seek is, in fact, unknowable. Circumstances determine choices and create reality as a result. The "predictions" of NESARA and the announcements are based on the structure pre-formulated in preparation of the manifestation of the proper circumstances for them to be followed. The tools for their manifestation are ready and well-rehearsed. The decision to begin them has yet to be made. Christ Michael created this Universe for his envisioned ideas and he alone determines when all the pieces or components of his complex ascension puzzle are in their place. The scenario is vast and the check list of necessary elements is immense. Most have been achieved at this point, and the time is whenever Christ Michael determines he is satisfied with their completion.

The impatience you have is an inevitable by-product of the existence you are conditioned to refer to. You have been taught to expect instant gratification from without to satisfy your personal indecision and lack of inner certainty. Having a base of surety with your own personal goals recognized and acknowledged will eliminate the need for verification or guidance from someone outside your own self. If you know your purpose and are confident the path you are following is the one that will lead to greater and greater re-connection with the Creator Source, then outside events or attempts at persuading you to change your personal discernment are ineffectual. When that happens, you also realize that your personal life path is no better or worse than the one of the person attempting to persuade you to change yours. All paths at whatever level of awareness and alignment are equally valid explorations recognized by the Creator.

I can't say when at this point. Things are contingent on Jupiter and stasis beginning. The balance is tipping again to the side of Jupiter first. This is moving towards a culmination before the end of this year while Jupiter is behind the sun. Many are pooh-poohing this idea. So be it. This is happening and their perceptions will shift when the proof of its occurrence is visible incontrovertibly.

Esu speaks on Jupiter Schedule and Future Decisions

By Jess Anthony
# 41 Dec 24, 2007 - 12:49:00 PM

Journal 12-24-07

Esu, I ask for comments from you today. Speak of the events anticipated and give insight into the circumstances. Help us to wait for the changes to come. Assure us of the New Year to come.

Jess, let us speak of the New Year and the changes to come. This is a time for reflection and circumspection. Many assumptions previously held will be shown to be incorrect. Many idols you have had will fall. Many practices you cling to will be shown to be incompatible with the new energy and the new ways of cultural accommodation.

The time for Jupiter is near. It is an event on a grander scale than you imagine on Earth, and its ignition will trigger changes that affect the whole solar system and the part of the Universe of Nebadon that Earth is situated in. It is not just for the benefit of Earth's inhabitants, although you will be the important recipients of much of its new energy and information. Yes, I say information because ideas and concepts are nothing but energy that is received and transformed into physical chemistry and manifested reality. The Jupiter ignition will transform much that you think and accept. This will be like a physical wave of energy that is coming through the Universe and washing over Earth to clean the debris you have created in your three-dimensional limitations.

The date is not set because it is dependent on Jupiter's readiness to move into its next phase. But the time is now and we are paused waiting for this to manifest. It is very similar to someone on Earth having to make a difficult decision. The determination is postponed until the last possible second to avoid the imagined consequences. Jupiter, or the spirit manifested as Jupiter, understands the benefits of this transformation but remains hesitant to take the step. Continuing this metaphor, we can say that encouragement and the additional sustenance of extra energy are convincing the planet's spirit to assume a new form that suits the new galactic scenario.

I can also speak more scientifically in your terms. The energy that triggers the ignition comes from outside the planet's gaseous physical form. The amount necessary has been supplied and the process of connecting all the interior linkages is proceeding exponentially. Think of a string of atoms lining up and sending their combined energy at a specific target that will explode when too much energy is provided for its physical structure. The structure becomes a new structure as it transforms its existing reality to suit the new one. Creation results from an idea connecting with energy that connects with other existing energy to produce a new combination of energy aggregates with a different purpose and different configuration. All conditions must be right. The ingredients, so to speak, must be all assembled and ready to be mixed before this transformation can take place.

Jupiter is measuring everything involved and is proceeding, but I must remind you the planet is not following your scheduled calendar expectations because this means nothing to him. You have conditioned responses to dates and time frames that have been taught to you as important to follow. Who has taught you? Who is concerned with your following their determinations? Time is infinite. How does one or two days delay affect the ongoing movement of the Universe? It only serves to provide a new set of paradigms for you to consider and judge your behavior within. Your behavior is primary, not someone else's determination of your schedule. Are you satisfied with what you are giving yourself? Are you comfortable with how much you are following your own path? Fulfilling your life purpose is what your goal should be. It is most complete and fulfilled when you are most in alignment with the purpose of Christ Michael and the plan for his Universe of Nebadon. Are you constantly asking if your decisions serve this greater purpose? Are you discerning in your choices? I ask this with the awareness that any choice or decision you make is unjudged by us once it is made. It only provides a new context for you to examine your individual goals and purpose. You are the judge and you must decide if your choice fits your greater picture.

I ask these things because I will be repeating these questions when I am on Earth as your Planetary Prince. I will determine ultimately what suits the plans of Christ Michael. Monjoronson and his mission are judging the actions that are ongoing now in assessing and evaluating the steps you have taken to bring you to this point of shifting to a higher level of awareness and unity with an ascending Universe. They have final say in deciding how this level of dimensional activity has manifested itself within the larger picture of reconnection with the Creative Source.

It is your decision whether or not to resonate with these words. They are transcriptions of my thoughts into language that is a form of expression you can understand at this point. My purpose is the idea that has triggered this expression. Your comprehension is the tool that connects you with me and allows us to continue this dialogue on our own level.

I speak to you with joy and wonder this holiday season. Let my energy and presence come to you and remind you always of your link with me and your Creator Father.

Esu, Planetary Prince of Urantia and Sananda with Christ Michael

Esu speaks on New Year's Eve

By Jess Anthony
# 42 Dec 31, 2007 - 4:25:00 PM

Journal 12-31-07

Esu, I ask for comments today. General comments and specific comments for me as I approach this New Year. I ask for guidance and insight. I ask for marching orders, so to speak. I ask for a timetable so I know when to be more prepared than at present. Is the original plan for going operational still? When will Jupiter ignite and when will stasis start? Is this within the known future? I ask for information and clarity.

Jess, let's speak today on the eve of a New Year. This will be assuredly a time of change and ascension. I have said that before, I understand, but this is a new moment in the progression of events leading to the completion of your search away from Christ Michael. This metaphor of breath out and in to call you home is an apt one, in terms of the directional focus. You have been sent out en masse as a created Universe to explore the parameters Christ Michael determined to examine.

This Universe of Nebadon presented specific challenges and issues that had not been examined before in the context Christ Michael devised. This exploration of separation took a direction it was not intended to, however, and the vast ages of dark infiltration and galactic warring were the unexpected outcome. The possibility was always there, of course, but it was not envisioned as becoming the reality it did.

Once the decision was made to begin this conflict, the reality had to play out on whatever scale it reached. Only now has it begun to be controlled and ended. Your situation on Earth has been more intensive and ingrained than most other situations elsewhere in the Universe. This was because it was determined for Earth to be the repository of the worst factions that were left after the initial wars, and their influence has controlled the direction the planet's development took. Your sense of freedom and free choice is an illusion in the bigger context of purpose and working out a reality initiative that was created long ago. You have been given the ability to choose within the parameters that were not already determined. The plan of ascension was set in motion eons ago. The role you have to play in this drama is now coming to its climax and conclusion. It has taken many thousands of years for you to grow to the level you are now, and your spiritual awakening and awareness is a very new development that was triggered as a necessary means to have you fulfill your accepted agenda.

You came to Earth with a purpose that has led to what is happening now. However many lifetimes you have taken to work through your individual assignments were necessary to bring you to this point where you can resolve this issues and knowingly move to a new purpose. This is necessary to complete the evolving process the Universe has been undergoing. Your tasks individually have been to resolve your piece of the puzzle and furnish Christ Michael with the results of your exploration.

You realize you all are parts of Christ Michael that are exploring for his own enlightenment. You are his arms, so to speak, that assume one aspect of a created idea that he seeks to learn from. He is part of you even if you don't remember this connection. The numbers of you awakening to this connection are part of the vanguard leading others to realize their role. This materialization in whatever dimension or density has been Christ Michael and Nebadonia's way of understanding their creation. They are there in you and also separate by means of the perception of individuality. This allows you to explore on your own and to learn whatever you need to understand the life plan you have chosen to inhabit.

This is all coming to a conclusion at this time. The exploration of this aspect of universal perception has been concluded and the focus is changing to a unified movement towards a true identification with the perfection Christ Michael represents for Nebadon. The detritus of preconceptions and thoughts from many past lives are no longer viable or necessary. You are letting all of that go, and this upcoming year will be the time when this truly manifests as a fait accompli.

The perception of a stalled preparation has been only that—a perception. The progression towards ascension has continued, despite the twists and turns you have determined it would take in its progress. You have an agenda to achieve, but the means of getting there are yours to determine. I have told you this many times. The delays you harp on are only your conceptions of right and wrong and failure and success. They are really only the path you have collectively taken to get to the point you are now. You would not have gone any other way because you did not. This is the path you have collectively chosen and all the pitfalls you perceive have been the lessons you chose to experience and learn from. This may not have been a conscious decision to your 3-D/4-D minds, but your higher selves overseeing your role playing on Earth allowed you to experience all these lessons so you would learn from them.

And you have learned, and now we are ready to conclude this farce that it has become, to use your definition. Jupiter is working on its schedule of change. This progress is ongoing, and now unstoppable. The date will be, however, when Jupiter is able to appear different to you. Much of the action in the solar system you inhabit takes place in higher dimensions than you can perceive, and this process involving Jupiter becoming a sun is already accepted and considered in actions at higher levels. The nature of lower dimensions is that energy vibrates more slowly. Higher vibrations create realities that must be transformed to be perceived by you in your lower dimensions. This is a process that takes longer in time as measured by your perceptions.

This can be likened to the influence of your etheric body on your physical body. The vibrations that enter your sphere of individuality must work their way lower and lower through increasingly slow levels of vibration that comprise your whole body. Vibrations that register as spiritual concepts must take form before they are perceived as thoughts with a distinctive form. These formalized thoughts must then be adopted by your emotional awareness and given a reaction that colors your perception of them. These emotional reactions then speak to your physical energy through your brain and create a physical manifestation that you perceive as a fixed actuality.

Your perception of reality is only a result of the paradigms you have accepted on Earth. This may be the appearance of what you accept as fact, but it is not the only level of materialization of a new creation that is impacting your cosmic Universe.

I can't give you the date it will be visible on Earth. I can say it has already happened on higher levels of Universal organization. The itinerary we have adapted for you on Earth is still as we have indicated earlier. Jupiter manifests as a sun and the stasis begins almost immediately. Rest assured that it will happen to your perception because Jupiter has begun the process.

This is a repetition of what I have said many times before, with no more definitiveness. I say this because you asked for as complete an update as I can give you. There are no absolutes in terms of fixed future history. If it were fixed and readable in the great scroll of the future there would be no reason to continue having a sense of thought or creation. You would have no need to have ideas or come up with solutions. There would be no evolution or sense of change if it were already predetermined. I say this to remind you that there is no such thing as a hard and fast future prediction. There are hard and fast possibilities of what can happen if you so choose to make them happen. You are co-creating this fluid movement you are following by your ability to choose your path events. You have not chosen your path in the first place, in the sense of your creating you as an individual with your own purpose to explore, but you have the ability to determine how you wish to explore your individual personality. This is what makes life so exciting.

I will be with you soon and I will continue teaching these truths. Your awakening from stasis will remove much that has been implanted toxically by past traditions and taught preconceptions. You will be vibrating at a higher level that will not accept the weights these controls have placed upon you. This will be soon. Look at the news. What much more can be done? Look to your perception of the news. How much more will you accept and tolerate?

This has been Sananda Esu Immanuel Kumara speaking on this day of preparation for the New Year.

Esu Speaks of Evidence for Changes

By Jess Anthony
# 43 Jan 7, 2008 - 11:28:00 PM

1-7-08

Esu, I ask for comments also this evening. It seems time to reconnect and see what you may wish to tell me verbally. I am waiting, but ready and anticipating changes to materialize more fully to our way of viewing at the present. I ask for your words today.

Jess, it is time to talk again. This is a hiatus that has given you rest and allowed you to accomplish some things in your life. There has been little more to tell you than what you have stated or commented on yourself. The messages have triggered a discussion that will continue. Your support letter will also provide fuel and ammunition for negative comments that may continue for a time.

Let's speak of what is to come. You ask for proof. "Evidence," as it is called, is hard to establish, despite what many think. Evidence means something witnessed and accepted as true by more than one person. What is true, you ask? Truth is the province of Christ Michael. His truth has pervaded the creation of this Universe of Nebadon and his determination is the basis of fact and reality. The evidence you see yourself is flawed and based on incorrect assumptions, for the most part. The scientific rules are mistaken and one-sided. The conjectures based on "scientific fact" are extensions of presumptions in the first place that have no validity.

What is there to say to prove something that is verified by higher laws that are geared around the interconnection of all things? All is interactive and part of one whole that is originating in the ideas of Christ Michael. The scientific facts you seek on Earth and the visible evidence are based on presumptions and accepted explanations of fact that you cannot fully understand. The spiritual component of fact and evidence is missing from your analysis, generally. The unifying essence of Christ Michael is overlooked, as a rule.

What is proof that would be convincing, as you ask still? Proof is the fact that the banks are collapsing on themselves in a public way. The weak underbelly and the overextended lines of credit and payment would never have been so much in the public eye without the assistance of the way showers that we have supported specifically for this purpose. You would not be reading about it, nor would you have any sense of the true causes of this debacle.

Proof is also the scientific validation of much that is visible in the changing solar system and Earth's place in it. Certain writers have assembled the errant scientific observations into a coherent explanation of the changes that are taking place on all the planets. The solar system is moving and the incoming energy vectors are stripping much of detritus away. This picture of the living solar system and Earth's interaction with the other planets is not publicized much, but is out there.

The Jupiter discussion is playing into man's fears and disbelief in something occurring that is so out of the ordinary status quo. How could someone believe this, they ask? How could a speaker/moderator be privy to this Earth shaking information and no one else? The timing of this occurrence is happening in such a short time frame, Universally speaking, that it is possible for very little to occur that would prepare the populace. The explosion is well under way. The ignition did occur in December as "predicted" and the natural process of packing in and then exploding out is in progress.

This is the scenario of a star formation. It must be triggered by outside energy, and then it takes the length of time it wishes to take to work through its own ascension and transformation. Truly that is what is happening to Jupiter. The form is to be a new variant of its energy stage. The shape and function will be different, and will be the lynchpin of much that must occur in changing the nature of the planetary relationships in this part of the Universe. More energy must come in to trigger the move to a higher dimensional light body. This is not just man, not just Earth with her inhabitants, but also the entire range of other planets with their own level of inhabitants. They are looking at the process on Earth as a new experience for them to view, and they all welcome the fact that Earth will be joining them as a more integrated ecosystem and culturally responsible group of inhabitants.

The protons from Jupiter, as well as the increased energy coming to your sun from the Great Central core of this Universe, will act as cleaning tools that will raise the level of your energy frequency to one that is incompatible with the sluggish energy movement of what are labeled "dark" emotions such as fear, worry, a sense of inadequacy, a sense of dominance, or a willingness to attack or harm another human. Man will wake after what will seem no extra time and suddenly find himself viewing his existence differently. He will see a clean atmosphere with an influx of energy that is un-experienced before that moment. He will find he is spontaneously compassionate and eager to join with others in addressing cultural or geographical problems that have been left for him to tackle on his own. There will be clean up still, but the workforce will be attuned to doing this work. The attitude of the bulk of the population will focus on the necessity of doing this work as it presents itself.

The leisure time will be better than now. The work will be limited to reasonable periods of time, and the individual's capacity for personal growth and experimentation will be given free range. This free time will allow insights to come to those designated to hear solutions for general distribution.

Relationships will be causal and implementing a new understanding of the nature of spiritual bonding in addition to physical connection. The physical will be the springboard to a new level of merging with another person that will trigger a union that is unlike any previously experienced.

I give you these example of "proofs" and conjectures for the future. Nothing is written in stone, even the Mayan tablets, as often quoted as they are. The galactic time is already here, and it is not waiting until the calculated 2012. The calendar you use is wrong and the years have no bearing with the true galactic progress measured by Havona and the overseers of the grand Universe of Orvonton. You think you have measurable progress or provable facts, but in truth you have conjectures of your own and unverified data that fits the parameters you yourself have determined and approved as correct.

This is my word on proof and evidence today as asked by others. This is not Jess's conjectures, but his transliteration of what I have impressed on his thinking.

Esu Speaks on Personal Truth

By Jess Anthony
# 44 Jan 12, 2008 - 4:04:00 PM

1-11-08

Esu, what is going on? Explain why we came to this point, if you will. Explain what the delays have led to. Explain what is the purpose of all the conjectured dates that have not been valid conjectures. I ask you to speak about what is going to happen, when, and how this will be encountered. Who is threatened? Who is safe? Will we be given a sign, or will the stasis begin with little foreshadowing? I ask for answers that will be clear and as focused within our perceptions as possible.

Jess, you are going to get sleepy before we get very far into this. I will say a few preliminary words, and then you should get rest.

The time of change is here, which is a better phrase than “at hand.” I have said repeatedly to you that fixed schedules are not workable. Everything is in flux, and you are right to be associating your own movement between dimensions and states of being with the flux that Earth finds herself in. Your remnants of 3d perspective are still coloring your 4d perspectives and choice of actions. This must change to allow you to open yourself to the great influx of energy that you are experiencing. The circumstances on Earth are changing by the minute and you must be ready for these changes.

[Stopped and resumed on Saturday 1-12-08]

Jess, this is a “thicker” day, meaning that the atmosphere around you is mitigating some of the direct energy impulses I am sending you as my thoughts. You also are in a “thicker” place, meaning you are more distracted than last night and less focused on hearing me speak to you mentally. We shall proceed, as it were.

This is a time of upheavals politically and economically. They are tied together, but the guiding hand in all of this has been the control of the banking system by a band of very wealthy individuals unwilling to relinquish what they perceive as their rightful global control. This has a long history of privilege and submission connected to their fiscal pre-eminence. Governmental design and structure has been determined by the few with the wealth to heighten their control. This wealthy few has been preserved in lineage from the earliest days of their forefathers the Annunaki. These off-world travelers seized the control of the planet’s gentler inhabitants and forced them to accept their dominance. Their control was reinforced by the system of money exchange they instituted. All aspects of the inhabitants’ lives were subject to a monetary equivalence, and time and activities were regulated to allow complete dominance. The inhabitants were slaves to their new overlords.

This concept has continued to the present day in various forms and incarnations. The elite money holders still determine the lives of the rest of the Earth’s inhabitants through economic value and legislated restrictions on the free use of their time and goods. The cabal that still endeavors to control the Earth's destiny is locked into this conception of elitism and service. Its unchecked rush to acquire control of every available dollar or fiat produced paper certificate is preconditioned in the group's genetic makeup and reinforced by the situations they create for themselves inspired by their own instincts. The dominance of Earth has had such profound impact on the direction the growth of the planet has taken that it is almost impossible to determine the extent of its degradation on every level from Christ Michael's original vision.

The vision Monjoronson gave [in TM message 1-3-08] of your being one powerful drop in the immensity of the ocean is particularly apt. You see yourself as separate, when, in fact you are all part of an immense sea of power and creativity. You all are part of the body and vision of Christ Michael and you each have a fragment of him within you, whether you realize it or not. Monjoronson went on to say that your difficulty at the present is in realizing your power and your connectedness.

You each are exploring a different aspect of Christ Michael's vision, and your individuality is the distinctiveness he gave you so you would be able to explore that part of his Universe for him. Fragmenting himself gave him the opportunity to experience infinite varieties at the same time. He would be living vicariously through you and learning all as your separate inputs came together. Your individuality is the brilliance of Christ Michael's creative genius, and each separate life is equally honored and respected as an experiential manifestation of himself. None are better, none are inferior. All are part of Christ Michael. You all have the co-creative power of Christ Michael because you all are part of him.

Your sense of superiority and judgment are not part of your natural make-up. They are emotional attitudes nourished by eons of control and forced aggression. You feel it is natural to condemn others as less informed than you. You feel threatened by others that play into your insecurities. You feel less than perfect because you have been told by others that you are not.

You are as perfect as Christ Michael. Your perception of that state of alignment is what is at fault. You manufacture a state of perfection and try to live up to those rules because you think that is Christ Michael. That is only your perception of your limits and your inadequacies to your way of thinking. You are not willing to accept yourself as you are embodied, or even take the time to find out exactly who you are and what your perfect state feels like.

Christ Michael is all of you and is constantly learning and experiencing life as you live it. He is not fixed perfection. The life of the Universe of Nebadon is lived through growth and making choices to explore the options that present themselves. Life is connection. Life is movement. Life is realization that all is part of one whole that is constantly in flux. You cannot determine the future because it has not been created. As I have said before, only possibilities exist for your choices. You determine what is manifested and Christ Michael learns from that choice.

I speak of you in microcosm, but the same principle works through the whole Universe. Nebadon began as an idea of Christ Michael's that was made manifest through the help of his spirit consort Nebadonia. All the vastness of his creation is designed for him to learn and explore his idea of creation. All the elements he has created are tools to find out the possibilities of his idea. This continues and seeks to experience every variation possible, which includes variants of connection and separation from the unity of Christ Michael's created idea.

The approach of the dark was allowed as a variant. The participants were created equally lovingly to provide the conflict such a contradiction offered. The struggles man has undergone on Earth were unique and provided a laboratory of experiences that has happened no where else. The possibility of man overcoming the control of the dark was conceived and set in motion. The parameters of this victory were unknown but were accepted as yet another exploration of the infinite possibilities Christ Michael could draw upon to learn through his creation.

This cycle was always circumscribed, however, with a limit imposed by other more galactic processes that were interconnected with the experiences of Earth. When time came for these to progress, Earth had to progress with the rest of its galaxy. This is as if there were circles of experiences within circles of experiences within circles. Each was bound by the limits of its enclosing perimeter and could go no further beyond pre-set limits.

Earth has now reached that limit. As is the case with any shift into a new position or move into another sphere of activity, the participant must be prepared and ready to make this move. This involves physical, mental, and spiritual preparation and attunement to a new system. This process is designed as a means to move closer to unification with Christ Michael's vision of this Universe. This involves awareness of connection with Christ Michael through your inner awareness of your self. You know you are linked and you know your decisions and choices are aligned with Christ Michael. It doesn't matter what others determine to be their own personal view of Christ Michael's truth. Your truth is what Christ Michael tells you is your truth. You weigh the value of other truths in comparison with your own.

There is no judgment of one truth over another because all is Christ Michael's truth. A perception can and will be colored by individual preferences and preconditioning, however. Reactions are also usually colored by personal preferences or insecurities. Unless you accept a clear view of the parameters of your own individual truth, you are torn by outside input and the perception of other's power. You have limitless power in your truth and the way you use it, and your role as Christ Michael's representative is to recognize this truth and use this connection with him.

I say all this to comment on dueling channelers and misperceiving lightworkers. Everyone is at their own place in individual awareness of connection with Christ Michael and no one is winning the race or is in a better position. All are learning and perceiving, and it is paramount that this be recognized. It is also paramount that you learn and perceive who you are and not depend on any outside source to provide your information. Writings or examples can provide information to bolster your perceptions, but they cannot replace your own inner awareness. Clinging to outside sources indicates a lack of assuredness inwardly. That must come first, and it is easy to find this.

The dates and the proof you seek are ephemeral crutches you don't need once you are aligned with Christ Michael through your own inner awareness. You understand your purpose, and you see how it should manifest itself within the context you inhabit. Events are happening based on the manifestations you create. These events are further affected by events happening beyond your awareness. Nothing is set in stone. That part of the [Kuthumi] message was correct. Nothing is in granite and only possibilities exist. Possibilities may seem concrete to you in your current perceptions, but, let me tell you, they are not in higher and more refined levels of energy connection. The sense of concreteness and solidity is characteristic of your exiting sense of perception. Reality is constantly becoming more malleable and adaptable to your own sense of proportions and needs.

Jupiter has been set in motion despite what the pundits tell you, and this will manifest at some point soon as a means to push the Earth into a new level of energy intensity and refinement. The rest of the solar system you inhabit rejoices at the possibilities of your joining with them more opening and knowingly. It is not important in the big picture when the banks collapse and who wins the primaries. The energy exploited in those struggles is wasted. The important event looming ahead is the birth of a new existence that allows you to achieve your true sense of self as a loved part of Christ Michael.

Esu comments on Judgement and Personal Awareness

By Jess Anthony

Esu, I ask for clarification on behavior and how we react with others. I particularly mean people that we feel threaten us or people we feel are obviously in error. My impression is that we can't judge them, and it is our responsibility to make sure we are not in error first. I ask you to speak to that, if you will, and to make comments on how we should begin to develop more compassion and tolerance. I feel this is a major problem in America and I see ingrained attitudes that are inflexible and ego driven in a harmful way. I also ask for updates that are possible and guidance in my own awareness.

Yes, Jess, I have things to say to the questions you have raised. The attitudes that form the basis of much of the behavior and reactions to other people in America are only superficial attempts to understand the core of a universal relationship between two entities. This means that surface emotions and physical responses determine the depth of commitments, not an understanding that all are part of Christ Michael and that each individual soul has its own personality and set of issues it must address as it pursues its personal goals towards self-awareness.

People generally bristle emotionally at remarks they determine are addressing them in a way that demeans them or attempts to undercut what they perceive to be their position of authority. There is no position of authority that places them over another person. There is no judgment of superiority that allows them to assume their beliefs are better than another's and to belittle the other person because of what they have stated.

A person's own sense of incompleteness fosters this need to argue they are better. They must convince themselves and, instead of going within and exploring their motives and shortcomings in their own self analysis, they latch on to what they perceive as a similar shortcoming in another and public draw attention to that as a way of distracting others from their own inadequacies. This often takes the form of ridicule to belittle the person, or verbal attacking to undercut the authority they feel they lack in themselves.

This is a game that is played because you have been conditioned for eons to overpower others. The enormous baggage of memories you carry with you unconsciously forces you to slip into these behaviors and triggers recurring emotional reactions that support the reactions you engage.

Who are you to judge the behavior of others? Who gave you the authority to determine your way is correct and someone else's is wrong? Christ Michael honors the exploration of individuality in each person and recognizes that no one can have an awakening to the light without first having experienced the dark in some fashion. Having a greater awareness than others is not a status that is ranked better. It is only viewed as a level of enlightenment that relates to personal evolution.

The Urantia book is clear on this. If Christ Michael and his advisors allowed Lucifer and Satan to work out the results of their rebellion without direct intervention and elimination initially, then surely you can allow a sense of compassion and awareness of difference without condemning someone. Lucifer chose to be uncreated finally in 1984, rather than accept the light. Condemnation is anger and self frustration and is a waste of energy that can be more effectively used through an emotional vehicle that conveys the unity expressed in Christ Michael's love for his Universe.

Your role, Jess, is to be sure of your own motives and your own sense of self. You must make decisions based on a clear evaluation of your own goals and purpose. Everything in your life should be determined by its effectiveness in helping you work toward those goals. Your behavior and your reactions to other people should also be colored by your sense of personal direction and the means you must take to follow that path. Weigh each decision on its value for your own purpose. Don't pursue actions that are detrimental to you. Make certain your analysis is clear in determining the goals you are working toward.

If you are strong in your own goals and in your own awareness of your individual path, then so called attacks, or personal animosity against you will have little impact on your balance and self control. Your lack of response or retaliation is not weakness, but strength of individual assurance and security of personal perception.

I say to all reading this that the time is here for you to begin the sorts of behaviors that look to your own core values and not to those of others you perceive to be less than the perfection you imagine should be pursued. Who determines perfection? Who can say that the behavior that you feel is a threat or ridicule is not the catalyst you need to examine your own growth?

Esu comments on Banking and Political Choice

By Jess Anthony
# 46 Jan 21, 2008 - 8:57:00 AM

1-20-08

Esu, I ask for information this evening that is beneficial to hear. I trust your judgment of how much is important to transmit to others. I recognize the focus on personal perception and the need for continued growth within the assurance the reality of the future change is manifesting. I ask for discernment for myself and strength to maintain a commitment as I engage in my life circumstances. I ask for support in being an influence through my awareness.

Jess, I am here. I will speak to you tonight of several things that need saying as we prepare for the changes that are coming. The time table is set once again. Various disruptions have thrown the original intentions off the schedule we presumed they would have. Various supporters we had trusted have proved to be not trustworthy after all. Their agreements were worthless, and this group of two-faced back stabbers has been replaced within our consideration.

The banking situation is beyond farcical and unbelievably poor judgment is still preventing this scenario from having a resolution. The money is tied up as Germain says and it will not be available until after the stasis and the announcement period. The explanations we will provide will explain the monetary process that is coming and serve as an introduction to the changes that will be instituted immediately after the explanations.

The time for players in this monetary game to give up their gambits is long past, and the Earth must have the structure of a stable financial organization to coordinate the many changes that will be made. The force of your awareness of the depth this has gone will help to remove the blackness that has developed around this force in your society.

I speak to you of turning within and bolstering your sense of your inner self. Once you have an idea of your purpose and your individual function within Christ Michael's creation, then nothing is able to deter you from pursuing it. The negativity of others is distracting because it hits too close to home with your own unacknowledged faults and shortcomings. Something pricks at you because you have some aspect it can attack. Otherwise, you would not attract this sort of outside connection. And let me repeat that you are the ones that draw attackers or critics to you. It may appear that they have chosen you randomly, but the energy field you have around you draws elements that have a need to take the energy away from you. You are being attacked, to use that word again, because you let it be known you want to be attacked for whatever reason only you can determine.

The articles you have been reading have augmented your perception of this. The Matrix article <http://montalk.net/matrix/62/matrix-agents-profiles> was a masterful analysis, and the banking discussion on zero point energy was equally insightful http://www.fourwinds10.com/siterun\_data/nesara/news/news.php?q=1200761310 You were correct in seeing their value. I can only teach you so much directly at one time, but I can suggest you find articles and examples that reinforce the growth you are undergoing.

I don't want to speak of politics. The comments in the Matrix article spoke of the superficial nature of political games as a distraction from self examination. Everyone should find their own sense of justice and fair treatment that would allow them to deal with all situations fairly. If each examined their own personal integrity, there would be no need to elect officials to assume those roles for you. Elected representatives are just that: men or women who express your own voice for you in places you cannot attend. They are not your decision makers, nor are they in control of your lives, as you have come to assume they are. The political government system is a sham and you have invested in it as a substitute for your own personal involvement. This is another example of closed thinking that you must open up again to see to your true connection with all mankind. Once you do that, you see the necessity of fair treatment and are only comfortable with treating everyone as you would treat yourself. The Golden Rule is truly the basis of behavior. All other laws stem from that.

Behavior is determined by self respect and paying attention to your own needs as you grow and mature spiritually. Behavioral problems as you perceive them now will become less of an issue as people become aware of a larger perspective of societal cooperation. Individual choices are tempered by group needs. Your behavior becomes your individual contribution to a network of spiritual unified thinking. Your choices and attitudes are distinctly yours in terms of your soul purpose and the direction your path is taking you, but your actions become measured in terms of the benefit they will have in terms of improving the individual situations of all around you. How will your benefit help others? Selfish choices will be clearly detrimental to the society around you, which, in turn, will have a negative rebound on you. There is a larger frame of reference you will assume in your daily decision making.

Individual choice in terms of personal relationships will be more inclusive in terms of soul growth. Your realization of the importance of spiritual interaction will assume greater precedence in finding compatible partners. You won't be as drawn to sexual or physical parameters to the exclusion of intellectual or spiritual components. There will be a relationship you seek that satisfies many levels of yourself, not just a purely physical one. This pairing is mutually satisfying for both partners, and you find that both are using the relationship to grow individually. It is a merging on many levels that nourishes your personal maturing. The larger picture again has an impact on the individual that is involved, but the individual choices, in turn, affect the growth of the relationship.

There is a symbiosis that characterizes the nature of organic interaction within the structure of Christ Michael's Universal intention. The small is part of the large and each cooperates with the other. Once these are the determinants of attitude and choice, then man moves into a higher level of self awareness. Growth in spiritual development is not measured in specific events happening, but in awareness of attitudes and in choosing to implement this awareness in an everyday construct of relationships and behavior. Societal change is a result of individual assessment.

Think on these points of views as you prepare for the physical changes that are about to impact your society and your world. Your perceptions will change radically and the truth about the decisions others have made on your behalf will soon become evident. You have surrendered too much of your own power to representatives who are unworthy to be your representatives. They have abused your trust and have ignored your mandates in favor of their own selfish need for control and power. The history of your world has allowed a certain group to assume control and exploit the rest for their own benefit and satisfaction. They have manipulated all others to feed into their need for power. The cultural system they have created is based on your mindless participation. You have been convinced they are working for your best interests, when, in fact, they are working only for their own. Your concerns are not considered, and the representatives you surrender your power to, in turn, surrender the power you have given them to the controllers.

It is time to realize this surrender and to begin making your own decisions for your own best interests. Self awareness leads to group compassion and unified cultural thinking leads to peace and prosperity.

Christ Michael Suggests Outline of Events

By Jess Anthony
# 47 Feb 6, 2008 - 11:46:00 PM

2-6-08

Christ Michael Aton, I ask for comments. Much seems indeterminate for many. Help clarify what is coming. Help us understand what has been set in motion so we can align ourselves completely. Speak on where we stand and what you want to clarify through me.

Yes, Jess, I will speak with you. This is the beginning of much of the closure you as a people have sought. The banking system is in shambles and the attempts to inject further paper dollars into the mix have no discernable effect. We have worked with selected candidates to effect a change in the global political system. Many of your traditional assumptions are no longer valid. Many strongly held positions are being overturned. Much is being revisited and restructured to reflect my Universal ideas once again.

The time frame is unknown when this will manifest, although I strongly support the position espoused by Ashtar that it will all come to a head within three weeks. The levers causing the blocks to shift are being played upon, and the change is unstoppable, at this point. The fiscal uncertainty is ready for stability. The political indecision is ready for conviction and certainty.

You ask for details and specifics. I can tell you that the end is in sight when all will be changed. This result is decreed by Heaven and it will take place. Your impatience with it happening to fit your own agenda or timetable will not cause it to manifest any faster. Your whole-heartedly embracing its inevitability and aligning yourself with its actualization will help it become your reality much sooner. You are a part of the energy that is making up Earth and its layers of spiritual identity. Your reaction is as important as any outside contribution anyone in the galaxy will have. You are directly shaping the energy that makes up your existence. I am a part of that because I am in all things, but your individual personality and ability to make the proper choices for your experiences are the things that determine what the energy you are a part of does. I created you to have this ability and I learn through the choices you make as an extension of me. You are my emissaries and connections to my creation on Earth. The sooner this perception of your importance in the operation of this planet and Universe is recognized, the quicker you will awaken to your full role and your link to the oneness of my creation.

I am speaking now to the whole populace, whether they read these words or not. Your days as a self-contained generator of individual ideas and mechanisms are finished. You will now think as parts of the whole of my vision. You will see your role in this vision and you will work to achieve its manifestation. My will is that Earth ascends to its rightful place in the system of galactic organisms. The solar system you recognize and the much greater expanse of planets and stars that you only can glimpse are all part of the design I created to investigate the mandate the Creator Source approved for me to undertake. The Universe of Nebadon is allowed to be as a source of information regarding the unique combination of Trinity participants embodied here.

I will change the Earth as I see fit, and I will engineer whatever method I choose to accomplish this. Your perception of my power is necessarily limited by your method of experiencing existence on Earth in this very low range of energy frequencies. Due to the nature of energy design in lower frequencies, you assume you see physical reality as a solid. You assume time passes in an absolute manner from only one point to another. Time is what you define it to be, and it occupies whatever system of intersections you choose to recognize. All possible outcomes are already created, and your conditioning to follow one possibility as the only truth you accept absolutely limits your perception of systems and forms outside your comfortable overview.

You are my creation and I choose the method you will explore my vision. Your assumption of the unrestricted nature of your free will is an illusion. You can only choose to do what I have created as a possibility for you to explore. You have choice within those parameters, but the parameters you work within were determined by me as Creator Son. This awareness of your true role in my Universe is what will free you to make choices. Otherwise you undercut your effectiveness and ability to move forward by falling back on a repetitious system of habits produced by your history of emotional reactions to earlier experiences. These recurring choices are unthinking and not occasioned by your free will ability.

I plan to allow the banks to collapse and have the public realize the duplicitous nature of your political system. Not just a few awakened observers, but the vast majority of the so-far unthinking populace. This will be broadcast globally, and this shift in perception will be tied in with the wash of energy coming from Jupiter. The planet is undergoing its change as described and the burst of energy that will be coming soon will scour the countries with frequencies of vibration that are incompatible with many existing systems. This event is being prepared now and many are being pushed to become adaptable to this new density. The stories you read of ascension symptoms are good introductions to the physical changes that are occurring.

The plans beyond that are nebulous, depending on the parameters created by various sources of decision makers. I can outline a plausible scenario that may or may not hold.

The global disasters will trigger an inner awareness that will unify many more of the people. This kick to the global mass consciousness is necessary for Earth to continue to parallel the changes happening in other dimensions and on other planets. The Jupiter event will burn your awareness of your true purpose into a personality that is merging its physical, emotional, mental, and spiritual capacities into one interconnected identity. You will need to agree to this change before it happens. Once the Jupiter event takes place, I plan to begin the stasis maneuvers. Earth can go into stasis very quickly now, and it seems best to wait on that until it is absolutely prepared for. The public perception of cleaning the Earth is part of what is happening, but there also needs to be a core acceptance of the necessity of these changes with a conviction that the events are part of what must occur.

I view this as a comment for the present. Live as you are, but try to maintain your belief that the process of change has started. It truly has, and you will see its manifestation in a matter of days.

I am Commander in Chief, Christ Michael Aton, the Creator Son of Nebadon.

Christ Michael Comments on Break Up

By Jess Anthony
# 48 Feb 11, 2008 - 6:29:00 PM

2-11-08

Christ Michael, I ask for information and insight. Speak to what is happening and where we stand. I ask to communicate this as you wish.

Yes, I have some things to say today. This is the disruption and collapse of the economic system that the dark has manufactured and attempted to use to run and ruin the world's legitimate system of exchange and barter. This is a loaded sentence with many parameters and tangents to explore and dissolve. I say disruption because the blind acceptance of the "system" has led to unimaginable abuses on the part of the few who have controlled the economic system they created. They have corrupted the power of the exchange of goods and energy that have characterized my willingness to allow a laissez faire economy within a formal structure of linkage. They have taken my allowance and mocked it. I allowed this to happen to see the limit of where they would take this abuse, and I have watched them begin to abuse other systems that are typically discrete and self-contained. Their voraciousness knows no bounds. I created them with that potential, but I never assumed it would go as far as it has.

I have now removed my influence from their choices. They have determined they would ignore me and I have allowed this to happen. They will no longer be given the freedom to inveigh their opponents' position. The time for argumentation is finished. The questions of connection or not have been answered. They will be removed from the playing field, to use that familiar expression. The game will be fresh and more correctly played from this point on.

You, Jess, ask for details, but I am not at a point where I can give them to you. What you read in Story is accurate, but it is not going to be widely reported until tomorrow. The sanctions will go into effect. It is time for the shift in consciousness that Ashtar spoke of. This is the catastrophe that will produce that. The people have to have an awakening and this will force them to seriously consider everything that has led up to this point. Why has their economy faltered? Why has the banking industry failed? Why has the surplus of goods and supplies disappeared? Why has there been no warning of this? Why have the supposedly objective and inquiring sources of information been silent?

The sanctions will go into effect because Bush and company are locked into a behavior that cannot be changed or ameliorated by reason. They are repeating the same decisions they are programmed to make. They are acting as tools for a group of controllers who no longer are in control. This has had to come to this end to resolve the enormous negative intentions that have accrued. The conscious and unconscious intentions and actions have created an immense reservoir of resistance that has had to be countered and broken up. This public exposure is the final lancing of this boil of dark manipulations and self-serving interests.

The time is now to turn in and see yourself in the swirling chaos that is flowing around you. You each are a solid individual that is strong in conviction of your purpose. You see your direction clearly, although you don't see quite the path you will be able to take to reach this goal. I am always there to help you find your way. I and any other of your personal guides will show you the steps to take and help you see the immense possibilities your personal reality can achieve. Speak to me. Each person is a part of me and I am in each one. You hear me in you. I let you experiment, but I give you guidance and insight. You are my arm and are learning in this existence for me. My knowledge grows because of you.

Rest in the security of me and my compassion when the world turns against you. Be solid in uncertainty and rely on me to show you ways you can go.

I am Christ Michael this evening as we begin the fall and the renewal of life as you perceive it through your old prejudices and expectations.

Esu Speaks on Man's Place in the Universe

By Jess Anthony
# 49 Feb 27, 2008 - 11:36:00 PM

2-26-08

Esu, where are we? What is possible to tell us about where we stand? Patience is difficult to maintain. Help me find insight and balance.

Yes, Jess, I am here. Where are we? The process you are envisioning is only the tip of the enormous iceberg that will be causing the status quo to run aground. There are so many other contingencies and overlapping activities that you can't imagine the complexity of what is going on. This is a shift that has been set in motion for at least twenty years, with various groups of galactic friends supervising certain aspects of the coordinated move to ascend we are all undertaking. Some are looking out for Mother Earth and her geophysical strains. The physical manifestations of the toxic influences of the dark's interference are overwhelming the planet's natural intention to cleanse herself and move to a new place in the universal scheme of things. The shift in genetic mindset is also being supervised and coordinated by experts in DNA and its evolutionary interaction with cultural scenarios. Since 2001 the level of awakening has been intense and the level of light has been an unstoppable counterattack on the dark.

This you know, however. I am repeating it to give you the proper context for what I am about to say. Man is moving into a new phase of his relationship with the universal truths embodied in the changing galactic environment he is living in. He is interacting more consciously and to better effect. The situation he inhabits is beginning to reflect more of his inner recognition and growth as a link to the awareness of the Creator Source.

Christ Michael is a conduit for the wishes of God the Father and his creation of the Universe of Nebadon is completely a manifestation of the will of the Creator Source. The template of the 7th Archetype has formed the structure of everything that has been designed to shape this local creation. The collaboration that formed this universe is all an extension of the desire of the Creative Father to explore a particular parameter on the unknowable scale of a grand universe's interactions.

I am telling you this to help you understand the flexibility that is inherent in this move to a higher level of energy. The issue of free will complicates everything that is in process. Projections don't always come to be, and the best evidence indicating a shift is coming is still preliminary to the actual event.

We don't know exactly when things will happen. I have told you this before. Your responsibility in this is to convey the presumption that it will be happening imminently. Your frustration and sense of static movement is typical of people on Earth with their preconditioned mindset of expectation and progress. The process of getting there should be more crucial than the result to your way of thinking. You must envision the road there with as few personal obstacles as possible. You must actively seek to eliminate any conflicts or personal attitudes that interfere with smoothly finding a step to the next level of self-awareness.

Christ Michael is overseeing the results of the banking switchovers, and is about ready to find his closure on this perception he has envisioned. The information you hear is flawed and incorrect. The courts have given the governments and the chief players in the economic disaster a chance to reverse their actions. As a whole, they have not. The situation has to be exactly right, and only he knows what suits his vision.

We are preparing to move into the next phase ourselves, and are ready to begin working to clean up Earth, with your help, and tackle the daunting challenge of unifying religious and philosophical cross purposes. This has been the source of much of the warfare and animosity that has characterized the fragmented society you find yourself in even as we plan to move you quickly into a new level of information and insight. This befits your newly-acquired sense of who you are.

This is enough for the evening. Read this over again later and see if you find the resonance with your own intuitions.

Esu Speaks on Clones and Christ Michael's Decision

By Jess Anthony
# 50 Mar 2, 2008 - 9:49:00 PM

3-2-08

Esu, I feel upset and turmoil. Is this paralleling what is going on? Speak to me briefly, if you will.

Jess, things are happening. Not the meetings you read about. No, that is disinformation protecting certain ones who know how to play the New Age game. None of the Senators are above the contamination that is endemic in Washington DC. I am not telling you much at the moment, because we are waiting for certain actions to take place that will determine the final steps we are prepared to make. The pressure to make those choices is almost unbearable, caused by a stream of light coming in that is ratcheting up the level of what the body is called upon to accept. This leaves no room for dark tendencies or negative intentions. This energy is pushing out the blocks caused by preconceptions and expectation of success at the expense of many others.

What is happening, you say still. We are working to enable the resignations of the president and vice-president so that they will be viewed publicly. This move will solidify the need to move to a higher level of understanding and cooperation. The obstacle his presidency presents is counter to everything necessary for this country to accept. He is entrenched in the system he has created and this is very difficult to break down to leave him defenseless and willing to act according to higher interests.

Why is this a problem for a clone, you ask? The cloned version is still the president in all physical aspects. He physically deteriorates faster, and his mental range is more limited than the original, but to the average person viewing him, there is no difference. He inhabits the space of expectation that the public has for him. There is no reason to doubt his legitimacy. His actions and his decisions are made with essentially the same circuitry as the original. There have been many versions of both him and the vice president, and careful observation will show slight differences that are detectable. The plan for the resignation is to allow the original person to enact the final announcement, but the preparation for it and the actual maneuvering to make that happen must be gauged to the clone's reactions and the support by still loyal acquaintances and workers. The attempts and the expectations can take a slightly different turn than projected by our allies. This has, in part, been the reason for the continued delay. Beings without a soul are more difficult to anticipate and predict, despite our technological superiority and grasp of mental activities in someone we are focused on.

I don't want to give you a time frame. You are doing well without knowing exactly when things will come to a head. You sense it is close, and I tell you it is. Why are we waiting? We are waiting for you on Earth to decide as a whole that it is time. The preparations are made. Everyone is standing by waiting the signal to begin. Christ Michael is causing the arrival to be contingent on you as a populace to have enough acceptance of the concept of change for him to set it in motion. This is imminent. The weight of the desire for a new solution is pressing almost universally. On and beyond Earth. I can't tell you precisely what he will be satisfied with. Imagine the involvement he has had with Earth, first as Creator Son and then as an inhabitant himself. He has an immense knowledge and understanding of the process you live through here and he is keenly aware of the subtleties of your thought processes that cause you to be torn between past preconceptions and a new invisible mandate. He understands this sense of indecision and is willing to allow the time for this to be resolved.

Rest peacefully in the assurance that it will happen and that the manipulations you see occurring are only surface chaos that must be resolved. They have little import in the decision to continue moving towards ascension. View them as the skins binding you coming unraveled. The freedom and air of lightness is permeating all. Watch the developments and see them as a play that is ending. You are the audience in one aspect, and you are separate from the players you see. You also are the participants and you know your role in achieving the resolution. Be confident and strong as you engage in the action or conscious support of those watching.

Christ Michael Gives a Weekend Update

By Jess Anthony

# 51 Mar 10, 2008 - 8:39:00 AM

3-8-08

Christ Michael, I ask for comments. What is happening that you can tell me? Surely we are near the point where we can begin the changes that have been promised. What more needs to be accomplished before you are satisfied and order the stasis to begin? I ask for a structure I can work in even if it is not the absolute timeline.

Jess, this is a busy time of resolutions and discoveries. Much of what you have come to expect is true will be proven soon not to be accurate. When is this coming you ask? It is coming soon, but at a time that is most optimum of the greatest number of possible people who can be involved productively.

Let's speak further. The discussion you had with Candace this afternoon was a hint of what is going to take place. We have purposely disguised the extent of the changes that must happen and the numbers of persons that will not be able to remain in the higher intensity of energy vibration that will be needed. Why did we do this, you ask? And what does this mean about our sincerity? Yes, you can ask that.

This was a difficult choice for us to make. We sought you all out for the gifts and talents you have that will be of tremendous use to us in the future after the changes begin. We were guiding you all—even grooming you—for the roles you will move into. These roles are not surprises to your higher selves, to use that phrase. You had always seen this as a possibility you would be able to contribute, if the need arose. We originally felt the planet would move into its ascension without its inhabitants. This was the purpose of the evacuation plans. It would have been a compromise at best, but it would have preserved some of the more supportive.

We moved beyond that and realized it was possible to take many of Earth's people with her as a result of a modified range of necessary geophysical reversals. The interaction Earth has with her inhabitants had completely changed the energy structure that would need to be reversed. The identification that has developed between Earth and her people is exponentially stronger and more unified than it was when the plan for evacuation was first developed. It is no longer necessary to do that to assist Earth in reshaping herself.

The larger picture is the ascension of the planet Earth in the context of the ascension of this part of your galaxy. The other planets in your solar system are connected with Earth in a symbiotic energy exchange and it is necessary for Earth's grid to be directed in alignment with the others. My intention to allow man to continue here means he must adapt to the huge influx of energy that is necessary to reconfigure Earth to match the other neighboring planets. There is no other way to achieve this. This change eliminates the possibility of negative manifestations and destructive activities. The speed of the new energy vibrations will not allow these slower configurations to form.

The change in energy level will bring about a change in the shape and nature of Earth's configuration. Energy input always filters down from higher etheric levels to become formalized in a physical shape. The manifestation is the last form it takes, although it seems to you on Earth that is it the cause of your problems. This is wrong thinking. You are the cause of your problems and they manifest because you have directed them to do so. This is a form of teaching you give yourself, but it also is still not clearly understood by your limited ability to assess yourself. You still perceive events as occurring outside your own sphere of creation. You yourself create the aura that allows an intersection with another. You originate the notion that a conflict is possible and you set out to make this happen.

The difficulties and problems you find on Earth are all of your own making. It is your responsibility to acknowledge them and seek to find some ways of remedying the situation. You must accept your role as co-creators of the situations and be willing to share the solution with us. We offer to help you move beyond the level you currently operate on.

What is coming now, you ask. We are waiting for the final tally to be made of those who will stay and those who must go. This sounds as if we are speaking of a sort of Last Judgment—which it is, in a sense—but one that is being done with love and the offer to help everyone move to the level they feel is most appropriate at this time in their ascension plan. This is not a condemnation and punishment as described in the religious teachings you have become infused with, but an opportunity to move to a place that matches everyone's decision determining the rate of ascension they are willing to accept.

Our delay is more for reasons of galactic coordination than specifically waiting for a resolution of the imbroglio that man has created in his efforts to control the progress of my plan. The money situation is a preoccupation that you have, as is the removal of the governments you keep in office. You have a fear and worry, but not enough to act. There is nothing you could not do, if you determined to do so, and acted as a single unit with a single vision. There is unlimited power available through your own forgotten resources.

The most practical way of mopping up the mess you collectively have made is to move into a stasis situation that will allow the galactic forces and selected helpers to address the myriad of issues that must be looked at. This will be forthcoming soon. You must have the patience to wait for my decision when. Your pleas and pouting will not bring about the desired changes any sooner. My desire is to have a level of incipient awareness that will be able to monitor the activities that must accompany the rescue and renovations accompanying the geophysical changes.

The stasis must come before any announcements or changes in the government structure. The intentions of many are honorable, but limited in their perspective of the whole scenario. They only see the area they work in, however global that may be. They don't see the larger picture of the use of the prosperity money as a means to living without money ultimately. They are too preoccupied in the system they understand now to realize the system will no longer function and will of necessity be broken up. The mind games in politics and in fiscal transactions are only superficial and distracting from the truth of what is involved in man's ascension.

This is sufficient for this evening. Post if you wish. The dates are still ambiguous, which will suit some and frustrate others.

Abraham Lincoln Speaks on War and Peace

By Jess Anthony
# 52 Mar 19, 2008 - 4:41:00 PM

From Lincoln's Address to Congress December 6, 1864:

"In stating a single condition of peace, I mean simply to say the war will cease on the part of the government, whenever it shall have ceased on the part of those who began it."

Journal 9-4-07

Abraham, I ask for comments this evening on war and peace. I feel drawn to this topic and I give you the chance to speak to this issue. I ask for your energy to flow through these words and use them as connecting links.

Jess, my son. This is Abraham speaking this evening on one of man's greatest catastrophes. In war he presumes he is God and takes it upon himself to destroy life and determine its worth in the balance. War can be considered nothing but an aberration that man has devised for control over others to empower his domination. He strikes at his equals and presumes to judge them lesser. He has not the right to do this. His is not the authority.

Only the Creator Source has the power to end his creation. He alone can judge it necessary. His idea gave life originally to the manifestation of energy that became the physical entity. His determination is the closure man realizes when its progress is finished.

Man has waged war throughout his history in an increasingly violent effort to impose his will upon another. His concept of life is no more accurate than that of the man he is subjugating. The universality of all mankind is at base, and although the actions of an individual may seem distinct and discrete, they have a unity with all others that is provided by the love of their Creator Father. They have forgotten this universality in an attempt to establish their own set of rules to direct their accomplishments. They have lost their sense of the Creator's approval for their actions; they blindly seek to establish their own set of parameters for evaluation and judgment.

The battle that was the Civil War in America lasted five bloody years and sacrificed the country's best young men for the vanity of business and servitude. Slaves were necessary for the continuation of a way of life that was driven by economic demands. This was acculturated for generations and was accepted as necessary with no consideration of the injury it caused to the Creator's concept of one. My Emancipation Proclamation was necessary but delayed in being accepted because the opposing context presupposing the existence of slavery was battling to support its own validity. This notion was defeated when the opposing governmental view was made to surrender. Only then was man free to imagine the liberation that had been fought for and won.

This notion of economic servitude is inherent in the devastation that had been brought to Iraq. The country was not balanced to begin with in terms of acceptance of other beliefs and political persuasions. Its dictator had been supported by other countries' interests and never had considered the best interest of the people above his own or above those of his supporters. He used terror and forced himself to maintain the control he felt was proper. His removal was a positive step, but the reason it was taken was not honorable, nor serving the best interest of his country. His downfall was prelude to additional looting and an attempt to steer the people in a direction they did not want to go. The resources of another people's country were deemed appropriated for the benefit and aggrandizement of the few launching the attack. This present-day war has dragged on in an even bloodier fashion than the Civil War in America, although in this instance our country's participation was unnecessary and unwarranted. This was not a battle to support political control, from the American standpoint. It was an invasion of another sovereign nation with the selfish intent of taking over its resources and geographical position.

Now is the time to end this struggle. It has served no purpose beyond ravaging an unprotected country and destroying any sense of cooperation and unity it could have forged between rival religious sects. It is now time for peace to come to Iraq. It is time for America to come home and address its own overwhelming issues of lack and political and economic subjugation. Slavery has still not ended in a real sense in America, nor has it been eliminated in any of the other economic powers surrounding the globe. This ideological war was fought already in this country, but its continuance has been prolonged through a blinkered awareness manipulated by economic control.

I speak to the beginning of peace and to the realization that all men on Earth are brothers and sisters with equality in the eyes of their Creator. No action shall be decided that harms another. No disadvantage shall be purposefully contrived to treat someone unfairly. Interactions shall be weighed in the balance of equitable dealings, and the decisions involved must be as discerning as any that are required.

Abraham Lincoln, in love, and for the advancement of unity and unfettered freedom.

Esu speaks on Easter Decisions

By Jess Anthony
# 53 Mar 22, 2008 - 11:37:00 AM

3-22-08

Esu, I ask for a message for this time of the year associated with Easter and the equinox, with it's symbolism of rebirth and ascension. Speak to where we are and what will come.

Yes, I am here will speak of this time and of this year. We are at a period of rebirth and revitalization. New life is coming. New birth is imminent. The old birth was fraught with trials and suffering. The life you looked forward to was full of pain and domination. The time for change is now, this season and this year.

Easter as it is known is built on suffering and control. The Christ figure was sacrificed to appease the demands of the controlling elite. They could not tolerate an alternate to their insinuated mind set. Their power was built on unquestioned authority. Whenever man began to suspect he was being abused, this opinion was crushed and made to seem pointless.

This need for control manifested in many spiritual and religious doctrines that put the believers at a disadvantage. Their innate right to have choice and make individual decisions was taken from them and made to seem unnatural. Their personal connection with God or the Creator was blocked and channeled through the medium of others with vested interests in the directions given. All of the religious attitudes that pervade the world's thinking dictate how relationships are to be conducted to the advantage of the controllers. All decisions that should be individual are colored by an emotional overlay that leads to loss of self judgment.

This holiday Easter season celebrates this dominance and this control over man. The religious symbols are perverted to produce the views determined by the controllers. The return of the light is a metaphor for a self awakening and a new alignment with the energy of the Universe. Rolling the stone away symbolizes removing blocks that prevent man from quickening his connection with the Creator.

The truism that Easter is death and resurrection has a meaning beyond the obvious. The layers of release and embracing higher energy frequencies resonate with the plans for Earth's ascension at this time. All will be reborn and made new. Man and Earth are part of a continuum that is moving into a new phase of Universal awareness and understanding. Man will see his place differently.

Much has been discussed about the timetable and the methods of ascension. Man's elaborations and his hypothesizing will be meaningless in the face of the change that is occurring. The need to restructure all will supersede the limited visions man has currently. The level of cleaning and restructuring is unimaginable, and the means necessary to do this are as yet unspoken and undisclosed. Man will accommodate this change because Christ Michael has determined he will. This necessitates inhabitants who will function as part of this new symbiosis. The energy that forms the physical body will take new forms to adjust to the new galactic structure. The former embodiment will not work in this changed frequency. It must be re-tooled and re-aligned to participate in the new energy grid that achieves the higher level of dimensionality.

The coming changes will be as alluded to, but on a much more extensive scale than previously described. Many currently embodied will not be able to function. Many will choose to leave and not continue their personal evolution here on Earth. Many will be removed to a place that is more suitable for their decision concerning their personal growth. This removal is necessary to clean the Earth and to prevent re-contamination. The nature of the planet is a priority over the presumed superiority man has asserted he has.

Easter is a time of reflection and commitment to change and renewal. Man must make this choice now because the Earth will be changed regardless of man's decisions. The challenges and calls for change have been preliminary up to this point. The time is now for decision and action. This may sound harsh, but there is no time left for waiting. The light is pouring in and rebirth has begun.

Gaia speaks on Earth Changes

By Jess Anthony

# 54 May 8, 2008 - 11:59:00 PM

5-8-08

Gaia, Mother Earth, I ask if we can speak. I honor your comments and support your freedom to seek your own cleansing. Speak to me on how things stand and how we should assist you. I seek your connection and strive to be open to your energy.

Jess, I am your mother and your sustenance. I am the ground you seek to connect to. I form the base of physicality your personality forms as it incarnates on my surface. My foundation is the structure of your chemical make up. My elements are your building blocks and components. You are an embodiment of me and my energy sustains you.

I seek nourishment from you and from all who live as part of my substance. There is a symbiotic energy relationship that occurs between you and me. In a sense you are the channel that sends energy to me from the universe and receives my resonance as the core of your being. We are reciprocal and bound together. As I raise my frequencies to enter a new level of refinement, so must you absorb the energy I give off. The energy coming in from our cosmos is both transmitted through you to me and from me to you. You raise your energy level to match the core I am providing.

Exciting events are happening to me and the weight of centuries of oppression is being removed. The light coming in is forcing the limits of the imposed darkness to dissolve and break away. The analogy of a physical workout is somewhat apt. The movement in exercise enables the blood and energy to flow through your physical system. So the energy coming in to me enables my muscles and physical embodiments to move and shift into new positions that accommodate greater balance and release. These movements are inevitably physical expressions of my power and letting go. The rise in volcanoes, tornadoes, earthquake tremors, and flooding rains are my stresses rising to the surface and finding release. Many ignored imbalances are now seeking to right themselves to match the higher frequency of energy.

Many existing landmasses must be removed and restructured. This may seem unfortunate to your thinking, but your concepts are based on selfish emotionalism that is limited in its view of universal evolution and unity. Your fear is only triggered by your memories of experiences that have been explained to you as pain. Your limited perceptions of your indestructible higher self have blinded you to your willingness to experience what you have manifested for this present incarnation. You chose to come here at this time on my physical surface embodiment to participate in the closure that has been determined for me. Never doubt your participation and never fear your choice.

What is my nature, you ask? I am the spirit of your physical manifestation. I embody the tools you use for your own physical make up. My embodiment becomes the elements of your embodiment. I am the source for your spirit to assimilate to experience your personal growth. I am the template, as it were, for your human experience.

My name is Gaia as the Earth's spirit. My physical body is called Urantia or Mother Earth, in a more familiar way. I am the example you draw upon for your manifestation. I am a part of all of you, just as Christ Michael is a part of all of us. The idea that became me originated with Christ Michael and was fashioned with the assistance of Nebadonia and the architects who helped construct Nebadon. I was designed for a specific purpose and you were designed to work within my parameters. This balance was disrupted and our purpose was blocked for many millennia. This has been resolved, and Heaven has decreed that it is time to reform the specifics of our purpose. This recreation must take the form it needs to operate in accordance with Christ Michael's plans, and now is the time these changes are beginning.

Look for more disruptions and upheavals in your expectations. The events are not predetermined, but are necessary at some point.

This has been Gaia speaking to Jess by way of verbal expression of my anticipated ascension.

Soltec Speaks on Man's Role in Earth Changes

By Jess Anthony
# 55 May 18, 2008 - 6:00:00 PM

5-18-08

Soltec, I ask for specifics from you today. The time seems ripe for major upheavals, although the certainty has not been determined. Mother Earth seems to be primed for this change and we have been warned several times by several guides. I ask again for clarification and guidance for people however they may be affected by this.

Jess, this is Soltec—Anthonius, to use my given name.

Let me speak with some encouragement and some warning. You all must engage in mindsets that allow for manipulation and maneuverability. I say this because the extent of the damages that may occur can be ameliorated to some extent by the concern and the mental cleaning that goes on regarding the nature of the looming catastrophes. You can literally weaken or change the nature of the events if you consciously work to do that. The reality that allows them to manifest as you assume is only one of many possibilities that could occur. The shape of the event is not predetermined, only the likelihood of the potential for certain aspects to take place based on the elements that are present.

An awareness of this ability to interact with the Earth and the nature of the physical changes that occur is new to many of you. You create the paradigm that it plays out because you create the reality you experience. You are totally responsible for what happens to you, although you think that outside events are predetermined or happening beyond the scope of your control. Every event that involves your life experience is shaped by your higher self to allow you to experience the circumstances you have become aware of as possibilities. You choose the characteristics and you allow them to manifest in a way that affects you.

This may seem counter to everything you have been taught or led to believe, but in truth it is the way your life experience shapes its form. You wish to experience certain paradigms and you therefore draw the energy of those aspects to your awareness on some level. It may not be at the front of your conscious thinking, but it is always involving your life experience on some level. You are shaping the life you are living here on Earth at all times whether you are conscious of this or not. All events you participate in are what you have selected to experience—either overtly or as the result of someone else's chosen action. Your spectrum of life experiences is what you choose.

Having said this, I repeat that the nature and the severity of the events that ultimately take place on Earth are the direct result of your conscious choices. You often only allow events to take place without realizing you can change the outcome. You have been taught you have no control. This is not true. You are a co-creator on Earth. This means you can determine the shape of the events, as well as determine the nature of your reaction to them. You are creating your life experience.

In that context, the projected events in California and in the Pacific rim are almost inevitable because the mass consciousness of Earth as a whole refuses to accept that the events can or will occur and that the people are able to evaluate the best interaction they are able to select for themselves. Their choices are most often left up to their higher consciousness alone at a disconnect from their conscious rationality. The people refuse to acknowledge the potential that is looming, and they refuse to prepare for it, as a result.

I say that man creates the outcome of his life experience here on Earth, but this is the outcome of a dialogue with the Earth herself that forms the material manifestation that his embodiment draws upon. Man is connected with Earth, and the decisions and choices man makes must take into account the reality that Mother Earth has chosen. This again is often a passive acceptance of what seems to be an inevitable event, when it is actually an event that is shaped by the both participants. Mother Earth is primal to man, however, and the nature of his existence is formed by his relationship.

Man's choices over the millennia have been for the most part at odds with the preferences of Mother Earth. This has caused major abnormalities and imbalance in her makeup and structure—abnormalities that must be harmonized and removed in order for Mother Earth to raise her energy frequencies to match the ascending of the solar system she is part of. The dialogue and choice of harmonious selections is the same as in the dialogue with man, but at an even more incremental level. These choices cause the choices man is presented to select from. Changes on Earth must happen, and man must determine how he wishes to interact with them as part of the life experience of Earth.

I am in charge of overseeing the nature of the changes that must occur in some fashion to allow Mother Earth to regain her galactic harmony. I see many potential geophysical manifestations that are almost unstoppable at this point. Man has caused much imbalance and as a result has created situations through the globe that are precariously tipping towards catastrophe. His unthinking drive to overpopulation has created many sites where the Earth changes will impact an enormous number of inhabitants if no preparation is made. And at this time it is almost too late for much backing up. The warnings for disasters have been given repeatedly for generations, and people have ignored them or been conditioned to assume they would not affect them. There are a variety of reasons this has happened, it is true, but the fact remains that civilization on Earth is in danger.

What to do and when? are the most direct questions. The nature of the changes and the timetable for the ascension of the solar system and the galactic region Earth is part of is in place and events are moving ahead rapidly. Earth has little time to delay in beginning the physical manifestations of this spiritual ascension. Man is part of this change and must also transform. There is no alternative in the bigger picture. The ascension has been decided and the process has begun. Man has to determine the details his personal interaction will have with the inevitable and yet to be decided.

The timetable on Earth has also begun and events are shaping up in sequence, although man can still affect the severity and the nature of the manifestation. The earthquakes in China are a first step. The volcanoes rising on the seabed near Oregon are part of the release. The tremors that are occurring more frequently all along the West Coast of the United States are also precursors of a sequence of much more devastating Earth changes. Man must decide how he wishes to interact and shape his personal experience.

I am Anthonious Soltec speaking to Jess today.

Esu Speaks on Receiving Messages

By Jess Anthony

# 56 May 24, 2008 - 7:02:00 PM

5-24-08

Esu, I ask for some clarification today. I understand messages are only parts of the whole scenario going on, but the posted ones are at such disagreement concerning the effects of changing frequency. Stasis or not, intervention or evacuation, first contact or announcements, delivery of funds or continued manipulations. Diametrically opposed comments. I trust what I hear, but I ask how best to reconcile. Are messages geared to preconceived expectations with the idea of moving ideas closer to unity? Are messages disrupted or false? I ask for clarity and understanding.

Yes, Jess, I can speak to you. This is Esu and I again will address the incongruity you read and hear.

This is a time of many alternative interpretations of what is happening. Most are predicated on existing belief systems or preconceptions. Messages take the form they do because the mental structure of the receiver receives the energy that way. I am speaking to you as ideas contained in streams of energy. Your body receives the energy and your mental apparatus stored in your brain organ assimilates the waves and patterns as an understandable construct of language and images that draw upon your own mental vocabulary of experiences and stored ideas for formulation. You determine the shape the ideas take as words and phrases. Your mind forms the construct of the message. Your preconceptions shape the color of what is expressed.

That is why it is pre-eminently important you clear your mind of as much "clutter" as possible before you ask to hear what we are "saying" to you. You want the receptors to be as clean and as responsive as possible. It is in fact your nervous system and your endocrine system that react and interact with the energy patterns we are sending you. This is the same receptor system that assimilates any of the myriad waves of energy that constantly come into contact with your aura and your physical body. The only difference is the structure of the wave pattern we are sending to you. It triggers specific physiological responses that take the shape of ideas and messages that you decode in your own vocabulary. This is why you should be as uncluttered as possible before you receive. You want to be able to hear the true message we are sending with as little filtering as possible.

Of course some filtering always takes place. That is why it is crucial the reader or hearer always weigh the form given the message by the words chosen. Does it resonate with you beyond the phraseology? Can you sense the energy causing the words to be chosen? The message itself is not what we are sending you. The energy is what the connection is and your physical construct translates the idea generated by the energy into a verbal form that is able to communicate to others.

Having said that as a preamble let me generally say that all the messages you read, despite their differences in form and content, begin with the information being expressed by the speaker being received. This includes only those messages that have some element of resonating truth in them in your perspective. Messages beyond the scope of your interest or discernment have no bearing on your own personal journey. They may have resonance with others who read or hear them, but that is not your immediate concern. You are following a specific pathway that utilizes your chosen life form to explore your distinct personality. Your issues are not the same as all others. They overlap with many, but others are not a factor for you. All that you do come in contact with at a conscious level must be factored in as information that you have become acquainted with. You must determine the effect it has on your own perception of yourself. You must discern the energy shaping the words—no matter what the words selected state—and decide if the information has a bearing on your path. Your way is not anyone else's way, although many are influenced by their assimilation of the energy that comes to you.

That is why you share your personal messages. That is why others share their personal messages. They too feel their insight may be helpful to others beyond themselves. The problem you on Earth have with assimilating other's messages and discerning the validity of the energy behind the phrases used is based on your emotional history and your ingrained system of measuring what is good or bad based on your own preconceptions. You make judgments peremptorily and you condemn anything that doesn't fit your own limited perspective. You generally are unwilling to examine something out of your ken and determine whether or not it actually has some bearing on your own perceptions.

That is why there are so many variations of messages and why the bickering and labeling is so paramount. There are none that are the whole truth. There are none that are completely misunderstood, although there are many that are so misconstrued they give a false interpretation of the information the energy they are manifesting. Always look to see if there is some truth for you in the message. You probably would not have come across it if there were not some element that you needed to evaluate. Look positively at something new and don't bring mental baggage to the initial reading that dismisses it out of hand before you even determine what is being said. This is an all-to-common occurrence today. Light workers are so divided into camps with their own favorite receivers they refuse to examine the words of someone outside their own small circle. This circle is drawn by limited perceptions and an unwillingness to constantly re-examine their assumptions.

Reality is limitlessly varied and your version is different that everyone else's. You create the form you need to explore your own path. They create the form they need to explore theirs. Neither version is all that reality is. Reality is in effect all of the versions you see individually. You must be always flexible and willing to adapt your own awareness to the continually changing parameters that you come in contact with. Your reality changes from moment to moment. The truth is you are infinite and eternal, and all else is an aspect of your finding your place in the oneness of the Creator First Source. This involves first an awareness that you are part of the Creator First Source. You are He and your form and personality is only a version of the Creator that He has designed to explore the scenario you are learning about. You are one of the infinite numbers of streams of the Creator that are all connected to the same truth that is his Creation.

There is no good or bad. There is only exploring and learning. This learning brings you ever closer to your awareness of your oneness.

This is Esu speaking today.

Soltec Speaks on Potential Events

By Jess Anthony
# 57 Jun 1, 2008 - 11:43:00 PM

6-1-08

Soltec, I ask you for information today. I understand predictions are only potentials, but I ask for insight into the most serious events that seem to be imminent. I also understand the occurrence is connected to Gaia's choices, and I respect that balance. Much has been said lately about May events that may not have occurred as expected. Others had pointed to June events. What is possible this month and where can this happen? We all are uncertain how to anticipate how we will be affected.

Jess, it is good to speak again. Much has been happening, Earth-wise, and many potential events are looming. Whether they manifest, and when, is more correctly the decision and choice of Mother Earth—Gaia, as you know her. She is a sentient being and you are part of her decision making process.

Gaia is, as you said, suffering from the need to release many pockets of stress and toxic build up. This manifests on a broad scale as shifting plates, moving fault lines, erupting volcanoes, or unpredictably severe storms and flooding. These are really like places on the surface or inside your physical body that are affected by imbalances in your chemical system or by reactions that your body has because of inconsiderate treatment. Your body forces you to pay attention to it. You realize you have not been paying attention when you have flare ups.

This is precisely the same with Mother Earth. And just as you can moderate the severity of your own consequences, so can she. Her decisions are a compromise between her own needs and the effect it will have on her inhabitants. She is always seeking to react in the best way possible for all concerned. She is constantly weighing whether to reduce the pressure in one area all at once, or regulate the amount in several different stresses at different times. Sometimes the amount of pressure to be relieved is too much to be able to spread around and one spot must take a big hit. The situation in China was one of these buildups. Other areas could produce even more catastrophic results than the thousands affected there, and by relieving the pressure in Mid-China, Mother Earth eased some of the built up pressure elsewhere, notably the West Coast line and Indonesia. There are other spots that have potential stresses, but these are the most pending and will have the most devastating results if they have to be carried out.

We wait for these to have some sort of resolution. The West Coast of both the Americas, much of North America and places in South America has an enormous potential at this time. This event will almost inevitably affect places in Alaska, as well as places in Mexico. The plates near California are fairly stable, but the land is not supported over the ocean and the fault lines are slipping more and more each day. This is seen by the increase in numbers of tremors. This geographical problem is usually ignored by most watchers. This will collapse, and sooner than later. It is all a matter of built up pressure and the opportunity to release it.

There are other areas that will be affected by this collapse. The Eastern coast of Asia will be hit by the tsunamis that will be generated by such an enormous collapse of land mass. This will disrupt most of the world's shipping because the ports on both continents will be destroyed for the most part. There is some shipping that does occur on the East coast between the United States and Europe and Africa, but the bulk of your imported produce and technical instruments comes from Central and South America and Asia. This is not mentioning the large loss of life that will happen at the same time. Both areas are vastly overcrowded in respect to the land resources, and the disruption of life there will have an immediate impact on the rest of the world.

This upheaval will definitely happen during stasis and the Jupiter ignition, if Mother Earth doesn't decide to release this pressure sooner. The benefit of having it occur during stasis is that much of the devastation can be repaired while you sleep. This would be a charitable deed the galactics can contribute. The lesson to be learned if it occurs before stasis begins would be the need to form collaborative groups to help deal with the immense losses and sudden lack of resources you always have taken for granted. This lesson would be an immeasurably beneficial one to have experienced, although it would take an immense amount of emotional control to be objective and not be overwhelmed by the event's results. It would show those who remain how they must re-think their existence in order to tackle the work that would be needed.

There are other hot spots, as well. Indonesia and the lower Pacific Rim are also unsteady. Places in the middle of the United States are also building up pressure, but they are not as ready to manifest at this point. There are also cones that are building up in the ocean floors, but the immediate affect these would have has been delayed at this point.

Another consideration is the shifting water table and the flooding due to erratic rain and melting ice. This has more internal effects at present, but the coastlines will be in danger when the Earth's axis tilts more noticeably during the Jupiter event. This will affect the climate, and the frozen Polar Regions will become warmer. The rising water at that point will cover some areas that have ignored the eco-system up to now. June is a time when these potentials could come together, but the decision for stasis remains Christ Michael's.

I have given you some global problems that will occur in some form in the future. There is no way these can be dispensed with, because the structure Mother Earth has come to have must be changes. It is her prerogative to make these changes, not yours, although she is always considerate of your concerns. Speak to her and tell her your fears and your hopes. Once again, I am not giving you specific dates. This is primarily because we don't know them. We can only look at the evidence that is presented and make our best judgment as to what this means. Of course, we can look at miniscule amounts of evidence and still make much more reasoned assessments than you, at this point. You will learn as you experience greater certainty in your reasoning.

Soltec, this evening.

Esu Speaks on Religion and Emotional Confrontations

By Jess Anthony
# 58 Jun 4, 2008 - 1:12:00 PM

6-2-08

Esu, I ask for information this evening. I ask for comments on religion and what the root problem is. I ask for an explanation of the changes that stasis will bring with its cleaning out. How much will the awareness and raised vibration of energy affect the current thinking and attitudes that lead to argument? My impression is that people will be more aligned and the petty issues that plague us today will be overcome? Is this correct?

Jess, let's speak briefly on these issues.

The stasis effect will be one of cleaning and removal of disharmonious vibrational patterns. This is the synchrony of matching vibrational frequencies. This will have various effects on the remaining inhabitants. Many will be removed, and others will "wither away" in a sense that their body structure is no longer capable of adapting to the new vibrational regime. You are correct in that there will be more unity and more understanding of compromise and tolerance. The evidence will be clearly factual and visible. This example will cause more reversal of thinking than any other factor.

I don't expect the range of thinking will be all resolved and brought to an understanding, but I do expect that much of the pettiness as you describe it will no longer serve any purpose. People will see an open perspective that supports new attitudes.

My role will be to enable the religious traditions to view each other as equally viable. None of this current warfare or elitism. No belief is more correct than another. All are expressions of man's thinking and reactions to his circumstances. Religion becomes the solution for political injustices. Power is created away from the physical social construct. Power is labeled morally justified because it seems called for by the accepted belief structures. Sin, in this situation, is not accepting the dogma.

Sin is, in fact, an awkward word to use, but it carries an importance that belies its judgmental suggestion. Sinning is purposely ignoring the leadership of others more fully invested in the light of the Creator and taking it upon themselves to consciously work against it.

This is enough for now.

Esu, I ask to continue this commentary. I also ask about confrontation and engaging with others in emotional disagreements.

Jess, I do wish to continue this conversation—as one-sided as it may appear to be. Your comments and questions go unstated, but they are there and I feed off them in forming my responses to you.

My role after stasis will be to present the unity that is at the core of all religious belief. There is one truth and all will have to come to accept that. There can be no alternatives in terms of Universal law and intent. The story of my role is told many different ways and I will have reflections of many expectations. This will be part of my service to Earth this second time. I have come to be a representative of the Creator's idea of creation in visible form. I will represent the manifestation of the logos and guide Earth inhabitants to the level of awareness that will lead to the next phase of ascension necessary to move into a higher dimension of light and life.

My public persona will take the form of people's expectations. I will look as they expect to see me. I will act and speak as they anticipate. However, I will temper this expectation with the clear truth of the reality of Christ Michael's Universe and the Earth's place in this design. Earth will have a Second Coming of sorts, but it will be an informed appearance with true teaching and clear guidance.

I will speak now about the questions you suggested. Everyone is conditioned to have emotional responses to situations that rub against their preconceived comfort zone. This immediate reaction acts in conflict with reasoned discernment and examined interaction. Too often emotional responses are not considered to the full benefit of the person. They commit a person to a course of defensive action that often is not necessary.

Once a response is generated, however, the incipient conflict becomes energized and the emotional dialogue is started. This is often not for the best in terms of personal awareness and growth. At least it is not for the unchallenged course of self determination. The conflict creates a block that then must be resolved. Once this is created it becomes the person's reality, and the solution of that reality becomes the next step in the life progression. One is not judged better than another, only more and less complicated. Lessons can be learned either way, and it is an individual's decision which they choose to pursue.

It is one's decision which reality they wish to connect with. Learning about a situation creates a level of connection that has to be resolved. One's choice then becomes how much more they wish to invest in the resolution process. The more one interacts, the more complicated the situation becomes.

Again, this is not judged—only observed and supported to the extent you ask for it to be. Each decision is a chance for Christ Michael to learn and experience this particular situation through you. Each personality is distinctive and unique, and the reaction a person has to a particular situation is a unique juncture with that nexus of energy that explores that particular reality. He uses each person as his extension to create the experience for him. They are him and their reactions are his.

It is not significant that one wins or loses a conflict or interaction. It is important that one assumes full responsibility for his actions within the situation—whatever they turn out to be. The extent of responsibility one accepts in himself determines the nature of his action and response in any given situation. The choice for action determines what the result will be. This has to be accepted to accept full responsibility. A person must not shift blame or seek escape for a situation he has allowed to happen to him. He must always choose to behave in his best interest by weighing the options presented.

I think this is sufficient for this evening. You can edit as you wish and post as you wish.

Esu Speaks on Change and Creating Reality

By Jess Anthony
# 59 Jun 28, 2008 - 6:24:00 PM

6-28-08

Esu, I ask for comments today on a range of topics. Speak of the status of what is happening politically and physically. Speak of the disparity in reports and how we know what is true for us. Speak of the sequence of moving into transition and ultimately into another level of light. I ask for details as best they can be stated. I ask for assurance in times of frustration and apathy. I ask for guidance and insight that leads to balance.

Yes, Jess, I am here. You can see glimmers of what you imagine me to look like in your mind's eye. I am light at this point because I am coming to you as an idea that manifests in your writing. I am the spark that causes you to form these thoughts into an idea that can be expressed. Your comments are my thoughts expressed.

You ask for much information. This has elements of uncertainty and the need for assurance. You ask for information at a time when you doubt the nature of the process we have described to you. This is a natural occurrence, for you still surrounded by the fears and uncertainties of your created existence on Earth. You have adapted your being to the parameters of life on the planet at a time for change. You are moving into a new level of awareness of yourself and your purpose, and the process of change you witness is your interpretation of how your life is operating within the flux of energy that is surrounding you. You are absolutely a part of everything that is happening in your awareness because you are registering that energy and evaluating it for your own existence. You weigh everything around you that happens to you and this creates your sense of reality. Your reality is your reality. It is not my reality or anyone else's who reads these words. These individual realities overlap and intermingle because we are connecting at this point. I have established contact with you as you ask. This is the process for discerning truth in your reality. You ask yourself if it resonates with your vision of yourself. You are the final arbiter of your reality. You determine what you accept and what colors your progression of life.

This determination of truth is based on the immutable laws that determine the structure of the universe you inhabit. You measure each question or incident against the truth of the creation Christ Michael has ordained for Nebadon. This is easily measured and weighed and it either fits or it doesn't. This is the basis of determining truth and gauging how your life is to be structured. Each individual personality has its own make up and its own set of parameters that are true to it and to the universal laws. The universal laws are the truth, and your personality either coordinates with these laws or it doesn't.

There is no sin in the terms of religions' judgments. There is only measuring the rate of being in accord with the structure of the universe you a part of. There is only one thing and you are part of it. The brilliance of your individual lives allows you to explore and experience myriad ways of measuring your persona against the universal truths. You are free to choose how you wish to live within the parameters of the range of experiences you can participate in. The universe is many layers of existence with many parallel experiences happening in what you would regard as Now. There is no measurement of time beyond your present circumstances. Your perception creates the definition that we speak to when you connect with us.

You perceive us operating in the frame of time and space you are familiar with mentally, and so we do in your perception. You are creating this reality because it is your thought. It determines how you interact with our energy because it is part of the existence you have chosen to experience. We speak to your conception of dates and sequence of events. That is just as valid a way of viewing your existence as another version without dates or sequences of events.

Having said this as a preface on context, I will say that the “events” you are perceiving are progressing the way you are viewing them. How are they progressing? Are you comfortable with what you read and hear? Are you disturbed? Do you ask yourself why you are disturbed and why this doesn’t resonate with your self-view? Do you examine your perceptions in an ongoing way and weigh everything you come in contact with? Because you determine the reality of your existence.

You ask why this appears to be disturbed by reports of stasis and Earth changes. These “events” are part of the fabric that has been woven into the structure and process of ascension on every scale of being. Everything pauses to evaluate and everything makes a decision to change or not to change. This decision is of course another status that has been chosen, but it influences a different sequence of causes and effects than the other one would have. You have decided that you would follow that part and explore that set of variables. Christ Michael has imbedded stasis and change into the process of how Earth and the planets nearby in your system operate. You are experiencing this programmed sequence of events, and you are fortunate to be able to see this unfolding in a way that most inhabitants of ascending planets do not.

You have chosen to incarnate here at this time in the ascension to be catalysts and guides to assist the process. You have roles that fit into the structure, and you recognize them and realize their purpose as necessary for your own happiness and sense of integration with the process. You are the tools that are helping bring about these changes, and Christ Michael is depending on your participation to move into the next phase more easily. That is what so many messages are coming forth in all sorts of guises that urge people to wake up and realize what is happening. People determine the shape of their existence here on Earth, and the manifestation it takes is a result of your creation. That is why Christ Michael has issued statement after statement and provided wake up call after wake up call. His creation that you are a part of is struggling through an immense hologram of existence that its inhabitants have invested with emotional reality. He has delayed the universal process almost as long as he possibly can to allow you to realize your role and begin to assist the sequence of events that is ongoing.

He wants the banking situation to be resolved in your conception. He wants the political maneuvering to be stopped because it is occupying your attention and keeping you from realizing the larger picture of ascension that is occurring. The Earth will be making changes and the shape and nature of those changes will be colored by and determined by your perceptions of what you expect and what you ignore. You choose the shape of your realities, and Christ Michael is experiencing your choices by the way he has created your individual personas. You are extensions of him, and your choices and experiences are, in effect, his choices and experiences. You can use the analogy of a part of the body that experiences sensations that are then evaluated and referenced by all the other parts of the body. You provide this set of unique experiences, and your choices are his way of learning about that particular set of parameters that constitutes your life progression.

And like a part of the body that gets infected or dysfunctional, a member can be modified or removed to provide a better working system. The members of Christ Michael's body that are the Earth's inhabitants have fallen into the shape you see. The decision has been made to improve the operational pattern. The body will function more effectively, with more focus and realization of its purpose, because this will allow all to experience a much wider range of creation that they dreamed possible. This will happen soon. A date has been determined, by your way of thinking, and nothing will change that. The variables that play into its manifestation, however, are fluid and are created by you to allow you to shape your experience of this change. Look within and see how attuned you are to this progression. The Earth is ascending in whatever form that takes in your individual perception of events. You have agreed to this change or you wouldn't have come here in the first place. You can create an easy transition or a difficult one by your way of thinking emotionally, and you can create an accepting or antagonistic reaction to the events as they unfold.

These comments today are by Sananda Esu Immanuel.

Christ Michael Aton Speaks on Receiving Messages

By Jess Anthony
# 60 Jul 7, 2008 - 12:50:00 PM

7-7-08

Christ Michael, I ask for clarity and understanding on emotional reactions and how personal perception influences how we hear messages. To what extent is anger or unhappiness a part of our interpretation? How is love judgmental and critical? How is progress weighed dispassionately? I ask for comments on how our perspective determines how we perceive.

Jess, I will speak to you on these questions and topics. Your perception is everything that determines how you hear us. We speak through you and your commentaries are our thoughts filtered through your emotions and understanding. We only manifest at the level you allow us to speak. The words you choose carry with them the energy that causes them to be formed. They are conveying the energy that connects us with you. The words are the shapes that you give our expressions.

Our expressions are much broader and more inclusive than you can perceive at this time. We encompass all--and you are part of that—but your mental cognition only allows a small spectrum of this energy frequency to be grasped and translated into words. Much more is internalized and forms part of the context the words come from. You have this energy taking various forms in your feelings and mental understanding. I am trying to convey the limits of what you perceive as a message. This message is couched in terms you know to use, with phraseology familiar to you and emotional perceptions that resonate with your experiences and conscious points of view. What is formalized is what you allow to be formalized. This is not a judgment of one receiver or message being better than another; only a statement that each is personalized and different from all the others in terms of its focus.

My comments to Candace come through her perspective. She has a focus and an agenda that filter what she hears to express. She is in tune with a higher frequency than you at this point, but that doesn't mean she expresses this connection with more clarity or insight. Her messages are the product of her background and operational experiences, to use that phrase. She speaks about what she is concerned with. Her messages take a different tack than yours because she has a different agenda. You are concerned with inclusion and teaching connection and balance. You want everyone to see the bigger picture that comes from a broader perception. Your perception is broader than most, and you speak to the issues that are germane to that point of view. You approach issues from the context of overview. You find reasons more fascinating, often, than statements of facts or data. You see all the details as part of a larger movement that is making a unified effort to establish connection.

I speak to others of specifics that are malleable incidents in the larger scheme of progression. The levels of complexity that have been created are beyond belief, yet all must function as a unit for one purpose and goal. They are all part of the urge to ascend back to the Christ energy that formed the creation. The energy was replicated and used to create all extensions of my thought. The story is described in understandable sequence in the Urantia book. This was a complex process and it is not capricious or unplanned in terms of its parameters. Everything is predetermined in its structure. Everything reflects my intentions and my concepts. You reflect my concepts. I chose to create an embodiment that would allow your soul stream to inhabit my universe and participate in its exploration of my interpretation of creation. This Universe and its progression is my progression, and all the details you worry over are part of the range of choices I created to allow you to explore this Universe in my behalf.

I allowed you to experience free choice and free expression of those choices to broaden your and my experience of Nebadon. Man on Earth is bound by the parameters I have chosen to employ in this part of my creation. The extended history of challenge and reaction to my unity has created its own layering of realities that must be allowed to play out as a formed concept. Creation is operational until it no longer exists. Once energy starts moving it continues moving until it stops. This truth under girds all structure in Nebadon. You manifested your history and your formalized conceptions must continue until they are changed.

This is based on your ability to co-create your ideas. Only you can change your own concepts. You set the energy in motion and you steer it. I experience your experiences because part of me is in each of you. But you have the ability to set the universal energy in motion to reflect our own vision of reality you are working with. The reality of the Universe is one constant that embodies the distinction that formed Nebadon. All else is an interpretation of that constant. You may see a variety of realities—or even several streams of realities—happening simultaneously, but that is only your perception of yourself and your surrounding energy. A unique and distinctive ability to determine the layers is what sets each person apart. This is part of the dialogue you contribute to the universal interaction you are participating in.

It makes no difference in terms of your individual soul purpose how you choose to explore your progression. You have a purpose and it takes on a shape to allow you to learn its capabilities within that shape. I don't judge the choices. I don't judge the results of those choices.

I can evaluate their unity with my plan, however, and with the parameters of my universe. Those are the rules, to use that expression, which this experience proceeds with. I can express this to you only through your means of understanding my expression. This takes the form of anger or frustration because those are the emotions you understand and operate through. I am not angry because all is my creation. It may be expressed as anger because you the receiver hear my ideas through your anger.

The expressions one sees and hears share the forms created by the person expressing them as a voice. The nature of telepathy is communicating with ideas. My ideas can only be verbalized through the vocabulary of the receiver. A receiver can only verbalize these ideas through his or her ability to perceive and communicate in words. Anger and frustration are expressed as coming from me because that is the most resonant emotional construct the ideas will manifest through as words. The receiver hears the portion of the idea that connects with his or her focus and preconceived experiences. I open new understanding “packets” when I need to express something beyond the range of existing understanding. The ability is always there in the receiver, it just needs the proper circuitry in the brain to connect an idea to a mental form that can be experienced. All speakers are part of me, and all use this method because I use it.

I will speak of events and specific occurrences through others. The importance of your messages lies in my being able to express why other messages take the form they do. You ask for reasons and contexts, and I use you to speak to those issues. This provides more underlay for understanding what I am communicating. This type of communication is the most effective one at this time of disillusionment and distrust in traditional methods of communicating. Those who will hear my words are best spoken to through another medium. These messages from me take many forms, and understanding requires much piecing together by discerning receivers and hearers. This process of discernment is a progression of cohesion in itself. The assimilation needed to understand the broadest concept of my words is part of the awareness that must be developed to recognize the unity of each inhabitant within the Universe.

Christ Michael Aton
