Communism and Capitalism are just two sides of the same coin. Both of them are organized, industrial and authoritarian systems. Communism ruled by proleteriatic dictatorship which has some elites on top. In capitalist systems there are also same (i assume) elites that secretly manipulating both the markets and government. Both systems has security forces and massive indoctrination. Both systems mindlessly consume and pollute the earth. You are a slave in both of this systems and it does not matter where are you at the pyramid of hierarchy. You are still working under some power thus you are a slave

If you only want to overthrow the capitalism and create another 'system' you are not a true revolutionary. If you attack the core of the system which is hierarchical/organized civilization then you can be a true revolutionary.

Great thread and great core ideas.

We need to start with baby steps. Our current crop of people are too mass conditioned into the greed/money/acquisition paradigm to be able exist without some form of currency or other quantitative system of exchange.

Like-minded people need to start forming communities that demonstrate the advantages of resource-pooling, wise application of technology, reduced labor inputs and drastically reduced consumption/waste.

Basically people need to learn how to live in real communities again, not the cold, impersonal atomized industrial world most live in today. It will take several successive generations of more responsible lifestyles for people to learn how to once again get along with one another. The anti-social, ill-conditioned masses we're stuck with today won't simply "play nice" if left to their own devices.

THAT'S pretty hard to do, since we've all been programmed from an early age, to need money! :(

But basically I agree with you.....for we need to start somewhere! :)

A massive CME from Sun similar to 'Carrington Event' could bring down all power grids beyond repair. This is high possibility because solar activity is at its peak for a few years. Also there is Peak Oil that will cause the collapse of the system.

Dont worry bro if we are lucky we could witness the collapse of this system.

well man developed the wrong technology, not you folks fault really and thus man could pay seriously for it. Man was NOT to develop WIRES in a restless solar system like ours and he did get a warning back then. there were better ways offered. It was GREED that caused these to not be developed, Carrinton is nothing compared to the lake of fire that could happen from the gulf of mexico up thru the Mississippi area full of natural gas and oil lines. we are past "peak oil". we have gone to far with that one too. We are now going after the LIVING oil that is down deep and the reason they used corexit to sink the oil in the gulf was because that oil that came up, should not see sunlight, or rather they did not want it to see sunlight. It has a special purpose. The living oil IS coming up naturally from the existing earth changes, also made worse by the removal of so much oil and gas.

This planet is in a large pickle.

On my break I had to take, it was to read 114 pages of law suit around the financial mess this world is in. You ones have no true idea because the big shit doesn't hit the internet and I can't place it here either. there is no reason for starving people on this world due to money, lets put it that way.

There is so much wealth, in precious metals of a divine nature, not explaining that one now, higher frequency, plus all the religious and other artifacts of this work, plus all sorts of jewels, to redevelop this world with tons of this stuff left over and it cannot be released because the thugs are in constant war over it.

I keep posting the simple information over and over that the Federal Reserve is the GLOBAL Central bank of the Central banks and that China got it, plus other wealth they basically stole. There is a big war now behind the scenes over many assets and technology and little libya was the most recent scene of carnage and right now It's syria.

Money, whether you think it good or bad, isn't real. it can't be found anywhere in the natural world. Unlike most man made things it's utility is only based upon belief that it has value unlike tangible products that have a definitive real world value/utility. Money isn't really anything except what it is made of, fancy paper and ink, metals or digits on a computer. Gold and silver aren't money unless you believe they are otherwise they are just gold and silver.

What makes it what it is, is nothing more than religion per se. I don't love or hate it because I know it isn't real. It would be extremely difficult and even life threatening to not use it at this point in time...so I use it. I'd rather live in a world without it or any form of measure as it does indeed become enslaving. I suppose humans may find enough virtue in themselves some day to know that it isn't necessary at all. Virtue and true freedom are inseperable IMO.

I think that when you dig down to it's very roots you find that it could all be a fabrication born of fear. It does help make things fair when implemented correctly but as the OP inferred... We're humans and we should do better.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 3581832

You're so right that virtue and true freedom must go hand in hand. I do believe it is possible, though. On another board that I can't name here, I had a thread about Native American spirituality and how it's usurped by white people. A N.A. posted on that thread saying that his people believed in kindness and would thus always try to be kind to others and not judge. If we could all develop that trait, freedom would be much closer at hand.

well its not so much it should not see sunlight, it is that the dark do not want it to see sunlight, it contains life codes to regenerate life on this planet, and is normally released during heavy earth changes during major axis shifts and the like. It is responsive to the gamma rays coming in from the Center of the Milky Way for 5 years now. It will regenerate a high energy type life on this planet. Thus there was the big effort to keep this new oil on the Gulf of Mexico floor during the big GOM oil leak thing presented the american public.

That's also what I was getting at in terms of building new communities based on new values and aspirations.

Again, this sort of this has to evolve in a series of steps. It could start out with some as simple as a consumer and housing cooperative in an urban area...an effort to create an economy-within-an-economy that's managed much better than the socially-atomized "go-it-alone" way of life.

I totally agree. My ideal society would be a low-tech hunter-gatherer-organic-farming type of tribe where everyone works for the common good plus contributes to the tribe according to his talents. Children would be schooled and taken care of within the tribe, same with the elderly and infirm. Money wouldn't be necessary since the tribe would produce everything itself it would need to survive. Everyone would be encouraged to pull their own weight, and serious troublemakers would be dealt with by exiling them if they can't be turned around.

born of greed.

Greedy people needing more and more. Willing to do whatever it take to whomever it takes to get more and more.

A few years ago Oprah did a segment on women in different cultures. (oprah disgusts me by the way) She got to Denmark and 2 women showed their apartments that were nice but didn't have such opulence and size that Oprah was used to. The women told her that people there are paid about the same wage whatever they do.

Oprah's mouth just dropped. I thought it was going to drop to the floor and she about fell off her chair. Never saw her stumble over words like that either. She could never be in a world that she couldn't fight to have more shit, bigger shit, better shit, power over more, and esteemed for having so much shit. Her money is shit. It makes people like this ugly. They bask in the glory of having the freedom because they have so much more money to do things and buy things. Their accruement of money somehow transcends them and makes them much better in everyone's eyes. Then when they donate some money to charities everyone esteems them as saints???

greed born of fear of not having enough shit and wanting more and more shit than anyone else has. These people think that they who have the most shit is the best winner.

The warped money game to ecrue shit makes them losers.

Nope every thing on this world is jointly created. It is impossible to get the people of this planet to grow and change. You allowed money to enslave you when you took your first job. The churches could have had the power to do this, but they have not. They are so controlled. But I do agree most people did not know, but creative people CAN SEE the EFFECTS OF BILLIONS on this planet.

I bitched up a storm about all of this growing up my family and in school. TO NO AVAIL. People did not care or did not want to look, and then there is Christianity which promised the rapture and dear Jesus come and save us from ourselves. This world is full of GOOD PEOPLE WHO DID NOTHING IN ENOUGH NUMBERS to accomplish anything. I used to argue hours with Buddha on this one and I lost every time years ago. Enough people did know enough and they did nothing. After about 1980 it was pretty much too late.

In this country KENT STATE killed off the college protests that even I was part of in those now olden days. I argued and argued that, those of us that came, and why did everyone just start new age natural tea and grocery stores and buy SUV's, settled into life and had babies. If you are old enough to remember those days, please do, or any body else here.

There will be age long discussions about how millions of star seeds in the US of A alone got STUCK and were either unable to wake up, or were to afraid to step forward. I think simply NOT ENOUGH effort to support us myself. Those of you in my age range reading here ponder it. Just for the learning.

Dear God, please get me out of here NOW! The oil she is talking about is Abiotic oil, which is a renewable energy source because this oil can and does renew itself. The Russians were the first to ever drill and hit abiotic oil somewhere between 45 and 50,000 ft. they did that on land though and they were able to cap it off. it's too dangerous to handle. But abiotic oil is a living and renewable resource. Lesley Williams talked about this very same oil during the Gulf oil spill and that's what was coming up and that's why they used so much corexit. He wasn't lying, he was telling the truth.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 952924

Abiotic oil has not been proven true. Even if it's real it's in too deep therefore there would be not enough energy gain due to wasted energy during extraction process.

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

oh baby it's coming up just fine on its own plus man's efforts. It is not what you have been told it is. It is not to come up from the very deep until axis shifts and the like though. I think I posted on this to you a bit ago or another. This is the oil that regenerates a planet during a big cleanse.

This is the work of the banks, corporations, and governments and I will NOT take responsibility for their destruction of the planet, banking system, laws, people, animals, environment, etc. We, the people, had absolutely nothing to do with the problems of this world other than our minds were subject to insidious programming. This is NOT our fault. We were deceived! THAT is the problem. Can I ask how careful YOU HAVE BEEN IN YOUR CONSUMPTION though of the things of this planet. What kind of autos did you buy and id you change them in every time they got a bit out of date. Did you purchase more car/motor than you need? Are you careful with your water use, and product use? Do you require a new wardrobe every season? All these thing people could have considered. Not a cure but a start. Some of the planetary ills regards pollution is due to simple overpopulation mixed with shit technology.

Did you TEACH your family and those around you about any of this. I did, and many of mine didn't want to listen and to that I have no solution.

Oops, just saw this part. I'm in Sales & Marketing with a family operated business, great group of people but the job itself is not satisfying. The flip side of that is I'm incredibly grateful for my job & that I have a job. It has allowed me as a single person to pay all my bills including a mortgage plus be there to help friends/family when they have experienced difficult times. Not sure if that counts as charity but it certainly is gratifying. Fully worthy, probably not because I'm not 'touched' inside by it, if that makes sense. On another thread I read the word 'Cosmology', it was the first time I've read of something that I would want to be - a Cosmologist. That would be worth throwing myself

Indeed, but that is not the answer either, for great disease, fear, killing and all the rest would result. there would be few survivors of it. We are now going after the LIVING oil that is down deep and the reason they used corexit to sink the oil in the gulf was because that oil that came up, should not see sunlight, or rather they did not want it to see sunlight. It has a special purpose. The living oil IS coming up naturally from the existing earth changes, also made worse by the removal of so much oil and gas.

Quoting: Nobody in Particular

Could you elaborate? What do you mean by "that oil that came up should not see sunlight"?

Quoting: sylvie

well its not so much it should not see sunlight, it is that the dark do not want it to see sunlight, it contains life codes to regenerate life on this planet, and is normally released during heavy earth changes during major axis shifts and the like. It is responsive to the gamma rays coming in from the Center of the Milky Way for 5 years now. It will regenerate a high energy type life on this planet. Thus there was the big effort to keep this new oil on the Gulf of Mexico floor during the big GOM oil leak thing presented the american public.

I will make one quote here: Are extraterrestrial factors involved, and if so, what?

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 1087173

Yes. However, although the organism itself is primordial to our existence its been programmed to lay and wait(hibernate) and to AWAKE at a certain time of our solar time and position by an extraterrestrial presence/race soon before their return. We unfortunately do not know how near "soon" is. "Soon" could be anything from moths to years. In simplistic terms we speculate the organism is preparing the oceans, climate and geological setup of the earth to become more "visitor" friendly for the returning masters who programmed and created/breaded this organism in the first place. Some have used the term "terra forming". That term fits in with our speculation and understanding of what is happening with our planet.

True! It is happening NOW, even if we want it or not. The day without money will come soon. It's not going to be an easy transition... Remember native americans, living in harmony with nature... tell me, what was their currency? :D They had NONE. What happened with native americans? Where did they go? Oh, they were killed? For gold? For lands? Now you have a house, tomorrow you will need a car, then you need gas, then you dream for a holiday house, then... a trip... maybe you want to gamble at the casino or trade goods on the 'free market'. How? Buy here and sell there for a profit? Cool! You're going to stay on a hill of money. Great! You will pay taxes, lots of taxes to feed politicians and the system. More money you have, more troubles. All this time, somewhere in this world, a child is dying because of starving. Nobody cares, we have computers and satellites, we can do anything we want, even start a war because someone does not 'fit' with our interests. All is bull shit! ALL! We need to change from inside, as I said before, we need to learn to give, we need to learn to smile and to help people in needs. Some of you said that nobody wants to work for free. It's not true. People will still work. What about free software? Do you use free or open source software? I do and I must tell you I love these guys even I don't know them. I'm using Blender and I thank those guys EVERY DAY. One day I will return something in exchange. I will never forget that all those guys are PIONEERS. Geothermal (the heat in earth's core) is residual, not renewable. If the earth cools too much we lose the magnetic protection from solar radiation. Other experts say that tapping that energy may cool the earth faster than natural cooling.

Because people are lazy and rely on the government (municipalities, etc.) to take care of everything; they think "I don't have anything to do with this, it's not my park, so why clean up my crap?" (At least some; most people I know do take their garbage with them.)

If there was no government and everyone would have to fend for themselves (even though in groups), things would be a little different, I think.

But yes, I agree that people would have to change before this "Utopian" society could happen. That's why I think we need a total economic collapse and possibly some major earth changes, basically for the slate to be wiped clean. Traditionally, in hard times people stick together much more and take care of each other.

Money, as particle, is nothing else than a placeholder, a reminder of attention.

It is not an entity. It is not a ghost. It has no will. It is the expression of attention in relation of spending it and consuming it ruled by an abstract, intelligent design.

Anything can be money, as long it qualifies to store attention for to deal with.

To work is to pay attention in a well frighten quality. Your efforts will be reminded. Four scratches in a bow.

To deal with stored attention is a progress on our run through time and space.

The former, patriarchy style of government by ruling attention alone with the sword is waiting and nothing else, when the orientation to the competition with money gets lost.

No money. Humanity is accustomed to an extend large period of having none. Remember. Do you need matches.

those on a different sphere, well, most haven't had a clue in my opinion. Which is why you and I are having this little life so they can get a clue and bring that clue to them.

The idea of little support has long been my bone to pick as well. It becomes a complex debate about rights and choice. This is what I see the 'problem' debate boil down to - rights and choice. lol, don't get me started on that!! (it's difficult for me to put it in words anyway.) I haven't read much of your comments on glp, but I am completely in agreement with you on this one!

You and I need to do some tag-team discussions on the other level and give those dudes an edjamacation. Some of them are completely out of touch.

No money. Humanity is accustomed to an extend large period of having none. Remember. Do you need matches.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7110128

Going back to the option you state of the sword vs money is another limited option. Then they liked to use monarchy to control the people's power and possession and religion to control it.

It's not just the idea that people are accustomed to periods of not having money, it's about what happens to the human psyche and experience when they don't have and yet they need, which needs are not met. Also, the perceived needs setting up addictions to greed for things they really don't even need. It's like a virus. The imbalance possession and aquring greed puts the imbalance into play even more, whether that possession is gained through actual money or some other system of control used of old.

These human traits have been prevalent in our culture for a very long time, with or without the use of money; but the capitalistic eccrument of money and possessions/ownership and luxury has made it disasterous and given it a different twist. The idea of freedom to eccrue has left society not free at all, but in bondage. You will not get many North Americans agreeing to this thread however, they love their capitalistic greed toward attaining anything and everything whether they actually need it or not, and any thought that might push it out of place borders on (gasp) the threat of fear of communism. (just re-read the sad American opinions on threads during the Obama health care debates... wow, it brought the greed out and you soon knew the exact minds and souls of the posters very clearly.)

I know that I could survive without money, power & technology. Fuck it all off I say!

Too many spoilt cunts roaming the planet at the moment expecting everything for nothing & willing to do whatever it takes to fulfill their selfish self centered needs.

Quoting: Beam Me The Fuck Up!

I dream for something major to go down where all of the worlds power grids are destroyed beyond repair, where all the worlds military powers are immobilized & rendered powerless.

Bring the shit on!

This place is fucked!

We need to start from scratch!

Quoting: Beam Me The Fuck Up!

Indeed, but that is not the answer either, for great disease, fear, killing and all the rest would result. there would be few survivors of it. To take away the power needed at this time would be horribly destructive and would result if nothing else caused in the evacuation of the planet. We are to develop quality technology that is the goal of ascendant civilizations. Man is not intended to stay a hunter gatherer.

Quoting: Nobody in Particular

You speak nonsense. There are no ascendant civilizations. Get Real. What is your proof to back up your claims? Some new age mumbo jumbo bullcrap written by a nutjob? If you want technology to improve so bad then you are a weak human with no self-confidence. Because of their weakness, people like you always crave for more organized forms of society and more technology. Weak, coward, non selfconfident and oversocialized persons are always tools for the power freak elites for their agendas.

High tech has many purposes such as; increasing dependance upon system, increasing the number of the human cattle, improving the surveillance systems, improving military weapons to control the human cattle etc. It is merely a tool for DOMESTICATION and SLAVERY.

Our distant ancestors lived without high-tech tools and they were thousands times more free than us. They made their own tools for survival thus they were more smart and practical. They lived totally independent of technology. For example if electrical grid collapse then you will most likely die due to domestication. But your ancestors managed to live in most harsh conditions. You are weak if you depend upon system. This is the cold hard fact.

Quoting: Corvus 7108417

Though I would have said it a little nicer, I would basically agree with you. I think it would be much better to live in a low-tech world than in a high-tech world, no matter how "free" it's supposed to be.

Human nature needs to drastically change before there can be fair sharing of labor and resources. Until that happen, capitalism using a currency has the best method of incentivizing all to cooperate

Quoting: Real list

I agree that human nature would have to drastically change, which is why a moneyless system would not work in this society. Socialist types of governments end up with serious abuse from the abuser types of humans and an economy just can't balance its books with that much abuse to a system. You can see massive abuse from rich and poor in most of the socialistic types of governments.

However, I don't see how you prove capitalism to be the best method to give incentive. Lack of regulation in a Capitalistic country is causing such division between the haves and the have nots, replace capitalism with the word medieval monarchy and the similarities become astounding. This type of capitalistic venture has never made for a good culture no matter what the label and it still hasn't.

Problem is that no matter what the label of the government people often default to abuse a system for selfish greed and gain without thinking of how their actions and choices affect the rest of the world and therefore inevitably their own experience. Abuse of every system is seen in the rich and the poor and all points in between.

That's why the system is as it is in the planet, people need to experience cause and effect through pain of their actions before they can ever rise to a level where they understand how to live without a monetary system.

Quoting: Crankgorilla

read the thread, plenty of ideas in it. EVERYONE WORKS. IF THIS WORLD WERE OFF MONEY, people still will have jobs and careers. Grow your mind. it is you who does not look so good in this thread. The keyboard I would type on would still be made by someone. Money is not necessary to the process of creating what man needs. It is totally FAKE and retards growth.

My keyboard was probably made by someone under paid in a foreign country. I don't know where apple has their manufacturing done. living without money does NOT stop manufacturing. In fact it will begat a desire to produce much better goods that will last well. even in heaven there is manufacturing, in fact the world of heaven themselves are manufactured, and no money exchanges hands in the process.

We would in fact develop toilets that do not need cleaning. How about that? We will get rid of streets and go to hover craft and rail for mass transport. We will manufacture cars you can only dream off that would last hundreds of years. We would go into space and explore. We would because we would word fewer hours, have lots of wonder things to engage in that excite the spirit. There will be professional "barter" teams that will handle the distribution of goods, from their manufacture to delivery. You will just go into the store and walk out with your foods and other needs. People will still manufacture clothing and the like. And ART will take off like crazy, and no more cheap chinese junk art will grace your homes.

BIG NEWS: You will work and play and enjoy life your entire life eternal. Unless you are on a world like this one. this IS your hell, did you know that?

Dear God, please get me out of here NOW! The oil she is talking about is Abiotic oil, which is a renewable energy source because this oil can and does renew itself. The Russians were the first to ever drill and hit abiotic oil somewhere between 45 and 50,000 ft. they did that on land though and they were able to cap it off. it's too dangerous to handle. But abiotic oil is a living and renewable resource. Lesley Williams talked about this very same oil during the Gulf oil spill and that's what was coming up and that's why they used so much corexit. He wasn't lying, he was telling the truth.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 952924

Abiotic oil has not been proven true. Even if its real its in too deep therefore there would be not enough energy gain due to wasted energy during extraction process.

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

oh it is coming up by nature.....it has purpose, it is not "abiotic", bad word for it. It is living and will play a huge role in regenerating the planet during the earth changes as it contacts the sunlight and gamma rays coming in.

How many people actually handle cash anymore? Very seldom. Direct deposit, credit cards, banking is all done electronically, what actually exchanges hands? Nothing... Just the numbers on your screen. Is this conditioning us for it to be removed? I for one hope so, cause I work hard and the numbers don't always stay positive anymore, haven't seen anyone notice, or care... What if the market crashed tomorrow, would anyone actually lose anything? Nope, just numbers on their screen, is that money? Nope, just numbers on a screen. Of course, people still won't be happy because their numbers dropped. People really need to open the box, get out, and start thinking with their mind and soul. What is really important in life? What do you really enjoy, when you are doing it? My favorite is camping with my family, away from all the numbers, the internet, the tv. Just nature and family. If anyone can argue that one, I dare you to try it...

The competition who is having the best solution, in each moment of our life, is a must. Free competition thereby means, the ideas to come to that solution are not deliberately restricted.

If you go and tell with enforcement to people which idea or solution is getting performed, you break in their attention to draw it on your belongings or ideas.

This can be done by money and by sword. The difference makes different societies. History shows a drain. From the arguing with sword to the attention, ruled by money. To do it with religious ideas and beliefs, this system is operable or was also. Same thing: the competition for the best solution is forced.

To handle a society and its ranking behavior, the use of money has won again the others systems. And, at least in upcoming phase, brought large prosperity and carefreeness that was never before.

Although money is an attention regulator, it isn't set in present times as such a tool correctly. Mainly because of a philosophical misunderstanding. The blend of money as a thing derived from a pirate understanding of prey. As a numerable thing, it suffers even more deleterious blemishes.

Understanding of have and have not doesn't match the setting, that money is a representative of attention people has payed or is willing to pay for. The mistakes are not by accident.

We still live in patriarchy. To force attention in the meaning to have it for sure independently of your personal values and ideas is still a very popular idea among common and elitist people.

But this is a fault of resolving and the truth out of doesn't surpass owners of money. If all spend their attention only for money aim seems to be arrived. No one spend attention in the origin way to resolve real problems.

From the wrong you will never have enough. The competition who is having the most isn't more sane neither. But once launched, you have no chance to be more or less greedy if wanting attention for your personnel needs or resolving ideas.

Money you can posses in the meaning to show. The best idea how to resolve your next problem you cannot not posses in the same way unless your ideas or resolving illuminations are not already fixed to search only within that system.

The patriarchy misleading understanding of to be wealthy in the meaning to have demand to limitless attention is a caricature of the original to get attention for the best solution.

It begins with Adam and Eve. Blueprint for private business model. It performs best if controversial idea of man and woman is selling and men are running into war for that prey thing they can store and claim attention for the peace that is assured along the gathered amount thereafter.

Not the deal with attention is the problem. The patriarchy structure of society is the offer.

My question is what do you know about these "ships"

Thread: Bizarre lawsuit claims for \$1 Trillion, against the Vatican Illuminati, the Masons, the U.S. Federal Reserve. and others \(Page 12\)

I placed commentary thru out them because I happen to KNOW what its' about. Any of you who may have followed the WB OITC material on my site, know something of it too, or perhaps you followed also the stuff of some time ago now on RMNs.

Me and Rayelan got a STFU notice from Keenan in fact for publishing material, and a promise to be included in the above lawsuit if we did NOT STFU. This is not about money for humanitarian projects, never was, and the lawsuit is about Keenan suing for his lost profits around a serious error he made for whoever he was carrying the bonds for by entrusting them to a person listed Daniele Dan Basco, (I don't think I have that name correct), whose purpose WAS to intercept the bonds. This was covered in the news some time ago, when Italy made the arrest.

The OITC's purpose was oversight of the Foundation Divine, amongst other realities. You can read something of that here: [\[link to abundanthope.net\]](http://link.to.abundanthope.net) You will see St. Germain's Trust in the chart there.

There are of course thugs that wanted that wealth and wanted the destruction of the OITC which pretty much did happen, but the Foundation Divine trusts are NOT in their hands. Some of the Foundation Divine Wealth was stored under one of the 911 towers, you all saw stories on that and taken of course on purpose, it was recovered and I am allowed to say, its in safekeeping underground in Colorado.

The recent war on Libya and the murder of Gaddafi was around attempting to get control of Foundation Divine Wealth he was guardian of. The Man was a CHRIST on duty to this world, and had often disappeared to craft during tough times for advice.

well I checked the video, how strange there were all little ships as markers for the blue blobs. Thing, is unless I misunderstood, google sky is not live, so I don't know how old the images are. Interesting and I assume the blue glowing things are craft. Why all clustered to that area I don't know. If the image is recent could be evacuation craft I suppose. No they would not be several light years cross, I don't think a 2d image is accurate enough distance wise to consider that. The largest ones I know of are bigger anyway way than the ones that were about the diameter of earth in length parked out by saturn a number of years ago. heres the link to those published in Nexus magazine.

Frontier American society experienced much of the concept of barter and helping one another and it had its beginning within the church, without bringing religion in let us call it a fellowship.

At the very least, you met on Sunday with like-minded individuals and if Joe lost his barn to a fire for example and compounding the problem, he was short of cash then his fellowship of friends would raise a new barn.

Joe did not need government meddling or funds and he did receive a new barn once he gets back on his feet Joe will not only participate in the next house or barn raising he will also contribute supplies.

This worked in so many circumstances that enriched everyone's lives, which does not work as well today because so many people have their hands out and will not give back.

Bartering is fine however it would not work as well as many do not have skills of any time and are without ties such as the church used in my example to help them learn.

Ahh more utopian, hippy-dippy BS.

"Why cannot earth folks envision a world without MONEY!"

Because - what you're talking about is called COMMUNISM, and it murdered approximately 75 million people in the 20th century. So yea, we can have a world w/o money as long as we have worldwide communism.

You hippies really need to lay off the weedz.

No, communist countries have a concept of money. The issue there is the "redistribution of wealth" in the name of some ideal.

"Money" = medium of exchange that facilitates the trade of goods and services.

So a world without "Money" = no facilitated trade of goods and services = half a cow for a "tare" of wheat.

Fuckin' hell.

This is not what I am talking about. I am talking about a mature organised socially mature society and exactly no societies are largely socially mature on this world at this time. Actually our overpopulation of this world is going to greatly reduce our ability to have functioning infrastructure globally for every one, even in money was not an issue. We developed all the wrong shit to start with. Despite being gifted by many who visited this world. I can envision it - A WORLD WITHOUT MONEY!!!

Just like - A WORLD WITHOUT PRIVATE PROPERTY!!!

Or, - A WORLD WITHOUT SUCH AND SUCH NATURAL RIGHT!!!

It's not hard to envision: a revolutionary army on the streets with machine guns and, perhaps, smart looking berets decorated with revolutionary ornaments; an all powerful Central Committee for the Defense of the People Against Money; a network of re-education centers for "resistors"...

We've seen it all before. Convince the sheeple that all our problems stem from a basic facet of human nature. Then, in the process of "correcting" that natural defect...enslave them!

Why cannot earth folks envision a world without MONEY!

And if we envision then what? It's not enough to envision, it has to be implemented, and that's the problem. The most difficult thing in this world is to convince people about something. To convince the entire mankind it's a huge task, to say the least. Add the thugs who for millennia are watching every move we make and you get closer to the reality. A shift in our consciousness is the answer. Theorizing and finding logical answers won't do it. Besides the fact that this discussion will stay 'locally' with no impact on the large masses.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 1601759

yes, but you have to envision BEFORE it can be implemented. WEll done post!

After Stasis, as the leader of AH and with the regional directors involved, and the overseeing of the higher partners of AH (CM, Esu et al), I intend to take this world into social responsibility so this becomes possible. The dumbed down will not be able to handle the energies after stasis and will have been moved to planets consistent with where they are at so we start with the returning folks who are a bit more ahead.

That will take support of the general populace who must have enough education and ability to think to participate, the so call shift in consciousness. It does not shift by magic wands however.

I continue to be appalled by the numbers of churches in my own country who have exactly no GOD POWER and do not see the social issues and gather together to bring change.

What a bullshit. There maybe shitload of energy around us but you also must use energy to harness energy from natural sources. Oil is concentrated type energy which we can gain energy more than we use. This depends on reserves of course if you try to suck oil deeper you waste more energy even there would not be a energy gain. Geothermal energy however is a flowing energy source. It cannot give 'enough' energy besides keeping run its power plant. Therefore like other alternative energies it is mostly inefficent. World oil reserves are diminishing and when we run out of oil enough where it can no longer support the global energy demand technological society will collapse. This is a fact. Please search this stuff a bit more.

Quoting: Corvus 7064141

It looks like you now shit.

Whats the point of building power plant that gives no energy

All alternative sources gives off more energy then they required to start. Some better some worse depending on location.

Oil is the best because it requires none to start and look how much we wasted it driving around cars instead of using it to build sustainable economy.

Also if it weren't for planned obsolescence and wasteful system we would not need to have such a high energy requirements in the first place.

Quoting: Shogu666

Oil does NOT given our energy, if you are refering to electricity. It is only fuel to turn generators take the electrons out of the medium, as is steam from nuclear and other methods. Magnets WILL. Also of course solar and wind to channel the electricity, which require no fuels. Geothermal is something that can be used, is in a few places, but dependant of course on the planetary movements which can destroy it. Perhaps during some of the long years of getting this planet balanced it will find temporary to permanent usage well I still didn't get your point, unless you are referring to a cashless society based on digital credits and debits, based on people being "chipped", so they cannot buy or see for lack of currency. That is NOT what I am talking about. A true money free society of socially mature individuals, do not need digital credits either. you already have that "chip" by the way, if you have a social security number.

I am browsing thru unread posts tonight.

I THINK I want to start another topic tomorrow, and its going to be population control. Please though do not include that in this thread.

In a short method of summary, it requires an alert socially responsible educated people to create a money free society. I would ask each of you to PRETEND we ARE already there. Forget the social issues in this, just keep it on money. In a money free society there are no poor. Everyone has "enough" so obviously there are not social issues related to poverty at least.

Pretend YOU ARE HERE NOW, this is the way we are already as above. Now look at your own life and circles and see how things are getting done.

You go to work still. Just a lot less of it. Instead of banking there are national and world trusts that see to trade and needed production and where the needed production should be. Some countries may or large localities will specialize in some facet of production. It would seem I think the asians (now where id my mac get manufactured????), are now into this for whatever reasons. Lets just let that continue.

YOU may be a carpenter. (My son is, that is why I am borrowing that). You will still build houses, do remodels, perhaps hand craft furniture. In my own life, I have been a nurse, I had a remodeling business, only woman in denver in fact that did who was not part of a husband wife team. I could have still done that. I have been in real estate, sold tupperware, sold cosmetics, waitressing, Mother of the year for the MS Society locally, ran teaching and conseling stuff on a volunteer basis. In my early college, I typed research papers and did babysitting for professors.

I have tutored Math, both privately and as a volunteer. God I can't even remember all the stuff I have done to earn money. lets see, also worked in sales for sears and they wanted to groom me to move up. I was for a time a "ward clerk" in a hospital, meaning the floor secretary. you in hospitals know what that is. Oh and yes accounting and tax preparation. And a flea market business where I dealt in both outdoor and indoor markets. I dealt in about anything I could get cheap and resell. I specialized in particular in tools, having knowledge of them from the remodeling business. Also arts and crafts, jewelry, antique glass ware. Oh which leads to the arts and crafts business, which was decidedly closer to hobby than business n what it made me. but it occupied some of my disabled years. Actually the flea market business came after the disability determination too, had flexibility around this sad body.

By far the more rewarding "work" I have done, has been the "volunteer" work. Because I don't earn money doing it. Totally a gifting, which of course is my "business" now, of AH. I am not happy pondering my belly button in my life's ambitions. I also have been long periods of time in school. Education is another topic for a thread to consider, because it sure sucks on this world.

Now each of you, please consider this little homework assignment, look over everything you have done to EARN MONEY. Also list your volunteer work and compare satisfaction in it to paid work. Even taking a meal to a family after the birth of a baby is volunteer work and I have done much of that sort of stuff in this life too, helping the neighbors and such and I still do. I am helping get a new library organized in memory of a lady in my mobile home park, now if the maintenance people would just get the dam boards I donated cut..... so I can with my helper to rack the books that have been donated. I would cut them, except I don't want the wrist problems from using my saw. I may have to heavily confront the head maintenance man here to find his heart and cut the dam things, as a GIFT. I think many of you will find what you have done to serve others without a monetary award, right up there in personal satisfaction.

So now again, list all these jobs and then think about which ones would be "expendable" if we were a money free world. In terms of my own, real estate would be modified, to helping people relocate when they must move to change careers, attend college and the like. In a money free world, people down own their houses. They just get passed around.

WEll there goes the flea market selling businesses. Although perhaps there will be people who will find new homes for stuff no longer needed. If a person is giving up a business using tools, they need to be places elsewhere.

There would still be need to the math tutoring. Some kids need more and I tutored both the slow kid and the kid working ahead of others. Remodeling, building, yep, still would be needed.

There would still be "businesses", just not for money. Services would be the appropriate word. You would still have plumbing companies, all that sort of stuff. People would still grow food, you would still have distributors of goods. You would go to a store to get your goods you need, clothing, food, and so forth. they would not be stores, but distribution centers. And there would be people whose "job" it would be to stock the centers, just as now.

NO cashiers though! Restaurants, yes also. Look around you and see what would stand still in your life, in a world without money.

because a world operating without money does not have jobs NOT needed, or government jobs in tax collections, licensing cars, collecting property taxes and the like these jobs go bye bye, as to defense jobs. Instead folks will go into developing automation, and build new and better technologies.

You see on money free world, all work is volunteer work. Everyone contributes according to need and ability. Healthy people don't retire on a money free world. Generally as people age, they take to social work and the like. Stepping up into more teaching. On some of these worlds, people do "retire" but they even if off money find interesting volunteer work, or they continue their educations.

On a money free world, because less hours are volunteered (worked), and thus there is much more time to enjoy life. Lives are longer, always, and career changes can be made at any time a career is mastered and perhaps out grown. what will truly flourish will be art, and sports. No you won't go watch over paid people toss balls around. You will more participate by playing the sport. You will have time too! many of you don't even have time now for touch football with the kids anymore. Imagine years of quality and enjoyable parenting, unfettered by the shit of earning money.

Imagine how calm you will be, like you feel when you do volunteer work that matters to you. Because of non money, your marriages will get considerably better. how many are destroyed by money issues? As I said art will rise up hugely, all types. Music, painting, arts and crafts. Dance, theater, and so on and so forth. More of you will invest your creative minds into art rather than watching it on Tv or hanging cheap chinese stuff on your walls.

On money free worlds LIFE IS FULL. Imagine what you would do with your "spare" time from working only 20 hours a week, or in due time LESS than that. We could go to 20 hours a week globally now without the shit jobs related to money.

As to my efforts over the years, there would still be some need of accounting, but not of money. No taxes obviously either. competing with H and R block goes out the window. Tupper ware, jewelry and such parties go out the window too, You just get what you need at distribution centers.

Go there, Ponder, Look, Dream. Envision. List the shit you would have NOT experienced on a money free world of socially adept people. Imagine reasonable peace, and NOBODY PREVENTING YOU FROM YOUR PERSONAL DESIRED GROWTH.. This is the heaven of your dreams. You see, there is no heaven except what growing man creates. Heaven is within you, but also, its any world that is socially better than this one. You christians have been so cheated, on your need to believe ON JESUS to go to heaven. He taught your its right here, all you have to do is create it. Man always wants to live better and more and you ones returning to his planet will create heaven on this world. all beings, all of them, live ON WORLDS. Spirit Beings included. There is not fluffy place of bliss in the sky somewhere. it is expecting this from the sad teaching of religion, that has corrupted man so completely this world has to be shut down for a time.

It seems that today CMAton is saying the new world will have a universal currency.

Is Johan's channelling a bit off today? His messages today sound like a bait-and-switch to me. We'll have a world with money and what sounds like a central diversified governance, and we're all supposed to be stuck on it still (see meditation post today.)

I will be back shortly, I need to exercise my blood sugar down a bit.

well his native languages are from Belgium, I think 3 spoken there. So not German. He does pretty well in English just some rough spots now and then. I understand his speech very clearly. Now I am going to paste the section I think you had your questions about. The whole carrot section anyway and after I post here and review, I will use it on my front site for others. I don't know if Johan takes them in one of his more native languages or in English. Hmmm I should ask. I know he takes notes and then transcribes from them some of the time. When we dangled a carrot in front of the dark to allow them to dig the tunnels we knew we needed for later :

Ok carrots are financial and other rewards to encourage the dark to develop in a certain directions. Money works well, but they also needed some technology and advisors. Lower worlds not understanding yet that there is a hierarchy that oversees all developments in a universe, get helped totally behind the scenes and considering the rebellion and other controls, this is a much more difficult than average sluggish planet. So some incarnated and some from Neadon hierarchy and other advanced approved worlds got advisors, very directly. Help is given in a huge variety of ways for both the material and spiritual direction it is hoped the people will go. You always have to work thru the "elite" on planets like this and a lot of support is given to them to go the way that will help the people.

People on worlds like this who are not yet God Conscious look to others to do it for them, or for advise and the like. Thus the success of the religious organizations run by the dark. Having some many robotoids is an issue, but should not have been that great a one if the non robots had found their God Within.

True free will in the PEOPLE of this world has not happened in enough numbers for them to function in good collective groups to bring about change. We have small collective groups, showing new green technology, demonstrating that there must be balance with nature, and in many areas, but their power is small. It was hope the intense numbers of star seeds would find each other and get these going and you all know that hasn't been as effective as hoped, but at the end of WW2, and into the early 50's there seemed to be some hope as the world recovered from the tragic wars.

There are always several potential plans depending on the response of the people and the elite. Worlds somewhat familiar with hierarchy and some sense of God Consciousness are given OPEN counseling from the celestial realms and the more advanced leaders work directly with the Celestials on councils as to how to steer those worlds according to the issues they face. There are always issues, even if very advanced worlds in light and life.

The elite on this world used what they wished and discarded or worked in other directions to muck up the best laid plans. That should be rather obvious. OK moving on.

in the material sense of the underground facilities,

Carrots and technologies for building underground facilities were given, as it was not known exactly the outcome of this world and it was truly hoped the populations could go to the under ground for protection (or even to craft), to allow certain earth changes and then come up again. This would assume a populace that understood what was going on and who could cooperate. China and Russia built enough to house everybody in their countries and more. Didn't happen in America, thugs built them for themselves and they will NOT becoming to Colorado which had been Britain's plans. Until 2005. Star fleet took over all the underground military facilities planet wide, including under Colorado where I live and thus I see that proof with my own eyes.

At any rate, there will now be MORE earth changes then planned, and they can be planned to a point. The many small waves have not been well absorbed, and thus there was no ultimately smooth transition and the really bigger ones started to come in early this year, I heard it in February approaching. it was mitigated, as well as a smaller one in mid summer. Some of you noticed, but with the mitigation, given based on promised elites support, not a big change. The plan last year was to bring in replacement fleet people looking like our leaders to take over during this to encourage the people. Meanwhile thugs started all those wars of internal strife in Africa and middle east, you know the arab spring, and then us of a, South America, Russia next etc. Russia right now is booting their arses out, and not allowing it.

It is likely now that since we must allow the planet to balance herself, and in alignment with other balancing acts in Nebadon, that the earth changes will be greater and thus throw in the rag and evacuate. Man is very likely, the ones returning based on their karma resolution, going to live underground in shelters that survive the process before returning to earth and this will depend on shelters and conditions on the surface. Surface might be returned to in some areas easier.

Man also might be given the wise option of mostly living underground from that and only using the surface minimally for recreation and the like, allowing continuing development of the wildlife on this seed planet. on Many worlds but not all, man does live underground. Depends on the nature of the world.

We shall see how it works out. But at any rate, now that the planet IS back under Nebadon fully, returning man is going to get a bunch of God education when its time to awaken him, and he might be awakened, some anyway, early aboard ship to see truly what the grandeurs of God are all about and get rid of this stupid "heaven" we have to deal with here. Yes there ARE heaven worlds, the architectural worlds, but man thinks he will be in a fluffy condition. Well conditions on those worlds are nice and earned, but hardly fluffy clouds where nothing is done.

Ok, on coming back after my break, let me state here, after stasis, AH is the celestial on the ground counseling team. We will have many regional directors and all sort of staff and advisors under each one and by then Esu ought to be able to walk the ground too, and CM will at some point he is ready. David Righter, the S333 guy already does walk the ground working that financial arena, is married and has a child, but he lives underground, coming up when safe and necessary. OK lets move on.

in the financial department, allowing their greed to bring us closer to the unity currency or way of conducting business or outcome we actually needed and planned, going in the direction of bringing Mother Earth into the Light and Life,

Yes, for a planet still on money, unity currency is ideal. It was guided back in the days after the thugs made the Federal reserve, thru making the dollar the world reserve currency. But that is not success. Planets in early light and life are usually still on money and greatly improving the morality in how business is done. Man is progressed thru a "normal" chain of experience on any world. That included the industrial age, and now the information age, and we are into the early robotics age. The planet MUST become a global community, and all these many currencies allow for currency wars against countries and unfair and immoral business practices. There has been attempt thru the stock market since the thugs insisted on it, to bring some trade parity thru grains and other commodities, in a way thru the futures markets. The elite cooperate only as what serves them. We must have parity of some sort

Those returning to the planet, at least under our original plans, would have to go thru the stage of creating unity currency and honest, ethical trade. Some on the ground under Germain attempted in the US of A tried hard for a number of years for NESARA, which was not just financial, but also government change. It was hoped the US of A thru these changes would lead the world as intended, showing a way and also bringing announcement of galactic help. Open galactic help. well the murders and non cooperation continued.

The nesara plan was instigated in the late 1970s, long before the Dove ever showed up to help publicize it. There was put in place even then the Global agree of 1980 we intended to post, along with Marco's Will. There is another much more recent agreement, with gesara funding which we also cannot post. 2008 I believe. Signed by all the necessary signatories. down the tube. Don't worry thugs, I am not going to take that risk even at this late date. You are so backed into a corner you are simply too dangerous. You destroyed the Oitc anyway, sadly apparently with Ray Dams help, Keenan, Keith Scott, Fulford and now you bring Wilcox into it.

Since we may be awakening man to life under the surface I am not sure right now the direction we will take, I suspect showing him the advantages, of not having it, but it may well be he will go thru the normal stages anyway, learning unity currency and fair, ethical, balanced business and trade. You ones have been told I have graduated paradise. By the times you who are father indwelt ascenders get there, you will know the full business of planetary and universal management, and more important HOW organic MIND progresses, and there are steps that are not left out, regards many experiences. So I think we will just start them off on unity money and go from there, depending on their learning and global ground conditions and the development of sound business activities.

These ones returning have 2 lifetimes to buy into what is right, and those that don't will be moving. They are being given a final and merciful chance. Most of these ARE the fallen ones who have made progress. Of course incarnation will continue, of those coming to experience or guide, in the lessons ALL must learn and UNDERSTAND before they even reach the Central universe of Havona, because it is in Havona that the person begins to truly plan their eternal career and are guided thru experiences to meet those goals.

I chose UNIVERSAL management, my ultimate goal, Ascending Son of Michael status. i want to do a whole universe. That IS a long ways off, I just left Paradise 400 years ago at a finaliter, and then more recently "graduation" to be in Trinity service as a Mighty messenger. AH is going to give me and quite a few others a huge experience. You don't just wander around in "heaven" for your eternal life. I do not tell this story to brag, I tell it to demonstrate how it is. Heaven is so misunderstood here and why folks want to rest in bliss someplace, is beyond me for trillions of years and party with Jesus or whoever for all that time.

So likely man will experience unity money, which can be put in place and has been planned. That was part of GESARA, skilling a few steps and making that leap. From which eventually would come no money as man learned honest trade. We are still going to use a university system to properly train people in money, trade, science etc. Some of you have been reading new age CIA stuff for so long you expect the magic ascension to a ready prepared world and that is not going to happen. It cannot happen. But what man will come back too, after the big cleanse and the planning may begin to look like heaven. But he will have to participate. We are skipping some of the smaller steps, because these prisoners here that get to continue, are after most angels, plus some nasty thugs who once flew the creation wreaking havoc. So they do KNOW inside what is right. So although I have not covered a lot of detail, man has been guided in various ways to move FORWARD that may not seem forward to you. There has already been huge printing of the new currency that we I assume will still use at that future awakening.

in the political department, allowing their hunger for power and absolute control to narrow down the way to diversified ' governance ' of the worlds population, in the military department, allowing them to bring forward the available Higher Potential and Advanced Technology to come to the surface in order for it to be used to the benefit of humankind instead of abusing its power to destroy, etc.,

we had hoped indeed for it all to run differently, BUT WE DEAL WITH EVERYTHING TO PERFECTION UNDER ANY CIRCUMSTANCES, there is no other way.

That does not include having the job done before a certain time, however there IS a Cosmic Clock Ticking its last fragment of a nanosecond when put into perspective, but having the job done TO PERFECTION, regardless of its complexity, a concept that will only be understandable once you see things from the other side of the veil.

And glory to the Heavens, some of you are already peeping through that invisible and non-existing veil, others will sleep just a little longer and need the wakeup call we have ready for you, not to mention those that will sleep very much, and much much longer ... upon their own choosing.

To satisfy your hunger to know, my Son, and those you represent with your call, let me say that also We have learned very much in the process, what will greatly enhance some of your future Bestowals as you already know some of you are not here to waste time or play around, but to WORK on your future Heavenly or Spiritual Functions and closer team work with the Divine. I enjoyed your expression yesterday when you mentioned to one of your esteemed colleagues that you are all in ' bringing together the Divinity with the Divine Within ALL, or visa versa, and if that did not spiritualise in the dark, at least it might have worked for some of yourselves, also using the method of learning through HOW NOT TO DO THINGS... This might also show the importance of understanding and estimating ALL involved and not dividing anything; actually observing and learning from ALL you see and get to know for what it really is.

That is all for now, there is not much more to explain, we have work to finish although closing in most rapidly towards the moment you are all waiting for, or let me say : WHAT YOU ARE ALL SUPPOSE TO BE WORKING TOWARDS ... and I hope you DO exactly that, on your behalf.

I AM CMAton, your Sovereign.

Love and Light,

Johan

Thank you very much for the clarifications and extensions, NIP. I've learned a lot. I have a few questions / comments:

Tunnels: why would humans after the stasis need underground tunnels as built by our surface governments just below the surface, if there's a whole underground civilization, with environment and infrastucture, already further under the surface which has just moved out onto ships?

Money: I really should have been reading about David Richter a while ago, but I had not heard of him or that whole story, which was apparently on Gas_oven more than AH or here. I'm interested in economics, so it's very interesting for me to read what he has written there.

Politics: The comment that "one must always go thru the elites on (worlds like this)" is telling. Maybe it wasn't obvious 50 years ago that our elites would be so incorrigible. They did seem nicer then, at least from my perspective as a child. Very nasty, but not as nasty as we see now! But how discouraging it would have been to read that earlier -- to be told in plain words that one could not throw off the "leadership", that revolution would fail and not even receive sufficient direct support from the good aliens. How unfair it seems, that those nasty ones would get to decide. Well now I guess not, and it feels right. If revolution cannot come from below, it can come from above.

Dear NIP, would a graduate from Paradise ever falls to the dark, if he incarnates to a planet like this Earth, because he doesn't remember who he is? I love to work for God but I don't want to be blind and deaf and make big mistakes...

If I have a chance to talk to CM or the Source God, I beg them to change the rule a bit, that is "Please allow all star seeds to have a little memory of WHO THEY ARE" during their whole incarnation lives so they know why and what the purpose they are here. Also, "Please give those 1 billion souls who will return to Earth the same blessings". I have read stories of those who experience life after death, and most of them came back to lives change themselves totally. They live the rest of their lives by love and service to others.

Free love was heartfelt? No provision was made for the children that tend to arise from sex. The brain must be engaged, and caring about one's children -- anything less is superficial, or a sign of a soul in need of much development in my amateur opinion. I think they just loved the sex.

A lot of the antiwar sentiment was probably caused to the draft that then existed. Now there's no draft, there are equally stupid and corrupt wars, and see, there's no big antiwar push among the young. There's some antiwar sentiment, and it helps Ron Paul's support -- well I hope I'm wrong and it will become a big issue soon.

I can't know quite for sure what was inside the heads of the hippies, but I know the impression that I got, and that it's easy to find the usual cynical sorts of explanations for much of what went on then. And these explanations were observable at that time too. I don't think one needs to look back from 40 or 50 years later to notice those things.

They have always been loose and I have them as short as possible and still loose, until suddenly recently they fit, and now they are tight. I guess i will be adjusting them. I have another set that didn't used to fit my ears tight enough, which I just came across, maybe time to see how they fit.

Nobody_in_particular, have you ever considered teaching people HOW to go within and find their Father Center? I've read over much of your material on this site and your own site and have mainly come across lots and lots of warnings and things we 'must' do in order not to end up not making it into the shift, etc. A lot of it reminds me of Christianity - lots of fears that if we don't 'do' something, we'll end up in a hell of some sort. Where is the hope, and instructions for people who don't know what to do? Isn't it more important to add to the hope of humanity, by teaching them how to do something, rather than consistently warn about the same thing over and over? We get it - a shift is coming. Now what do we do?

You really do seem to be coming from a place of wanting to help people. So I'm giving you an outside perspective. If I was a non advanced soul with little to no spiritual background and read your writings, I'd be filled with fear and not knowing where to turn to accomplish what needs to be accomplished before 'D Day'.

Isn't it more important to add to the hope of humanity, by teaching them how to do something, rather than consistently warn about the same thing over and over? We get it - a shift is coming. Now what do we do?

You really do seem to be coming from a place of wanting to help people. So I'm giving you an outside perspective. If I was a non advanced soul with little to no spiritual background and read your writings, I'd be filled with fear and not knowing where to turn to accomplish what needs to be accomplished before 'D Day'.

Thats all in the hands of YOU and your guardian angels. I can't "teach" it, I don't know how. You contact the inner you/or thought adjuster by meditative thinking and I can't teach people to think, thats your job. There has been a lot of new age garbage on this topic I do not subscribe too.

There is no ritual for meditation, its done in a quiet place and by relaxing your self enough to slow the brain chatter but mostly to tune your body. Any of you who have been so engrossed in what you are thinking about and perhaps creating, you tune our hunger, thirst and do realize you even have to pee, until you almost wet yourself, have found that place. Any time you get a "light bulb" moment where an idea comes thru to you on something, you have just listened to the answer of what you sought.

I never put out stuff that says if you don't do something you won't get there. NEVER. I have no idea where anybody is, and some folks from very high places, have not yet realized it and some folks way down on the so called list, of younger souls are making great gains. Its all up to you.

(Addendum to the bolded part above - I meant, "general things we must do", like merge with our God-center, etc. However, actual instructions never seem to be given).

The most important thing is your heart. Developing service to others. You should be keeping a journal perhaps, or not, about how you are reacting to life and what you want to learn. You should be evaluating each and every day of your life, you what you are doing, what you are learning, what works, what doesn't work. Almost every time I have an interaction, I pause to think about it, which is one reason I edit my posts a lot, a may have forgotten something, or think maybe I need to clarify. What is perhaps the most important is to accept yourself AS A SON OF GOD, and stop putting God up there someplace. If you can think and reason. YOU ARE A SON/DAUGHTER OF GOD. Christianity does not teach these, but allows we are children of God, but not as I have stated. When anyone become CONSCIOUS of this, they strive like crazy to learn and get it right. To gain wisdom. To stop punishing self. And importantly to see all those around you, as also SONS of GOD on the divine journey. Do these things and your life will indeed be worthy, and it matter not if you are a very young soul, or an old and seasoned one, because the journey never stops, it is never done, and there is always something new to learn and understand. There is always the growth of your spirit. Be spirit filled.

"Money" = medium of exchange that facilitates the trade of goods and services.

So a world without "Money" = no facilitated trade of goods and services = half a cow for a "tare" of wheat.

Fuckin' retards on GLP. A world without money = Zimbawbe = how did that pan out?

Fuckin' hell.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 7193090

Just to clarify: Zimbabwe in effect had no money, since every attempt to float their "promissory notes" failed. It was as good as a cashless society.

Therefore, murder and mayhem. Imagine that.

it failed because people were not having their needs met...resource based economy takes care of everyone...we all do it for the community of humans. money only has value because we say it does. you only assume there has to be a trade. also it requires everyone on earth working together and not fighting over imaginary lines in the dirt.

the major key to a resource based economy is education. teaching everyone it is possible if they only stop acting childish and selfish and start living for humanity as a whole. the biggest untapped resource are the thousands of minds lost behind a cash register...when they could have all been educated to follow their own passions and desires. as long as we live in a trade/ monetary society we will never truly be free.

Thank you. I was looking over some of the channeled information on your site and am a little concerned - channeled beings from that level (Christ Consciousness/Causal Consciousness) do not speak on topics nor in the way that is present there, especially in the 2006 material you recently reposted. I've been present for direct channeled readings from and in the presence of such beings and they do not at all speak about those topics, nor do they 'step in' to alter free will or become happy at someone's downfall. Revenge and worry, for example, are egoic traits, not traits from Christed Beings. From the higher perspective, everything is already perfect. Everything that is supposed to happen already is and has. Ascended Masters don't get into altering lines of reality.

I say this with love because you have a huge influence on a lot of people. I am not a newbie or young soul who doesn't know what I'm talking about. (If you use your intuition you will see this). For some reason I have felt intuitively led to read your material and ask you the questions I have. Perhaps to get you to think about things a little differently?

I don't want to start an argument, as I truly do have good intentions. I hope my comments have at the very least opened your mind to consider new things.

Hi Spirit Girl, I have a couple questions for you. First, How do you know for sure that the ones you listened to in your "direct channeled readings" were who they said they were? Also, have you heard every single Ascended Master that has offered teaching to us all to know that NONE of them would cover such topics as you seem to feel are . . . false, by what you have stated?

Second, could you please be more specific about the information you got these impressions from? You know like titles of the pieces you are referring to or links?

I ask because I don't remember anything with revenge in it and as far as worry goes, I don't know one GOOD PARENT that does not worry about their children. Please help me to understand what you are trying to say.

the material thru our channels has to do with how things are done. This is the 2nd coming team. God waves no magic wands is a favorite saying of mine. This planet is in a special portion of a grand cycle right now, and all inhabited planets, until they are in light and life undergo judgement at the end of certain ages. ALL lower planets like this one, because of spiritual immaturity, get themselves periodically into a LOT of trouble. This is a prison ward for those who got themselves into a lot of trouble and lost their privilege of flying the free universe. The hierarchy IS merciful and they were extended huge mercy after the galactic wars and the Lucifer Rebellion.

The hierarchy has worked with this planet elite heavily since shortly after ww2 to NO AVAIL. The planetary Mother Gaia is terribly depressed and needs relief or her BODY WILL IMplode . She is a being just as you and I are. She is going to come first, because she is making her own ascension.

We are in the photon belt, and at the end of the 225million year cycle around the Milky Way. All planetary life on this planet was given 2 cycles to mature after the seeding of life, which was the planet was those energies we are in now. It is in those energies every 1/4 turn on this giant wheel. Thus the energies coming from the center of the Milky Way form a CROSS. There is reason for the cross and it has nothing to do with Jesus being hung on one. Anyway, this solar system IS at the end of those 2 cycles, and the laws of NATURE required the ascension of the planetary body, along with its inhabitants.

10 billion souls, angel and human were interned on this prison world 200,000 years ago and have been reincarnating under GRACE and MERCY since then. this is the 6th time they have brought the planet to near destruction. What would YOU DO?

1 billion of those have been successful. 1 billion were more borderline successful and they get some additional time. 8 billion FLUNKED. They have to move, they cannot handle the higher energies from the photon belt, the milky way and the WAVE coming from the Center of the creation. All these are of nature.

If we do not do the stasis after year and years of effort, there will be massive massive death on this world. And even more serious damage to the planet. We cannot change the cycles, we can only deal with them.

What man refused to believe is that the entire creation is created and managed under governments. This planet has an even more special existence as a training sphere for the future creator sons of the new outer space universes. I am one of those. There are many here, both incarnate and on "the other side" watching. it is what it is.

All that stuff put into new age was to cause many to reject the very ones here dealing with this world as it is now, going thru the cycles it is going thru. This coming is the compassionate solution, but the other solution was to evacuate the children of light and say goodbye to those left behind to the massive earth changes. The magnetic reversal would deal with them.

This is an improvement on that because since we have never been able to get governments to support full contact, there is no other choice. Its not just this planet, a significant portion of Nabadon is also in those energies from the milky way center, some further into it that us, others not quite yet in it, and this requires a lot of synchronization that man cannot yet comprehend. There is an effort, because of the excessive evil that is infiltrating the younger universes to get all planets into at least 4d, that are not yet and this sets back the evil considerably, for it has no place to be.

Evil here on this planet has been poisoning the common people against the very folks that created this world. All worlds of evolutionary type are seeded with life when ready, life does not arise otherwise. This is the prerogative of created beings of God to seed and monitor planets. With the lucifer Rebellion this and many other planets left the management of the higher realms, lucifer wanted to separate from the creation and all his folks that joined thought that a great idea. That does NOT WORK and Lucifer found out he was NOT a Creator Son and could create NOTHING, no new beings and thus all on these worlds found themselves imprisoned anyway, they were not released by him for the normal ascension journey. He could create no new beings so ones were stuck here to keep it going.

This is over, this world is returned to "heaven" now, and things will get better in the future. There is a huge planet to assist and if the elite had cooperated we would be far along the way now. There is nothing DARK about what we do. We will not allow the destruction of this solar system, period. Mars is being rehabilitated, the people took down their own atmosphere. they are here trying to repeat that one.

We do not put out fear, but we do inform people. Most "fear" is born of ignorance, once you know, there is no fear. We have given strong statements, I may be giving one tonight in fact. These elites do not understand love, mercy, kindness..... What a complete shame.

only starting to connect. Meditation is being discussed in it. Perhaps this series will answer some of your questions. Somehow it always happens, that when the question is asked, the answer comes, perhaps this series will provide some of the answers to many questions. It sounds good while I am listening as I am typing. I have to get off again for a bit. I had an inner urge to open the thread I found this in.

This is appropriate to the money thread, those who celebrate ANY lavish cultural/social holiday requiring massive society pressure to spend money on gifts, should ponder this. I don't know if Islamic holidays have this requirement or not. How many of you wanted to drop the social/cultural christmas as done in the US of A, but could not exert backbone against the local pressure? That was me and I regret not LIVING my truth back then, and not showing a better way. If we were a spiritually advancing civilization, OFF of MONEY, the holiday might actually become a spiritual event. Mature societies who know the God within, have celebrations but they have REAL meaning. Life is to be celebrated.

Christmas- The Celestial Truth- Christ Michael Aton

Christmas is a cultural experience when viewed across the chasm of religious divide. It is no longer confined within the Christian context where it serves as a religious reminder of the birth of the Christ and a basis for specific celebration.

What could have been a celebration in remembrance with reverent tones have become a festival of excess, extravagance and external revelry where even those who have no belief or knowledge of the Christ become embroiled in activities centered around Christmas which hold no depth of meaning.

There is no truth for them in the celebration as they brazenly follow a standard imposed upon them. They make themselves willing puppets to the dark masters and mistresses who dangle before them embellishments to appeal to their mortal senses. Their immortal senses or ability to know is disabled by the 'perfection' of the 'riches' used to mesmerise them. The holiness meant to be associated with Christmas absconds as the followers obey the subtle and bold commands issued to them. They have become programmed slaves to the dark who woo them with the ephemeral light bulb symbolism and glorious tales of caricatures created for fictional purposes to degrade the status of GOD.

For you see dear ones there are even those who are 'Christians' who celebrate Christmas not with intent of holiness but for the spirit of grand revelry and notoriety associated with its practices. It is just something that is done at that time of year. For those true Christians believing with intent, the significance is truly degraded; for that which started of for the Christ has in fact evolved into the anti Christ. The practices are Pagan in nature. Man has a need to culminate his year with a celebration so what an opportune time Christmas has become.

The true spirit of Christmas is that of illumination; meaning enlightenment within through the inner celebration of the Christ light. For the Christ is birthed in each soul incarnate. So if this is so, and it is so, then your Christmas should be a celebration of the inner Christ. Christmas or Christ mass- is the union or communion with the Christ. Where is the Christ? Did I not come to tell you that the Kingdom of God lies within you? Did I not promise upon my departure that MY FATHER and I would pour the spirit of God onto the flesh of man? Why do you celebrate MY birth as if I reside outside of you? In truth God is everywhere; but for the purposes of your soul's evolution God is within you.

The Christ my children, is within you and any communion or union in celebration of the Christ should take place within. I am not averse to an outward recognition or celebration. In fact the celebration can be used as a welcoming time for each to embrace another and all as brothers and sisters within the One Kingdom. Yet should this not be a daily aim and achievement?

You cannot compartmentalise ME to times of the year. I AM whole and I AM within you eternally. So I say to you out of love that you should celebrate Christmas every day of your mortal life; for it is within your ability and certainly your divine entitlement to sit with the Christ within and commune in reverence and in so doing embrace and celebrate the holiness and wholeness of you.

MY very birth was uneventful, not dramatic as you ones display it. I came as man to walk and live as man in humble attire. For those who care, review MY life on your earth and ponder upon how I lived and worked and what I taught. This is the Christ within you. Not one who sits as a king upon a throne requiring unending praise. Is not your communion with the inner Christ, a praise in itself? There is no real need to celebrate MY birth as much as there is a need to celebrate MY ongoing presence within you. I do not wish you to forever dwell in the stories of old but to progress through knowing that I have glorified you with MY presence and I AM glorified when you can recognise this and allow ME to work through you in the interest of your soul's progress.

I want you to think on this. If every day could be a fulfilling day as you allow your communion with the inner Christ to direct your life, will not each day be a celebration of joy and oneness? What need then will you have to celebrate an event at one time of the year that holds no significance to the majority who indulge and participate.

Dear ones, Christ Michael is not hear to spoil your joy but rather to direct you to the essence of that which will yield perfect joy to you. What you experience during your Xmas celebrations is not joy but pyrrhic in nature. Most of you cannot even remember the celebrations as you drown yourself in practices which render forgetfulness.

It is time beloveds for man on earth to grow up and seek the truth of that which is real. You can build a life around that truth that will enable you to have a joyful existence.

To start you off on the path of truth I will say to you that what you celebrate is not Christmas. It is a cultural extravaganza drawing from myth, embellished with artistic displays of colour and indulgences far beyond your needs. It focuses on beauty and bounty unrelated to that which is divine. It is indeed by your reckoning the time when families reunite and the spirit of togetherness prevails. This is the distinct benefit that you ones who cannot relate to the true meaning draws from the event.

Dearly beloveds as you prepare to celebrate Christmas, think about what I have said and also think about celebrating the Christ within each other.

I must, as it is MY filial duty, offer a warning. I say to you that your world, meaning your beloved earth (who too, bears MY Presence within her) as well as your civilisation, is being prepared for momentary changes; and it is imperative that these moments be spent in a purposeful communion with the Father within. All transitory concerns should be set aside and you should enable ME from within for these are indeed moments of miracles as I respond in harmony to those of you who would call upon me in truth.

I AM THE CHRIST. YES I WAS KNOWN AS JESUS CHRIST BUT I AM TRULY FROM THE ORDER OF MICHAEL SONS, FROM THE SUPREME CREATOR OF ALL. I HAVE COME TO REMIND YOU OF TRUTH THAT YOU MAY ACCEPT AND GROW IN TRUTH FROM HERE ONWARDS AS THE TIME OF GREAT REVELATION SITS UPON YOU. TRUTH IS INDIGINOUS

TO YOU- IT IS YOUR NATIVE COSMIC LANGUAGE WHICH YOU HAVE FORGOTTEN. THOSE AEONS AGO MY BIRTH WAS KNOWN BY THE STAR THAT APPEARED IN THE NIGHT SKY. LOOK AT YOUR SKIES AGAIN WHAT DO YOU SEE?

Christ Michael.

West_TX, ascribing 'worry' - a human emotion - to Christ figures is rather human, is it not? Worry has nothing to do with the Christ Consciousness realm. I have experienced the realm directly as have many of my spiritual peers and teachers. Stillness, peace, Love and total understanding is found there. Humanity's blueprint for creation and how to become like their creator resides in that realm and everything we go through is perfect for the lessons and understandings we gain and add to our souls in each lifetime.

Nobody_In_Particular, you did not address any of my post in your reply. It's OK but I am a little disappointed. Much of what you posted just doesn't ring as Truth. However, there are different levels of truth, and different levels of enLightenment and awareness. So I appreciate where you are at and will bow out of your threads going forward. If I even planted a tiny seed of 'hmm, maybe there is a higher level of truth to be found and shared with others' in your mind, then my job here is done!

When I used to work in retail management, I got upset with the employee that would put on the upstock boxes "XMAS". I said to him, why would you want to take Christ out of Christmas.....His reply was, "OH, that was done long ago"....I did not agree at the time, but know what? HE WAS RIGHT! The one who still puts THE christ as the focus of Christmas is far and few between! And, guess what...that ONE is coming for us soon!

Ok let me try this again in a few minutes. , I had messages mixed up in my head. I suspect that you had troubles with was Johan's English. and I might be able to add something to clarify. There is some material you ones might not be familiar with, but that did not bother me.

I will be back shortly, I need to exercise my blood sugar down a bit.

Those returning to the planet, at least under our original plans, would have to go thru the stage of creating unity currency and honest, ethical trade. Some on the ground under Germain attempted in the US of A tried hard for a number of years for NESARA, which was not just financial, but also government change. It was hoped the US of A thru these changes would lead the world as intended, showing a way and also bringing announcement of galactic help. Open galactic help. well the murders and non cooperation continued.

The nesara plan was instigated in the late 1970s, long before the Dove ever showed up to help publicize it. There was put in place even then the Global agree of 1980 we intended to post, along with Marco's Will. There is another much more recent agreement, with gesara funding which we also cannot post. 2008 I believe. Signed by all the necessary signatories. down the tube. Don't worry thugs, I am not going to take that risk even at this late date. You are so backed into a corner you are simply too dangerous. You destroyed the Oitc anyway, sadly apparently with Ray Dams help, Keenan, Keith Scott, Fulford and now you bring Wilcox into it.

OK worked on another section, want to refresh again and see what I might want to say in the political arena as to hints of what has been as carrots etc That will be tomorrow, wanting to hit the sack, after working another thread here. .

Dear NIP, would a graduate from Paradise ever falls to the dark, if he incarnates to a planet like this Earth, because he doesn't remember who he is? I love to work for God but I don't want to be blind and deaf and make big mistakes...

If I have a chance to talk to CM or the Source God, I beg them to change the rule a bit, that is "Please allow all star seeds to have a little memory of WHO THEY ARE" during their whole incarnation lives so they know why and what the purpose they are here. Also, "Please give those 1 billion souls who will return to Earth the same blessings". I have read stories of those who experience life after death, and most of them came back to lives change themselves totally. They live the rest of their lives by love and service to others.

BTW

well Paradise graduates do not fully incarnate into the body, there is a linkage. The higher self does not forget, but cannot always get thru to the lower self. That has been an issue on this world, the mind that comes with the body, the ego, is sometimes so programmed from birth the higher self cannot get thru. If the higher self cannot get thru, it cannot affect this plane or can only have lesser affect at any rate. Most of the time the life is worthy, but not what could have been. On planets like this, usually only 20 to 25% wake up. There were more than usual who volunteered form higher realms on purpose on this planet and the contact rate, if you will, was far less than 20%.

As to be more specific, I have not inquired about the success with Paradise folks vs star seeds of the superuniverse. I did not think of that. Most at universe level don't wake up, but they are not expected to, they just learn.

We could not allow so much memory on this world, because the thugs find them easily and commit murder, meyham, conscript some into mind controlled slaves or take control over the creativity allowed. I would think Havona and paradise folks do far better than superuniverse level folks in making contact with the ego of the body.

Yes most who have NDE's usually are so affected. That is sometimes also an opportunity for a soul exchange too. But for many its PROOF and it changes who they are. Sadly in terms of those in the astral realms growth is LONG and SLOW during life. Some of this though is part of the nature of a prison ward, the prisoners themselves cannot have too much memory, or havac ensues really fast.

Elite families know that fossil energy sources are diminishing and they want to decrease the human population dramatically in order to stop the collapse of the hierarchical-technological society that their ancestors created.

We need our needs met.

It doesn't matter if things are sent overseas or not. It's ALL FREE!

You get for free what you need, I get what I need for free. Done.

There will be hard generation of learning how to not take more than is needed due to learned behavior.

Once that is accomplished, all we need to to is work on bettering ourselves, increasing our technological abilities, etc...

If people do what they love to do to be productive and creative, out of love for all, we could meet the needs of the world. No, I am not talking communism. Nope. Not political at all. BUT a world like that will not exist until we all realize that it is more than possible.

the major key to a resource based economy is education. teaching everyone it is possible if they only stop acting childish and selfish and start living for humanity as a whole. the biggest untapped resource are the thousands of minds lost behind a cash register...when they could have all been educated to follow their own passions and desires. as long as we live in a trade/ monetary society we will never truly be free.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 3053613

it failed because people were not having their needs met...resource based economy takes care of everyone...we all do it for the community of humans. money only has value because we say it does. you only assume there has to be a trade. also it requires everyone on earth working together and not fighting over imaginary lines in the dirt.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 3053613

There was a time when money did not exist. That would be as close to a resource based economy man has ever experienced. If it had worked as some people dream it SHOULD work, why was money invented and why were monetary systems adopted?

One very simple reason, resource based economy does not work. And it will never work until man evolves into a more spiritual and less physical pleasure beings. In other words, not until this world ends and a new one begins.

All that's been posted are feel good "what its ", no reality driven SYSTEMS to make a moneyless society WORK. Beyond smaller bands of people, the barter system can not sustain the large, connected global society we have now. Progress would halt as our thinkers and inventors wouldn't have time to think and invent, because their time would be taken up growing their own good, making their own shoes and building their own houses.

I worked in a large factory that had 2 production shifts. Every operation HAD to be manned or there could be NO production. A lot of activities are like that, they require a certain number to fill necessary operations.

Well, a new guy, ignorant of work structure, decided we would switch from nights to days. He just showed up one morning on day shift. Well, day shift was paying a man they didn't need and night shift did not have enough people to run.

That's what happens when people just do whatever they want. When they do what they like to contribute, even though too many other people want to do the same thing, and too few want to do certain other necessary functions.

That's utopia. No boss, no organization, everybody doing his own thing.

when this world grows into more responsibility, this stuff will decrease, these problems, which would include undeserved favoritism in job situations. And without a profit motive, many other societal issues will change for the better.

One of the biggest changes will indeed be LESS hours work required as people move into jobs that are needed, after leaving jobs that are not. On this world, the elite create many jobs just to provide jobs, make work jobs.

As society grows also, we will develop more robots to so the assembly line work than currently exist, and automate other jobs too, leaving wondrous time for personal growths in which ever interests one has and wants to explore. These worlds also have birth to death education, for which there is time, because of less labor hours required. Life will become much longer and career changes can occur as needed for many, because even work will be seen as 'education'.

Miss NIP, i can feel all you want is the good of humanity but, what do you suggest in exchange for money? In real life nobody will give you anything for free unless they are your relatives or close friend. Even after some time they would refuse to sharing their stuff. Because to produce something you should work hard. Lets say for example you cultivated your garden and produced some tomatoes or you worked hard and produced a table. Would you give them for free to someone who need them? Do you think people would give their stuff they worked hard to produce for free? Maybe some people would, but many will not. Why? Because they worked hard and wasted their time and energy to create those products and they will expect something in exchange of them. This is a natural expectance and necessary for their survival.

If you'll suggest bartering system this is a more primitive form of trading than monetary system. I have no problem with bartering but it wouldn't support complex economic systems of high-tech societies which you support.

The money less society I am talking about is not a digital money system where on is chipped or carries a plastic swipe card, its a whole different animal and this world is to become global, its part of the ascension and we don't go back to david Thoreau either. when this world grows into more responsibility, this stuff will decrease, these problems, which would include undeserved favoritism in job situations. And without a profit motive, many other societal issues will change for the better.

One of the biggest changes will indeed be LESS hours work required as people move into jobs that are needed, after leaving jobs that are not. On this world, the elite create many jobs just to provide jobs, make work jobs.

As society grows also, we will develop more robots to so the assembly line work than currently exist, and automate other jobs too, leaving wondrous time for personal growths in which ever interests one has and wants to explore. These worlds also have birth to death education, for which there is time, because of less labor hours required. Life will become much longer and career changes can occur as needed for many, because even work will be seen as 'education'.

According to your words, work will never be completely eliminated, but it may be vastly reduced. Any work need to be organized. Any work must have to proper amount of labor. Too little and it doesn't get done, too much and it still does not get done because people regress into socializing instead of working.

Work is seen as education? Exactly the opposite of this reality. We get education so we can be productive as workers.

You got it backwards.

It's easy to envision. Just let the Angelic Beings who fill the halls of power decide who can have what and issue scientific ration cards. Or implanted microchips even! What a beautiful world it would be...

Some of us want a type 3 galactic civilisation because we have heard of and comprehend Hellenism, we don't feel knowledgeable if a profitable power nor do we have a need to suppress people. If you can't comprehend this you're stupid and easy to spot. Soon to be even easier.

Without money who would make and grow these things you want for free? I'm not going to bust my ass all day to give you shit for free. Maybe then we can go back to slavery to get shit done. It worked for the Egyptians! Give me a break... Without money there would be no motivation to create new technology. It would be everyone for themselves. You anti-money people crack me up...

Good point.

Money is supposed to foster greed and greed is the ruination of mankind, right?

Then how is it that some jobs, even some high paying jobs are going unfilled? The answer is either because the job is too (nasty, demanding, dangerous) or because not enough people are willing to undergo the education/training process.

If some jobs can't be filled by offering money, how will they ever be filled by volunteers?

Hellenism? The culture of ancient Greece, or their values? Oh, that would be sweet:

snip:

Slavery was common practice and an integral component of ancient Greece throughout its rich history

The Greeks did suppress people.
