

Candace teachings on GLP

Abundant Hope

© Abundant Hope

Why cannot earth folks envision a world without MONEY! Part # 2

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 04:23 PM

IT IS NOT THAT HARD PEOPLE. Some folks didn't like my butting into this thread this evening.

Thread: What is the reason for money?

So lets just do it under my name and YOU butt into this one with VISION. Living without money does not need serfdom. And it does not mean going back to the hunter gatherer stage either, nor to an agrarian live. It does not mean you trade your organic back yard grown veggies to a carpenter to build your house either.

The carpenter to build you house does not have to do something to acquire the wood, shingles, plumbing, electrical wiring and all the rest to build your house for his groceries. YOU CAN DO BETTER.

HUMAN is different from the animals because human can envision. I have had in fact 3 cats that have gotten a father fragment because they began to envision something beyond CAT. Leave out the Father Fragment though for this time, its not a thread on religion or cosmology.

Can you ones see no further ahead than working away your lives under the control of others? Can you not see your enslavement? I have never had a free day in my life on this world. NOT ONE. While I have "free time" to write here on GLP, I had to pay for the computer, and I have to pay for the electricity to run it, and most importantly I have to pay for the internet connection to get here.

And some pour soul likely earned next to nothing to bring me the expensive mac in the first place because the way international currency works. I have no idea who builds all the parts to a mac, then there is the shipping, packaging to ship and all that stuff that makes the world of apple go round.

I want to leave religion out of this, but I will not leave spirituality and some cosmology out of it. I have to make one statement, you are so missing out on the spirituality stuff, that you have bought the false heaven lie, which allows you to let yourself live as slaves, in hopes of a reward in heaven where you never have to work again, you can have parties with Jesus for eternity of trillions of years. Yes some of you do think that way, do not deny it.

Well guess what, Jesus has returned and he has worked his butt off for you since then. He worked his butt off finding places for you to go at the time this world is closed down and that is soon. Because you have destroyed your world and you have done so by allowing MONEY to be used to squelch your creative minds and reduce you to enslaved beings. And there are plenty of people who will post here that I am coo coo around this idea, they did already in the thread above and they have done so in the other threads on money.

I am NOT COO COO on this. Guess what, you will always work SOME in all of your life eternal.

You will always live on planets of some sort. There is no heaven up in them their clouds to float in. Jesus LIVES on a planet except right now he lives on a CRAFT. Crafts are heaven people. You do not fly the friendly universe until you have earned the right to do so. The galactic wars are over and every race on every world must earn the right to fly or you stay on your prison world until you do. Work does NOT every go away.

Your angel work, didn't that occur to you? Do they get paid digital credits or paper bills for it? NO.

In the friendly universe everyone GIFTS their skills. Period. Now enough for tonight, I will continue this tomorrow and see what's posted in it. You are going to learn to expand your consciousness, or you are going to stay as fools on fools planets. This was the teaching left out of your bible.

"Truly, I say to you, wisdom must be learned from the laws of Creation, which humans may recognize in nature. But if humans do not think and seek, they will not be able to attain wisdom and will remain fools. There is no higher happiness than wisdom, no better friend than knowledge, and no other saviour than the power of the spirit."

If you do not get that POWER of your SPIRIT up and running, you are moving to other stupid worlds full of fools. OK. Can I be any clearer of that one?

Now would someone help me out here and list all the shit you have to pay for in this life? To pay for your shit, (and you do pay sewer fees to your water company to process your shit, do you not, quite literally), you have to work hours almost beyond your endurance, and submit to enslavement. Every single person that is employed is a slave and every single employer manages slaves. PONDER THAT ONE FOR IT IS TRUTH. Good night. (and you won't have peace either until the money goes away.)

Quoting: Nobody in Particular

Let's abolish currency on Earth. Let's Love each other and help each other. Let's honor our animals and children. Let women have the reign. Let's brainstorm what to do with Humans who harm AND let's tear down the jails. Let's play in the rivers and let our laughter echo through the canyon walls. Let us be FREE, please let us choose Freedom. Peace and Love--Dawn. 🌻

Quoting: * Dawn *

EternalTruthSeeker

User ID: 7009496

France

12/13/2011 04:24 PM

5 Stars !!!

Money = Useless

on a Planet where all things are free...

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

Poland

12/13/2011 04:24 PM

You mean we would transcended into actual economy instead of shitty capitalism anti-economy that hinders inventions wastes resources and kills people for profit ?

No way, way to many people are too retarded.

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

Poland

12/13/2011 04:26 PM

Oh. And there is NO property.

All land belong to god.

It was a gift.

A gift is only sold by those who love money.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

Without mixing god into all of this.

No one created land it was created by nature, thus owning more then you need to sustain yourself and your family is direct insult towards the rest of people that have no land.

Real list

User ID: 7049451

 United States

12/13/2011 04:29 PM

You mean we would transcended into actual economy instead of shitty capitalism anti-economy that hinders inventions wastes resources and kills people for profit ?

No way, way to many people are too retarded.

Quoting: Shogu666

OP said no money. So, no economy.

Everything belongs to everybody. But that means nothing belongs to anybody. We all have nothing.

Thanks for nothing OP

EternalTruthSeeker

User ID: 7009496

 France

12/13/2011 04:29 PM

Oh. And there is NO property.

All land belong to god.

It was a gift.

A gift is only sold by those who love money.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

Without mixing god into all of this.

No one created land it was created by nature, thus owning more then you need to sustain yourself and your family is direct insult towards the rest of people that have no land.

Quoting: Shogu666

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 04:30 PM

Work will always need to be done for mankind's survival(unless we develop robotic tech to do it for us, but even then someone would have to do maintenance on the machines). All these folks who talk about not using money, I'd like to see them in an environment where suddenly they found they have to do all the work for others who are just not so industrious or are outright lazy asses.

I'd give them less than a week before all hell breaks loose and they start whinning about why others are not collaborating with the same effort as they are.

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 7006972

 Brazil

12/13/2011 04:31 PM

Oh. And there is NO property.

All land belong to god.

It was a gift.

A gift is only sold by those who love money.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

Without mixing god into all of this.

No one created land it was created by nature, thus owning more then you need to sustain yourself and your family is direct insult towards the rest of people that have no land.

Quoting: Shogu666

I wish I could talk with you freely in here.

But I cant. So... This is the way it is...

Something that never changes... This is the way it is...

Real list

User ID: 7049451

 United States

12/13/2011 04:31 PM

Oh. And there is NO property.

All land belong to god.

It was a gift.

A gift is only sold by those who love money.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

Without mixing god into all of this.

No one created land it was created by nature, thus owning more then you need to sustain yourself and your family is direct insult towards the rest of people that have no land.

Quoting: Shogu666

Unless you are using that land to improve the human condition. Even if you do this for a profit, if you grow food that people need to survive, where is the insult?

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 6550608

 United States

12/13/2011 04:31 PM

Because you can't trade labor with a stupid, lazy person for 24" rims.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 6550608

If I had said that, I would have been banned.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

Why, you got something against teenagers?

Corvus

User ID: 7064141

 Turkey

12/13/2011 04:34 PM

Money=Energy.You get money from people in exchange of your work.With the money you get you can buy other stuff(which you cannot create alone) from other people.Problem is not the money itself but mass money printing without equal gold and the authorities who decide redistribution of money unjustly.

Real problem is the industrial civilization and mass human enslavement.All the countries today are human farms.Most of people except elites born as a slave with a serial number.They brainwash children in schools,bring down people's iq and their health with forced vaccines,medications and food additives etc.They lure people with luxury and technological toys in to this trap.If you can buy houses,cars and other stuff this doesn't mean you are free.They let you buy these things in order not to people realize their real status.You even cannot travel to other human farms without being tracked because you have to use their passports.

As technology progress more, freedom will decrease more.They'll make people more addicted to newly created technologies therefore people become more addicted system.Some people already cannot think a life without their ipads or computers for example and they work for system just to be able to buy those things.They will improve weapons and security systems via technological progress and this will dramatically reduce the chance of a rebellion against system become succesful(This is already so hard because of the difference between the toys people has and the real weapons government has)

Before civilizations,your ancestors didnt work for anyone to buy their foods.They collected fruits that mother nature offered them and hunted for their meat.They didnt work for anyone just to buy home or some land.They conquered land with bravery and sword then they built their own shelters/houses.There were no pollution,no gmo,no pesticides in foods.There werent any authority that tell them what to do or not.They were NOT DOMESTICATED like todays people!They were not like sheeps in the slaughterhouse.Maybe they died young but they lived HONOURABLY AND FREE!

Real list

User ID: 7049451

 United States

12/13/2011 04:35 PM

If there were no laws there could not be crime.

We should envision a world without law in order to eliminate crime.

Last Edited by Real list on 12/13/2011 04:42 PM

Anonymous Coward
User ID: 4104666
 United States
12/13/2011 04:36 PM

Hey OP,

Maybe if you click your ruby slippers together enough times we can also be rid of all sickness and disease.

People like you scare me, you should learn to be more grounded in reality. Unrealistic solutions do more harm than good.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 4104666

That makes a lot of sense. She should use this 'universal conscience' or whatever it is to do something simpler and with a safer, more predictable outcome.

Maybe envision grass being pink, let's see that happen. What could it hurt?

Quoting: Real list

Or how about something useful, envision the legalization of weed. I've been doing that for a long time and it hasn't worked yet, maybe OP knows something I don't.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923
 Spain
12/13/2011 04:36 PM

Oh. And there is NO property.

All land belong to god.

It was a gift.

A gift is only sold by those who love money.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

Without mixing god into all of this.

No one created land it was created by nature, thus owning more than you need to sustain yourself and your family is direct insult towards the rest of people that have no land.

Quoting: Shogu666

Unless you are using that land to improve the human condition. Even if you do this for a profit, if you grow food that people need to survive, where is the insult?

Quoting: Real list

It's useless to talk with these kind of people. They base their beliefs on emotional idealism, they're like little children who don't understand the world and get angry when things are not the way they'd like.

They don't possess the strength to carry the burdens of living, most of them would be utterly lost without the guiding hand that they seem to despise so much.

They have a perpetual adolescent, rebellious attitude. If the world would be left to them, chaos would follow shortly after.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 04:41 PM

Money=Energy. You get money from people in exchange of your work. With the money you get you can buy other stuff (which you cannot create alone) from other people. Problem is not the money itself but mass money printing without equal gold and the authorities who decide redistribution of money unjustly.

Real problem is the industrial civilization and mass human enslavement. All the countries today are human farms. Most of people except elites born as a slave with a serial number. They brainwash children in schools, bring down people's IQ and their health with forced vaccines, medications and food additives etc. They lure people with luxury and technological toys in to this trap. If you can buy houses, cars and other stuff this doesn't mean you are free. They let you buy these things in order not to people realize their real status. You even cannot travel to other human farms without being tracked because you have to use their passports.

As technology progress more, freedom will decrease more. They'll make people more addicted to newly created technologies therefore people become more addicted system. Some people already cannot think a life without their iPads or computers for example and they work for system just to be able to buy those things. They will improve weapons and security systems via technological progress and this will dramatically reduce the chance of a rebellion against system become successful (This is already so hard because of the difference between the toys people has and the real weapons government has)

Before civilizations,your ancestors didnt work for anyone to buy their foods.They collected fruits that mother nature offered them and hunted for their meat.They didnt work for anyone just to buy home or some land.They conquered land with bravery and sword then they built their own shelters/houses.There were no pollution,no gmo,no pesticides in foods.There werent any authority that tell them what to do or not.They were NOT DOMESTICATED like todays people!They were not like sheeps in the slaughterhouse.Maybe they died young but they lived HONOURABLY AND FREE!

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

I like that ideal you present. Basically the world was harsher before, no doubt. There was widespread barbarism, but things were somehow nobler and truer. People lived their lives fully, never knowing when an enemy raid would come and they would be passed through the sword.

People think that peace and comfort, tolerance and integration are the highest aspirations of men. Maybe we're totally off regarding that.

Real list

User ID: 7049451

 United States

12/13/2011 04:45 PM

Money=Energy.You get money from people in exchange of your work.With the money you get you can buy other stuff(which you cannot create alone) from other people.Problem is not the money itself but mass money printing without equal gold and the authorities who decide redistribution of money unjustly.

Real problem is the industrial civilization and mass human enslavement.All the countries today are human farms.Most of people except elites born as a slave with a serial number.They brainwash children in schools,bring down people's iq and their health with forced vaccines,medications and food additives etc.They lure people with luxury and technological toys in to this trap.If you can buy houses,cars and other stuff this doesn't mean you are free.They let you buy these things in order not to people realize their real status.You even cannot travel to other human farms without being tracked because you have to use their passports.

As technology progress more, freedom will decrease more.They'll make people more addicted to newly created technologies therefore people become more addicted system.Some people already cannot think a life without their ipads or computers for example and they work for system just to be able to buy those things.They will improve weapons and security systems via technological progress and this will dramatically reduce the chance of a rebellion against system become succesful(This is already so hard because of the difference between the toys people has and the real weapons government has)

Before civilizations,your ancestors didnt work for anyone to buy their foods.They collected fruits that mother nature offered them and hunted for their meat.They didnt work for anyone just to buy home or some land.They conquered land with bravery and sword then they built their own shelters/houses.There were no pollution,no gmo,no pesticides in foods.There werent any authority that tell them what to do or not.They were NOT

DOMESTICATED like todays people!They were not like sheeps in the slaughterhouse.Maybe they died young but they lived HONOURABLY AND FREE!

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

From the time of the earliest humans 2.5 million years ago until around 50-40,000 years ago, the global human population experienced only very modest growth. People evidently lived in small hunting, gathering, and scavenging bands that rarely exceeded a few dozen individuals. Life expectancy was typically 30 years or less, often much less. [link to anthro.palomar.edu]

Died young you say????

Most didn't live to adulthood.

Yep, that is some life

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 7065153

 United States

12/13/2011 04:45 PM

Are you people in favor in a world w/o money because you lack money?

Not being a smartass, just curious.

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

 Poland

12/13/2011 04:46 PM

OP said no money. So, no economy.

Everything belongs to everybody. But that means nothing belongs to anybody. We all have nothing.

Thanks for nothing OP

Quoting: Real list

BS. No money doesn't mean no economy.

Your reality just cant grasp different concepts because of your high indoctrination.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 04:48 PM

Money=Energy. You get money from people in exchange of your work. With the money you get you can buy other stuff (which you cannot create alone) from other people. Problem is not the money itself but mass money printing without equal gold and the authorities who decide redistribution of money unjustly.

Real problem is the industrial civilization and mass human enslavement. All the countries today are human farms. Most of people except elites born as a slave with a serial number. They brainwash children in schools, bring down people's iq and their health with forced vaccines, medications and food additives etc. They lure people with luxury and technological toys in to this trap. If you can buy houses, cars and other stuff this doesn't mean you are free. They let you buy these things in order not to people realize their real status. You even cannot travel to other human farms without being tracked because you have to use their passports.

As technology progress more, freedom will decrease more. They'll make people more addicted to newly created technologies therefore people become more addicted system. Some people already cannot think a life without their ipads or computers for example and they work for system just to be able to buy those things. They will improve weapons and security systems via technological progress and this will dramatically reduce the chance of a rebellion against system become succesful (This is already so hard because of the difference between the toys people has and the real weapons government has)

Before civilizations, your ancestors didnt work for anyone to buy their foods. They collected fruits that mother nature offered them and hunted for their meat. They didnt work for anyone just to buy home or some land. They conquered land with bravery and sword then they built their own shelters/houses. There were no pollution, no gmo, no pesticides in foods. There werent any authority that tell them what to do or not. They were NOT DOMESTICATED like todays people! They were not like sheeps in the slaughterhouse. Maybe they died young but they lived HONOURABLY AND FREE!

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

From the time of the earliest humans 2.5 million years ago until around 50-40,000 years ago, the global human population experienced only very modest growth. People evidently lived in small hunting, gathering, and scavenging bands that rarely exceeded a few dozen individuals. Life expectancy was typically 30 years or less, often much less. [link to anthro.palomar.edu]

Died young you say????

Most didn't live to adulthood.

Yep, that is some life

Quoting: Real list

Civilization seems to inevitably lead to the tolerance of the very things who destroy all that is noble. It's a tough balance to keep, the free savage who lives a short but free and fully experienced life vs the tolerant, civilized man who sacrifices all his freedom for the sake of civilized society.

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

 Poland

12/13/2011 04:49 PM

Unless you are using that land to improve the human condition. Even if you do this for a profit, if you grow food that people need to survive, where is the insult?

Quoting: Real list

Because people are forced into acquiring food YOUR way. They have to work for you in order to get money.

You are stripping their freedom of being able to sustain themselves.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 04:51 PM

OP said no money. So, no economy.

Everything belongs to everybody. But that means nothing belongs to anybody. We all have nothing.

Thanks for nothing OP

Quoting: Real list

BS. No money doesn't mean no economy.

Your reality just cant grasp different concepts because of your high indoctrination.

Quoting: Shogu666

So answer me, what happens in your utopic moneyless world when people realize that they get what they need whether they work hard or not. What happens when you get a massive amount of people who say fuck it, I am gonna leech those who do the work and I am gonna scratch my balls.

You suggest those who do the work should altruistically keep feeding the leeches? Realistically how long would that last?

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

Poland

12/13/2011 04:52 PM

It's useless to talk with these kind of people. They base their beliefs on emotional idealism, they're like little children who don't understand the world and get angry when things are not the way they'd like.

They don't possess the strength to carry the burdens of living, most of them would be utterly lost without the guiding hand that they seem to despise so much.

They have a perpetual adolescent, rebellious attitude. If the world would be left to them, chaos would follow shortly after.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

You have already judged me without waiting for my reply.
You sir sucks and you know shit.

Red Hot Chilean Pepe

User ID: 735915

Chile

12/13/2011 04:53 PM

IT IS NOT THAT HARD PEOPLE. Some folks didn't like my butting into this thread this evening.
Thread: What is the reason for money?

So lets just do it under my name and YOU butt into this one with VISION. Living without money does not need serfdom. And it does not mean going back to the hunter gatherer stage either, nor to an agrarian live. It does not mean you trade your organic back yard grown veggies to a carpenter to build your house either.

The carpenter to build you house does not have to do something to acquire the wood, shingles, plumbing, electrical wiring and all the rest to build your house for his groceries. YOU CAN DO BETTER.

HUMAN is different from the animals because human can envision. I have had in fact 3 cats that have gotten a father fragment because they began to envision something beyond CAT. Leave out the Father Fragment though for this time, its not a thread on religion or cosmology.

Can you ones see no further ahead than working away your lives under the control of others? Can you not see your enslavement? I have never had a free day in my life on this world. NOT ONE. While I have "free time" to write here on GLP, I had to pay for the computer, and I have to pay for the electricity to run it, and most importantly I have to pay for the internet connection to get here.

And some poor soul likely earned next to nothing to bring me the expensive mac in the first place because the way international currency works. I have no idea who builds all the parts to a mac, then there is the shipping, packaging to ship and all that stuff that makes the world of apple go round.

I want to leave religion out of this, but I will not leave spirituality and some cosmology out of it. I have to make one statement, you are so missing out on the spirituality stuff, that you have bought the false heaven lie, which allows you to let yourself live as slaves, in hopes of a reward in heaven where you never have to work again, you can have parties with Jesus for eternity of trillions of years. Yes some of you do think that way, do not deny it.

Well guess what, Jesus has returned and he has worked his butt off for you since then. He worked his butt off finding places for you to go at the time this world is closed down and that is soon. Because you have destroyed your world and you have done so by allowing MONEY to be used to squelch your creative minds and reduce you to enslaved beings. And there are plenty of people who will post here that I am coo coo around this idea, they did already in the thread above and they have done so in the other threads on money.

I am NOT COO COO on this. Guess what, you will always work SOME in all of your life eternal. You will always live on planets of some sort. There is no heaven up in them their clouds to float in. Jesus LIVES on a planet except right now he lives on a CRAFT. Crafts are heaven people. You do not fly the friendly universe until you have earned the right to do so. The galactic wars are over and every race on every world must earn the right to fly or you stay on your prison world until you do. Work does NOT every go away.

Your angel work, didn't that occur to you? Do they get paid digital credits or paper bills for it? NO.

In the friendly universe everyone GIFTS their skills. Period. Now enough for tonight, I will continue this tomorrow and see what's posted in it. You are going to learn to expand your consciousness, or you are going to stay as fools on fools planets. This was the teaching left out of your bible.

"Truly, I say to you, wisdom must be learned from the laws of Creation, which humans may recognize in nature. But if humans do not think and seek, they will not be able to attain wisdom and will remain fools. There is no higher happiness than wisdom, no better friend than knowledge, and no other saviour than the power of the spirit."

If you do not get that POWER of your SPIRIT up and running, you are moving to other stupid worlds full of fools. OK. Can I be any clearer of that one?

Now would someone help me out here and list all the shit you have to pay for in this life? To pay for your shit, (and you do pay sewer fees to your water company to process your shit, do you not, quite literally), you have to work hours almost beyond your endurance, and submit to enslavement. Every single person that is employed is a slave and every single employer manages slaves. PONDER THAT ONE FOR IT IS TRUTH. Good night. (and you won't have peace either until the money goes away.)

Quoting: Nobody in Particular

Dear NIP:

I really have a strong emotional reaction against money, and I certainly think the world without money would be a better one, and I don't even think that barter is the choice, as it still implies "exchanging" and not "freely giving and freely taking". I have to be precise anyway and state that I don't think that the problem is money itself. Money it's a symptom of the real cause of the problem. Money stems from lack of love, excess of fear, lack of trust and lack of understanding between humans. If we would only learn and become fully aware of what is to be part of mankind as a whole, and begin to leave behind all the inanities that we create as barriers between us, then we would all start doing what we have to do, because is what is needed to be done for the benefit of each and all of us, and not for the ridiculous concept of money. Money would cease to exist instantly.

Attack the symptom and the disease will manifest itself in other way. The disease that generates the need for money is in the hearts and minds.

Regards!!!

HYPERTIGER

User ID: 1311260

Canada

12/13/2011 04:53 PM

The absolute cpitalistic hierarchical food powered make work enterprise...the city state or what you call civilization is food powered.

Money is a food substitute...

The medium of exchange is power.

Allow me to take more or anothers power than I give in return and I care not who makes the rules of the game you are all playing.

Eventually all all the power from the hands of the many will be sucked into the hands of the few or one.

Then they who have the power will make the rules of the game you are all playing.

The top grows richer in power by taking more power than they give from the bottom who grow poorer in power by giving more power than they take from the top.

Money is just an accounting tool the top created once they amassed enough power.

The top is the master or owner of the absolute capitalist hierarchical food powereed make work enterprise.

The bottom is divided and conquered into two factions...the rich servants and the poor slaves.

The top employs the bottom to supply the top with all the power wholesale...they then mark it up and sell it to the bottom retail.

The difference between the whoelsale cost and the retail price is the yield.

The top lives off the yield of power from the bottom.

consciousness shift

User ID: 3529367

 United States

12/13/2011 04:54 PM

the people are brainwashed into thinking we are more advanced than civilizations that don't have a monetary system. people are so brainwashed they don't realize they are slaves to the system.

money is a very old and outdated idea. its time to move on. money causes so much more trouble than it fixes, or does it actually fix anything?

money is to control the slaves and give power to the elites. without money we as a species would become much to advanced. but, between the totalitarian government and money, if one falls so will the other.

i can see the world without money, and i think it will happen in these days. it may be hell getting there but its a small price to pay. only after money and therefore government is gone will mankind be free to EVOLVE once again

Nobody in Particular (OP)

Busy Rattling Cages on GLP

User ID: 7049086

 United States

12/13/2011 04:56 PM

There is a group of people out there who already manifest their needs: Read "Life & Teachings of the Masters of the Far East", to learn about them!(volume of 6 small books if I remember right).....:)

Quoting: ObeWayneKenobe

snip:

I have taken some small liberties in transcribing the following excerpts from, The Life & Teaching of the Masters of the Far East, to clarify their meaning and to make them more readable.

"Life lived by the average individual is hypnotic; that is, the majority of men and women are not living life as it was intended at all. Not one in a million feels the freedom to live how he or she inwardly feels they should live. They have come under the world opinion of themselves and this is the opinion that they obey, rather than the law of their own being."

"They live under the delusion that they are mere human beings, living in a merely material world, and the only hope of escape is to die and to go on to what they call heaven. This is not what was intended in the plan and purpose of life. Obedience to one's inner nature, the expression of life as they instinctively feel it ought to be expressed, is the very foundation of life and the only true mode of living. True mastery is living the instruction of the inner teacher, the inner self, and not seeking the opinions of the world."

[\[link to www.seekeronline.org\]](http://www.seekeronline.org)

You must choose, regardless of the world around you. Find like minded people and make the move if you wish. But I like things pretty well the way they are. That is my choice.

Leave my system alone

Quoting: Real list

Thankyou for this selection, because of the bolded statement in it. This world, every living thing in it is informed by the genetic mind, or what Thoth thru Leonette calls the Neural NET. Plants are informed by it, as is each species of animal. It is each persons GOAL to come out of the INFLUENCE (hypnotism) of the neural net. And think for themselves. Neural nets are important, for life could not function with them, on an evolutionary world such as this. it is created by LIFE on these planets, but it also can be manipulated, thru the USE of Thought forms. In fact thinking life constantly adds thought forms to the mix. This is but one reason immature souls have to stay on the lower planets until they learn that their thoughts COUNT and are powerful.

Take for example how our thugs on the media build up artificial fear and news. I remember heavily in my country the build up to that hurricane in 2005, that was supposed to mess up new orleans, Katrina and shortly thereafter when that wasn't enough, here came Rita. Those of us in my country were heavily mind controlled to expect Katrina to destroy new orleans. The thugs know the power of mind and in supporting this, getting perhaps excited it about, many of this plane undergoing Katrina coverage on tv and the net, helped it out.

Well some of us, didn't like that so we banded together, and we moved Katrina and we knocked it back. It hit east of new orleans, and was not much above a one when it came ashore and there was far less damage, until of course our thugs blew up the levies, the first one being one that let in sea water, which was quickly removed from TV, just like the 3rd building that collapsed, NOT from "planes" on 911. So was Peter Jennings comments that the towers collapsing were obviously demolitions.

This stuff above is mind control thru the neural net, and just as some of us moved the hurricane, and others supported the hurricane by using minds and TECHNOLOGY to affect the neural net.

You ones are subject every day of your lives, by the MEME. MEME can be entries into the neural net by powerful minds and technology and also they are set in place by media who controls your exposure.

This world is SO MEME'd by the MONEY and political and war games, it is totally insanity now going on in the neural net. And the people of the world ARE LIVING in a state of hypnosis from this. YOU ONES must start to counter act that. It's a bit late now, I don't expect enough folks to rise out of their hypnosis, but hypnosis it is.

Real, I do not share your view otherwise. When my brothers and sisters of this world have less than even I do, I cannot accept it. I cannot leave the system alone, NONE OF THEM in fact, can I leave alone, that distain what man can be.

That was my whole goal behind AH, and the goals of many that got labeled NESARA. THAT WAS real in concept but Bush and thugs mucked it and the GESARA concept that would have been built on that was finally destroyed by the destruction of the OITC. That program did use money, but was meant to be the model that would eventually allow man to give up the stuff.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 04:57 PM

I keep waiting for an answer? how do you expect to convince a segment of the population to work for another which won't work as much or at all?

And don't tell me that moneyless society would turn EVERYONE automatically into moral, ethnic, hardworking noble people. There's no evidence nor precedent for this, quite the contrary actually.

I am all ears (well eyes actually)

Red Hot Chilean Pepe

User ID: 735915

 Chile

12/13/2011 04:59 PM

I think that this "silly" French express what many of us here feel far better than we can state with words.

- 1 http://youtu.be/C5CmMm_SRpM
- 2 <http://youtu.be/wbfKRx1glD4>
- 3 <http://youtu.be/dsh4IXjTeQU>
- 4 <http://youtu.be/9HEkEavkZJY>
- 5 <http://youtu.be/FMqOmb96SA0>
- 6 <http://youtu.be/x7YvR8rjV3k>

7 <http://youtu.be/EBvesLTYNDY>

8 <http://youtu.be/9dK3wVFMnS8>

9 <http://youtu.be/S28DaG-IJq8>

Enjoy!

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

 Poland

12/13/2011 05:00 PM

So answer me, what happens in your utopic moneyless world when people realize that they get what they need whether they work hard or not. What happens when you get a massive amount of people who say fuck it, I am gonna leech those who do the work and I am gonna scratch my balls.

You suggest those who do the work should altruistically keep feeding the leeches? Realistically how long would that last?

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

It is called automation. Right now only about 13%- 18% of population works in the sectors of "economy" that is relevant to our survival.

If we maximize automation - number would drop further.

If we escape wasteful capitalistic economy that is based of planned obsolescence number would drop even more.

Beside it is proven many times money is only incentive for easy algorithmic task and those jobs are automated even today.

For work that requires even rudimentary cognitive skills (future jobs) money is bad incentive. People are driven by autonomy, self-mastery and purpose, no need for monetary incentive. It only screwing things up.

Corvus

User ID: 7064141

 Turkey

12/13/2011 05:01 PM

I like that ideal you present. Basically the world was harsher before, no doubt. There was widespread barbarism, but things were somehow nobler and truer. People lived their lives fully, never knowing when an enemy raid would come and they would be passed through the sword.

People think that peace and comfort, tolerance and integration are the highest aspirations of men. Maybe we're totally off regarding that.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

I am glad you agreed with me Manu. Fighting is not a bad behavior as governments everyday telling us it is. Fighting for your independence and survival is a natural and noble instinct. But nowadays most people completely forgot that instinct due to mass propaganda. They feel they are not free and wasting their life with endless working/studying but they do not act against core of the system which is organized society. Because they are like domesticated animals and forgot how to live without depending on civilization. Barbaric/primitive/tribal life is better than this civilization. At least you are free and have the chance to fight back against enemies without depending on security forces of civilization who takes your freedom.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 05:04 PM

So answer me, what happens in your utopic moneyless world when people realize that they get what they need whether they work hard or not. What happens when you get a massive amount of people who say fuck it, I am gonna leech those who do the work and I am gonna scratch my balls.

You suggest those who do the work should altruistically keep feeding the leeches? Realistically how long would that last?

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

It is called automation. Right now only about 13%- 18% of population works in the sectors of "economy" that is relevant to our survival.

If we maximize automation - number would drop further.

If we escape wasteful capitalistic economy that is based of planned obsolescence number would drop even more.

Beside it is proven many times money is only incentive for easy algorithmic task and those jobs are automated even today.

For work that requires even rudimentary cognitive skills (future jobs) money is bad incentive. People are driven by autonomy, self-mastery and purpose, no need for monetary incentive. It only screwing things up.

Quoting: Shogu666

So you want to have machines do the work? ok then when we get to the stage where that's possible we can talk about it. Right now, in our current reality, I am afraid we're not ready for it yet.

And then you have to take into consideration what would be the consequences of 7 billion people not having anything to do. I am sure by the time we are fully automated we'll have some fancy virtual reality immersive tech to keep them entertained and away from turning insane and causing havoc.

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

Poland

12/13/2011 05:06 PM

As for your second morality concern.

Man is 90% product of its environment.

He is genetically predisposition-ed but it is environment that actually trigger certain behavior.

When you capitalistic morals such as going to the top over dead bodies, you have world full of shit. You can see effect today's.

When you create environment of economical abundance(that cant happen in monetary system due to the nature of money) and shift cultural values you will get much healthier society. Our cultural values change almost every generation it is actually easy task.

Not everyone will be saint, that is not what i am claiming but the probability of raising selfish egoistical people will be much lower.

Nobody in Particular (OP)

Busy Rattling Cages on GLP

User ID: 7049086

United States

12/13/2011 05:06 PM

Money=Energy. You get money from people in exchange of your work. With the money you get you can buy other stuff(which you cannot create alone) from other people. Problem is not the money itself but mass money printing without equal gold and the authorities who decide redistribution of money unjustly.

Real problem is the industrial civilization and mass human enslavement. All the countries today are human farms. Most of people except elites born as a slave with a serial number. They brainwash children in schools, bring down people's iq and their health with forced vaccines, medications and food additives etc. They lure people with luxury and technological toys in to this trap. If you can buy houses, cars and other stuff this doesn't mean you are free. They let you buy these things in order not to people realize their real status. You even cannot travel to other human farms without being tracked because you have to use their passports.

As technology progress more, freedom will decrease more. They'll make people more addicted to newly created technologies therefore people become more addicted system. Some people already cannot think a life without their ipads or computers for example and they work for system just to be able to buy those things. They will improve weapons and security systems via technological progress and this will dramatically reduce the chance of a rebellion against system become succesful(This is already so hard because of the difference between the toys people has and the real weapons government has)

Before civilizations,your ancestors didnt work for anyone to buy their foods.They collected fruits that mother nature offered them and hunted for their meat.They didnt work for anyone just to buy home or some land.They conquered land with bravery and sword then they built their own shelters/houses.There were no pollution,no gmo,no pesticides in foods.There werent any authority that tell them what to do or not.They were NOT DOMESTICATED like todays people!They were not like sheeps in the slaughterhouse.Maybe they died young but they lived HONOURABLY AND FREE!

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

From the time of the earliest humans 2.5 million years ago until around 50-40,000 years ago, the global human population experienced only very modest growth. People evidently lived in small hunting, gathering, and scavenging bands that rarely exceeded a few dozen individuals. Life expectancy was typically 30 years or less, often much less. [link to anthro.palomar.edu]

Died young you say????

Most didn't live to adulthood.

Yep, that is some life

Quoting: Real list

Real list, this is not the history of this world. This planet had humans from other worlds here at the time of the dinosaurs. There have only been "cave men" types between pole reversals and in places where there was not civilization built up. but the life of those ones who were "cave men" and which also exist today in rare places this in this world, do better than you might thing for where they are. the animals begin their human lives in the indigenous groups of this world now.

This is a seed planet, besides a prison world for our thugs. In fact thugs ARE put on seed worlds, to cause mental challenge to survive. Organic mind grows very slowly and as a seed world the purpose of this world has been to start and grow new souls from scratch to populate the ever growing creation.

folks if necessary incarnate to stimulate these ones (and have sex with them to improve the DNA), to grow some more. And you ones who love sharing your lives with animals, stimulate them to become more than they can be too, based on their group soul living with in the guidance of the rules of the neural net for cats, dogs, birds, elephants and so on and so forth. I have seen many a kitty cat come out of its "cat box" of organic kitty mind. Dogs too.

Your ancestors, the cave men types usually in fact initially STEAL from others to get some of their needs, which says something about our current thugs, who are no better, they steal from US thru the money system so they can live grandly. And we just all say. OK. like mindless automatons. WHY. YOu are better than this.

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

 Poland

12/13/2011 05:11 PM

So you want to have machines do the work? ok then when we get to the stage where that's possible we can talk about it. Right now, in our current reality, I am afraid we're not ready for it yet.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

You have no idea how close we are.

[\[link to www.youtube.com\]](http://www.youtube.com)

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 6725918

 Canada

12/13/2011 05:11 PM

Sorry I haven't even read the whole thread yet I will, just wanted to chime in and say I agree Nobody. I've been saying this for a long time in my short life, money is clearly ruining us all, and obviously most cannot realize it yet.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 05:12 PM

As for your second morality concern.

Man is 90% product of its environment.

He is genetically predisposition-ed but it is environment that actually trigger certain behavior.

When you capitalistic morals such as going to the top over dead bodies, you have world full of shit. You can see effect today's.

When you create environment of economical abundance(that cant happen in monetary system due to the nature of money) and shift cultural values you will get much healthier society. Our cultural values change almost every generation it is actually easy task.

Not everyone will be saint, that is not what i am claiming but the probability of raising selfish egoistical people will be much lower.

Quoting: Shogu666

Probability of raising selfish egotistical people will be lower, instead you will get apathetic people with no morals or sense of value who will have lot's of spare time to acquire mentally degenerate lusts which they will seek to satisfy without any consideration of repercussions.

You're right, environment shapes mankind, now you seem to be very sure of the evils of the capitalistic environment, I suggest you take more time to theorize about the evils of your proposed system, you have lot's of examples to guide yourself right now in our current world, and they ain't pretty.

sylvie

User ID: 6990378

 United States

12/13/2011 05:13 PM

If we dropped money and lived a spiritual life, where we treat others better than ourselves, like the Lord says, then there would literally be no need for money...because we would always be watching out for each other, getting rid of 'inequality.'

That being said, this would never happen, because that is an ideal, and it is our true purpose. Human minds have become distorted by evil and materialism, thus the 'need' for money. So yes, on a physical, secular, material way--which we DO live in--you are correct.

But our potential/purpose is much higher than inequality and capitalism.

Quoting: AkeIDama

It's basically like a really good relationship, where you look out for each other, support and love each other unconditionally, and share what you have -- and it doesn't matter if one person makes more money than the other. Envision that extended to a community and you got the idea.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 05:14 PM

Utopians always share the same belief, the belief that if they can get their utopia implemented suddenly all people will become good natured. They think if you give to people everything they need for free there won't be any murderers, that greed won't exist, that nobody will try to take advantage of the system.

You have absolutely no factual basis to claim these things, of course as just another mindless religion that it is, you must have faith it will happen.

Corvus

User ID: 7064141

 Turkey

12/13/2011 05:16 PM

This system is already a mess but if you venus project folks try to impose your pseudo-nwo system i swear i will try to organize people like me against your utopic organization(also against UN that supports your movement) and I wont hesitate to use violence because your utopian world will lead people into global technocratic slavery.

Also it is impossible to create and sustain that kind of system.Are your leaders even aware of thermodynamic laws,entropy and net energy gain?Venus project is beyond absurdity in the level of energy.I would explain why these so called sustainable energies is so worhless to sustain such a mass technological system but i dont want to go into master debate.

sylvie

User ID: 6990378

 United States

12/13/2011 05:16 PM

Capitalism is the only system which gives even the poorest and lowest person the tools and opportunity to better their station and create a life of their own choosing.

Capitalism is, I believe, the most natural state for any economy.

Of course, I'm just completely wrong about everything I've said, right? It's not like I went from eating out of dumpsters and wearing dead people's clothing to running my own business. I obviously have no idea what I'm talking about.

Please, enlighten me, oh wise one.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 4104666

Only problem is, capitalism is a "me, me, me" form of economy... I think what we're talking about here is a "we, we, we" form of economy.

HYPERTIGER

User ID: 1311260

 Canada

12/13/2011 05:16 PM

Absolute capitalism is taking more than you give.

Responsible capitalism is sharing as equally as possible.

Split 100 perfectly...You get 33.3333333333----repeating forever.

it is easier to split 100 into 33,33,34.

it is easier to take more than you give than to share equally.

taking more than you give is the path of least resistance.

sharing equally is the path of most resistance.

taking more than you give is the default path...all life and everything in the Universe follow this path.

it requires no thought.

bacteria follow this path....rivers do...rocks falling down hills do.

animals follow this path.

Human beings share as equally as possible.

You all are just animals pretending to be Human beings.

Absolute capitalism or taking more than you give...is the same as chopping down trees faster than they regrow.

Once you choose to take more than you give in order to sustain your continued existence.

you have two options.

stop taking more than you give before you reach the logical conclusion which is the point at which you can not continue taking more than you give because you have run out...at which point you can not sustain your continued existence.

or continue taking more than you give until you reach the logical conclusion and run out...at which point can not sustain your continued existence.

If you choose responsible capitalism...share as equally as possible...

Or chop down trees as fast as or slower than they regrow...there is no logical conclusion.

There is no collapse.

one slight problem...once you choose to take more than you give...there is no way to avoid the logical conclusion other than postponement of arrival at it.

that's what you all have been doing for the past almost 70 years.

The longer you postpone arrival at the logical conclusion...the greater the magnitude of the consequences you are trying to avoid.

It's why the global system is collapsing...

Absolute capitalism which is taking more than you give...is plunder...

Chopping down trees faster than they regrow is plunder.

"When plunder becomes a way of life for a group of men living together in society, they create for themselves in the course of time a legal system that authorizes it and a moral code that glorifies it."--Frederic Bastiat

You all think the system is good but was taken over by bad people and corrupted.

The system has always been bad...and when all the ignorant slaves reach their maximum potential to sustain it...it implodes to oblivion.

The top hires the survivors to construct and maintain the next one of course.

It's a wave...

The top employs the bottom as a surfboard to ride the wave on.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 05:18 PM

Capitalism is the only system which gives even the poorest and lowest person the tools and opportunity to better their station and create a life of their own choosing.

Capitalism is, I believe, the most natural state for any economy.

Of course, I'm just completely wrong about everything I've said, right? It's not like I went from eating out of dumpsters and wearing dead people's clothing to running my own business. I obviously have no idea what I'm talking about.

Please, enlighten me, oh wise one.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 4104666

Only problem is, capitalism is a "me, me, me" form of economy... I think what we're talking about here is a "we, we, we" form of economy.

Quoting: sylvie

The factor you fail to grasp is that not everyone has a "we, we ,we " mentality, thus that system is bound to fail unless

- 1- you have a method to magically turn everyone into the same
- 2- you change everyone into the same by way of force.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

Absolute capitalism is taking more than you give.

Responsible capitalism is sharing as equally as possible.

Split 100 perfectly...You get 33.3333333333----repeating forever.

it is easier to split 100 into 33,33,34.

it is easier to take more than you give than to share equally.

taking more than you give is the path of least resistance.

sharing equally is teh path of most resistance.

taking more than you give is teh default path...all life and everything in the Universe follow this path.

it requires no thought.

bacteria follow this path....rivers do...rocks falling down hills do.

aminals follow this path.

Human beings share as equally as possible.

You all are just animals pretending to be Human beings.

Absolute capitalism or taking more than you give...is the same as chopping down trees faster than they regrow.

Once you choose to take more than you give in order to sustain your continued existance.

you have two options.

stop taking more than you give before you reach the logical conclusion which is the point at which you can not continue taking more than you give because you have run out...at which point you can not sustain yoru continued existance.

or continue taking more than you give until you reach the logical conclusion and run out...at which point can not sustain your continued existance.

If you choose responsible capitalism...share as equally as possible...

Or chop down trees as fast as or slower than they regrow...there is no logical conclusion.

There is no collapse.

one slight problem...once you choose to take more than you give...there is no way to avoid the logical conclusion other than postponement of arrival at it.

thats what you all have been doing for the past almost 70 years.

The longer you postpone arrival at teh logical conclusion...the greater the magnitude of the consequences you are trying to avoid.

It's why the global system is collapsing...

Absolute capitalism which is taking more than you give...is plunder...

Chopping down trees faster than they regrow is plunder.

"When plunder becomes a way of life for a group of men living together in society, they create for themselves in the course of time a legal system that authorizes it and a moral code that glorifies it."--Frederic Bastiat

You all think the system is good but was taken over by bad people and corrupted.

The system has always been bad...and when all the ignorant slaves reach their maximum potential to sustain it...it implodes to oblivion.

The top hires the survivors to construct and maintain the next one of course.

It's a wave...

The top employs the bottom as a serfboard to ride the wave on.

Quoting: HYPERTIGER

Trees are not chopped faster than they can grow because of "capitalism", that happens because people insatiable desire to possess more and more. When people stop buying more stupid shit than what they actually need demand will decrease and the economy won't need to chop so many trees etc.

You need to look at individual responsibility before blaming the system when at the same time thinking another system will magically save us from our own flawed human natures without using any force.

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

 Poland

12/13/2011 05:23 PM

Probability of raising selfish egotistical people will be lower, instead you will get apathetic people with no morals or sense of value who will have lot's of spare time to acquire mentally degenerate lusts which they will seek to satisfy without any consideration of repercussions.

You're right, environment shapes mankind, now you seem to be very sure of the evils of the capitalistic environment, I suggest you take more time to theorize about the evils of your proposed system, you have lot's of examples to guide yourself right now in our current world, and they ain't pretty.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

You are just shooting thing out of you ass i already told you about experiments that shows people are driven by thing different things then money ,yet you choose to ignore it.

Sad you.

Yes i have a lot of examples.

Communist generation from my country is the hardest working.
People doing free stuff like LINUX or volunteering to help poor people if Africa for free even with todays monetary pressure.

What are your examples other than your bitterness ?

sylvie

User ID: 6990378

 United States

12/13/2011 05:24 PM

I really have a strong emotional reaction against money, and I certainly think the world without money would be a better one, and I don't even think that barter is the choice, as it still implies "exchanging" and not "freely giving and freely taking". I have to be precise anyway and state that I don't think that the problem is money itself. Money it's a symptom of the real cause of the problem. Money stems from lack of love, excess of fear, lack of trust and lack of understanding between humans. If we would only learn and become fully aware of what is to be part of mankind as a whole, and begin to leave behind all the inanities that we create as barriers between us, then we would all start doing what we have to do, because is what is needed to be done for the benefit of each and all of us, and not for the ridiculous concept of money. Money would cease to exist instantly.

Attack the symptom and the disease will manifest itself in other way. The disease that generates the need for money is in the hearts and minds.

Regards!!!

Quoting: Red Hot Chilean Pepe

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

 Poland

12/13/2011 05:27 PM

Trees are not chopped faster than they can grow because of "capitalism", that happens because people insatiable desire to possess more and more. When people stop buying more stupid shit than what they actually need demand will decrease and the economy won't need to chop so many trees etc.

You need to look at individual responsibility before blaming the system when at the same time thinking another system will magically save us from our own flawed human natures without using any force.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

As long as you can make profit cutting down the tree it will go down. No money - no profit.

We shouldn't use paper anyway, it is obsolete, but innovation is an enemy of established institutions.

Nobody in Particular (OP)

Busy Rattling Cages on GLP

User ID: 7049086

 United States

12/13/2011 05:28 PM

OP said no money. So, no economy.

Everything belongs to everybody. But that means nothing belongs to anybody. We all have nothing.

Thanks for nothing OP
Quoting: Real list

BS. No money doesn't mean no economy.

Your reality just cant grasp different concepts because of your high indoctrination.
Quoting: Shogu666

So answer me, what happens in your utopic moneyless world when people realize that they get what they need whether they work hard or not. What happens when you get a massive amount of people who say fuck it, I am gonna leech those who do the work and I am gonna scratch my balls.

You suggest those who do the work should altruistically keep feeding the leeches? Realistically how long would that last?
Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Thankyou, now I don't have to start this topic, I can work off of YOURS.

Those who run the money ARE the leeches, not the poor shit living at a disadvantage. Let me tell you what this world could have looked like at this point. First it would not be so overpopulated, but lets forget that for a minute.

If this world were money free, every one who is capable would contribute to society. You would all set your alarm clocks, depending on that nature of your personal gifts to the world, and go to work at something.

Now, you would only "work" for the upkeep of this world at most, if we could wave a magic wand right now to create it, 20 hours a week and considering all the jobs that would suddenly be vacated because of no need for them, I suspect considerably less, as the "work force" would have to accept those who had just given up their jobs associated with banking and insurance industries. Religion would fall flat on its face, no need to gather money off the parish either with cheap entertainment shows on Sundays. yes people, I have YET to attend a sunday show worth its salt.

You bust your butts to put insurance on your life, and on your stuff. This would go right out the door. Instead is your stuff gets busted in some way, there would instead be folks you could call up to come fix your stuff for you, or rather WITH YOU. Life does not change that much off money. All the stuff and services society needs are supplied by those drawn to such fields of endeavor. You would still have fire departments, and other public safety, but on a money free world, crime goes way down, so less need for police as we know them.

You don't need to insure your life. Ponder that one. PLEASE oh Please ponder ll the stuff you have to pay for that leaves you NO TIME for anyway to grow your spirit.

Since there is not a profit motive, people will not need to purchase cheap shit that breaks or wears out 2 minutes after warrenty expires. There would be no warrenties to purchase either. Man would want want GOOD SHIT that lasts and will not wish to destroy his home by making new sexier autos either. You will move beyond that which will stop the thieving of sexy cars for parts too.

You are all happy with your cell phones and internet right? Don't you think everyone if they want it should have them? YES. The education alone on the net will make it something for all to have as a necessity.

Let skip the necessities a bit, because all of these would be manufactured as needed by those who do such things. Lets look at what you could do with your time you now have.

I should let you ones write this chapter. ASSUMING YOU HAD EVERYTHING YOU NEED, IN HOUSING, FOODS, CLOTHING, BECAUSE SOMEBODY STILL MANUFACTURES THIS, WHILE OTHER TEACH, PRACTICE MEDICINE AND OTHER CAREERS, WHAT WOULD YOU DO WITH THAT "SPARE" TIME. YOU WRITE THIS BOOK, I WILL CHECK LATER. In the meantime I will look at some more of the posts. My pumpkin pie is in the oven.

Last Edited by Nobody in Particular on 12/13/2011 05:29 PM

Corvus

User ID: 7064141

 Turkey

12/13/2011 05:31 PM

From the time of the earliest humans 2.5 million years ago until around 50-40,000 years ago, the global human population experienced only very modest growth. People evidently lived in small hunting, gathering, and scavenging bands that rarely exceeded a few dozen individuals. Life expectancy was typically 30 years or less, often much less. [link to anthro.palomar.edu]

Died young you say????

Most didn't live to adulthood.

Yep, that is some life

Quoting: Real list

Do you believe the mainstream lies? This is called generalization and it does not represent the truth. Some people died early due to tribal fights or accidents, some people who lack strong immunity died early due to infections, illness or parasites etc. But mainstream scientists tend to underestimate long living paleolithic people. There are people even lived to their 80's. They were definitely more healthy than today's people who eat refined foods with many unnatural additives.

[link to paleodiet.com]

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 5359034

 United States

12/13/2011 05:32 PM

Money is enslavement from the day the federal reserve took over. Every dollar in existence has interest added to it before we get our hands on it. So if we keep accepting this system, we have accepted enslavement. Every time we keep borrowing money we fall deeper and deeper in debt no matter what and this will never end. If I recall it's something like 14 trillion right now. How stupid can we be to accept a system that thrives on our materialistic worship. Take a look at this video it explains the whole thing.

[\[link to video.search.yahoo.com\]](http://link.to.video.search.yahoo.com)

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 05:37 PM

Probability of raising selfish egotistical people will be lower, instead you will get apathetic people with no morals or sense of value who will have lot's of spare time to acquire mentally degenerate lusts which they will seek to satisfy without any consideration of repercussions.

You're right, enviroment shapes mankind, now you seem to be very sure of the evils of the capitalistic environment, I suggest you take more time to theorize about the evils of your proposed system, you have lot's of examples to guide yourself right now in our current world, and they ain't pretty.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

You are just shooting thing out of you ass i already told you about experiments that shows people are driven by thing different things then money ,yet you choose to ignore it.

Sad you.

Yes i have a lot of examples.

Communist generation from my country is the hardest working.

People doing free stuff like LINUX or volunteering to help poor people if Africa for free even with todays monetary pressure.

What are your examples other than your bitterness ?

Quoting: Shogu666

Oh please, what percentage of the total population does your example cover? Everyone is motivated by some form of self interest in this world. I am sure those volunteering have some way to finance their way whole doing it, and even if they seem altruistic they're pursuing their objectives with some form of self interest in mind, whether it's recognition or satisfaction derived from feeling like they're selflessly helping others. If they wouldn't derive some form of benefit they wouldn't do it. Yet even these cases are few and in between.

You look at current welfare states and you see how freeloaders are in the rise, folks who take advantage of the system grow exponentially when they realize they can get a free living at the expense of another. Suddenly people are sick, their backs hurt, they don't want to work, they want benefits, they want the free road. But nothing is free, there's always someone who has to do the work for those who don't want to.

In a society without money human nature would surely turn for the worst. In fact, humans are not worse merely because of the deterrent of the force of law. And even then we're quite a vicious, egotistical, selfish, destructive species. Your premise takes for granted that people given stuff for free would magically all turn into good natured peoples. My premise stems from the proven fact that only an environment which promotes good values by the punishment for bad actions and the reward for good actions, can create a noble society. Free for all can only work when everyone gives off the same output, and that is utopic unless we're dealing with very small pockets of very homogeneous peoples managing a small economy.

Anonymous Coward
User ID: 5359034
 United States
12/13/2011 05:38 PM

Money is enslavement from the day the federal reserve took over. Every dollar in existence has interest added to it before we get our hands on it. So if we keep excepting this system, we have accepted enslavement. Every time we keep borrowing money we fall deeper and deeper in debt no matter what and this will never end. If i recall its something like 14 trillion right now. How stupid can we be to accept a system that thrives on our materialistic worship. Take a look at this video it explains the whole thing.

[\[link to video.search.yahoo.com\]](http://link.to.video.search.yahoo.com)

Anonymous Coward
User ID: 742532
 New Zealand
12/13/2011 05:41 PM

You are just shooting thing out of you ass i already told you about experiments that shows people are driven by thing different things then money ,yet you choose to ignore it.

Sad you.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Great thread Op. I was talking about a No Money society with a local a couple of days ago. She does many hours of voluntary work a week. We live in the EQ zone in NZ-about 8000 quakes in the last year or so and well, devastation is the right word to describe what's happened. When the second major one struck this area was effectively cut off from the rest of the city. No water, no power, no phones-landline or cell, for three days. Many house dmaged or destroyed. However the people responded wonderfully. Trestles were out on the street with food and drinks within minutes of the quake, and the old people of the area were gathered up within an hour or so and taken to the community centre for shelter. And it was all volunteer work. The WORST part of the entire nightmarish experience is now dealing with the awful bureaucratic/big business/ government bullshit.

Anonymous Coward
User ID: 5359034
 United States
12/13/2011 05:43 PM

[\[link to video.search.yahoo.com\]](http://link.to.video.search.yahoo.com)

Anonymous Coward
User ID: 7056880
 United States
12/13/2011 05:43 PM

Money just makes it easy to steal people's shit without having to haul away truckloads of big heavy stuff.

Manu-Koelbren
User ID: 6793923
 Spain
12/13/2011 05:43 PM

OP said no money. So, no economy.

Everything belongs to everybody. But that means nothing belongs to anybody. We all have nothing.

Thanks for nothing OP
Quoting: Real list

BS. No money doesn't mean no economy.

Your reality just cant grasp different concepts because of your high indoctrination.
Quoting: Shogu666

So answer me, what happens in your utopic moneyless world when people realize that they get what they need whether they work hard or not. What happens when you get a massive amount of people who say fuck it, I am gonna leech those who do the work and I am gonna scratch my balls.

You suggest those who do the work should altruistically keep feeding the leeches? Realistically how long would that last?
Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Thankyou, now I don't have to start this topic, I can work off of YOURS.

Those who run the money ARE the leeches, not the poor shit living at a disadvantage. Let me tell you what this world could have looked like at this point. First it would not be so overpopulated, but lets forget that for a minute.

If this world were money free, every one who is capable would contribute to society. You would all set your alarm clocks, depending on that nature of your personal gifts to the world, and go to work at something.

Now, you would only "work" for the upkeep of this world at most, if we could wave a magic wand right now to create it, 20 hours a week and considering all the jobs that would suddenly be vacated because of no need for them, I suspect considerably less, as the "work force" would have to accept those who had just given up their jobs associated with banking and insurance industries. Religion would fall flat on its face, no need to gather money off the parish either with cheap entertainment shows on Sundays. yes people, I have YET to attend a sunday show worth its salt.

You bust your butts to put insurance on your life, and on your stuff. This would go right out the door. Instead is your stuff gets busted in some way, there would instead be folks you could call up to come fix your stuff for you, or rather WITH YOU. Life does not change that much off money. All the stuff and services society needs are supplied by those drawn to such fields of endeavor. You would still have fire departments, and other public safety, but on a money free world, crime goes way down, so less need for police as we know them.

You don't need to insure your life. Ponder that one. PLEASE oh Please ponder ll the stuff you have to pay for that leaves you NO TIME for anyway to grow your spirit.

Since there is not a profit motive, people will not need to purchase cheap shit that breaks or wears out 2 minutes after warrenty expires. There would be no warrenties to purchase either. Man would want want GOOD SHIT that lasts and will not wish to destroy his home by making new sexier autos either. You will move beyond that which will stop the thieving of sexy cars for parts too.

You are all happy with your cell phones and internet right? Don't you think everyone if they want it should have them? YES. The education alone on the net will make it something for all to have as a necessity.

Let skip the necessities a bit, because all of these would be manufactured as needed by those who do such things. Lets look at what you could do with your time you now have.

I should let you ones write this chapter. ASSUMING YOU HAD EVERYTHING YOU NEED, IN HOUSING, FOODS, CLOTHING, BECAUSE SOMEBODY STILL MANUFACTURES THIS, WHILE OTHER TEACH, PRACTICE MEDICINE AND OTHER CAREERS, WHAT WOULD YOU DO WITH THAT "SPARE" TIME. YOU WRITE THIS BOOK, I WILL CHECK LATER. In the meantime I will look at some more of the posts. My pumpkin pie is in the oven.

Quoting: Nobody in Particular

"but on a money free world, crime goes way down, so less need for police as we know them."

You're merely assuming without factual basis. Money is merely a means to get something that a person desires. You take money away from the equation that doesn't mean you have taken the things people lust over from the equation.

Without money people will keep lusting for his neighbor's wife, they will continue feeling envy, they will continue feeling jealousy, they will continue being greedy and those who feel they can get their way by force and abuse others to get what they want will continue devising ways to do so.

You're just being idealistic, try to consider ALL the facts not only what you would like to happen. Carefully consider human nature and you will realize giving out things for free won't magically change all human flaws, in fact it will do quite the opposite.

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

 Poland

12/13/2011 05:49 PM

Oh please, what percentage of the total population does your example cover? Everyone is motivated by some form of self interest in this world. I am sure those volunteering have some way to finance their way whole doing it, and even if they seem altruistic they're pursuing their objectives with some form of self interest in mind, whether it's recognition or satisfaction derived from feeling like they're selflessly helping others.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

People that would contributing would use the same infrastructure as well. There are in fact doing it in self-interest for better environment for them their family and friends. The difference is lack of money incentive and all negative retractions that comes along with them.

You look at current welfare states and you see how freeloaders are in the rise, folks who take advantage of the system grow exponentially when they realize they can get a free living at the expense of another.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

It is bullshit you are talking about immigrants muzzies they are different problem altogether.

If you look at actual statistics you would notice Scandinavia has the most active workforce.

Suddenly people are sick, their backs hurt, they don't want to work, they want benefits, they want the free road. But nothing is free, there's always someone who has to do the work for those who don't want to.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Thus automation.

The whole fucking point of progress should be that we should work less.

Everybody wants to work less even you unless you are a masochist.

Real list

User ID: 7049451

 United States

12/13/2011 05:50 PM

Unless you are using that land to improve the human condition. Even if you do this for a profit, if you grow food that people need to survive, where is the insult?

Quoting: Real list

Because people are forced into acquiring food YOUR way. They have to work for you in order to get money.

You are stripping their freedom of being able to sustain themselves.

Quoting: Shogu666

if I work to produce the food, how is it unfair for you to work to purchase it?

I produce the food for you, you produce something of value to me.

But regardless of what you must do to pay for it, without my food you might not survive. Your life is better because I control a parcel of land.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 05:55 PM

Oh please, what percentage of the total population does your example cover? Everyone is motivated by some form of self interest in this world. I am sure those volunteering have some way to finance their way whole doing it, and even if they seem altruistic they're pursuing their objectives with some form of self interest in mind, whether it's recognition or satisfaction derived from feeling like they're selflessly helping others.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

People that would contributing would use the same infrastructure as well. There are in fact doing it in self-interest for better environment for them their family and friends. The difference is lack of money incentive and all negative retractions that comes along with them.

You look at current welfare states and you see how freeloaders are in the rise, folks who take advantage of the system grow exponentially when they realize they can get a free living at the expense of another.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

It is bullshit you are talking about immigrants muzzies they are different problem altogether.

If you look at actual statistics you would notice Scandinavia has the most active workforce.

Suddenly people are sick, their backs hurt, they don't want to work, they want benefits, they want the free road. But nothing is free, there's always someone who has to do the work for those who don't want to.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Thus automation.

The whole fucking point of progress should be that we should work less.

Everybody wants to work less even you unless you are a masochist.

Quoting: Shogu666

I am not against automation, but you must take into account that humans with lot's of spare time don't necessarily turn into geniuses or spiritually enlightened gurus. The human nature is not set by your idealistic standards, in fact I'd say entropy is a much more likely outcome judging by the history of mankind.

Corvus

User ID: 7064141

 Turkey

12/13/2011 05:55 PM

OP you are just a new age communist. What are you doing in 'real life' to promote your ideals. I assume you do nothing but expect 'some people' to do it for you. There are some organizations similar to your ideals with secret agendas such as global dictatorship. I fear that they'll lure many sheeple like you in to their trap and accomplish their goals by using people like you.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 05:56 PM

Oh please, what percentage of the total population does your example cover? Everyone is motivated by some form of self interest in this world. I am sure those volunteering have some way to finance their way while doing it, and even if they seem altruistic they're pursuing their objectives with some form of self interest in mind, whether it's recognition or satisfaction derived from feeling like they're selflessly helping others.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

People that would contribute would use the same infrastructure as well. There are in fact doing it in self-interest for better environment for them their family and friends. The difference is lack of money incentive and all negative retractions that comes along with them.

You look at current welfare states and you see how freeloaders are in the rise, folks who take advantage of the system grow exponentially when they realize they can get a free living at the expense of another.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

It is bullshit you are talking about immigrants muzzies they are different problem altogether.

If you look at actual statistics you would notice Scandinavia has the most active workforce.

Suddenly people are sick, their backs hurt, they don't want to work, they want benefits, they want the free road. But nothing is free, there's always someone who has to do the work for those who don't want to.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Thus automation.

The whole fucking point of progress should be that we should work less.

Everybody wants to work less even you unless you are a masochist.

Quoting: Shogu666

And Scandinavia worked well when it was an all white region, are you suggesting that you change Scandinavians with sub saharan Africans and that would work the same? Or even worse, multiculti societies? Check how socialized multi culti societies are working out and you will see it's you who is blowing things out of his arse.

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 7069966

 United States

12/13/2011 05:59 PM

Just three questions for you NIP, I hope you have the time to answer them.

1. If not money how do you suggest we live? By what means?
2. How did you come about this knowledge?
3. Have you heard of the Hopi prophecy which speaks of mother earth ejecting its core and earth moving into venus' orbit and our moon to mercury's current orbit? If so, what are your thoughts?

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 05:59 PM

OP you are just a new age communist. What are you doing in 'real life' to promote your ideals. I assume you do nothing but expect 'some people' to do it for you. There are some organizations similar to your ideals with secret agendas such as global dictatorship. I fear that they'll lure many sheeple like you in to their trap and accomplish their goals by using people like you.

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

They want to overthrow those who create industry to bring them down to an equal level with themselves when they themselves don't give even 0.001 % of the capitalist output.

It's basically the same communistic mantra of destroying the burgeoise to spread their wealth among the proles, problem is, that was tried and simply failed.

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

 Poland

12/13/2011 06:01 PM

I am not against automation, but you must take into account that humans with lot's of spare time don't necessarily turn into geniuses or spiritually enlightened gurus. The human nature is not set by your idealistic standards, in fact I'd say entropy is a much more likely outcome judging by the history of mankind.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

So according to you no one should ever get rich and financially independent because he may become lazy stupid and evil because of the too much free time he would possess.

Where do you get those silly contradicting logic from. You are badly indoctrinated or highly ignorant.

Nobody in Particular (OP)

Busy Rattling Cages on GLP

User ID: 7049086

 United States

12/13/2011 06:03 PM

OP you are just a new age communist. What are you doing in 'real life' to promote your ideals. I assume you do nothing but expect 'some people' to do it for you. There are some organizations similar to your ideals with secret agendas such as global dictatorship. I fear that they'll lure many sheeple like you in to their trap and accomplish their goals by using people like you.

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

Promoting them here, exactly no one around here where I live gives a fat fuck, ok and they will experience also the destruction they have allowed of this world. This world is lacking at least my neck of the woods any way in much that is creative and those of a creative spirit filled nature feel STUCK. Otherwise I have created the global 2nd Coming team that will assist in an advisory manner to bring in the new world after the long stasis to cleanse this world. This team will be very busy with the planning during that time.

Last Edited by Nobody in Particular on 12/13/2011 06:04 PM

all_the_kings_horses

User ID: 4536389

 United States

12/13/2011 06:03 PM

...

You will thus be incarnating on another fucked up world, ponder that. Capitalism such as it is, means that a company is worked by cooperation, and all in it PROFIT from what the company does, and are NOT EMPLOYEES. They co create the company. They share in the money taken in. Any other way, and the "employee" is a SLAVE. I worked in hospitals for a long time, and there was NO CREATIVE SPIRIT there, that drove them to better themselves, either the people working in them or the patients. I chose that career to SERVE and while I did where I could, I was still a slave, because creative spirit was not allowed. People are equal, in terms they have a God mind, but it is slavery that divides them and causes huge in equality. Some folks are smarter than others, yes. Because the not so smart are just younger souls who are still growing themselves, unless the brain of course is defective as an interface with their world.

Your post is a tragic fail, it has no heart within. Even the dumbest of people have a worth, and can be part of a cooperative creative venture. Even the retarded in many MOST cases.

Quoting: Nobody in Particular

I'll agree, employees are basically slaves. They trade the precious time they have on this planet, in this incarnation, for a measly wage.

Working for other people, however, is not true capitalism. True capitalism is working for yourself, creating your own business and becoming successful based on your own intelligence and abilities. People have forgotten this fact and this why we have things like OWS. Everyone wants a life handed to them, they want a job given to them, money given to them, they want to do a minimum of work to receive what they feel they deserve.

True capitalism means that those with the intelligence and abilities to be successful are successful and everyone else does what they can and works for these true capitalists.

You may say I have no heart but I understand the world in a much deeper way than you apparently do. People are not equal, not everyone has the same worth. You would have us believe that an illiterate, sack jawed, vapid moron with barely enough brain cells to keep breathing is just as valuable as Einstein or Hawking. They are not, this is a fact.

Everyone has some amount of worth but many people are only valuable as workers. The only thing they can contribute to society is to do a repetitive task which they have been trained to do. Creating an "equal" society has never been about raising those that are low but lowering those who, rightfully, should be raised above the rest.

If you're unhappy in your job and you think you deserve more than quit and start your own business. There are very few things that can not, in some way, be done in at least a freelance fashion.

You say I have no heart because I have no desire to equate myself with the moronic masses of people that demand things yet contribute nothing.

Inequality is a fact of nature, the slow zebra is the one that gets eaten, the biggest gorilla is the one in charge.

Forced equality does nothing but breed contempt.

Tell me, in your perfect moneyless world, who gets to work in the fields, who gets to do back breaking labor and who gets to sit in a comfortable office and manage everything?

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 4104666

there are so many errors in what you said.....lets start at the beginning...you said..."Capitalism is the only system that allows the individual to better their station in life."

the "ONLY" system? You painting with a pretty broad brush. Please present some evidence that this claim is true. Simply saying it does not make to true.

Quoting: all_the_kings_horses 4536389

How about the fact that it is the only system in the history of man to allow someone to rise from poverty to wealth, prosperity and power?

Can you name any other economic system that has allowed this to happen to effectively?

Capitalism is the only system which gives even the poorest and lowest person the tools and opportunity to better their station and create a life of their own choosing.

Capitalism is, I believe, the most natural state for any economy.

Of course, I'm just completely wrong about everything I've said, right? It's not like I went from eating out of dumpsters and wearing dead people's clothing to running my own business. I obviously have no idea what I'm talking about.

Please, enlighten me, oh wise one.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 4104666

first of all, read your original words...you said..."Capitalism is the only system that allows the individual to better their station in life." again you said "capitalism is the only system that....."

reality check.....There are numerous systems both economic and otherwise, they include but are not limited to: market laissez-faire capitalism, participatory economics, gift economy, barter economy, market socialism, the Japanese system, Mercantilism, Social corporatism, the Nordic Model, Anarcho-capitalism, non-property system, Islamic economy, knowledge economy, Participatory economy, Libertarian socialism etc etc etc.

So to say as you have that "Capitalism is the only system that allows the individual to better their station in life " is myopic to the extreme. Most of these systems allow individuals to live a bountiful life.

Corvus

User ID: 7064141

 Turkey

12/13/2011 06:05 PM

Thus automation.

The whole fucking point of progress should be that we should work less.

Everybody wants to work less even you unless you are a masochist.

Quoting: Shogu666

Friggin automation CANNOT be sustained in global scale and it CANNOT satisfy the global demand. This is a f*cking UTOPIA or should i say DYSTOPIA. Those machines need energy right? What are you planning to run those machines? Will you use your urine instead of oil? Do not even tell me about alternative energies or else i will think you are a ignorant utopian absent of knowledge about physical and thermodynamic laws.

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

 Poland

12/13/2011 06:05 PM

if I work to produce the food, how is it unfair for you to work to purchase it?

Quoting: Real list

Because i don't want to eat your chemical/pesticide/GMO food that was cheaper for you produce.

But regardless of what you must do to pay for it, without my food you might not survive. Your life is better because I control a parcel of land.

Quoting: Real list

No its not.

Anonymous Coward
User ID: 433811
New Zealand
12/13/2011 06:05 PM

Everybody wants to work less even you unless you are a masochist.

Quoting: Shogu666

Hell yes.

But it's so much worse when you know that your hard labour is going to feed parasites via taxation to pay of an ever increasing fictional debt.

And if you in Spain think it's any different where you live from where I live or OP lives think again.

The Fed owns NZ, and "our" debt is astronomical.

PIGSNZ.

The point is the technology is available for everyone to live well, not just a privileged few.

Can you imagine what you could do if didn't have to work in some godawful job for the Man?

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

Spain

12/13/2011 06:06 PM

I am not against automation, but you must take into account that humans with lot's of spare time don't necessarily turn into geniuses or spiritually enlightened gurus. The human nature is not set by your idealistic standards, in fact I'd say entropy is a much more likely outcome judging by the history of mankind.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

So according to you no one should ever get rich and financially independent because he may become lazy stupid and evil because of the to much free time he would posses.

Where you do you get those silly contradicting logic from. You are badly indoctrinated or highly ignorant.

Quoting: Shogu666

Oh come on, you know the rich never stop working or else their wealth would be gone in the blink of an eye. Don't be stubborn, your commie mentality has been proven to fail over and over again, give it up, you have no factual basis to present your argument, you can only hope people would act in the manner needed for your ideas to work out, and you know that's highly unlikely.

Capitalism doesn't play with the hypothesis that people will react in this or that manner, it simply lays out an environment in which if you don't struggle you perish. So you are left with no choice.

When you start granting people their survival whether they deserve it or not, then you are paving the way for people to take advantage of the system.- If you think that those who struggle harder to create industry should be leveled up with those who expect to be fed for nothing in return you're a dangerous, delusional individual, also goes by the name COMMIE.

Nobody in Particular (OP)

Busy Rattling Cages on GLP

User ID: 7049086

 United States

12/13/2011 06:06 PM

I am not against automation, but you must take into account that humans with lot's of spare time don't necessarily turn into geniuses or spiritually enlightened gurus. The human nature is not set by your idealistic standards, in fact I'd say entropy is a much more likely outcome judging by the history of mankind.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

So according to you no one should ever get rich and financially independent because he may become lazy stupid and evil because of the to much free time he would posses.

Where you do you get those silly contradicting logic from. You are badly indoctrinated or highly ignorant.

Quoting: Shogu666

in a world of spirit filled people operating without money, there is no need for "financial indepence" at all. you have bought a large lie. Nowhere have a said that a world free of money has lazy people with time on their hands. They will that "time" with worthy actions. Like never ending education.

Where are you going to take all that money when your body expires? To what purpose? How many did you enslave to get it, unless you were self employed or in a partnership? One of the golden rules of God that produces healthy societies, is thou shalt not enslave another human being. Did you pay truly "fair" wages. I haven't met a company yet that truly did. Are you having "fun" dealing with health insurance on your slaves? And paying SS taxes (1/2 of them), so they can retire slaves?

People with lots of spar time, who have made their contribution to their society can spend their spare time pondering their belly buttons for all I care, well I do care on that one, but I cant make their choices. Advancing societies have a great deal to offer to stimulate a mind. A person who works a factory job during all of their adult working years, gains little except if their job changes as to which part they manufacture or if they get to move into a slave drive position in their companies. That is what you supervisors are, you know, most of you paid slaves in a slave driver position. rarely have I seen a supervisor worth their salt. Sure supervisors will also be needed still in companies, but I think they will improve, and you see the ones under them will not be SLAVES, but co creators in the work at hand. They can be released to other work if they are not capable of their job, but the supervisor will work to help them become capable, and it won't be for profit, but for the quality of the product produced.

GOOD BYE "health insurance" too, aren't you ones TIRED OF THAT GAME?????

Last Edited by Nobody in Particular on 12/13/2011 06:16 PM

Anonymous Coward
User ID: 952924
 United States
12/13/2011 06:07 PM

Omg, Y'all are making me laugh out loud, my stomach hurts! Stop before I pee on myself.

sylvie
User ID: 6990378
 United States
12/13/2011 06:08 PM

You are all happy with your cell phones and internet right? Don't you think everyone if they want it should have them? YES. The education alone on the net will make it something for all to have as a necessity.

Quoting: Nobody in Particular

I'm with you on your vision, except for the cell phones (and the robots, but that's another story). Cell phone radiation causes cancer, infertility and a multitude of other symptoms, disturbs kids' brain waves (and adults', but kids are even worse off due to their thinner skull bones), cell phone towers bombard us with even more radiation, and so forth. I'm not even gonna start on how it has estranged people from one another... these days, kids hang out at parties, each texting someone else on their phone while sitting next to a real person they could talk to. It's a very antisocial device, IMO, replacing real communication with virtual communication.

That's why I'm not so sure about the technology part of your vision; my personal feeling is that our modern technology has done us more harm than good. Sure, it has made things more "convenient," but it also has driven us apart, irradiated us, paralyzed us, stunted our emotional and spiritual growth, made us spoiled and lazy, brought us poisonous foods, water, soil and air pollution, makes other living beings (animals) suffer greatly, hypnotizes us and estranges us from our own kids, etc., etc.

My ideal society would be a non-technological one, with only some basic devices. Horse and buggy would be fine with me.

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 1286724

 United States

12/13/2011 06:08 PM

FP Editors Dec 12, 2011

Firstpost.com

Uncertainty over the future of the eurozone runs high, despite last week's high-on-hot-air agreement on moving towards greater fiscal union. And that uncertainty is driving European banks into a severe liquidity crunch that could cause the region's entire banking system to collapse, analysts fear.

The early warning signs of such a liquidity seizure are already showing up in the troubles that European banks face in raising short-term liquidity. French, Italian and Spanish banks have run out of collateral (typically US Treasuries) that they put up to finance short-term loans, and have been forced to pledge their gold reserves in order to secure dollar funding, reports The Telegraph.

Some European banks have resorted to selling foreign assets to meet their capital requirements; others have cut back on their lending to industry.

Money is to the economy what blood is to the human body. So long as both are circulating smoothly, they're doing fine. But when liquidity starts to choke in the veins of the economy, as is happening now, it points to a coming seizure. Which is the worry that keeps bankers and analysts up at night these days.

Euro

Investors are beginning to lose their faith in the banking system, and have begun a 'bank run' that could snowball into a full-blown crisis.

The "collateral crunch" has come about because the banks' traditional means of raising funds are running dry as investors, worried about the survival of the euro, are pulling out their savings or are easing up bank bond purchase.

Essentially, what this signals is that investors are beginning to lose their faith in the banking system, and have begun a 'bank run' that could snowball into a full-blown crisis.

Even the market for short-term interbank lending is seizing up. The Economist reports that US money-market funds have reduced their lendings to European banks by more than 40 percent in the past six months.

According to rating agency Fitch, even European money markets funds are reducing their exposure to banks in France, Italy and Spain.

Just last week, rating agency Moody's raised the red flag over French banks, cutting their debt ratings citing the heightened difficulties that the banks faced in raising funding and the worsening economic outlook. "Liquidity and funding conditions have deteriorated significantly," Moody's said.

In September, French banks witnessed a flight of capital to the tune of 100 billion euro after US money-market funds, wary of French banks' exposure to peripheral economies and to Italy, turned off the liquidity tap.

Also last week, the European Banking Authority (EBA) said that the region's banks must raise 114.7 billion euro in extra to withstand the eurozone debt crisis.

The undercurrent of nervousness about the euro, and the lingering risk that one or more countries may yet opt out of the eurozone, has additionally prompted a flight of capital away from peripheral southern European economies, which could trigger a larger bank run.

Bloomberg reports that European companies have initiated contingency plans in the event of an unravelling of the euro. Among the measures they've set in motion: moving money out of Spain and into Germany, transferring their headquarters from southern Europe to the north; cutting investments; and, in extreme cases, going out of business.

According to rating agency Fitch, even European money markets funds are reducing their exposure to banks in France, Italy and Spain. AFP

One CEO quoted in the report said he did not "trust Spain will remain in the eurozone... We moved our cash and deposits (from Madrid) to Germany because Spain will come back to the peseta."

Others too have sighted similar symptoms of capital flight. "Corporates are withdrawing deposits from banks in Spain, Italy, France and Belgium," a Citigroup analyst wrote in a recent research report. "This is a worrying development."

What is the risk from a prolonged liquidity crunch?

The first is that banks could turn off their own lending tap, which could affect businesses and borrowers and trigger a downward spiral in the economy. Bad as it is, the second prospect is rather more catastrophic: a bank failure, speculation about which abounds in the market, could trigger panic of the sort we saw in 2008.

Human psychology could accentuate that problem: the fear that a bank could go under will likely trigger a stampeding by investors to pull out their money. Even if the bank was not initially at risk, a bank run of this sort, when investors pull out their money simultaneously, is more likely to tip it over.

Likewise, market panic triggered by this collateral crunch would also suck out the air of liquidity in markets around the world as investors flock to safe havens. To an Indian economy that is already in hot water, that could mean a sharper fall in the rupee as foreign investors, already disenchanted with India, head for the door.

Anonymous Coward
User ID: 433811
 New Zealand
12/13/2011 06:09 PM

OP you are just a new age communist. What are you doing in 'real life' to promote your ideals. I assume you do nothing but expect 'some people' to do it for you. There are some organizations similar to your ideals with secret agendas such as global dictatorship. I fear that they'll lure many sheeple like you in to their trap and accomplish their goals by using people like you.

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

What bullshit.

All the voluntary work that is done locally is done by people who have a very good grasp of the NWO and are working to decouple themselves from The Beast.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 06:09 PM

Thus automation.

The whole fucking point of progress should be that we should work less.

Everybody wants to work less even you unless you are a masochist.

Quoting: Shogu666

Friggin automation CANNOT be sustained in global scale and it CANNOT satisfy the global demand. This is a f*cking UTOPIA or should I say DYSTOPIA. Those machines need energy right? What are you planning to run those machines? Will you use your urine instead of oil? Do not even tell me about alternative energies or else I will think you are an ignorant utopian absent of knowledge about physical and thermodynamic laws.

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

Real list

User ID: 7049451

 United States

12/13/2011 06:10 PM

In the 60's I was in a 'combat ready' army armor division. Regular inspections were conducted to insure our readiness, all issued equipment was laid out in a specific manner to be viewed by an officer.

Problem was, there was not always enough to fully equip every soldier. For items we were not issued, we received a card to display during inspections.

Now, if called into action, how can I drink from a card that says 'canteen'? Or eat with a card that says 'mess kit'? Silly, no?

But what if there are not enough contributors of food to meet the needs of the entire population? They will get a card that says, this entitles you to food when it comes available.

I know, in this fantasy world there will jsu be enough producers. How do I know that? Well, just because.....

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

 Poland

12/13/2011 06:11 PM

Friggin automation CANNOT be sustained in global scale and it CANNOT satisfy the global demand. This is a f*cking UTOPIA or should i say DYSTOPIA. Those machines need energy right? What are you planning to run those machines? Will you use your urine instead of oil? Do not even tell me about alternative energies or else i will think you are a ignorant utopian absent of knowledge about physical and thermodynamic laws.

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

There is shitoad of energy around us.

According to MIT institute only geothermal power have potential to sustain our energy requirements for thousands of years , i will link source if i must but its a lot of digging and i am not sue if it is worth it, because you seem highly ignorant on many subjects and i doubt it would make any difference.

Real list

User ID: 7049451

 United States

12/13/2011 06:12 PM

if I work to produce the food, how is it unfair for you to work to purchase it?

Quoting: Real list

Because i don't want to eat your chemical/pesticide/GMO food that was cheaper for you produce.

But regardless of what you must do to pay for it, without my food you might not survive. Your life is better because I control a parcel of land.

Quoting: Real list

No its not.

Quoting: Shogu666

Brilliant

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

 Poland

12/13/2011 06:13 PM

That's why I'm not so sure about the technology part of your vision; my personal feeling is that our modern technology has done us more harm than good.

Quoting: sylvie

It is the money that incentive application of harmful technologies.

If we actually were guided by what is useful and good for us outcome would be much different.

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 7006972

 Brazil

12/13/2011 06:15 PM

Oh. And there is NO property.

All land belong to god.

It was a gift.

A gift is only sold by those who love money.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

Without mixing god into all of this.

No one created land it was created by nature, thus owning more then you need to sustain yourself and your family is direct insult towards the rest of people that have no land.

Quoting: Shogu666

Unless you are using that land to improve the human condition. Even if you do this for a profit, if you grow food that people need to survive, where is the insult?

Quoting: Real list

It's useless to talk with these kind of people. They base their beliefs on emotional idealism, they're like little children who don't understand the world and get angry when things are not the way they'd like.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

It's not based on idealism. (Well, it is since its not reality. Its the ideal.) ONLY.

Its based on FACTS:

None have answered. Why do "freedom loving people" ban?

And:

Kill?

Until then, all be meaningless, uttruthfull comments.

For money!

Old I know.

And thats the problem.

In my expressed view.

(When "allowed" by "freedom loving bombing people"!)

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 06:15 PM

Everybody wants to work less even you unless you are a masochist.

Quoting: Shogu666

Hell yes.

But it's so much worse when you know that your hard labour is going to feed parasites via taxation to pay of an ever increasing fictional debt.

And if you in Spain think it's any different where you live from where I live or OP lives think again.

The Fed owns NZ, and "our" debt is astronomical.

PIGSNZ.

The point is the techology is available for everyone to live well, not just a privileged few.

Can you imagine what you could do if didn't have to work in some godawful job for the Man?

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 433811

What could you do? living a life span of average 90 years, by the time you're 20 you know the entire world, you've been in more parties that you can remember, sex already disgusts you from having it so much, then what?

You people really think than having all you want in the world without having done nothing to deserve it amounts to real happiness? Are you that ignorant of the truths of life and human nature?

Without struggle humanity would degenerate in 2 generations, or the machines would take over, absorb us and we'd be only a digitalized memory.

Real list

User ID: 7049451

 United States

12/13/2011 06:15 PM

Friggin automation CANNOT be sustained in global scale and it CANNOT satisfy the global demand. This is a f*cking UTOPIA or should i say DYSTOPIA. Those machines need energy right? What are you planning to run those machines? Will you use your urine instead of oil? Do not even tell me about alternative energies or else i will think you are a ignorant utopian absent of knowledge about physical and thermodynamic laws.

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

There is shitoad of energy around us.

According to MIT institute only geothermal power have potential to sustain our energy requirements for thousands of years , i will link source if i must but its a lot of digging and i am not sue if it is worth it, because you seem highly ignorant on many subjects and i doubt it would make any difference.

Quoting: Shogu666

get real

Snip:

According to Mr. Finnsson, if Iceland's resources are tapped too quickly, the underground hot water necessary to produce the power (and heat buildings in Iceland) could run out in 70 years or so. Geothermal energy, he said, is "not renewable if you use it to an extreme." [link to green.blogs.nytimes.com]

Another fantasy bubble popped

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 06:16 PM

...

Without mixing god into all of this.

No one created land it was created by nature, thus owning more then you need to sustain yourself and your family is direct insult towards the rest of people that have no land.

Quoting: Shogu666

Unless you are using that land to improve the human condition. Even if you do this for a profit, if you grow food that people need to survive, where is the insult?

Quoting: Real list

It's useless to talk with these kind of people. They base their beliefs on emotional idealism, they're like little children who don't understand the world and get angry when things are not the way they'd like.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

It's not based on idealism. (Well, it is since its not reality. Its the ideal.) ONLY.

Its based on FACTS:

None have answered. Why do "freedom loving people" ban?

And:

Kill?

Until then, all be meaningless, utruthfull comments.

For money!

Old I know.

And thats the problem.

In my expressed view.

(When "allowed" by "freedom loving bombing people"!)

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

People don't lust for money, they lust for the things they can acquire with money. The things that drive people to commit evil actions will remain in existence even if money doesn't.

Anonymous Coward
User ID: 1286724
 United States
12/13/2011 06:16 PM

WWW.CHRISTMICHAELSGLOBALSPIRITUALNETWORK.COM

SERVICESECTOR12@Yahogroups.com
(SUPERHUMAN MINISTRY Service Sector)

606Agondonter@...
TMtranscripts@...
www.Monjoronson.com

Conversations with Monjoronson #34 – Service-based Society; Moral Compass - Nov. 25, 2011

Teacher: Monjoronson

Topics:

Service-based society

The three core values of sustainability

A moral compass

The co-creative design team

Being guided by spirit

The sword of spirituality is two-sided

Cultural change of attitudes and opinions

The moral compass points to a future of sustainability

The difficulty of applying the moral compass to governance

The “Occupy Wall Street” social phenomenon

A consistent, uniform, integrated moral conscience of morality

The Declaration of Independence

Individualism

TR: Daniel Raphael

Moderator: Michael McCray (MMc)

November 25, 2011

Prayer: Dear Father and our Creator Father and Mother, Michael and Neadonia. We give thanks to be included in this journey. We are extremely grateful that each of you has decided to make this journey with us, life as a journey into greater understanding. We give thanks that our Avonal Son will soon join us in spirit and in truth. Amen.

[\[link to groups.yahoo.com\]](#)

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

 Poland

12/13/2011 06:19 PM

What could you do? living a life span of average 90 years, by the time you're 20 you know the entire world, you've been in more parties that you can remember, sex already disgusts you from having it so much, then what?

You people really think than having all you want in the world without having done nothing to deserve it amounts to real happiness? Are you that ignorant of the truths of life and human nature?

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Who are you to say how other people should live their lives.

You are the true killer of freedom.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 06:19 PM

Some people nowadays kill for food and the basic means of survival, granted these for nothing in return, some other need would arise that they would need to satisfy and if otherwise violence will emerge as the means to acquire that which they lust to possess.

It's basic human nature, if you need to change human nature to apply your ideas, then your ideas are a fallacy from the very start.

Amy_A

User ID: 1447484

 United States

12/13/2011 06:20 PM

imagine a world where we didnt work for money, but for the pride and satisfaction of doing the work we did.

how many can honestly say the takey pride and satisfaction in their work, its not even 50% of us, is my bet if everything was free, would people still steal?

would people be more tempted to share an item that didnt have any "value" ?

Quoting: Michael_

thats how i feel. i work in construction. my job is necessary for people and i do take pride in my work. imagine all that would get done if all the lawyers and advertisers and any other useless job or job that is only there because of money were gone and everyone did something productive or at least helped people in some way. people wouldn't be starving if we made all the lawyers farmers on some lot that used to be a golf coarse.

Quoting: miked

Amy

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 7006972

 Brazil

12/13/2011 06:20 PM

...

Unless you are using that land to improve the human condition. Even if you do this for a profit, if you grow food that people need to survive, where is the insult?

Quoting: Real list

It's useless to talk with these kind of people. They base their beliefs on emotional idealism, they're like little children who don't understand the world and get angry when things are not the way they'd like.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

It's not based on idealism. (Well, it is since its not reality. Its the ideal.) ONLY.

Its based on FACTS:

None have answered. Why do "freedom loving people" ban?

And:

Kill?

Until then, all be meaningless, utruthfull comments.

For money!

Old I know.

And thats the problem.

In my expressed view.

(When "allowed" by "freedom loving bombing people"!)

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

People don't lust for money, they lust for the things they can acquire with money. The things that drive people to commit evil actions will remain in existence even if money doesn't.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Family members killing family member FOR MONEY will cease to exist.

All the other violent crimes will cease, when Humanity accept their real, old, truthful, BISEXUAL nature.

Seth stated so long ago.

And also said we will achieve equality.

And better use of our creativity.

And cooperative nature.

(Believe it or not, filthy rich perverted "powerful" men, when paying to be bossed around are just exercising their NEED for deep ingrained cooperative nature Something that no Eyes Wide Shut ever mentioned.)

Real list

User ID: 7049451

 United States

12/13/2011 06:20 PM

People don't lust for money, they lust for the things they can acquire with money. The things that drive people to commit evil actions will remain in existence even if money doesn't.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

This is the truth.

A recent example is the OWS thing. The individuals involved were almost totally free of money worries. Their food was contributed, a select few handled donations and made necessary purchases.

Yet there were several suspicious deaths and many rapes. Why did crime occur in this utopian environment?

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 06:23 PM

What could you do? living a life span of average 90 years, by the time you're 20 you know the entire world, you've been in more parties that you can remember, sex already disgusts you from having it so much, then what?

You people really think than having all you want in the world without having done nothing to deserve it amounts to real happiness? Are you that ignorant of the truths of life and human nature?

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Who are you to say how other people should live their lives.

You are the true killer of freedom.

Quoting: Shogu666

Says the commie who would probably genocide millions of dissenters to implement his mad utopia.

I am not saying how people should live their lives, I am asking you to ponder on human nature and understand that the lack of challenge doesn't necessarily create virtue on humans. Do the spoiled offspring of the very wealthy turn to be virtuous very often?

Humanity has evolved to the point they have because being faced with struggle and overcoming it. To overcome struggle one must be faced with the possibility of failure.

You're just obstinate into applying your failed utopia, you don't want to look at objective facts.

If you need to change human nature to apply your system, your system is flawed.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 06:23 PM

What could you do? living a life span of average 90 years, by the time you're 20 you know the entire world, you've been in more parties that you can remember, sex already disgusts you from having it so much, then what?

You people really think than having all you want in the world without having done nothing to deserve it amounts to real happiness? Are you that ignorant of the truths of life and human nature?

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Who are you to say how other people should live their lives.

You are the true killer of freedom.

Quoting: Shogu666

Says the commie who would probably genocide millions of dissenters to implement his mad utopia.

I am not saying how people should live their lives, I am asking you to ponder on human nature and understand that the lack of challenge doesn't necessarily create virtue on humans. Do the spoiled offspring of the very wealthy turn to be virtuous very often?

Humanity has evolved to the point they have because being faced with struggle and overcoming it. To overcome struggle one must be faced with the possibility of failure.

You're just obstinate into applying your failed utopia, you don't want to look at objective facts.

If you need to change human nature to apply your system, your system is flawed.

Muratada

User ID: 7072195

 United Kingdom

12/13/2011 06:23 PM

As opposed to who exactly ? Jupiter folks ? Uranus ?

alexisj9

User ID: 1376880

 United Kingdom

12/13/2011 06:24 PM

IT IS NOT THAT HARD PEOPLE. Some folks didn't like my butting into this thread this evening.
Thread: What is the reason for money?

So lets just do it under my name and YOU butt into this one with VISION. Living without money does not need serfdom. And it does not mean going back to the hunter gatherer stage either, nor to an agrarian live. It does not mean you trade your organic back yard grown veggies to a carpenter to build your house either.

The carpenter to build you house does not have to do something to acquire the wood, shingles, plumbing, electrical wiring and all the rest to build your house for his groceries. YOU CAN DO BETTER.

HUMAN is different from the animals because human can envision. I have had in fact 3 cats that have gotten a father fragment because they began to envision something beyond CAT. Leave out the Father Fragment though for this time, its not a thread on religion or cosmology.

Can you ones see no further ahead than working away your lives under the control of others? Can you not see your enslavement? I have never had a free day in my life on this world. NOT ONE. While I have "free time" to write here on GLP, I had to pay for the computer, and I have to pay for the electricity to run it, and most importantly I have to pay for the internet connection to get here.

And some pour soul likely earned next to nothing to bring me the expensive mac in the first place because the way international currency works. I have no idea who builds all the parts to a mac, then there is the shipping, packaging to ship and all that stuff that makes the world of apple go round.

I want to leave religion out of this, but I will not leave spirituality and some cosmology out of it. I have to make one statement, you are so missing out on the spirituality stuff, that you have bought the false heaven lie, which allows you to let yourself live as slaves, in hopes of a reward in heaven where you never have to work again, you can have parties with Jesus for eternity of trillions of years. Yes some of you do think that way, do not deny it.

Well guess what, Jesus has returned and he has worked his butt off for you since then. He worked his butt off finding places for you to go at the time this world is closed down and that is soon. Because you have destroyed your world and you have done so by allowing MONEY to be used to squelch your creative minds and reduce you to enslaved beings. And there are plenty of people who will post here that I am coo coo around this idea, they did already in the thread above and they have done so in the other threads on money.

I am NOT COO COO on this. Guess what, you will always work SOME in all of your life eternal. You will always live on planets of some sort. There is no heaven up in them their clouds to float in. Jesus LIVES on a planet except right now he lives on a CRAFT. Crafts are heaven people. You do not fly the friendly universe until you have earned the right to do so. The galactic wars are over and every race on every world must earn the right to fly or you stay on your prison world until you do. Work does NOT every go away.

Your angel work, didn't that occur to you? Do they get paid digital credits or paper bills for it? NO.

In the friendly universe everyone GIFTS their skills. Period. Now enough for tonight, I will continue this tomorrow and see what's posted in it. You are going to learn to expand your consciousness, or you are going to stay as fools on fools planets. This was the teaching left out of your bible.

"Truly, I say to you, wisdom must be learned from the laws of Creation, which humans may recognize in nature. But if humans do not think and seek, they will not be able to attain wisdom and will remain fools. There is no higher happiness than wisdom, no better friend than knowledge, and no other saviour than the power of the spirit."

If you do not get that POWER of your SPIRIT up and running, you are moving to other stupid worlds full of fools. OK. Can I be any clearer of that one?

Now would someone help me out here and list all the shit you have to pay for in this life? To pay for your shit, (and you do pay sewer fees to your water company to process your shit, do you not, quite literally), you have to work hours almost beyond your endurance, and submit to enslavement. Every single person that is employed is a slave and every single employer manages slaves. PONDER THAT ONE FOR IT IS TRUTH. Good night. (and you won't have peace either until the money goes away.)

Quoting: Nobody in Particular

I would love to see a world without money, and the greed and corruption that comes with money.

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 1286724

 United States

12/13/2011 06:25 PM

December 13, 2011 – BRUSSELS - The euro dropped to an 11-month low against the U.S. dollar on Tuesday, with selling set to continue on concerns about a lack of unity among European nations to tackle the debt crisis and fears of more credit rating downgrades. Losses accelerated after the euro broke below its October low at $1.3145, followed by $1.31, and triggered a wave of automatic sell orders. Further key support levels lie around $1.30 and $1.2860, the 2011 low. Germany's Angela Merkel has rejected any suggestion of raising the funding limit of Europe's future bailout fund, the European Stability Mechanism (ESM), sources in her conservative bloc said after a meeting with the chancellor. But analysts were quick to point out that it was not the first time that Merkel had made such a comment. Peter Boockvar, a market strategist at Miller Tabak, said in an email that the German Chancellor made her position on this clear immediately after the summit of European Union leaders' summit in Brussels last week. The ESM, which will replace the current EFSF bailout fund and should come into effect from the middle of next year, will have an effective lending capacity of 500 billion euros. European Council chief Herman Van Rompuy said on Tuesday that a review of whether funding was adequate would be completed in March. "It continues to show how difficult it is to orchestrate all the moving parts of these different sovereign nations in Europe and try to get them all under one kind of agreement," said John Doyle, currency strategist at Tempus Consulting in Washington. Discord was also present at last week's European Union summit as Britain shunned an agreement reached by up to 26 EU nations to pursue fiscal integration as part of efforts to tackle the debt crisis. Against the yen, the euro slipped to a two-month low of 101.74 on Reuters data before rebounding to 101.93, down 0.8 percent on the day. "The euro has come a long way to multi-month lows but frankly I am not tempted to take profit," said Neil Jones, currency analyst at Mizuho Corporate Bank in London. "I am not certain what future euro negatives lie ahead. I am just certain there will be more." -CNBC excerpt

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

 Poland

12/13/2011 06:25 PM

get real

Snip:

According to Mr. Finnsson, if Iceland's resources are tapped too quickly, the underground hot water necessary to produce the power (and heat buildings in Iceland) could run out in 70 years or so. Geothermal energy, he said, is "not renewable if you use it to an extreme." [link to green.blogs.nytimes.com]

Another fantasy bubble popped

Quoting: Real list

Yes he also says "could lead to a temporary depletion of a geothermal field,"

It is normal that if you-over consume bad shit happens. This is exactly what happens due to monetary incentive.

That what is exactly happening to our planet right now and i guess you are OK with that.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 06:25 PM

...

It's useless to talk with these kind of people. They base their beliefs on emotional idealism, they're like little children who don't understand the world and get angry when things are not the way they'd like.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

It's not based on idealism. (Well, it is since its not reality. Its the ideal.) ONLY.

Its based on FACTS:

None have answered. Why do "freedom loving people" ban?

And:

Kill?

Until then, all be meaningless, utruthfull comments.

For money!

Old I know.

And thats the problem.

In my expressed view.

(When "allowed" by "freedom loving bombing people"!)

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

People don't lust for money, they lust for the things they can acquire with money. The things that drive people to commit evil actions will remain in existence even if money doesn't.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Family members killing family member FOR MONEY will cease to exist.

All the other violent crimes will cease, when Humanity accept their real, old, truthful, BISEXUAL nature.

Seth stated so long ago.

And also said we will achieve equality.

And better use of our creativity.

And cooperative nature.

(Believe it or not, filthy rich perverted "powerful" men, when paying to be bossed around are just exercising their NEED for deep ingrained cooperative nature Something that no Eyes Wide Shut ever mentioned.)

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

Yes? I guess that's why communism ended up with 60 million people dead in Europe alone.

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 7006972

 Brazil

12/13/2011 06:25 PM

People don't lust for money, they lust for the things they can acquire with money. The things that drive people to commit evil actions will remain in existence even if money doesn't.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

This is the truth.

A recent example is the OWS thing. The individuals involved were almost totally free of money worries. Their food was contributed, a select few handled donations and made necessary purchases.

Yet there were several suspicious deaths and many rapes. Why did crime occur in this utopian environment?

Quoting: Real list

They were transported from a different educational, marketing cultural environment from where they grew up with.

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 7006972

Brazil

12/13/2011 06:27 PM

...

It's not based on idealism. (Well, it is since its not reality. Its the ideal.) ONLY.

Its based on FACTS:

None have answered. Why do "freedom loving people" ban?

And:

Kill?

Until then, all be meaningless, utruthfull comments.

For money!

Old I know.

And thats the problem.

In my expressed view.

(When "allowed" by "freedom loving bombing people"!)

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

People don't lust for money, they lust for the things they can acquire with money. The things that drive people to commit evil actions will remain in existence even if money doesn't.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Family members killing family member FOR MONEY will cease to exist.

All the other violent crimes will cease, when Humanity accept their real, old, truthful, BISEXUAL nature.

Seth stated so long ago.

And also said we will achieve equality.

And better use of our creativity.

And cooperative nature.

(Believe it or not, filthy rich perverted "powerful" men, when paying to be bossed around are just exercising their NEED for deep ingrained cooperative nature Something that no Eyes Wide Shut ever mentioned.)

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

Yes? I guess that's why communism ended up with 60 million people dead in Europe alone.

:facepalm:

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

It failed because it was meant to fail.

Those who have been here for a while know this.

YOU fail.

Or not.

You will learn.

Buy the land.

That was given by "God" to a few to sell it to you.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 06:27 PM

People don't lust for money, they lust for the things they can acquire with money. The things that drive people to commit evil actions will remain in existence even if money doesn't.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

This is the truth.

A recent example is the OWS thing. The individuals involved were almost totally free of money worries. Their food was contributed, a select few handled donations and made necessary purchases.

Yet there were several suspicious deaths and many rapes. Why did crime occur in this utopian environment?

Quoting: Real list

They were transported from a different educational, marketing cultural environment from where they grew up with.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

Oh so I guess for your utopia to work everyone needs to be exactly the same in every way right? I guess that is feasible.....NOT.

Corvus

User ID: 7064141

 Turkey

12/13/2011 06:28 PM

Friggin automation CANNOT be sustained in global scale and it CANNOT satisfy the global demand. This is a f*cking UTOPIA or should i say DYSTOPIA. Those machines need energy right? What are you planning to run those machines? Will you use your urine instead of oil? Do not even tell me about alternative energies or else i will think you are a ignorant utopian absent of knowledge about physical and thermodynamic laws.

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

There is shitload of energy around us.

According to MIT institute only geothermal power have potential to sustain our energy requirements for thousands of years , i will link source if i must but its a lot of digging and i am not sue if it is worth it, because you seem highly ignorant on many subjects and i doubt it would make any difference.

Quoting: Shogu666

What a bullshit. There maybe shitload of energy around us but you also must use energy to harness energy from natural sources. Oil is concentrated type energy which we can gain energy more than we use. This depends on reserves of course if you try to suck oil deeper you waste more energy even there would not be a energy gain. Geothermal energy however is a flowing energy source. It cannot give 'enough' energy besides keeping run its power plant. Therefore like other alternative energies it is mostly inefficient. World oil reserves are diminishing and when we run out of oil enough where it can no longer support the global energy demand technological society will collapse. This is a fact. Please search this stuff a bit more.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 06:29 PM

...

People don't lust for money, they lust for the things they can acquire with money. The things that drive people to commit evil actions will remain in existence even if money doesn't.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Family members killing family member FOR MONEY will cease to exist.

All the other violent crimes will cease, when Humanity accept their real, old, truthful, BISEXUAL nature.

Seth stated so long ago.

And also said we will achieve equality.

And better use of our creativity.

And cooperative nature.

(Believe it or not, filthy rich perverted "powerful" men, when paying to be bossed around are just exercising their NEED for deep ingrained cooperative nature Something that no Eyes Wide Shut ever mentioned.)

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

Yes? I guess that's why communism ended up with 60 million people dead in Europe alone.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

It failed because it was meant to fail.

Those who have been here for a while know this.

YOU fail.

Or not.

You will learn.

Buy the land.

That was given by "God" to a few to sell it to you.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

I am sorry I am not interested in debating folks who step outside the bounds of reality. You can go read your channeled material that says everything will be fine and sleep well at night.

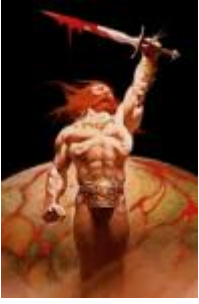

Leave discussions about the reality of things to adult minded individuals.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 06:29 PM

...

People don't lust for money, they lust for the things they can acquire with money. The things that drive people to commit evil actions will remain in existence even if money doesn't.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Family members killing family member FOR MONEY will cease to exist.

All the other violent crimes will cease, when Humanity accept their real, old, truthful, BISEXUAL nature.

Seth stated so long ago.

And also said we will achieve equality.

And better use of our creativity.

And cooperative nature.

(Believe it or not, filthy rich perverted "powerful" men, when paying to be bossed around are just exercising their NEED for deep ingrained cooperative nature Something that no Eyes Wide Shut ever mentioned.)

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

Yes? I guess that's why communism ended up with 60 million people dead in Europe alone.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

It failed because it was meant to fail.

Those who have been here for a while know this.

YOU fail.

Or not.

You will learn.

Buy the land.

That was given by "God" to a few to sell it to you.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

I am sorry I am not interested in debating folks who step outside the bounds of reality. You can go read your channeled material that says everything will be fine and sleep well at night.

Leave discussions about the reality of things to adult minded individuals.

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

 Poland

12/13/2011 06:29 PM

Says the commie who would probably genocide millions of dissenters to implement his mad utopia.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Yes i would start with you. Genocide is the only way
/end sarcasm

I am not saying how people should live their lives, I am asking you to ponder on human nature and understand that the lack of challenge doesn't necessarily create virtue on humans. Do the spoiled offspring of the very wealthy turn to be virtuous very often?

Humanity has evolved to the point they have because being faced with struggle and overcoming it. To overcome struggle one must be faced with the possibility of failure.

You're just obstinate into applying your failed utopia, you don't want to look at objective facts.

If you need to change human nature to apply your system, your system is flawed.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

There are no objective facts you show me only your propaganda that you hear on TV.

Show some actual data that would backup your argument then we can talk like adults.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 06:31 PM

Friggin automation CANNOT be sustained in global scale and it CANNOT satisfy the global demand. This is a f*cking UTOPIA or should i say DYSTOPIA. Those machines need energy right? What are you planning to run those machines? Will you use your urine instead of oil? Do not even tell me about alternative energies or else i will think you are a ignorant utopian absent of knowledge about physical and thermodynamic laws.

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

There is shitload of energy around us.

According to MIT institute only geothermal power have potential to sustain our energy requirements for thousands of years , i will link source if i must but its a lot of digging and i am not sue if it is worth it, because you seem highly ignorant on many subjects and i doubt it would make any difference.

Quoting: Shogu666

What a bullshit. There maybe shitload of energy around us but you also must use energy to harness energy from natural sources. Oil is concentrated type energy which we can gain energy more than we use. This depends on reserves of course if you try to suck oil deeper you waste more energy even there would not be a energy gain. Geothermal energy however is a flowing energy source. It cannot give 'enough' energy besides keeping run its power plant. Therefore like other alternative energies it is mostly inefficent. World oil reserves are diminishing and when we run out of oil enough where it can no longer support the global energy demand technological society will collapse. This is a fact. Please search this stuff a bit more.

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

That's correct. Another assumption the proponents of venus type projects is that the development of technology will continue exponentially on the rise. That remains to be seen, if peak oil arrives anytime soon you can expect a rapid collapse and degeneration of all civilization and with it all technological development.

Corvus

User ID: 7064141

 Turkey

12/13/2011 06:31 PM

That's why I'm not so sure about the technology part of your vision; my personal feeling is that our modern technology has done us more harm than good.

Quoting: sylvie

Welcome to club brother!! am glad you are wise enough to see the truth.

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 1084809

 Canada

12/13/2011 06:32 PM

I honestly couldn't agree more with OP's concept. Although its not the money thats the problem its our enduring enslavement to the materialistic paradigm that we lovingly embrace as a society and civilization. We love our "things", our useless shit that won't accompany us in the next plane nor help us get there. We are slaves to our own belief systems and capitalistic, consumer based, thought processes/mind programs. The truth is that the money we so desperatley desire is also the figurative double deadbolt lock on our cages and the bars of the cell itself. Unbeknownst to the general slave population we are the slave drivers and masters pushing our minds and bodies to the brink of incapacitation and/or insanity, locking ourselves in our own prisons every night, with the locks on the INSIDE of the doors facing us, & the keys around our necks; literally hanging us with fear of the unknown and uncertainty in the result of necessary change.

Simply put money should only be a means of exchange.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 1646427

Good thread for this and the OP's posts alone. Refreshing to know some people are able to think outside the box.

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 7006972

Brazil

12/13/2011 06:33 PM

...

Family members killing family member FOR MONEY will cease to exist.

All the other violent crimes will cease, when Humanity accept their real, old, truthful, BISEXUAL nature.

Seth stated so long ago.

And also said we will achieve equality.

And better use of our creativity.

And cooperative nature.

(Believe it or not, filthy rich perverted "powerful" men, when paying to be bossed around are just exercising their NEED for deep ingrained cooperative nature Something that no Eyes Wide Shut ever mentioned.)

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

Yes? I guess that's why communism ended up with 60 million people dead in Europe alone.

:facepalm:

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

It failed because it was meant to fail.

Those who have been here for a while know this.

YOU fail.

Or not.

You will learn.

Buy the land.

That was given by "God" to a few to sell it to you.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7006972

I am sorry I am not interested in debating folks who step outside the bounds of reality. You can go read your channeled material that says everything will be fine and sleep well at night.

Leave discussions about the reality of things to adult minded individuals.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

My discussion is very clear:

Why "freedom loving people" ban?

Or worse yet:

KILL!!

Dont tell me its to keep their money guilty free?

How they can be guilty free, if they buy stolen land and then ban?

Or kill?

(Im so tired of getting banned for this. By freedom loving people they think!)

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 06:34 PM

Says the commie who would probably genocide millions of dissenters to implement his mad utopia.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Yes i would start with you. Genocide is the only way
/end sarcasm

I am not saying how people should live their lives, I am asking you to ponder on human nature and understand that the lack of challenge doesn't necessarily create virtue on humans. Do the spoiled offspring of the very wealthy turn to be virtuous very often?

Humanity has evolved to the point they have because being faced with struggle and overcoming it. To overcome struggle one must be faced with the possibility of failure.

You're just obstinate into applying your failed utopia, you don't want to look at objective facts.

If you need to change human nature to apply your system, your system is flawed.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

There are no objective facts you show me only your propaganda that you hear on TV.

Show some actual data that would backup your argument then we can talk like adults.

Quoting: Shogu666

Actual data regarding what? Moneyless societies were attempted with communism/socialism and all of them degenerated into aggressive totalitarian dictatorships.

If you're speaking about how a life without struggle affects individuals, I can't show you a study, I recommend you go visit a white family of white farmers in South Africa and then you go visit any welfare taking family in America or Britain and you see for yourself the effect of being given things for free vs working your ass to achieve your goals with no possibility of being bailed out if you fail.

Human nature is merely observable, don't be an

MONSTER

User ID: 2122560

 United States

12/13/2011 06:35 PM

I have for several years now.

KINGDOMS, NATIONS AND KINGS HAVE BEEN BROUGHT DOWN TO THEIR KNEE'S WITH ONE GLANCE FROM A WOMAN.

I WEAR MY SKIN OF ARMOR SO NO ONE CAN GET IN AND NO ONE CAN GET OUT.

HOW CAN I MOURN YOU, WHEN I HAVE NEVER LET YOU GO, monster 1991-2008 RIP

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

 Poland

12/13/2011 06:38 PM

What a bullshit. There maybe shitload of energy around us but you also must use energy to harness energy from natural sources. Oil is concentrated type energy which we can gain energy more than we use. This depends on reserves of course if you try to suck oil deeper you waste more energy even there would not be a energy gain. Geothermal energy however is a flowing energy source. It cannot give 'enough' energy besides keeping run its power plant. Therefore like other alternative energies it is mostly inefficent. World oil reserves are diminishing and when we run out of oil enough where it can no longer support the global energy demand technological society will collapse. This is a fact. Please search this stuff a bit more.

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

It looks like you now shit.

Whats the point of building power plant that gives no energy

All alternative sources gives off more energy then they required to start. Some better some worse depending on location.

Oil is the best because it requires none to start and look how much we wasted it driving around cars instead of using it to build sustainable economy.

Also if it weren't for planned obsolescence and wasteful system we would not need to have such a high energy requirements in the first place.

Shogu666

User ID: 1217094

 Poland

12/13/2011 06:42 PM

Actual data regarding what? Moneyless societies were attempted with communism/socialism and all of them degenerated into aggressive totalitarian dictatorships.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

You are showing your extremely high ignorance on every step of the way. All communist countries were money based !!!

If you're speaking about how a life without struggle affects individuals, I can't show you a study, I recommend you go visit a white family of white farmers in South Africa and then you go visit any welfare taking family in America or Britain and you see for yourself the effect of being given things for free vs working your ass to achieve your goals with no possibility of being bailed out if you fail.

Human nature is merely observable, don't be an

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

It is your subjective observation that is filtered through your individual believes.

In another words it is worth SHIT.

And i am not religious person to believe you. SHOW ME THE PROOF or GTFO.

sylvie

User ID: 6990378

 United States

12/13/2011 06:43 PM

Yes? I guess that's why communism ended up with 60 million people dead in Europe alone.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

You need to read up on your history. Communism is just a bunch of thugs lording it over the many worker bees. That's not what we're talking about here.

Corvus

User ID: 7064141

 Turkey

12/13/2011 06:49 PM

Actual data regarding what? Moneyless societies were attempted with communism/socialism and all of them degenerated into aggressive totalitarian dictatorships.

If you're speaking about how a life without struggle affects individuals, I can't show you a study, I recommend you go visit a white family of white farmers in South Africa and then you go visit any welfare taking family in America or Britain and you see for yourself the effect of being given things for free vs working your ass to achieve your goals with no possibility of being bailed out if you fail.

Human nature is merely observable, don't be an :donkey:

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

I couldnt agree more.I think one could only be happy if he make effort for his survival.Otherwise boredom and due to this degeneration will emerge.Depending on welfare is only for the lowlife.

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 7072445

 Argentina

12/13/2011 06:53 PM

Two words:

Project Venus.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 06:53 PM

Actual data regarding what? Moneyless societies were attempted with communism/socialism and all of them degenerated into aggressive totalitarian dictatorships.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

You are showing your extremely high ignorance on every step of the way. All communist countries were money based !!!

If you're speaking about how a life without struggle affects individuals, I can't show you a study, I recommend you go visit a white family of white farmers in South Africa and then you go visit any welfare taking family in America or Britain and you see for yourself the effect of being given things for free vs working your ass to achieve your goals with no possibility of being bailed out if you fail.

Human nature is merely observable, don't be an
Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

It is your subjective observation that is filtered through your individual believes.

In another words it is worth SHIT.

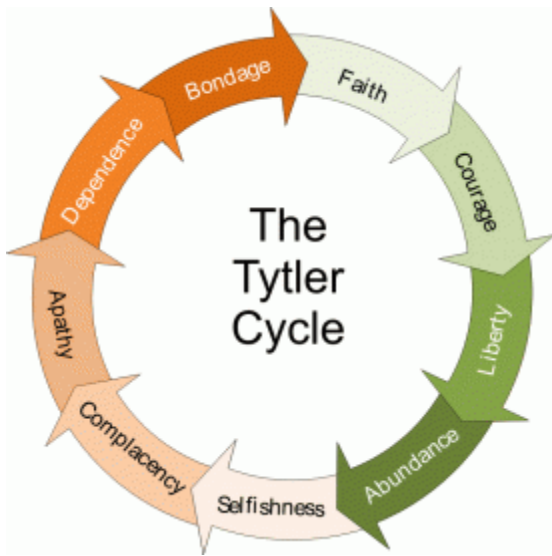

And i am not religious person to believe you. SHOW ME THE PROOF or GTFO.
Quoting: Shogu666

Of course they became money based, as moneyless just plain FAILED.

"The Soviet Union became the first country to adopt a planned economy, whereby production and distribution of goods were centralized and directed by the government. The first Bolshevik experience with a command economy was the policy of War Communism, which involved nationalization of industry, centralized distribution of output, coercive requisition of agricultural production, and attempts to eliminate the circulation of money, as well as private enterprises and free trade. As it had aggravated a severe economic collapse caused by the war, in 1921, Lenin replaced War Communism with the New Economic Policy (NEP), legalizing free trade and private ownership of smaller businesses. The economy quickly recovered."

And here you have a diagram for you to understand what I mean by human nature.

Maybe now you don't have to take only my word on it. Abundance doesn't necessarily result in virtue as some of you ASSUME (make an ass of you and me 😊)

Corvus
 User ID: 7064141
 🇹🇷 Turkey
 12/13/2011 06:53 PM

What a bullshit. There may be a shitload of energy around us but you also must use energy to harness energy from natural sources. Oil is concentrated type energy which we can gain energy more than we use. This depends on reserves of course if you try to suck oil deeper you waste more energy even there would not be an energy gain. Geothermal energy however is a flowing energy source. It cannot give 'enough' energy besides keeping run its power plant. Therefore like other alternative energies it is mostly inefficient. World oil reserves are diminishing and when we run out of oil enough where it can no longer support the global energy demand technological society will collapse. This is a fact. Please search this stuff a bit more.

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

It looks like you now shit.
 What's the point of building power plant that gives no energy

All alternative sources give off more energy than they required to start. Some better some worse depending on location.

Oil is the best because it requires none to start and look how much we wasted it driving around cars instead of using it to build sustainable economy.

Also if it weren't for planned obsolescence and wasteful system we would not need to have such a high energy requirements in the first place.

Quoting: Shogu666

Are you blind sir? Can you not see the ENOUGH word there? I didn't say it doesn't give any energy output. I mean it cannot give enough energy to satisfy the global energy demand when you compare it with the oil.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 06:53 PM

Actual data regarding what? Moneyless societies were attempted with communism/socialism and all of them degenerated into aggressive totalitarian dictatorships.

If you're speaking about how a life without struggle affects individuals, I can't show you a study, I recommend you go visit a white family of white farmers in South Africa and then you go visit any welfare taking family in America or Britain and you see for yourself the effect of being given things for free vs working your ass to achieve your goals with no possibility of being bailed out if you fail.

Human nature is merely observable, don't be an

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

I couldnt agree more. I think one could only be happy if he make effort for his survival. Otherwise boredom and due to this degeneration will emerge. Depending on welfare is only for the lowlife.

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

You nailed it bro.

Nobody in Particular (OP)

Busy Rattling Cages on GLP

User ID: 7049086

 United States

12/13/2011 06:54 PM

well this is going well here. I have to take a short leave from it, to tend issues around my organization which have just come to my attention. be back in a bit, keep it up.

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 7006972

 Brazil

12/13/2011 06:54 PM

And here you have a diagram for you to understand what I mean by human nature.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

We hear they talking how they are macho men too, all the time! Which is a lie.

So your point is not worth very much.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 06:55 PM

In fact according to the Tytler cycle, it would be better to never step into abundance AT ALL.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 06:56 PM

well this is going well here. I have to take a short leave from it, to tend issues around my organization which have just come to my attention. be back in a bit, keep it up.

Quoting: Nobody in Particular

You nonsensical fantasies are being obliterated by reason, we'll keep it up that way, dont worry 😊

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 742532

 New Zealand

12/13/2011 06:56 PM

Everybody wants to work less even you unless you are a masochist.

Quoting: Shogu666

Hell yes.

But it's so much worse when you know that your hard labour is going to feed parasites via taxation to pay of an ever increasing fictional debt.

And if you in Spain think it's any different where you live from where I live or OP lives think again.

The Fed owns NZ, and "our" debt is astronomical.

PIGSNZ.

The point is the technology is available for everyone to live well, not just a privileged few.

Can you imagine what you could do if didn't have to work in some godawful job for the Man?

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 433811

What could you do? living a life span of average 90 years, by the time you're 20 you know the entire world, you've been in more parties that you can remember, sex already disgusts you from having it so much, then what?

You people really think than having all you want in the world without having done nothing to deserve it amounts to real happiness? Are you that ignorant of the truths of life and human nature?

Without struggle humanity would degenerate in 2 generations, or the machines would take over, absorb us and we'd be only a digitalized memory.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Jesus, you have such a limited view of yourself.

Really.

I'm almost 60 and I know for a fact I don't "know the entire world."

I was an idiot at 20, but at least back then I knew it.

Between then and now I've pursued a multitude of careers acquiring practical skills along the way.

Now I plan to devote the rest of my life to Art -I'm a painter and jeweller and sculptor-which is easily enough to keep me occupied for the next 100 years or so.

Not to mention all the local projects I'm involved in.

I use machines (such as this wonderful medium, the internet)and not vice versa.

Now there's an example right there.

I come from quite an "impoverished" working class background.

I didn't see TV till I was in my early teens.We didn't even have an internal flush toilet.Etc.

But I love this modern techology because, for example, I can talk to people all over the world, like right now.

And guess what?

It's free at my local library.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 07:00 PM

Everybody wants to work less even you unless you are a masochist.

Quoting: Shogu666

Hell yes.

But it's so much worse when you know that your hard labour is going to feed parasites via taxation to pay of an ever increasing fictional debt.

And if you in Spain think it's any different where you live from where I live or OP lives think again.

The Fed owns NZ, and "our" debt is astronomical.

PIGSNZ.

The point is the techology is available for everyone to live well, not just a privileged few.

Can you imagine what you could do if didn't have to work in some godawful job for the Man?

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 433811

What could you do? living a life span of average 90 years, by the time you're 20 you know the entire world, you've been in more parties that you can remember, sex already disgusts you from having it so much, then what?

You people really think than having all you want in the world without having done nothing to deserve it amounts to real happiness? Are you that ignorant of the truths of life and human nature?

Without struggle humanity would degenerate in 2 generations, or the machines would take over, absorb us and we'd be only a digitalized memory.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Jesus, you have such a limited view of yourself.

Really.

I'm almost 60 and I know for a fact I don't "know the entire world."

I was an idiot at 20, but at least back then I knew it.

Between then and now I've pursued a multitude of careers acquiring practical skills along the way.

Now I plan to devote the rest of my life to Art -I'm a painter and jeweller and sculptor-which is easily enough to keep me occupied for the next 100 years or so.

Not to mention all the local projects I'm involved in.

I use machines (such as this wonderful medium, the internet)and not vice versa.

Now there's an example right there.

I come from quite an "impoverished" working class background.

I didn't see TV till I was in my early teens.We didn't even have an internal flush toilet.Etc.

But I love this modern techology because, for example, I can talk to people all over the world, like right now.

And guess what?

It's free at my local library.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 742532

You're a great example to prove my point. You're an individual who was faced with adversity, you rose above it thus becoming more noble in the process. That integrity you attained gave you the means to get into a career which you did most certainly motivated by the prospect of improving yourself, and now after a life of struggle to attain your objectives you are a happy individual who has something to offer to the rest of society.

NONE of that would have happened if since the moment you were born you'd have been given all without doing anything to deserve it.

Btw I am not against technology, at all. I am against creating a technocratic socialistic society because I know the quality of individuals that would create would lead into degeneration and further absorbtion of humanity by the digital realm.

Corvus

User ID: 7064141

 Turkey

12/13/2011 07:03 PM

You may believe in your Utopian high-tech world but your dreams wont be able to stop the reality.Current industrial society is unnatural and harmful.Therefore it is destined to fall.The concept of the "Progress" is a scam. Many civilizations reigned on this earth but every one of them perished. Nowadays industrial society is in global scale and it is more complex therefore its more fragile. It depends on fossil fuels which currently we are running out. Nothing goes forever folks. Embrace the reality.

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 7006972

 Brazil

12/13/2011 07:04 PM

You're a great example to prove my point. You're an individual who was faced with adversity, you rose above it thus becoming more noble in the process. That integrity you attained gave you the means to get into a career which you did most certainly motivated by the prospect of improving yourself, and now after a life of struggle to attain your objectives you are a happy individual who has something to offer to the rest of society.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

The point is we could all have it, without the struggle.

All doing "greater works" than him!

That's all "they" want from us. According to that lying book.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 07:08 PM

You may believe in your Utopian high-tech world but your dreams won't be able to stop the reality. Current industrial society is unnatural and harmful. Therefore it is destined to fall. The concept of the "Progress" is a scam. Many civilizations reigned on this earth but every one of them perished. Nowadays industrial society is in global scale and it is more complex therefore its more fragile. It depends on fossil fuels which currently we are running out. Nothing goes forever folks. Embrace the reality.

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

Human evolution is the consequence of constant struggle, you take struggle out of the equation and humanity would quickly degenerate. This has happened before and has been the ruin of civilizations. People who fail to look at the past are bound to repeat their mistakes. People who refuse to look at reality and instead wish to dwell upon fantasy and wishful thinking should be shunned and not allowed to push the world down the precipice of failure only to satisfy their twisted egocentric fantasies.

Up to now, a free trade, non government regulated, capitalism within a constitutional framework and rule of law has been the system proven to work best within the current limitations of human nature. When humans as a whole step up a notch their collective consciousness and moral paradigm, then we can start talking about taking limitations off. So far there's nothing at all that leads me to believe this is happening, and no, channeled books by aliens are not acceptable as evidence.

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 7006972

Brazil

12/13/2011 07:09 PM

"You must realize that fanatics always deal with grandiose ideals, while at the same time they believe in man's sinful nature, and the individual's lack of power.

They cannot trust the expression of the self, for they are convinced of its duplicity. Their ideals then seem even more remote. Fanatics call others to social action. Since they do not believe that the individual is ever effective, their groups are not assemblies of private individuals come reasonably together, pooling individual resources. They are instead congregations of people who are afraid to assert their individuality, who hope to find it in the group, or hope to establish a joint individuality, and that is an impossibility (emphatically).

True individuals can do much through social action, and the species is a social one, but people who are afraid of their individuality will never find it in a group, but only a caricature of their own powerlessness."

Seth/Jane Roberts

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

Spain

12/13/2011 07:09 PM

You may believe in your Utopian high-tech world but your dreams wont be able to stop the reality.Current industrial society is unnatural and harmful.Therefore it is destined to fall.The concept of the "Progress" is a scam.Many civilizations reigned on this earth but every one of them perished.Nowadays industrial society is in global scale and it is more complex therefore its more fragile.It depends on fossil fuels which currently we are running out.Nothing goes forever folks.Embrace the reality.

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

Human evolution is the consequence of constant struggle, you take struggle out of the equation and humanity would quickly degenerate. This has happened before and has been the ruin of civilizations. People who fail to look at the past are bound to repeat their mistakes. People who refuse to look at reality and instead wish to dwell upon fantasy and wishful thinking should be shunned and not allowed to push the world down the precipice of failure only to satisfy their twisted egocentric fantasies.

Up to now, a free trade, non government regulated, capitalism within a constitutional framework and rule of law has been the system proven to work best within the current limitations of human nature. When humans as a whole step up a notch their collective consciousness and moral paradigm, then we can start talking about taking limitations off. So far there's nothing at all that leads me to believe this is happening, and no, channeled books by aliens are not acceptable as evidence.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

read my signature for the truth (coincidentally on topic)

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 07:11 PM

"He who would live in a garden must labour in the sun and subdue the soil. He who is content to live in the wilderness may sleep in the shade but he is a slave of life."

Corvus

User ID: 7064141

 Turkey

12/13/2011 07:18 PM

Human evolution is the consequence of constant struggle, you take struggle out of the equation and humanity would quickly degenerate. This has happened before and has been the ruin of civilizations. People who fail to look at the past are bound to repeat their mistakes. People who refuse to look at reality and instead wish to dwell upon fantasy and wishful thinking should be shunned and not allowed to push the world down the precipice of failure only to satisfy their twisted egocentric fantasies.

Up to now, a free trade, non government regulated, capitalism within a constitutional framework and rule of law has been the system proven to work best within the current limitations of human nature. When humans as a whole step up a notch their collective consciousness and moral paradigm, then we can start talking about taking limitations off. [

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Free trade has worked throughout centuries and i support free trade too.Also if you create one stuff by your own who the f*ck is the government to interfere with your business?

So far there's nothing at all that leads me to believe this is happening, and no, channeled books by aliens are not acceptable as evidence.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Jajajajaja!! agree bro.

Manu-Koelbren

User ID: 6793923

 Spain

12/13/2011 07:25 PM

Report Abusive Post

Report Copyright Violation

Re: Why cannot earth folks envision a world without MONEY!

Human evolution is the consequence of constant struggle, you take struggle out of the equation and humanity would quickly degenerate. This has happened before and has been the ruin of civilizations. People who fail to look at the past are bound to repeat their mistakes. People who refuse to look at reality and instead wish to dwell upon fantasy and wishful thinking should be shunned and not allowed to push the world down the precipice of failure only to satisfy their twisted egocentric fantasies.

Up to now, a free trade, non government regulated, capitalism within a constitutional framework and rule of law has been the system proven to work best within the current limitations of human nature. When humans as a whole step up a notch their collective consciousness and moral paradigm, then we can start talking about taking limitations off. [

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Free trade has worked throughout centuries and i support free trade too.Also if you create one stuff by your own who the f*ck is the government to interfere with your business?

So far there's nothing at all that leads me to believe this is happening, and no, channeled books by aliens are not acceptable as evidence.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Jajajajaja!! agree bro.

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

Likewise, nice meeting you and thanks for bringing intelligent and realistic arguments to the table.

Corvus
User ID: 7064141
 Turkey
12/13/2011 07:28 PM

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

read my signature for the truth (coincidentally on topic)

I do not agree men must subdue the soil. Do you know what ancient cultures thought? Men should marry with the land and live in harmony with her. Lack of the respect towards land and human narcissism nowadays is one of the causes of global degeneration in my opinion.

Anonymous Coward
User ID: 7006972
 Brazil
12/13/2011 07:29 PM

No one has answered why "freedom loving people" ban.
Corvus
User ID: 7064141
 Turkey
12/13/2011 07:30 PM

Likewise, nice meeting you and thanks for bringing intelligent and realistic arguments to the table.

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

Thanks, nice to meet you too and nice to see a reasonable and freethinking person on here.

Manu-Koelbren
User ID: 6793923
 Spain
12/13/2011 07:30 PM

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

read my signature for the truth (coincidentally on topic)

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

I do not agree men must subdue the soil. Do you know what ancient cultures thought? Men should marry with the land and live in harmony with her. Lack of the respect towards land and human narcissism nowadays is one of the causes of global degeneration in my opinion.

Subdue:

3- to bring (land) under cultivation

[\[link to www.merriam-webster.com\]](http://www.merriam-webster.com)

Thermodor

User ID: 2661377

 United States

12/13/2011 07:31 PM

I work at a cigar shop in Kodiak, Alaska. I only work here to help my friend keep a roof over his and his sons' heads and because the owner is a friend and a good guy and I don't mind helping out. I take only one day off and I deliberately work for low pay so he can spend more money on the shop to make it better. I have completely released myself from the chains of money I don't need it, it holds no value for me, I give everything to my roommate without question.

Friendship, honesty, loyalty are what I value in life, not paper and trinkets. I'm an artist by trade and anything I create I give away as a gift because I know I can create more, but I also know that not everyone has the skills that I do to survive on my own and many truly rely on the system and it makes me angry that our would-be rulers have done this to people and that most of people except it without question. I'm not much for religion but I am a spiritual person and I believe in true freedom and that even though many of you are still slaves, remember you have a choice and you can choose to free yourself even if I live in the slave system still, but I do so willingly because I know I'm free no matter what they tell me, I am who I am and they will never take that away from me. Chains can keep a person from leaving their master's home but chains can be used as a weapon to free yourself from your master.

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 1384099

 Australia

12/13/2011 07:35 PM

Corvus

User ID: 7064141

🇹🇷 Turkey

12/13/2011 07:39 PM

I am not against agrarian life. But what I am against is industrialization of production and centralization of power. Also I think high-technology weakens humans and leads to dependence upon more hierarchical societies. I like iron-age tribal lifestyle too and I think each era has its own beauties and disadvantages.

Beam Me The Fuck Up!

User ID: 7068913

🇦🇺 Australia

12/13/2011 07:39 PM

I know that I could survive without money, power & technology. Fuck it all off I say!

Too many spoiled cunts roaming the planet at the moment expecting everything for nothing & willing to do whatever it takes to fulfill their selfish self-centered needs.

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 3581832

🇺🇸 United States

12/13/2011 07:44 PM

Money, whether you think it good or bad, isn't real. It can't be found anywhere in the natural world. Unlike most man-made things its utility is only based upon belief that it has value unlike tangible products that have a definitive real-world value/utility. Money isn't really anything except what it is made of, fancy paper and ink, metals or digits on a computer. Gold and silver aren't money unless you believe they are otherwise they are just gold and silver.

What makes it what it is, is nothing more than religion per se. I don't love or hate it because I know it isn't real. It would be extremely difficult and even life-threatening to not use it at this point in time...so I use it. I'd rather live in a world without it or any form of measure as it does indeed become enslaving. I suppose humans may find enough virtue in themselves some day to know that it isn't necessary at all. Virtue and true freedom are inseparable IMO.

I think that when you dig down to its very roots you find that it could all be a fabrication born of fear. It does help make things fair when implemented correctly but as the OP inferred... We're humans and we should do better.

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 2955373

🇺🇸 United States

12/13/2011 07:54 PM

Was actually talking about this I think it was this morning in a sense.

The difference between capitalism and communism is where the dirty shit will be put.

They both just change the way you'll place the crap you don't want but still assign values to things.

People say capitalism and communism are so far apart they don't realize that there's socialism in capitalism.

We both agree that there's a set value to the currency and how that will be portioned out, that's a form of socialism it just puts a different face to it.

I'd still prefer the constitutional currency that the founders envisioned operated by congress FOR the people.

Instead we have precisely what the founders never wanted from the very beginning in this country.

The BANKERS to overtake our freedom through taxation and debt which is precisely where we are now and if you don't know what the Federal Reserve is do some wikipediaing and realize from 1932 onward.

We've been fucked.

Beam Me The Fuck Up!

User ID: 7068913

 Australia

12/13/2011 08:01 PM

I know that I could survive without money, power & technology. Fuck it all off I say!

Too many spoilt cunts roaming the planet at the moment expecting everything for nothing & willing to do whatever it takes to fulfill their selfish self centered needs.

Quoting: Beam Me The Fuck Up!

I dream for something major to go down where all of the worlds power grids are destroyed beyond repair, where all the worlds military powers are immobilized & rendered powerless.

Bring the shit on!

This place is fucked!

We need to start from scratch!

Anonymous Coward

User ID: 6990378

🇺🇸 United States
12/13/2011 08:03 PM

Quoting: Manu-Koelbren

read my signature for the truth (coincidentally on topic)

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

I do not agree men must subdue the soil. Do you know what ancient cultures thought? Men should marry with the land and live in harmony with her. Lack of the respect towards land and human narcissism nowadays is one of the causes of global degeneration in my opinion.

Anonymous Coward
User ID: 1306723
🇳🇱 Netherlands
12/13/2011 08:09 PM

Good thread op, very good.

Luckaly most people understand!

Some just can't leave money alone.. very rigid thinking. But that's their game

StubbyClaps

User ID: 1431588
🇨🇦 Canada
12/13/2011 08:12 PM

When i get home from work, covered in oil, grease, varsol, and coppercote, i get the feeling that working my ass off for a piece of paper really makes no sense. Once i save up enough money, I would like to try living off the grid.

Corvus
User ID: 7064141
🇹🇷 Turkey
12/13/2011 08:18 PM

I know that I could survive without money, power & technology. Fuck it all off I say!

Too many spoilt cunts roaming the planet at the moment expecting everything for nothing & willing to do whatever it takes to fulfill their selfish self centered needs.

Quoting: Beam Me The Fuck Up!

I dream for something major to go down where all of the worlds power grids are destroyed beyond repair, where all the worlds military powers are immobilized & rendered powerless.

Bring the shit on!

This place is fucked!

We need to start from scratch!

Quoting: Beam Me The Fuck Up!

A massive CME from Sun similar to 'Carrington Event' could bring down all power grids beyond repair. This is high possibility because solar activity is at its peak for a few years. Also there is Peak Oil that will cause the collapse of the system.

Dont worry bro if we are lucky we could witness the collapse of this system.

Beam Me The Fuck Up!

User ID: 7068913

 Australia

12/13/2011 08:22 PM

I know that I could survive without money, power & technology. Fuck it all off I say!

Too many spoilt cunts roaming the planet at the moment expecting everything for nothing & willing to do whatever it takes to fulfill their selfish self centered needs.

Quoting: Beam Me The Fuck Up!

I dream for something major to go down where all of the worlds power grids are destroyed beyond repair, where all the worlds military powers are immobilized & rendered powerless.

Bring the shit on!

This place is fucked!

We need to start from scratch!

Quoting: Beam Me The Fuck Up!

A massive CME from Sun similar to 'Carrington Event' could bring down all power grids beyond repair. This is high possibility because solar activity is at its peak for a few years. Also there is Peak

Oil that will cause the collapse of the system.

Dont worry bro if we are lucky we could witness the collapse of this system.

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

Yes, wouldn't that be a treat!

